SALES TAX IS OPPOSED BY HOUSE GROUP

AUSTIN, Mar. 7.—Opponents of a sales tax constitutional amendment showed unexpected strength in the house today, but they failed in three attempts to order natural resource and income tax bills from the revenue and taxation committee.

All motions failed because two-thirds majority was lacking to instruct the committee to report.

Rep. Dewitt Hale of Farmersville, who made the motion on behalf of a natural resource tax bill, said many members of the legislature were committed against sales taxes. The amendment recommended yesterday by the constitutional amendment committee is "fundamentally a sales tax," he said, and "places the burden of taxation on those least able to pay."

Organized labor representatives already had advised their local units of objections to the sales tax amendment.

Gandhi Ends His "Fast Unto Death" And Wins Point

RAJKOT, India, March 7.—Mahatma Gandhi ended his "fast unto death" today when the Indian and British governments intervened to assure a settlement of his demand for liberalization of the government of Rajkot state.

Gandhi seemed near the point of collapse when he broke his fast at 2:30 p. m. He had been without food for 98 1/2 hours since noon Friday.

It was understood that Gandhi's fast was victorious and that he won a promise that the original agreement with the ruler of Rajkot will be carried out and prisoners whom Gandhi considers unjustly held will be freed.

The terms of settlement were reported to include an inquiry by the chief justice of India into the charges against Tajkot's ruler.

Captain Explains Traffic Arrests To C of C. Body

Reports by several committees were heard at the meeting of the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce Monday night, in a meeting that had been postponed from the previous week.

Capt. Harry Hutchinson of Abilene, of the Department of Public Safety, appeared before the directors and made an interesting talk on the work of the highway patrol, and answered charges made recently that this area of Texas had become known as the "hot spot of Texas" because of numerous arrests made by patrolmen.

Capt. Hutchinson pointed out that 38 arrests had been made in the Ranger area, while 102 had been warned, while in the same three-week period 61 arrests had been made in the Abilene area, with 107 being warned, in Coleman 67 arrests had been made and 166 warned and in the Stamford area arrests numbered 65 and warnings 168.

Throughout the district, he said, 527 arrests had been made and 1,368 warned.

Capt. Hutchinson, who has charge of work in 18 counties, and under whom 16 patrolmen work, stated that speeding and defective lights led all charges made, while driving drunk was third, far behind either of the other charges.

He explained the tightening up of traffic regulations by saying that in Eastland County in 1937 12 highway fatalities had been reported and in 1938 only five deaths had been reported.

Reports on the Ranger Livestock Show, which opens Friday, were made, showing that everything would be in readiness for the show.

The directors voted to pay prizes to softball teams, offered last year, and voted to have nothing to do with sponsoring softball in any form this year.

A committee is to report to the city commission that the Chamber of Commerce is severing all softball ties and obligations, but any organization that wishes to run the park this year, assuming all obligations, can do so, providing proper arrangements are made.

Those present at the meeting were K. E. Ambrose, A. N. Larson, W. F. Creaiger, C. D. Woods, Dr. Ross Hodges, Lee Dockery, B. A. Tunnell, L. R. Pearson, L. L. Bruce, B. E. Garner, R. S. Balch, and C. H. Martin.

Recreation Building To Be Scene of School in Which Many Are Cooperating.

Much enthusiasm is being shown in the annual Happy Kitchen Cooking School, to be presented at the Recreation Building, on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, March 9, 10 and 11, by the Ranger Times, with the cooperation of the Ranger merchants.

Plans have already been made by a large number of merchants to have exhibits at the school, and large crowds are expected to be present this year, as on all previous years, when the school opens.

Mrs. Arreva D. French, noted cooking school expert, who was in charge of the school last year, is returning by popular demand, both by those who participate in the school and the hundreds of women who attend each session of the school in order to learn the latest about modern cooking methods.

The school, as in previous years, will be a practical demonstration of economical cooking, and will not feature expensive dishes which only a few can afford, but inexpensive menus, which everyone can afford, will be utilized and explained in detail. A question box will be maintained near the door, where anyone having cooking problems of any kind, can drop their questions and have them answered from the stage. The question box will be located near the registration tables, so they will be available for all.

