BILL WOULD CLASSIFY ALL OF PENSIONERS

AUSTIN, April 4.—The Texas Senate today passed and sent to the house a bill to divide old age pensioners into two classes and to pay all persons in the same class the same amount.

Sen. Doss Hardin of Waco was the author of the bill. Under its terms the county commissioners courts in each county would have charge of classification of the qualified pensioners. The classes would be arranged according to the accustomed standards of living.

The advocates of the bill admitted that the practical result would be to place negroes generally in a lower class than whites.

The bill has no provision for old age taxes. That phase was to be taken up before adjournment of the senate today by a motion to reconsider yesterday's defeat of a resolution for a constitutional amendment to pay social security by means of sales and natural resource taxes.

A bill to levy a two per cent "luxury" sales tax, exempting food, was introduced by Rep. M. A. Bundy of Wichita Falls, and later Clark of Breckenridge. The sponsors estimated that it would raise between $15,000,000 and $20,000,000 a year, one-fourth of which would go to the schools and the remainder for old age pensions.

Garner Is Willing to Become a 1940 Candidate Is Belief of Political Writer

By Lyle C. Wilson
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, April 4.—Vice-President John N. Garner is not yet an active candidate for 1940, but would accept the 1940 democratic nomination, it was believed here today on the basis of self-authenticating information.

It is believed that Garner would prefer Postmaster General James H. Farley as his vice presidential running mate. A complication here is that Farley also is a presidential possibility and a rather good one.

Political observers believe a Garner-Farley ticket would be politically sound, barring a left wing new deal rebellion against returning party control to comparatively conservative men. Some new deal brigade commanders probably would bolt such a ticket.

The final test of the political strength of such a combination would depend largely on President Roosevelt's attitude.

Mr. Roosevelt might bolt a Garner-Farley nomination. Some persons believe he would convict himself of ingratitude if he did so. It was Farley's spawdwork and strategy plus Garner's personal release of the California and Texas delegations to Mr. Roosevelt that permitted his first nomination in 1932.

Washington does not know that Mr. Roosevelt intends to do a thoughtful analysis of his position as the president today is not a candidate but would be receptive to the nomination if his election appeared to be reasonably likely.

Mr. Roosevelt probably would have to obtain the democratic nomination to prevent a conserva-

Franco Begins To Demobilize Spain

BURGOS, Spain, April 4.—Generalissimo Francisco Franco today ordered the demobilization of the vast Spanish civil war forces within the next 90 days.

The nationalist armies totalled almost 1,000,000 men, at the end of the war, while the republican troops, which were disarmed, were estimated at approximately 500,000.

Franco's official order decreed the demobilization and demilitarization of the war ministry within three months, starting Wednesday morning.

Voting Light In Eastland Races

Only 41 votes had been cast at noon today in Eastland's municipal election in which three commissioners are to be chosen.

Voters were urged to participate in the election before closing of the polls this evening. It was pointed out that practically all qualified voters will have an opportunity to vote after getting off from their business this afternoon.

Unopposed candidates are Mayor C. W. Hoffman, L. J. Lambert and H. O. Satterwhite.

Democratic administration succeeding his new deal. If the 1940 Democratic national convention became so conservative that the president could not support the ticket it nominated, he practically could assure democratic defeat by opposing the nominee.

That would permit election of a republican president and, probably a republican house of representatives, although democrats would be expected to retain state control. A serious new deal objection to that strategy would be that the losing democratic ticket would have gained control of the party organization. If Garner were nominated and defeated, his man still would be chairman of the democratic national committee just as John D. Hamilton, of Kansas, remains at the head of the republican national committee, a job given him in June of 1936 by former Gov. Alf M. Landon.

Conviction that Garner is a receptive if not yet an active candidate was increased last week when he permitted Sen. Tom Connally, D. Texas, to insert in the congressional record a Texas state legislature resolution endorsing him for the nomination.

Garner has been consistently critical of new deal policies since the sit-down strike, supreme court and spending disputes became acute after the 1936 presidential election. He has taken a forceful but behind-the-scenes part in maneuvers which have checked the new deal or defeated it on various issues. But there is no open break between the president and the vice president. They meet twice weekly at cabinet gatherings and it still is "Jack" and "Captain" when they address each other.

