OTHER MOVIE STARS MAY BE QUIZZED SOON

NEW YORK, Dec. 13.—The U. S. Attorney's office disclosed today that a federal grand jury was still weighing evidence of purported dealings to movie stars and that Harry Burns, might be indicted, in addition to Comedian George Burns, which he indicted, Katharine Hepburn, Jack Benny, Jack Pearl and several others appeared before the grand jury. Presumably they were questioned about their knowledge of the Chaperau, principal defendant in the case, who allegedly smuggled jewelry and furs to Paris and disposed of them at bargain prices to a select clientele.

He pleaded guilty yesterday to nine counts contained in indictments. He had been charged with buying two diamond bracelets and a ring worth $4,885 for Gracie Allen, wife and partner.

Eastland Citizens Attend Funeral of Niece at Abilene

D. Barton of Eastland, Mrs. Clark of Eastland and Mrs. Barton of Gorman attended funeral services Tuesday afternoon at Abilene. Mrs. Andy Jones, their niece, resident of Abilene, who died Monday morning of accidental gunshot wounds, was buried in the city. The wound was inflicted as she fled a .410 shotgun to her husband from a chair in which she was sitting. The charge of shot struck her in the chest just below collar bone and ranged downward to the left side. Doctors said she died of the wound. The charge of shot struck her heart and left lung. She was the former Faye Barton and married Andy Jones at Gorman in 1920. The same year couple moved to Abilene. Mrs. Jones is a barber.

St. Louis to Have Water Again After Engineers Strike

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 13.—The third of four pumping stations, shut down by a strike of operating engineers, was reopened today by police to insure this city of a normal supply of water. John Dean predicted the one remaining station would be in operation soon. Harry Kline, business agent of the striking International Union of Operating Engineers, an A. F. L. affiliate, threatened to call a walkout at seven municipally operated hospitals, but decided against the step when police intervened. Mayor Bernard Dickman assured citizens they would have water for their own consumption as well as for fire protection.

DRY WEATHER ENDS IN A BIG PART OF STATE

Texas dry winter was broken in the Panhandle and other sections Tuesday as snow fell around Amarillo and rains continued at San Antonio and Brownsville. The U. S. Weather Bureau reported that .54 of an inch of rain fell at Brownsville last night. The snowfall, third of the season for the Panhandle, began at Amarillo this morning. Sub-freezing temperatures in West Texas will result in near freezing for most of North Central Texas Tuesday night, the bureau said. Temperatures Tuesday aimed 20 at Lubbock and 28 at Amarillo and Wichita Falls.

Ranger Youth Talks Before Pre-Meds

Ernest R. Green of Ranger, who is a pre-medical student at John Tarleton college of Stephenville, recently discussed before a meeting of the Pre-Med club "The Problem of the Socialization of Medicine." Over 40 pre-med students attended the meeting, entering into the round table discussion. This is one of several vital questions pertaining to the profession of medicine that has been brought before the club for its views.

Headache Turns Out To Be A Blessing

RIO GRANDE CITY, Texas.—Mrs. Sabina Garcia, 78, found out that a headache might be a blessing. Mrs. Garcia had been blind for 16 years. Physicians told her she never would see again, that her case was hopeless. But recently she was attacked by a severe headache, and to ease it asked a relative to apply a household eye-wash. Within a few hours she was surprised to find that she could see again. Relatives were incredulous, but before long she was able to read newspaper headlines to them.

Spanish Refugee to Return to Country

JUAREZ, Mex.—Julian Marcha Acosta, 14-year-old Spanish war refugee, is going back to Spain. Eight cities in Mexico promised him help on his return journey after friends of Acosta here were successful in locating two sisters and an aunt of the boy in Spain. Acosta came to Juarez three months ago, a homeless stranger. Through efforts of Ignacio Gomez, operator of a local cafe, people in Chihuahua City, Zacatecas, Selaya, Queretaro, Aguas Calientes, Mexico City and Vera Cruz agreed to take care of Acosta for a time and send him to the next stop. "Each city will send him on with more money than he brought with him," Gomez said. "By the time he gets to Vera Cruz he should have 1,500 pesos ($300)." Employees of Gomez' cafe started Acosta on his way with 200 pesos.