Those participating in the school this year include: Brown and Moffett, Clemmer's Dairy, Frasier Hatchery, Carl Page, plumber; Southern Ice Co., A. J. Ratliff, Ben Keith, Burton Lingo, Montgomery Ward, J. E. Meroney, Sinclair dealer; Schooley's Bakery, Paramount Hotel and Cafe, Joseph's, Higginbotham-Bartlett Lumber Co., Ken Umberston, Jeweler; Texas Electric Service Co., Community Public Service Co., Hassen Co., The Globe, Inc., Ranger Furniture Exchange, Martin and Notgrass, Oil City Pharmacy, Ranger Dry Cleaning Plant, Mrs. McHenry's Beauty Shop, Ranger Floral Co., Piggly Wiggly (meats), Sig's Nu-Way Grocery (groceries), Coca-Cola Bottling Co., Guaranty Ice Cream Co., Brown Transfer Co., Mrs. Tucker's Shortening, McIlhenry Tobacco Sauce, K-G Baking Powder, Duncan Coffee Co. (Admiration Coffee), Roy McCleskey, Gulf products.

All three men worked in Capt. Seay's home. Couch was a cook, Hooser was a laundry worker and Green a dishwasher and cook's helper.

Capt. Seay said the prisoners may have gone toward San Antonio.

COMMUNISTS IN SPAIN ARE STAGING RIOTS

Republican Spain's new defense council used rifles and airplanes today to end a communist counter-revolution and speed negotiations with the nationalists for peace.

In Madrid communists opposing the peace program of the council, headed by Jose Miaja attempted an uprising with the aid of republican troops. Troops loyal to the council opened fire on the insurgents and Miaja ordered republican air forces to fly over the city as a demonstration of strength.

It was claimed the outbreak was suppressed and stern action had been taken to stop military raids on communist headquarters at Valencia and Madrid.

At Burgos, headquarters for Gen. Franco, it was reported that the council still was in danger of overthrow, that communists had seized the Madrid radio station and increased the possibility that nationalist armies soon would attack the city unless they were invited in by the defense council on terms of unconditional surrender.

The republican city of Valencia was reported quiet under strong guard. Related advices from the military commander of Murcia indicated that disorders might be continuing at Cartagena, where a naval revolt Sunday against the former Negrin government led to outbreaks by nationalist sympathizers.

CIO AND AFL COMMITTEE TO TALK OF PEACE

WASHINGTON, Mar. 7.—Committees representing the American Federation of Labor and the Congress of Industrial Organizations were to meet with President Roosevelt to begin negotiations to end labor's three-year-old civil war.

The six members of the two committees, secretary of labor Frances Perkins and the president were scheduled to sit down together at the white house at 2:30 EST.

Mr. Roosevelt was expected to make a new and vigorous appeal for peace and to reiterate his declaration that the people hope for a constructive "peace with honor" quickly.

The meeting, initiated by the president, marked the first time he has participated in a formal peace move, or has met with an A. F. of L.-C. I. O. committee.

The other CIO-AFL of L. peace conference ended unsuccessfully, Dec. 21, 1937.

Foreign Policy Of Roosevelt Praised

NEW YORK, March 7.—Henry L. Stimson, secretary of state in former President Herbert Hoover's cabinet, today endorsed President Roosevelt's foreign policy of democracies against dictatorships in a letter to the New York Times.

He recommended naval cooperation with France and Great Britain if they are attacked by Germany, Italy and Japan.

SENATE TOLD NEUTRALITY IS OF NO VALUE

WASHINGTON, Mar. 7.—Senate Majority Leader Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky, questioning the value of the neutrality act in aiding world peace, today urged the senate to approve the $358,000,000 army expansion bill to protect America's position in a troubled world.

"It is doubtful whether the neutrality act, whether enforced or not, has contributed to the peace of the world," Barkley said.

He pressed for a final vote this afternoon on the bill authorizing 6,000 fighting planes for the army air corps, strengthening of the Panama Canal defenses and education of industry in production of war materials.

The senate naval affairs committee meanwhile heard Rear Admiral Arthur B. Cook urge authorization of the disputed $5,000,000 harbor and airport development on Guam Island.