Italy Is Warned On Albanian Move By Great Britain

LONDON, April 4.—Great Britain today indirectly warned Italy that infringement on the independence of Albania would violate the 1938 friendship agreement between Rome and London.

Consistent with diplomatic reports of Italian military movements indicating a plan to strengthen the fascist control over Albania, a British spokesman referred to the Italian-British gentlemen's agreement of Jan. 2, 1937, which was reaffirmed in the friendship treaty of last April 16, regarding the Mediterranean states.

"It would seem difficult to believe the Italian government would take any action impairing Albania's sovereignty or freedom of action," a spokesman said.

C. OF C. GROUP HAS BARBECUE, BUSINESS MEET

Directors of the Ranger Chamber of Commerce and members of the Ranger City Commission met at the home of Ken E. Ambrose, president of the Chamber of Commerce, Monday night for a barbecue and business meeting, at which much business was taken up for discussion.

A report was made on the annual Ranger Livestock Show, held early in March, which indicated that it was the best in the three-year history of the show, and the same committee was held over for a similar show next year, with plans being proposed to make it even larger in its scope next March.

J. E. Meroney, former secretary, made a report on peanut sales, showing that 300 tons of the 800 tons bought in Ranger had been sold and the next sale being scheduled for April 15.

A letter from Julien Montgomery, state highway engineer, was read, in which Montgomery assured the organization that a flicker light would be installed at the intersection of Blackwell Road and Highway 80.

Mayor Hall Walker made a report on the highway beautification project, that has been made possible by leasing ground between the highway and the Texas & Pacific Railway. Landscape experts are now making blueprints for the project, Walker stated, and the work would be started in the near future, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce.

Plans for a big city-wide cleanup campaign were discussed, and the matter turned over to the civic committee, of which Lee Dockery is chairman, and in which committee details are to be worked out immediately.

Many other routine matters were taken up for discussion and action, in one of the best meetings of the organization for the year.

THREE KILLED WHEN NAVAL PLANES CRASH

EAST BRAintree, Mass. Apr. 4.—At least three men were killed and another was unaccounted for today when two U. S. Navy airplanes locked wings in midair during the launching of the aircraft carrier Wasp and crashed a mile apart, one of them in flames.

Three bodies were recovered within an hour after the accident, and authorities believed that the wreckage of one plane might hold a fourth victim.

One of the planes swung wide after the collision, crashed through the roof of a dwelling house, then veered into a house across the street and set fire to it. The second plane crashed to earth and was wrecked.

The planes were members of a squadron of six which had taken off from nearby Squantum Naval Reserve Air Base, to fly over the launching. It was almost at the moment when Mrs. Charles Edson, wife of the assistant secretary of the navy, smashed a bottle of champagne on the Wasp's prow that the planes collided a quarter of a mile away.

POLAND GIVES STRENGTH TO PEACE MOVE

LONDON, April 4.—Poland was reported today to have offered to strengthen Europe's "stop Hitler" bloc by turning the British pledge of military aid into a two-day defensive agreement.

Col. Josef Beck, foreign minister of Poland, was understood to have brought the offer to Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax at his conferences on Great Britain's plans for creating a defensive wall of interlocking alliances around Europe to guard against future Nazi aggression.

At the same time V. V. Tilsen, the Rumanian ambassador, returning from Bucharest, with new instructions from King Carol, was expected to clarify Rumania's position in the anti-aggression bloc, which prime minister Neville Chamberlain described as "a peace front" from which Germany has nothing to fear as long as she is "a good neighbor."

Britain already has offered military pledges to Rumania and has invited other European nations, including Russia, into the peace front.

Leaders meanwhile studied defensive and offensive strategy with Guy la Chambre, the French air minister.

Search Widened In Probing Of Armstrong Case

ODESSA, April 4.—Sheriff Webb of Ector county said today Louisiana and Texas officers had been asked to help locate a Mexican woman suspected in the slaying of Buford Armstrong, semi-pro baseball pitcher, at a tourist cabin here, Armstrong, a former resident of Eastland.

His bullet-pierced body was found in the cabin late Saturday, and Webb and Police Chief Hatfield expressed belief the baseball player was slain Friday night, Armstrong, a pitcher with the House of David baseball team, was killed a few hours after a workout with the Odessa semipro club.