Best Farm Relief Is Knowing How To Make Farm Pay

LULING, Tex.—"The best Texas farm relief is knowing how to make a Texas farm tick." This somewhat lengthy slogan of Walter W. Gardwell, general manager of the Luling Foundation, has been adopted by the National Youth Administration for classes now at the Luling Farm. A first group of 12 boys remained on the farm for four months. The results were so successful that a second group of 20 is studying and working at the farm and will remain until June 20, 1939. The boys come from five counties adjacent—Caldwell, Guadalupe, Gonzales, Hays and Bastrop. "A boy who can make a Texas farm tick will not be around hunting for miracles to get him out of a hole," said J. C. Kellam, state director of NYA, explaining how the organization became interested in that particular activity. The foundation was established originally as a demonstration to older farmers by Edgar B. Davis, discoverer of the Luling oil field.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—Frank Steicher, a government witness, charged in U. S. district court today that a former General Motors sales manager obtained "thousands of dollars on the pretext he could influence the army's three highest ranking officers." Steicher, testifying in a conspiracy case concerning army contracts let five years ago, said the sales manager, Norman Hair, embezzled the money. Steicher said Hair obtained the funds on the pretext he could pay it to the late secretary of war, George Dern, Harry Woodring then assistant secretary of war, and Gen. Douglas MacArthur, then chief of staff.

CONVICTS PUT FINGER UPON AN INFORMER

OSSINING, N. Y., Dec. 13.—Underworld enemies caught up with a convict and stabbed him to death in Sing Sing prison, it was revealed today, after they had apparently killed an innocent young man by mistake. The convict, Matthew Kane, was set upon by fellow inmates Sunday morning and died today of wounds in the neck. New York City police believed gangland was out to get him because he provided information that led to solution of a $410,000 ice company robbery in Brooklyn in 1934, the largest cash robbery in this country's history. Kane was paroled from Auburn prison on Nov. 18. The same day gangsters killed, by mistake, John O'Hara, 26, a credit analyst.

"FIRE TRAPS" OF STATE RAPPED IN MESSAGE

AUSTIN, Texas, Dec. 13.—Gov. James V. Alfred today denounced buildings housing state wards as "fire-traps" in the second section of his farewell address to the Legislature. The full message will be presented formally to legislators next January. The governor urged that the new Legislature raise money for teachers' retirement and for the blind and neglected children's aid. Both proposals were approved by the electorate, but failed to be enacted into law in the present Legislature. He asked also for a state building program to remove insane persons from jails. Alfred estimated more than $2,500,000 will be needed annually to match teachers' retirement contributions; $1,500,000 for child aid; and $300,000 a year to assist needy blind persons. An estimate of the cost of improving eleemosynary institution buildings was described as "too modest" in the Board of Control budget. (The budget figures will not be released for several weeks.)

"It is nothing short of criminal for us to confine unfortunate people in unsafe structures," Alfred said. "One tragic fire and the loss of life inevitably attendant upon it (as has happened in other states) will bring down upon us the just condemnation of the people. They don't want false economy—the kind that skimps, and saves at the possible cost of human lives." Unless the asylum building program is continued, the governor predicted that at the end of two years there will be several hundred unfortunate insane persons accumulated in jails for want of better places. He said: "The most pitiful and appealing sight in the world is presented by a simple visit to the state home for feeble-minded right here in Austin. I urge all of you to visit this institution, to talk with the superintendent; and when you learn, as I did, that 90 per cent of these unfortunates are permanently hopeless, and that there are hundreds now knocking at the door for admission, you will agree with me that the capacity of this institution ought to be doubled at once. It is not only the humane thing to do; it would be good business."