Cook, chief of naval aeronautics, said the Guam improvements would enable the navy to establish a valuable "listening post" in the western Pacific.

"We must have means of learning of the enemy's plans and movements before he can reach any defense line that we may draw," Cook said.

Modern People and Ancient Superstitions

Could there be any connection between these things: The world today is governed less by reason and more by instinct and momentary feeling than at any time in recent years.

"Superstition is increasing by leaps and bounds," says Rev. G. R. Balleine and Dr. H. L. Goudge, British Church of England divines, who have studied the superstition situation and written a recent pamphlet about it.

Tom Paine, philosophical father of his country, thought he saw dawning, 150 years ago, "The Age of Reason." He believed he could see a day coming when men would regulate their affairs sensibly, sanely, without passion, and in the sweet light of pure reason.

For a while it seemed that this might almost come true as Paine dreamed it. But today it seems farther away than ever. More and more in the affairs of today's world we substitute bluster for brains, impulse for intelligence, jitters for judgment, and rancor for reason.

Whole peoples today are ruled by the idea that to settle human problems by the exercise of cool reason is somehow degenerate; that the really red-blooded way to settle a problem is to work up a temperature of 104 and then grab a club and knock the ears off any body who happens to be standing in the way.

What has all this to do with the growth of superstition envisioned by the learned English divines? Just this: it is in such a world that rank growths of superstition flourish most abundantly. They complement and support the lack of reason as applied to affairs. That is why the campaign of the British clergymen to stamp it out is a timely one.

They believe that all superstitions are "forms of mental disease." We wouldn't know about that, but it is certain that the extremely superstitious live in a world which they have unnecessarily filled with terrors and restrictions. Life is quite complex enough with real and perfectly evident troubles and griefs. To fill it with purely imaginary dangers, threats, menaces, and terrors, or even with illusory omens and portents of good fortune, is to suffer unnecessarily.

Fortunately, one man's superstition is another man's laughing-stock. Nobody believes them all. Why, imagine a man going around knocking on wood, refusing to walk under ladders, sit with 13 at table, do anything on Friday, or shake hands over a threshold. Huh! Such foolishness! Or worrying about spilling salt—

Wait a minute! THAT'S unlucky! Unless you throw a pinch of it over your left shoulder.

Milk Leads Farm Cash Income

The rising tide of farm cash from milk has added nearly $440,000,000 to the dairy farmers' income since the low of 1933. Figures on the milk cans show total farm cash income for each year in millions of dollars.

MILK led all products as the largest single source of farm cash income in 1938 with a total of $1,430,000,000. This was only 6.5 per cent less than the 1937 figure of $1,529,000,000 according to the Milk Industry Foundation and was $440,000,000 greater than the low of 1933.

"All farm cash income dropped 12.9 per cent, government reports show, from $8,208,000,000 in 1937 to $7,156,000,000 in 1938, excluding government payments," the statement said.

"These figures show the importance of milk as a mainstay of farm purchasing power. They are particularly impressive because milk production was estimated to be from 4 to 5 per cent greater during the year and sales of fluid milk were down approximately 4 1/2 per cent from 1937.

"Milk delivered to homes and stores in bottles, which brings farmers the highest price, probably would have suffered greater consumption declines but for determined efforts by milk distributors to push sales.

"Cash income from milk is also important as it is chiefly cash payments to farmers," the Foundation points out, "and this is cash that is used in the current purchases of merchandise and supplies.

"The milk industry is a busy buyer and milk distributors and producers in many markets account for one of the largest single outlays for cars and trucks, feed, oil, gas tires, groceries and other supplies."

Texas Tech Plants 2,000 New Trees

LUBBOCK, Tex.—The campus at Texas Technological College has some 2,000 new trees and shrubs, and 3,000 students know how a tree should be planted, as results of Arbor day exercises at the school.

Arbor day, which coincides with Washington's birthday, was observed this year for the second time. Its sponsors had two purposes for it. The first was to beautify the college campus, and the second was to create an interest in trees and shrubs which may lead later to beautification of homes and cities throughout West Texas.