The officers said they believed they had established a motive in the slaying, but they would not give details. They questioned several witnesses this morning and turned their hunt for the suspect to Louisiana. She was believed to have hitch-hiked east.

Last trace of the woman, the officers said, was found at Big Spring, Texas, where she checked in at a tourist camp and stayed only an hour. Investigators found five .32 caliber bullets in the woman's week-end bag at a tourist cabin here. A bullet of that caliber was removed from Armstrong's body.

What, Exactly, Is All This to Us?

It is a hard-boiled world. Never within the memory of living men have the nations so completely discarded even the mask of principle to stare forth with the naked face of self-interest.

Self-interest has always governed the policies of nations. That is inevitable. But we had come to hope that bare self-interest, in the sense that the tiger is true to his self-interest when he springs on his helpless prey, had been subjected to at least some civilized restraint.

Never before in history has a bloodless conquest of whole nations been seen. The only reason it is seen now is that all the peoples who bled in the World War are still gun shop. They still remember, and they will not fight again except in defense of vital national interests, their very national lives—and not even then unless there is a chance to win. It is not for us to blame them.

When will Britain fight? She will fight when she is convinced that German advances have reached a point where another step will endanger the empire. But she will not fight for abstract democracy.

When will France fight? She will fight when a demand is made which, if granted, would mean the end of France as a great nation. But she will not fight for abstract democracy.

When will Russia fight? She will fight when an effort is made to take Russian territory whose loss would endanger the Soviet Union. But she will not fight for abstract democracy.

These countries are realistic, as Germany is realistic. They are thinking in terms of stark, ultimate necessities. The United States must learn to think that way, too, and not merely sway with every "crisis psychology." We feel, in terms of morality, but the other countries think, in cold terms of advantage.

The British belatedly cry "Rally to save democracy!" But is it democracy they wish to save, or England?

The French toss even their liberty on the altar of democracy, and cry "See! Can you do less?" But is it democracy they wish to save, or France?

The Russians, recent converts to the battle-cry of democracy, have ardent partisans who would march beside them at the drop of the hat. But is it democracy they wish to save, or the Soviet Union?

Our crusade of 1917-1918 has yielded strange fruit, 20 years afterward. Those who took part in it will think twice, three times, before embarking on another. Even those who do not remember it can see before them the unforeseen results.

Perhaps Europe may in time endanger America's self-interest, her liberties, her opportunity to live in the world in the free manner she loves. When that time comes our self-interest will be affected so plainly that we will recognize it, as European countries recognize theirs.

But we owe it to ourselves to go to war another time only for such imperative reasons of self-interest, and not for a slogan, however exalted.

METHODIST MISSIONARY FINISHES STUDY ON "INDIA"

The Woman's Missionary society met at the Methodist church Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the last of a series of six meetings for the purpose of studying conditions in India.

Mrs. J. W. Burrage, superintendent of study, conducted these meetings in a very interesting and profitable manner.

The following program was given at this meeting: Devotional, the subject of which was "Cross-bearing," was given by Mrs. J. L. Turner, who also gave a report on "Our Work in India," given at the Woman's conference at Brownwood last week by Miss Nell Naylor, missionary from India. "American Women in India" was given by Mrs. J. W. Burrage.

Refreshments of sandwiches, fudge squares and punch were served to the members at the close of the meeting with Mrs. Fred Warren in charge of the social hour.

SERIAL STORY

'MRS. DOC' BY TOM HORNER

COPYRIGHT, 1939, NEA SERVICE, INC.

characters and situations in this story are wholly fictional.

Yesterday Emily watched Alan... she thought he was just a bit of a flirt.

CHAPTER XXIV WHEN Emily came to, she was lying on a couch on the sun porch.

"He's with Mrs. Bower. He'll be here in a minute. . . I suppose you realize what you've done, Emily?"

"Why, no. Did I do something wrong?" "I'll say you did not. You've just saved that baby's life."

"Oh, Dr. Farrell—here I go, crying all over again." They looked up to see Billy Bower enter the door.

"ALAN said you were leaving for St. Louis." There was a question in Farrell's tone.

"That's what he thought, Doctor. He rushed away. He wouldn't let me explain.