In another part of the message, Alfred said that Texas has no place for delinquent negro girls or negro epileptics or feeble-minded. "There are hundreds, perhaps thousands, of them throughout Texas," he added. "There is no place for them, and their people have no facilities to care for them. This neglect is unpardonable, and I recommend immediate appropriations to provide adequate buildings and facilities for delinquent colored girls and feeble-minded colored people and colored epileptics." The governor also recommended a $4,500,000 appropriation so Texas can join the Council of State Governments, a clearing house and research body for legislatures.

Officers of the Ranger Royal Arch chapter Masons announced that on Wednesday night at 7:30 work would be conducted in the most excellent master degree. Ranger chapter Masons have been fairly active during the year and this being probably the last meeting night of the year it is urged that all members who can possibly do so attend the degree tomorrow night. Visitors are expected from Eastland, Breckenridge and Cisco.

Don't Be Too Pessimistic About France's Future

It looks as if someone down in Rome really believed all of the things people have been saying about France lately.

After the Munich settlement it was commonly said that France had sunk to the level of a second-class power. Then when the wave of strikes greeted Daladier's "security" program, it was remarked that French democracy was tottering and that the needed unity was impossible to attain.

So the Italians seem to have decided that if all this was true the time was ripe for getting on the muscle with respect to Tunisia and other points.

Just how far these threats were meant to be taken seriously is, of course, an open question. The totalitarian states have a way of making warlike maneuvers just to see how the land lies. Having no domestic public opinion to worry about, they can pull in their horns if need be without losing face.

If that is what is going on now, no harm will be done. But if Il Duce really thinks that France is ripe to be despoiled, he is apt to get a very rude awakening before very long. For it is bad business to sell the French short, no matter how bad their situation looks.

It would be interesting to learn just where the popular conception of the French as a light-minded, volatile and essentially frivolous people arose. No picture could be farther from the truth. Actually, no national strain in Europe has such toughness of fibre; nor is any people as quick to drop domestic quarrels and present a united front to the foe in case of need.

Somehow the other nations never have realized this. Away back in the 1790s, when Frenchmen were at one another's throats with revolutionary ardor and the whole land was torn asunder by the most gigantic of quarrels, the time looked ripe for a descent on France, and divers nations tried it. But when their armies crossed the border, the French managed to put their quarrel in their pocket. The invaders were hurled back—and before the dust had settled Napoleon was astride all of Europe.

In 1914, once more, the French looked like an easy touch. Domestic scandals and political rows were common. If the German general staff supposed that the nation's patriotic unity had been damaged, it is hardly to be wondered at; yet 1914 quickly showed that any such supposition was a thundering mistake.

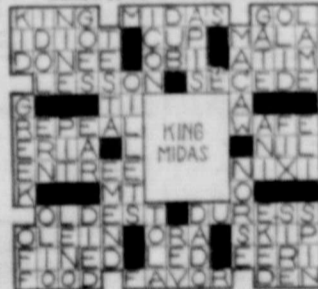

And so, today, the same picture is being presented. Outmaneuvered at Munich, outclassed in the air, torn by bitter internal strife, France looks like a land that is ripe to be taken. But the safest of all bets is that any nation which takes the picture at its face value is due for an unpleasant surprise.

Letters To Santa Claus

Dear Santa: I am Donald Varner and four years old. I was a good boy while my Mother was in the sanatorium and I want you to please bring me a wagon, some other toys and a barrel of candy. Thanks a lot. Donald Graham Varner, Ranger.

Dear Santa: I am a little boy 10 years old. Please bring me some toys. I want a dy-dew doll, a Shirley Temple doll, a set of dishes, some blocks, a washing machine, a little stove, spoons and cook pans, a tricycle and a drawing book. How is toyland? Fine I hope. I am going to close. With love, Robert Whiten, Ranger.