As carried out at Texas Tech, tree-planting also is something of a picnic. Clifford Jones, president of the institution, rode about the campus on a horse, directing the 3,000 students and teachers who did the work, while kettles at various places throughout the grounds provided hot coffee for the workers.

Flood Proofing of Ohio Valley Pushed

PITTSBURGH — Delegates from the 1,600-mile long strip of land baptized each time the Ohio river creeps above its banks will assemble in convention here April 11 to launch an aggressive drive to flood-proof the river, according to Capt. O. Slack Barrett, president of the Ohio Valley Improvement Association.

In addition to offering the government its fullest support on eliminating or minimizing danger of floods, the convention will consider pending railroad legislation, Barrett said.

"Anything affecting the nation's railways is of immediate concern to the waterway shippers. Most measures suggested for railroad relief have highly restrictive provisions that would limit or destroy commerce on the highways. With the government committed to a long-range program of defense, the waterways would have full opportunity to render the maximum degrees of service in any national emergency."

LEGION POST SCORES BUND AND ITS WORK

Henry Pullman, commander of the Eastland American Legion post, disclosed Tuesday that the members at a meeting in Eastland passed a resolution denouncing the German-American Bund which they characterized as constituting "a challenge to the American people."

A copy of the resolution was sent the state legion magazine at Houston and another copy was forwarded to National Commander Chadwick.

The resolution was as follows: "Be it resolved, by this Dallas-Daniel Post No. 70 of the American Legion, at Fort Worth, Texas, in regular meeting of March 3, 1939, that

"Whereas, in the meeting of the German Nazi Bund, so-called German-American Bund, held February 20, 1939, in Madison Square Garden, New York, N. Y., the German Nazi swastika was paraded above and ahead of the flag of the United States and contrary to all rules and regulations relative to the use of our National Emblem, and

"Whereas, the German Nazi salute was given by the members of said Bund at such meeting and demonstration rather than an American salute to the Flag of our country, thus openly and defiantly pledging fealty to the German dictator, Adolf Hitler,

"We, the members of this Post and visiting legionnaires and ex-service men, now publicly denounce said Bund organization and its allies in this country for the following reasons, to-wit:

"It has contradicted every tenet of democracy and overstepped the bounds of right of free assembly and forfeited its right of existence in the United States of America. It has openly pledged its allegiance and fealty to a foreign power and in so doing de-

Land Locked Sailors Will Have Regatta

By United Press
ARDMORE, Okla.—Three hundred "land-locked sailors," Scouts from Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico, are expected to participate in the organization's regatta at Lake Murray, in southern Oklahoma, in April, according to Perry Wiles, who is in charge.

That number is approximately a third of the Sea Scouts in the region.

Dallas, Texas, is expected to be well represented. Crews will be sent from Highland Park and Fort Worth, and the Dallas sailors probably will enter two boats, the Vandal and the Apache.

The regatta will be held the first week of April.

Ranger High School News

By DOROTHY BYAS

During the week of Feb. 20 the high school students enjoyed four chapel periods instead of the usual two. Now every time an office assistant comes into a room the students think of chapel.

On Monday, Feb. 20, an ex-convict told us about the Texas prison system.

On the next day our speaker was Mr. L. H. Flewelling. Mr. Flewelling told of the life of our first president, George Washington. He presented to the school a book on the Constitution, a picture of George Washington, and another picture, entitled, "Good Enough For Us."

Mr. Bell, the Vocational Agriculture teacher had charge of the program on Wednesday. He introduced Mr. John R. Wood, the game warden for this district.

On Thursday, Mr. Tipton presented the awards to the boys who lettered in basketball this season. The awards were belt buckles which had a large maroon and white R, with basketball written below the letter. The following received letters: Hubert Anderson, J. H. McKelvain, Earnest Arterburn, Charlie Whitefield and Dewey Brawner.

Students were beginning to think about keeping within the law when they had heard all those speakers: an ex-convict, a lawyer, and a game warden all in one week.

On Friday, the seniors in Mrs. Hunter's fourth year English class and students of Ranger Junior College went to Morton Valley to hear Mrs. Lexie Dean Robertson, who had just recently been named poet laureate by the Texas Legislature.

On Monday, the third program on our lyceum course was presented. Mr. Dill, a potter, gave a most interesting lecture and demonstration.

