ANGER POOL PROJECT HAS BEEN STARTED
Work was started this morning
Ranger on a $38,000 swimming pool project, being sponsored by City of Ranger and the Ranger Chamber of Commerce. All WPA projects in the city being closed down, temporary order that the work on the pool be rushed to completion, was estimated today that the pool and dressing rooms, which to be the first units on the set, can be completed and ready for use within 60 days and pool opened in June or early July.
The project, which will give Ranger one of the most modern swimming pools in this part of the state, was made possible by the donation of the Ranger Chamber of Commerce, which is acting in conjunction with the City of Ranger in aiding on the project.
It is pointed out today, making one of the greatest local projects of the Chamber of Commerce participated in in several years.
E. Ambrose, president, and E. Moore, secretary, and the board of directors are aiding in making the project possible contributing to the work, Mayhall Walker stated today.
When the pool and dressing rooms are completed the second stage of the swimming pool project will be started immediately, it was stated today.
The second unit will include clearing off the old dam, clearing off the water and furnishing a water supply from which the pool will be operated.
The pool will be operated this summer, however, if completed on schedule by using city water, as the past, with water from the Willows Lake being used, as that portion of the project is completed.
Every available man who can be put on the pool will be put on immediately, it was stated today, and as many men used on other construction as can work on it without causing any confusion.
Workmen, this morning, were working on the old concrete basin, and other unsightly portions of the Willows, in order that it can be replaced with new modern equipment and water.

Ranger Wins Goat At Lions Meeting

For the first time in more than two years of zone meetings, held quarterly, the Ranger Lions Club was presented the goat for having the smallest percentage of Lions present at the zone meeting in Cisco Tuesday night. The goat is expected to be sent to Ranger within the next few days.
Delegates were present at the meeting from Brownwood and Sweetwater, though neither town is in the zone represented at the meetings. Both were making bids for the next District 2-E meeting and presented their claims for the convention. No action on their requests for support was taken.
The 160 Lions and their ladies from the towns in the zone complimented Cisco upon the excellent program that was provided, and declared it the best that has been held to date.
The next meeting is scheduled to be held in Albany in three months.

Storm Is Blamed For Fatal Crash

MEXICO CITY, April 19.—Mexican authorities today blamed a storm for the airplane accident that killed David Roosevelt, 21-year-old nephew of Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, and his vacation companion, Bronson Rumsey, 22, of Sands Point, N. Y.
The plane crashed and burned to the isolated vicinity of Guadalupe Victoria, in the state of Puebla yesterday.
Charlotte Constantine, 21, daughter of a Mexico City newspaperman, who also was aboard, was reported to have suffered a broken leg and arm.

SNOWS, RAINS CAUSE RISES ALONG RIVERS

Melting snow and heavy rain from a storm moving across the Midwest today poured into the great Ohio and Mississippi Valleys and sent both rivers surging toward flood stages.
The Mississippi was rising steadily in Southwestern Illinois, slowing the fall of the Ohio, which had been expected to reach a great peak near Cairo, Ill., late this week.
American Red Cross officials at Washington reported that "serious flood situations" were developing along the Ohio and its tributaries from Point Pleasant, W. Va., to Cairo, and estimated that 2,600 families would have to be evacuated.
Approximately 2,000 persons already have been evacuated in West Virginia, Ohio, Kentucky, and Southern Indiana. Thousands of acres of land along the rivers and their tributaries were inundated.
Streams in Eastern Missouri were over their banks. The Missouri River flooded farm lands near Chesterfield was expected to reach a crest of 29 feet at St. Charles today.
At St. Louis the Mississippi had reached a level of 28 feet, two feet under flood stage, and was continuing a slow rise.
Government weather forecasters said that the Ohio Valley had had the worst of its rain, and predicted fair weather by tomorrow.

Movies of Ranger Will Be Shown at Columbia 2 Days

Moving pictures which were taken in Ranger and in the surrounding territory, will be shown at the Columbia Theatre tonight and Thursday night, with the Ranger Lions Club acting as sponsors. Money obtained by the club will go into the fund to furnish glasses for needy children.
Cameramen finished taking the pictures, which are expected to last about an hour and a half, last Saturday and the film was shipped away to be developed and edited, in order that it might be shown here on the two days.
An admission price of 25 cents for adults is being charged when tickets are bought in advance, and 30 cents where they are purchased at the theatre. Children are being admitted for 10 cents.
This is an opportunity for people in Ranger to see themselves as others see them, as many hundreds were included in the scenes taken here during the week the cameramen were busy here. Many who did not know they were included in the scenes may be surprised to see themselves on the Columbia screen tonight or tomorrow, as many street scenes were taken, showing people going about their customary daily rounds.
After being shown at the Columbia the film will become the property of the Lions Club, members of the club stated today, and it may be shown in some of the surrounding communities.