Dear Santa: I am a little girl 9 years old. Please bring me some toys. I want a dy-dew doll, a Shirley Temple doll, a set of dishes, some blocks, a washing machine, a little stove, spoons and cook pans, a tricycle and a drawing book. How is toyland? Fine I hope. Remember the other little girls. Now I am going to close. With love, Doris Whiten, Ranger.

Dear Santa Man: I am a little girl 10 years old. I want a doll, some dishes, some needles, thread and material. Be sure and come on Christmas night and bring some presents for Mother and Dad. And I want a nurse with some money in it. Yours truly, Bettly Sue Baker, Ranger.

Dear Santa Claus: I am writing you these lines just to tell that I want some presents for Christmas. I want some dolls, a stove, a rocking chair, a table and two chairs, a pair of shoes and a coat, and a dress. I am eight years old. I want some candy, apples, and oranges. My name is Estela Lidia Castaneda, Eastland.

Dear Santa Claus: How are you feeling this year? We are feeling fine and we hope you are the same. We are glad that you are back again to see us, and we hope you will have plenty of toys to distribute to all the children this Christmas. I hope you will come to see us and please bring us some toys. We live with my grandmother. Some times she is very sick. I am good to her. I help her with her work. I am now going to ask you for some things. Santa will you please bring me a sweater, dress size 16, and a pair of stockings, size 9 1-2, and some candy and fruit. Santa Claus I hope you will not forget me. I think this is all. Goodbye and good luck. Mary Louise Valdez, Eastland.

Technicolor Film to Advertise Texas

DALLAS, Tex.—A five-reel, technicolor film devoted to Texas, with symphonic musical synchronization, will be exhibited before visitors to the New York World's Fair and the San Francisco Golden Gate Exposition.

Karl Hoblitzelle, theater magnate and vice chairman of the Texas World's Fair Commission, announced today that negotiations for filming of the picture had been completed and work was underway.

"The purpose of the film will be to show the state of Texas and all its potentialities in all of its phases, resources, scenery, progress and plans for the future," Hoblitzelle said.

"Among other things, the historical scenes will include the Alamo, the San Jacinto Battlegrounds, and General Sam Houston's old home at Huntsville.

"Scenes also will be taken of Vice President John Garner's Uvalde home; the East Texas oil fields; and the main cities and industries of the state will be included. The proposed canalization of the Trinity River will be shown by the use of models and maps, and a sizeable portion of the footage will be given over to scenes in the Big Bend region.

"Governor-Elect W. Lee O'Daniel and his family, as well as Governor James V. Allred will be included in the picture.

"In Hollywood, the film will be given a musical setting by a 60-piece symphony orchestra playing music usually associated with the Lone Star state."

Hoblitzelle said that James A. Fitzpatrick, travelogue producer of Hollywood, and his staff of

IN FOUR LEAF CLOVER

ELINGTON, Conn.—If four leaf clovers bring luck, Mrs. Leon Parker has enough to last a lifetime. She picked more than 400 of them during the summer months.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

BY MRS. GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Service Staff Writer
WHEN an English lamb chop meets a slice of pineapple, it's just like "boy meets girl"—pretty grand! And when a mess of cranberries gets acquainted with honey and goes a-baking with sliced ham and sweet potatoes, well, you've got something there.

Lamb Chops with Pineapple (8 servings)
Six double lamb chops (or mutton chops), 6 slices canned pineapple, 2 teaspoons finely chopped parsley, salt and cayenne pepper, butter, flour.

Broil chops under moderate clear flame. Dip drained pineapple slices in flour, then fry lightly in butter. On each hot pineapple slice place a still sizzling chop, season, and sprinkle with parsley. Garnish with crisp watercress. Remember that watercress is for eating, not only for looks.