On Wednesday, Dr. Taylor, secretary of the State Medical Society, talked pro and con about socialized medicine.

The Hodges Oak Park Rhythm Band presented the program on

Existence Is Made Better for Cripple

By United Press

PITTSBURGH—The lot of present-day crippled children has improved much since the days when they were looked upon as physical misfits without a chance of succeeding in a world of keen competition.

This is shown in a booklet published by the Pittsburgh Industrial Home for Crippled Children. It describes scientific treatment being used to make the lives of crippled children happier and tells of educational and recreational programs designed to make life worth while for these unfortunate.

Among other things, the 80-odd inmates of the home have a Boy Scout troop, a unit of the Girl Reserve, and a small orchestra. They play games, read, or are read to, do handicraft work and take part in sewing and cooking classes.

Wildlife Resources Are Profitable
Fur Income

Last week there was discussed in this column, fur and furbearers. A birds eye view of the national income from this source was given and a few facts about the poisoning campaigns put on in the west and just what this meant to the income of the trapper.

Today I am going to give some facts about the fur income to local trappers. People do not ordinarily see an actual money profit from our wildlife resources. Many times this income is very large, depending on the fur bearer and the section where the furs are taken. The author need not say that the fur resources of the State of Texas does not get the proper protection, and little effort is put forth to improve the conditions for building this extra money crop on the farm or ranch. Surely a million-dollar industry would mean much to the state of Texas, and most Texans would do all that they could to get such a business in Texas, well, that is just exactly what we have in our fur bearers and I wish that the average landowner could realize this fact, and help build up this valuable source of income.

The counties that were included in this survey of the fur income to the trapper were the counties in my district: Brown, Coleman, Comanche, Eastland and Erath. There is a big area that cannot produce furbearers in these six counties, and surely not much time was spent in building up this industry. But at that the total income exceeded $12,743.

Odds Against a Trapper
The average trapper this year had many odds to work against, and these were big factors in reducing the total income this year. For one the prices were very low, but on the average better than those of last year. This was probably due to the lack of foreign market due to the war situation.

Fur-Bearers, Number Taken
There were only ten of the many furbearers taken in this area. They were 43 bobcats, 841 ringtail cats, 40 badgers, 874 civet cats, 916 fox, 99 mink, 21-366 opossum, 12,969 skunks, 450 coons, and 59 wolves. In this survey there were sev-

Corn Has Higher
Yield Than Most Other Varieties

By United Press

LONGVIEW, Tex.—From seed which he obtained from a pioneer East Texas planter 45 years ago, Walter Cunyus has developed a strain of corn which produces 35 bushels or more to the acre, in a section where 10 to 12 bushels is the average.

During the past season Cunyus harvested 35 bushels, on the average, from acres which have been in continuous cultivation for 94 years. The original seed was obtained from a man named Bell, a resident of Harrison county, in 1894. The strain now is known as Bell corn. The grains are large and white. The ears are frequently three inches in diameter, and bear 18 to 20 rows of kernels, compared with 12 to 14 rows on other types. The kernels extend clear to the ends of the cobs.

Cunyus has developed the strain of interesting facts brought out. There were about 2 1/2 times as many opossums taken as skunks, but at this great odd the skunk brought three times as much money.

Another odd fact was that there were sold to one fur dealer 59 wolves. These were taken in Callahan county and in the edge of adjoining counties. The price was low and from this one source the total value was only $35.40. Skunks brought the highest total income, this being about $9,981, about two thirds of the total income.

This survey also pointed out several species that really need rigid protection and laws to close the season for a few years to build up the populations. Badger, mink and coons are very valuable and the report shows that some of these were caught where the populations were very low. A few mink were marketed in sections where that species had not been caught for six years. This shows that this species wants to come back if given proper attention. The coon population is getting low and to save this species, something must be done to protect it.

by careful selection of his seed each year from the best ears on the best stalks on his Gregg county farm. He plants the corn in rows six feet apart, with cowpeas between them.

The 200-acre farm, in cultivation since 1845, has had the benefit of crop rotation throughout that period. Legumes and manure have been used to restore fertility for several years, and the land has been terraced for more than 15 years.