"I didn't think there was much cause to worry about your leaving, once you saw the light," he continued.

"I'll be a great thing for mothers, for children, and for Summer, Emily. And I hope you'll have a big share in its success."

"I spoke frankly, and to the point, Emily realized, had he said the same things a week ago, she would have been furious.

Farrell was on her side, definitely, and his counsel was important to Alan.

Just how was Alan going to take her coming back—although she really had never left, Emily wondered.

It might have been only a minute or two—it might have been 10—when she heard the door open again; then Alan's anxious voice—"Emily, are you all right?"

"I suppose Farrell told you that the Bower baby is alive because you rushed the mother to the hospital. Wouldn't have had a chance, Angela and Billy know, too.

"If you really want to, Emily—and I believe you do, now—you can be most important. Alan and I will have to start it on a shooting string, and there'll be plenty of work for you, making appointments, keeping records, investigating cases.

"I'll be a great thing for mothers, for children, and for Summer, Emily. And I hope you'll have a big share in its success."

"I didn't think there was much cause to worry about your leaving, once you saw the light," he continued.

"I think he will," Farrell said. "What if he hates me?" The thought terrified her.

"I wouldn't spend much time worrying about that," Farrell answered. "You've plenty of other things to keep you busy."

"Other things? What, Dr. Farrell?" "Well, you have to start taking lessons on what every doctor's wife should know.

"That's been a dream of Alan's and mine for years now. A free maternity clinic, where women of the poorer class can get care and treatment.

"He's never mentioned it to me." "He probably didn't think you'd be interested. You've been a factor, in a way, of preventing its establishment.

"I didn't think there was much cause to worry about your leaving, once you saw the light," he continued.

"I'll be a great thing for mothers, for children, and for Summer, Emily. And I hope you'll have a big share in its success."

"I didn't think there was much cause to worry about your leaving, once you saw the light," he continued.

Without Money, "World Peace Car" Travels the World Pleading for People to Put An End To War.

The Rev. Ashton B. Jones, whose mendicant ministry in the interest of peace has led him through 22 states and now on a complete tour of the United States, says he is beginning to realize the truth of the scripture in which Christ says, "I came not to bring peace but a sword." This passage, often misinterpreted, he says, means that one's convictions of Christ-like living will cut deeply into the psychology of sinful men—and that one must suffer adversity if he lives according to his ideals.

In his World Peace Car parked on our streets, he tells of varied reactions both hostile and friendly in his travels to promote peace. The unique feature about this work is that Rev. Jones has operated this car, lectured about 800 times and distributed thousands of pieces of anti-war literature, for three years "Without Money."

To Be or Not To Be Lynched

When he went to Fort Smith, Ark., in the early part of 1935, asking for Rev. Claud Williams, Presbyterian minister, who has been jailed for developments following his expression of sympathy for W. P. A. strikers, he aroused suspicion. Rev. Jones hoped to receive hospitality from Rev. Williams, but his presence and his unusual mission put him immediately in the class of a questionable character. He was kidnaped by a mob and was finally driven out of town by his abductors. When he tried to return an attempt was made to lynch him. Rev. Jones relates the mobsters of his wife and two children in Atlanta, Ga., he won their sympathies and was released.

Shortly after his release, Rev. Jones wrote an inscription on the inside cover of his scrapbook. It is an example of his philosophy that the spirit should always triumph over force. In the event of his death at the hands of a mob or the use of violence against him, he asks that the perpetrators not be prosecuted, believing that one should return good for evil. He asks to be buried in a pauper's grave.

An editorial which appeared in a Madison, Ga., paper, condemned him as an ex-convict, a charge which he denies, and an unpatriotic racketeer, a charge which he refutes. He takes adversity with good grace, laughing at the charges, since he has no money with which to fight to bring these atrocities out into the open. Several newspaper columnists have had friendly comments to make on Rev. Jones, and his letters of recommendation from prominent men, educators and ministers are numerous and have secured the necessary material things such as food, shelter, clothing, etc., for him on his travels. He can show a long article which appeared in Ken magazine in Feb., 1939 about him and his work. All the cash money which is contributed, and he does make some effort for voluntary contributions, is sent to his wife and children. He says this has not averaged $10.00 per week during these past three years.