Cranberries with Ham (8 servings)
Two large slices smoked ham, 3-4 inch thick, 2 1-3 pounds; 1 tablespoon whole cloves, 3 cups cranberries, 1 cup strained honey, 8 or 10 small boiled sweet pota-

ton's Menu
BREAKFAST: Applesauce, rice cereal, buckwheat griddle cakes, crisp bacon, syrup, coffee, milk.
LUNCHEON: Cream of potato and spinach soup, toasted cheese rolls, plum jam turnovers, tea, milk.
DINNER: Cranberries with ham, green beans, lettuce and celery salad, chocolate sponge, whipped cream, coffee, milk.

With a sharp knife, cut edges of ham slices in several places to prevent curling. Stick cloves around edge of slices. Grind cranberries in coarse food grinder and mix with honey. Place one slice of ham in a shallow heat-resistant glass dish, about 12 by 8 inches, and cover with half of the cranberry and honey mixture.

Top with second slice and cover with remaining cranberry mixture. Arrange boiled sweet potatoes around ham slices. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for about 1 hour or until ham is tender. Baste occasionally with liquid in dish. Serve in same dish.

SERIAL STORY SKI'S THE LIMIT BY ADELAIDE HUMPHRIES

CAST OF CHARACTERS SALLY BLAIR—heroine. She had everything that popularity could give her except brains. Her father, Dan Reynolds, was a millionaire. He might have had Sally but while he was king on the hill...

Illustration by Henry G. Schlenker. It was glorious, the clean air washing against her face, beckoning her on and on.

CHAPTER III THAT night the carnival was held and Sally officially was crowned Queen. A magic wand must have been used to have produced such a crystal fairyland. The colorful pagodas, the spectacular floats, the brilliant flares, the huge blocks of ice carried into all manner of objects...

Or, rather, to meet Dan Reynolds, who was waiting, true to his word, at the foot of practice hill. "I DIDN'T think you'd make it," he said. He had not put any stars to bed. It was too important that he be in form for the last important event of the meet. "I always keep my word," Sally returned. She looked as fresh as if she had had her regular beauty sleep; perhaps her dark eyes were a little brighter, her cheeks a bit more flushed. "I wasn't at all sure I'd keep yours," she challenged, winking at him.

you, the wind hum in your ears as, like a feathered creature on the wing, you took the forest-bound run. "Do you know anything about skiing?" Sally's instructor demanded sternly, the summit reached. "A little," she admitted, with her dimpled smile. She should be better than she had been last year, after a month's vacation in Switzerland last spring, perfecting real Alpine technique. "Wouldn't Corey laugh if he could see her now, listening so attentively while Dan explained so earnestly the importance of relaxation, of keeping the skis together, the weight balanced? "Better begin with a few basic stems and snow plows first," he suggested, proceeding to put her through the easiest maneuvers. "I think I can try it now," Sally said. She had endeavored to give a good demonstration of windmill gyrations, holding her body with ram-like stiffness. It would never do to let this serious boy know she was laughing up her sleeve at him.

THE UNBELIEVERS

FRECKLES and HIS FRIENDS By Blosser

Sport Glances. By Grayson

BY HARRY GRAYSON NEA Service Sports Editor KNEE injuries . . . slowest to heal . . . form one of the mounting problems in football, and coaches see no end to the epidemic in the open game. There is no question but that the equipment protecting the head, shoulders, hips, and thighs is too severe against the part of the anatomy least safeguarded against twisting. Even if it were possible to take some of the pressure off blocking, knee injuries would be prevalent in football as it is played today . . . with the better runners weakening their own knees by cutting on a dime.