Hydrophobia Cure Of Long Ago Is To Be Given Test

By United Press
AUSTIN, Tex.—A forgotten hydrophobia cure of about 125 years ago, a tea made from skull-cap, a marsh-grown plant, may be on the verge of a comeback if the research project of Dr. C. C. Albers, University of Texas pharmacy professor, is a success. Thumbing through journals and newspapers of the late eighteenth century, Dr. Albers read glowing accounts of authentic tests of the curative powers of the skull-cap, scutellaria lateriflora. Suddenly, the cure passed into oblivion. Dr. Albers, in his University laboratory, has begun to make from the plant an extract which he will administer to rabbits and other test animals to ascertain the plant's possibilities for anti-rabies effects. Early stories of the skull-cap said a tea was made from the plant and given the bitten animal every other day. Asked why the plant's use has seemingly fallen into disrepute, Dr. Albers said it was likely the cure might have been monopolized by a few doctors who died with the secret. Later generations of doctors, naturally, never heard of it.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

BY MRS. GAYNOR MADDOCK
NEA Service Staff Writer
BUY playing cards with green backs striped in gold and black. Get tea-lies and pencils in green, set tables with Irish decorations. Plan a spring luncheon menu and invite your friends to St. Patrick's Day party.

Set your card tables with plain green crepe paper table covers. Use china which carries a green design, if possible. Paper napkins with Irish-jigging figures belong on the tables. In the center of each table use a green candle. Make a candleholder decorated with ruffles of green and gold crepe paper and a gold harp. The harp is simply made of No. 15 wire wrapped with strips of gold crepe paper to the thickness of a pencil. Bend this into the shape of a harp and fasten on the harp strings. These are spool wire wrapped with gold crepe paper. For favors, use little nut cups topped off with green crepe paper ruffles and miniature gold harps made like the larger harp. Here's a spring-like menu worthy to honor the great Saint of old Ireland. Cream of lettuce soup in cups, croissants, baked breast of chicken with cheese sauce, parsley potato balls, fresh asparagus with lemon butter, clover leaf rolls, pistachio ice cream, cup cakes with green frosting, green and white mints,

Cream of Letteuce Soup (Serves 4)

One firm head lettuce, 1 tablespoon minced onion, 3 celery stalks, 1 tablespoon butter, 1 tablespoon flour, 2 cups milk, nutmeg and salt, pepper, whipped cream, pistachio nuts. Wash lettuce and shred. Cover with salted boiling water, add celery stalks and onion. Cook uncovered for 20 minutes. Drain, remove celery. Heat butter, stir in flour, then gradually add 2 cups milk. Add lettuce and onion. Simmer gently and season with a shake of nutmeg, salt and pepper. Pour into cups, top with a little whipped cream and dust cream with pulverized pistachio nuts.

Four Cities Seeking ETCC Convention

By United Press
LONGVIEW, Tex.—Two months in advance of the 1939 annual meeting of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce, at least four East Texas cities already have indicated that they would seek the organization's 1940 convention. Marshall, Tyler, Lufkin and Corsicana are prepared to send large delegations to this year's convention in Beaumont on April 23-25 to invite the chamber to those cities next year. Waco and Galveston are considering extending invitations, according to Humber M. Harrison of Longview, vice president and general manager of the ETCC. Marshall and Corsicana have not entertained the convention. Invitations must be submitted at the 1939 convention, and the host city will be selected at that time.

The U. S. Senate has increased to $5,417,000 the appropriation for the control of pests. Job seekers take heed.

Lincoln Letter Was Found On Fugitive

ROCHESTER, Mo.—Removal of a partition in an old house here recently uncovered a newspaper in which were printed two letters from Abraham Lincoln. One letter, dated June 20, 1859, and addressed to S. F. Chase, New York, contained a recital of Lincoln's views on whether congress had constitutional authority to enact a fugitive slave law.

The letter concluded with Lincoln's belief that "the introduction of a proposition for repeal of the fugitive slave law in the next Republican national convention will explode the convention and the party."