Philosophy of Peace

Rev. Jones says, "War is incompatible with the life and spirit of Jesus Christ, the Prince of Peace." He quotes John Haynes Holmes, pastor of the Community Church, New York City, in an excerpt from a message delivered on the eve of the World War: "War is an open violation of all Christianity. If war is right, then Christianity is wrong, false, a lie. There is not a question raised, an issue involved, a cause at stake—which is worth the life of one blue jacket on the sea, or one khaki coat in the trenches. When, years hence, this whole story has been told it will be found that we have been tragically deceived, and all our sacrifices been made in vain. Other pulpits may preach recruiting sermons, mine will not; other parish houses may be turned into drill halls and rifle ranges—ours will not; other ministers may pray to God for victory for our army—but I will not. In this church, if nowhere else in all America, the Germans will still be received as God's children." He quotes Harry Emerson Fosdick, pastor of Riverside Church, New York City, from an address printed at our government printing office by Senator James P. Pope of Idaho. "I renounce war, and never again will I sanction or participate in another. O, Unknown Soldier, in pentitent repentance I make you this promise."

Believing that love should be the only weapon used by Christian nations, he denounces the large expenditure for armaments in the name of preparedness, saying that selfishness and greed of big business men is at the bottom of this whole war system.

Non-resistance may cause discomfort, he says, but will not cause the loss of as many lives as war, and will not cause as much discomfort. "Men have always been ready to risk their lives for war—then why is it ignominious or shameful to take risks for peace?" Rev. Jones asks.

The classic question of the militarist mind, he says, is—"Well, Brother Jones, what would you do if a strapping bully started to attack your wife?" "There is no comparison in this situation and that of war, replies the peace advocate, for in war I am attacking the wives, daughters, sons and fathers of a whole nation in order to protect my wife. Innocent ones by the thousands and millions are killed as well as men."

"I do not believe members of the church today are living Christ-like as was done by the early Christians," Rev. Jones opines.

"Suppose that even a small part of the taxation now devoted to armaments was redirected into constructive channels, does anyone doubt that it would yield interest a hundred fold in good will between the East and the West?"

Various military authorities, including General Pershing, Fuch and Major Frederick Maurice were quoted on the danger of increased armaments.

Travels on "Good Will"

Putting to practical application his doctrine of brotherly love and god will, Rev. Jones, who was ordained a Congregational minister, and who has been out of a pastorate due to the depression since 1922, began his pilgrimage for peace without money and without capital except the letters of introduction from friends and prominent associates, he has secured all the necessities of life. Sympathizers provide gasoline, food and other things. Rev. Jones believes it is true—that Jesus says, "Seek first my kingdom and my righteousness and these things will be added unto you."

While in Ranger he has spoken at our high school and hopes to speak in all elementary schools—then a public lecture under the auspices of the ministers of our community will be delivered Wednesday afternoon at 5 o'clock. Everybody is most cordially invited to hear this unusual man deliver what is truly termed a most powerful lecture against this wasteful and damnable business of war. This will be delivered from

The World Peace Car is covered with signs and quotations concerning peace. Inside are cartoons. One by Kirby shows death and a munition manufacturer drinking a toast. The caption is: "Here's To The Young Men of the World."

His car contains two shelves of books, a radio, and a studio couch. It is all fixed up for his living and working quarters. The walls are neatly covered with family photographs and posters.

Rev. Jones, an ex-student of Emory University, is a tall, thin, serious man with determined eyes, and an optimistic turn of mind. He began his travels when out of work, and plans now to make his ministry for peace a life work, he says.

The Better Way to Correct Constipation

One way to treat constipation is to endure it first and cure it afterward. The other way is to avoid having it by getting at its cause. So why not save yourself those dull headache days, plus the inevitable trips to the medicine chest, if you can do it by a simple common-sense "ounce of prevention"?

If your trouble, like that of millions, is due to lack of "bulk" in the diet, "The Better Way" is to eat Kellogg's All-Bran. This crunchy, toasted, ready-to-eat cereal has just the "bulk" you need. If you eat it every day—and drink plenty of water—you can not only get regular but keep regular, day after day and month after month! All-Bran is made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek. Sold by every grocer.