JOHN T. FLYNN

BY JOHN T. FLYNN NEA Service Staff Correspondent NEW YORK.—Seven young economists from Harvard and Tufts College have fabricated a program for economic recovery. It appears in a small book just published. As in 1931-32 a stream of programs for rehabilitating America pours out upon our desks. This is the most interesting I have seen chiefly because it comes from the hands of men who understand the anatomy of the capitalist system. The program is based upon the theory that the continuing functioning of the capitalist system requires a continuing flow of investments. The authors point out quite properly that this means that private industry as a whole must pay out in capital and operating expenditures more than it receives back in prices. Strange as this may seem, it is true. Private industry has ceased to do this because capital investment has almost come to an end. Therefore these gentlemen ground their whole plan upon the proposition that, as private investment has ceased to come to an end, the government must step in and become the great investor. The whole problem, therefore, is to organize and finance a vast government investment program which will be permanent. The authors disclaim any plan to disrupt the economy of private ownership. Private ownership having abdicated at present the function of capital investment expansion, the government will undertake it merely to protect the remaining functions of private ownership. Here is the program. (1) A 50-year program of rebuilding America—its houses, starting with homes for the slum dwellers. (2) A vast expansion of our recreational facilities. (3) Great projects to modernize our traffic facilities. (4) A great program of conservation of resources, particularly soil through reforestation and fire protection, engineering works to retard surface erosion and a national program of river and dam co-ordination for flood control. (5) National program of educational and health expansion. On the welfare side they would extend old-age benefits to all classes and abolish the old-age reserve account and would reorganize unemployment benefits to include all workers and supplement benefits by elastic work projects to afford longer subsistence when insurance benefits run out. The problem of financing government investment becomes the terrifying ogre in any such plan. The authors advocate both taxation and borrowing. They insist tax revenues can be expanded enormously by putting an end to existing evasions and by abolishing tax-exempt securities. They also advocate what this writer has advocated, the taxing of corporate earnings in the hands of stockholders rather than in the hands of corporations—taxing earnings rather than dividends. As for borrowing, they face with equanimity continuous borrowing, wholly untrified by the constantly rising level of the public debt. The rising tide of taxes to pay interest they dismiss with the proposition that this can be rendered harmless in economics if the ownership is spread out among all the people. Then as all the people will be taxed to pay the interest, the interest will go back to them as owners of the bonds. As to private business, they urge an end of trust busting. Great aggregations of capital are useful. The government should regulate those that can be regulated by controlling prices and should take over those which do not yield to regulation. It should take over the railroads, regulate prices of great basic industries and try both regulation and ownership of utilities. (Copyright, 1938, NEA Service, Inc.)

Slow Starts Waste Gas

WINTER PROOF for Lightning Fast Starts

When you step on the starter gasoline is pumped into the motor in vapor form. If it doesn't fire and start your motor promptly, it turns back into liquid form and either drains into the crankcase to dilute your oil, or passes out the exhaust pipe... wasted!

You can eliminate this waste by stopping at the sign of the Flying Red Horse for fast-firing winter Mobilgas and quick-flowing winter Mobiloil, two important points of Magnolia Winter Proof service.

Get your complete Winter Proof Ticket, now! It's good for lightning-fast starts... longer life for your car... and extra miles for your fuel dollars.

MAGNOLIA Winter Proof SERVICE

1. WINTER GASOLINE. WHY: Winter Mobilgas gives quicker starts, faster pick-up, extra mileage and smooth, powerful engine performance.
2. CRANKCASE PROTECTED. WHY: Summer oil thickens and won't flow freely enough in cold temperatures to protect moving parts.
3. CHASSIS PROTECTED. WHY: Under ordinary driving conditions winter Mobilgasate Woe's Squeeze Out—Wash Out—or Comsol—strip greases and makes your car run smoother.
4. TRANSMISSION PROTECTED. WHY: Your gear-shift lever answers this when it sticks and it hard to move. Winter Mobil Gear Oil makes shifting easy.
5. DIFFERENTIAL PROTECTED. WHY: There are two types of differential gears, and each needs a special winter Mobil Gear Oil to prevent dragging and wear.
6. RADIATOR PROTECTED. WHY: Mobil Radiator Flush loosens rust and scale and re-opens clogged passages. It prepares your radiator for Mobil Frezoner.
7. BATTERY PROTECTED. WHY: Cold weather reduces battery efficiency. Clean and grease terminals; regular servicing speeds cold starts.