Cash Prizes Will Be Offered Cake Bakers at School

"Calling all cake bakers!" This is an invitation to enter Mrs. Tucker's Cake Baking Contest in connection with the Cooking School which is featuring Mrs. Tucker's Shortening and other well known products. Mrs. Tucker is offering a $1.00 cash prize for the best cake and $2.00 in cash for the second best cake entered in this contest.

Any kind of cake may be entered and the only requirement is that Mrs. Tucker's Shortening be used in making the cake. But this requirement is a joy, according to the many cooking experts who are using Mrs. Tucker's Shortening exclusively in their schools. These experts who tested Mrs. Tucker's in over 200 cooking schools last year recommended this shortening especially for cake making because it is so creamy smooth and easy to use.

First to feature "triple-creamed" shortening, Mrs. Tucker has improved her process by "multi-creaming" the product over and over again. Every pound of Mrs. Tucker's is whipped, aerated, and creamed many times so that it reaches kitchens velvety-smooth for easy creaming and mixing with other ingredients. Housewives everywhere say that Mrs. Tucker's Shortening is so creamy at all temperatures that other ingredients may be quickly stirred in without tiresome creaming. Mrs. Tucker is so proud of such compliments she is staging this Cake Baking Contest to prove to all housewives in this section the measure of making cakes with her creamy shortening. Complete details of the contest and the day for judging will be announced from the stage at the school.

Mrs. Tucker's Shortening will also be featured in the Cooking

SERIAL STORY

WOMEN WANT BEAUTY!

BY LOUISE HOLMES
COPYRIGHT, 1939, NEA SERVICE, INC.

—swell, simply swell."
"What about your job?" Susie asked. Not a word had she heard concerning Dick's building.
He hedged. "Nobody really works in California. Too much going on." It was well, he admitted to himself, that Suzanne had the ability to make money. They must live well, do everything. No doubt she would be a celebrity in no time. Again Dick expanded with a pleased smile. It was almost 4 when Susie registered at the Rivertown hotel. Driving through the wintry streets she'd fought an inclination to use her new identity, to be smothered by familiar sights. She could see herself, juggling along, weary, without hope. At the hotel she was not recognized, even her name, Suzanne Lambert, brought forth no comment. Encouraged, she went to her room, unpacked her evening gown and freshened up a bit.

"You are Suzanne," she told her reflected image in the mirror. "Don't let anyone tell you different. Susie is dead. She died in Harker's gymnasium. Suzanne—Suzanne—" She mumbled the name as she applied lip gloss in the way she had been taught. . . .

BEFORE joining Dick she called Mr. Jeff Bowman, Harker's advertising department, Chicago. After a short wait during which she realized how very badly she wanted to reach Jeff, she was told that Mr. Bowman was not in. Dick, meanwhile, had visited the fraternity house, shaken hands with a dozen boisterous brothers, and assured them that he and his "drag" would be on hand for the dinner dance.
He and Susie walked to the Waffle Shoppe, students turning to look after Susie, noting her smart fur coat, extreme off-the-face hat, more important still, her indubitable way of wearing them.
Entering the Shoppe, Susie saw Dick look sharply at the waffle irons, now pressed over by a white-coated boy. One thing Susie instantly saw. Two pictures of herself, newspaper prints, framed together.
"Dick," she said, when they were seated in a booth, "guess my nickname."
"Suzanne—Suzanne—why, Susie, of course."
She smiled into his eyes, waiting. He returned the smile, not comprehending.
"I'm psychic," she told him. "I'll reconstruct a day for you, a day last spring." At his interested nod she went on. "One day last spring you came in and sat on that stool." She inclined her head toward "his favorite place at the counter." "Susie waited on you. She was sunk because you were going away. Remember?"

"Yeah." He gave a startled glance as she said Susie.
"You told her you were sorry for something that had happened a long time ago."
"Yeah." He gave a startled glance as she said Susie.
"You told her you were sorry for something that had happened a long time ago."
"Yeah." He gave a startled glance as she said Susie.
"You told her you were sorry for something that had happened a long time ago."

THE startled gleam in Dick's eyes suddenly became the light of recognition. "My God," he muttered.
Susie continued evenly. Strange that her quivering anxiety should have vanished. "The waffle girl gave you a graduation present. It was a tie clip."
"I know," he broke in, a queer look about his mouth. "Turquoise with a lion on each side."
"Yes, it cost the girl $10. Have you ever worn it, Dick?"
He appeared not to hear the question. He was staring at her, astounded, only half believing.
"Look, now," he said, intense, strained. "You're not trying to tell me that you are—that you are Susie." He was ready to laugh, not quite sure if it were funny or not.
She nodded. "Can't you see it, Dick?"
"In a way I can. Your eyes. I always thought you had nice eyes, and your cute little nose. It used to look like a button—"
He leaned back, regarding her delightedly. He was thinking of Susie in relation to Hollywood, the place of miracles. She led the field in miracles. "How'd you do it—how'd you ever do it?"
She told him, the longing to be like other girls, the newspaper advertisement which was no less than an answer to her prayer, the letter she wrote to John Harker. Dick kept ejaculating. "But it's unbelievable—it's unbelievable!" He sounded pleased.
While they ate waffles, Susie limiting herself to half of one, without butter or syrup, she finished the story of her fight for beauty, ending with, "I'm not really beautiful at all, Dick. It's simply that someone showed me how to minimize my bad features and make the most of my good ones."
"But your figure," Dick interrupted. "Where did you get that adorable little figure?"
"A Swedish Simon Legree and his wife gave me this figure," Susie told him. "Ten weeks of endless exercise, 10 weeks of starving—"
She exhaled a long sigh of relief. Dick wasn't shocked, his eyes were even more openly admiring than they were before.
(To Be Continued)

Barren fields, the naked trees and dirty ditch snow. Suzanne could see California. Perhaps she could see California, eh? This mark was accompanied by a range at her profile. It was a rious profile. Why hadn't she taken a moment to talk with were they in such a hurry couldn't stop for common
Dick went on to describe the of his adoption. Glittering machine, palm trees, men mowing lawns that very day while he and Suzanne huddled in a heated car. "Tun all the time," he elaborated boastfully. "Any kind of you want, ocean, mountains, snow—all in a day's time

Gladys—"No, he never spent a penny."
Dickie—"When you asked her to dance did she accept quickly?"
Blondy—"Did she?" She was on my feet in an instant."
"And why should they celebrate Washington's birthday more than mine?" asked Dean Baakin.
"Because! He never told a lie," replied Tommy Smith.
Somewhere in California one of our RJC boys is finding pasture. He came to us out of the blue and he left us the same way. He had just returned from an imaginary trip to California. When one day he came into the reading room, dressed fit to kill, stating that he was leaving for the west coast. We are all sorry to see him leave. Please don't bring home one of Sally Rand's gals from the exposition.—(by the girls of RJC.)

Game Warden Addresses Joint Assembly of High School and Junior College
Recently John Earl Wood, state game warden in six counties, addressed a joint assembly of the Ranger Junior college and the Ranger Junior high school on the subject, "Conservation of Wild Life."
Mr. Wood brought a number of mounted birds and animals with him.
Mr. Wood was invited to speak to the student body by one of his very close friends, Mr. Bell, who is instructor in vocational agriculture in the high school.
In the course of his speech, Mr. Wood pointed out several reasons for the conservation of wild life; he also told how a few of the states have arranged not only to protect their wild life, but also to increase the number of wild birds and animals. Then Mr. Wood read some interesting facts about the wild life in Texas. He concluded by discussing the helpful habits of a large number of birds and animals that almost everyone considered to be destructive. He showed the mounted bodies of the raccoon, the Harris hawk, and several owls.
Dramatics Club News
The Masquers, the Junior College dramatics club, met at seven o'clock Tuesday night, February 21. Ross Hodges was elected as a member of the club. Virginia Beach gave a sketch of the life of Ethel Barrymore. Orvel Harrell discussed the play, "White Oaks" in which Ethel Barrymore appeared in Fort Worth.

he may give service to society. The foregoing statement gives in a few words the reason that we have a system of schools. But schools alone can accomplish little. The cooperation of the student is needed before any progress can be made toward the molding of the student into the cog that he will be in life's machinery. The student must put forth his best efforts to make himself better fitted to hold up his end, and he can work toward this goal just as well in a small school as he can in a large one if he is willing to devote his time and energy.