MOORE ELECTED COMMISSIONER BY RANGERITES

In the first runoff election to name Ranger city officials in more than a decade, held Tuesday, C. J. Moore was elected street commissioner over Calvin Brown by a margin of only 17 votes. Moore's total was 238, while Brown polled 221 votes.
Sig Faircloth, who was opposed, but whose name was placed upon the ticket because he did not have a majority in the first city election on April 4, polled a total of 439 votes. His name appeared on the ticket alone because of the withdrawal of L. H. Flewelling, second high man in the race for police commissioner in the first city election.
Two names were written in on the ballot. Two votes were cast for L. H. Flewelling for police and fire commissioner, though his name did not appear on the ticket, and one was cast for Joe Harrison. In the first city election, Hall Walker was unopposed, but one name was written in on the ticket when someone voted for Patsy Bolivar.
The city commission will now be composed of Hall Walker, mayor; Sig Faircloth, police and fire commissioner; Edwin George, Jr., finance commissioner; C. J. Moore, street commissioner; and J. J. Kelly, water commissioner. Although this is the way the commissioners are now designated, the mayor has the right, under the city charter, to name any of the four commissioners to any position he thinks them best suited, and he could, if he desired, change the entire commission lineup by designating them to positions other than those they now hold.
In the first city election Brown led Moore by a margin of 16 votes, polling 257 to 241 polled by Moore. In Tuesday's election this margin was reversed, with Moore having a 17-vote advantage over Brown.

President and Peace Plea

I think you will not misunderstand the spirit of frankness in which I send you this message. Heads of great governments in the hour are literally responsible for the fate of peace in the coming years. They cannot fail to bear the pressure of that responsibility to be protected from the foreseeable threat of war. History will hold them accountable for the lives and the happiness of all-veins into the least.
I hope that your answer will make it possible for humanity to lose fear and begin security for many years to come.
A similar message is being addressed to the Chief of the Italian Government.

Sabotage Hinted In Burning Of Big French Ship

LE HARVE, France, April 19.—Suspicion of foreign sabotage was emphasized by French newspapers today as authorities investigated an unexplained fire that destroyed the trans-Atlantic liner, Paris, at her pier, with loss of two lives.
Newspapers in Le Harve and Paris took the position the fire might have been set by foreign agents, seeking to break down French morale and prestige during the present European crisis.
The chief of the liner's safety service, and one fireman, blinded by smoke, were killed when they fell from an open hatch while fighting the blaze before the big vessel turned over and sank.

Japan Seeking Trade Agreement With Two Powers

TOKYO, April 19.—Japan was reported today to be attempting to negotiate an agreement with Germany and Italy whereby the three powers would help each other with airplanes, munitions and manufacturing privileges.
The proposed agreement is referred to here as "strengthening the anti-comintern pact."
It was learned from government sources that Japan wants the privilege of obtaining up-to-date airplanes from Italy, munitions from Germany, and concessions to operate airplane factories in Germany, that turning out her own planes and at the same time learning the business.

Barber Price Bill Unconstitutional

AUSTIN, April 19.—The barbers price fixing bill, passed by the present session of the legislature, today was held unconstitutional by Attorney General Gerald C. Mann.

BRITISH PLEA FOR PEACE IS VOICED TODAY

LONDON, April 19.—A British plea for mutual understanding with Germany was voiced today by Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax, in announcing that the British Ambassador soon would return to Berlin.
Lord Halifax said, also, that Britain was ready to participate in the economic discussions proposed by President Roosevelt.
The British government would "never wish to abandon any efforts that promise any hope of success, if those efforts can win a response from the other side and can be of a mutual character," Halifax told the House of Lords shortly after Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain had expressed willingness to include the Far East in any anti-aggression front.
In this connection Halifax disclosed that Sir Neville Henderson, who was recalled from Berlin in a diplomatic slap at the Nazis, would return to his post as soon as he has completed a short vacation.
It was understood that Britain previously had informed the United States of its plans in regard to Henderson in order to emphasize to Washington that such a move did not represent any weakening in the British attitude toward the Nazis.
The gesture of Halifax at a time of high European tension appeared to be an invitation for Adolf Hitler, when he addresses the Reichstag on April 25 in reply to President Roosevelt's peace message to give some signs that he is ready for any understanding.

Trash Still Being Hauled After A Big Week Cleaning

E. T. Eubank, city secretary, announced today that trash wagons, which got behind schedule during the cleanup campaign last week, were still hauling trash, and employees were attempting to finish this work today or tomorrow.
A number of telephone calls have been received, both by the city office and the chamber of commerce, Lee Dockery, chairman of the cleanup drive, stated today, and these are being taken care of as rapidly as possible.
Because of the large amount of trash collected in piles to be hauled away the trucks got behind schedule and had to finish up the work this week.
Eubank stated that all trash would be hauled, even if the trucks had to be kept working the remainder of the week.

Hitler To Demand Economic Space In His Address

BERLIN, April 19.—Adolf Hitler intends to demand "economic living space" for Germany in his speech to the Nazi Reichstag on April 28, replying to President Roosevelt's appeal for peace, it was reported today in well-informed political quarters.
Doubt was expressed, however, that Hitler would ask the United States for trade concessions as the price of German participation in any peace program.

The Secret Treaties Again

If there is a showdown this spring between France and Italy, as seems likely, it will be well for every American to remember that Italian dissatisfaction with its share of the spoils of Versailles goes back even farther than 1919.

It goes back to the secret treaties of 1915 and 1916 by which the allies (chiefly France and England) made certain promises to Italy in the event of victory.

At the outbreak of the World War, remember, Italy was allied with Germany, as now. But she had little heart for the war, and hesitated. By making promises of a slice of territory here and a concession there, the allies were able to beguile Italy from the Germans and win her as an ally.

The more specific of these promises, involving South Tyrol, Trieste, Trentino, Istria and Dalmatia, and the whole "sphere of influence" of the Mediterranean area, were included in secret arrangements between Britain, France, and Italy long before the United States entered the war. The question of just how much Woodrow Wilson knew of these secret treaties before the United States went in, is an historical riddle, not yet completely unraveled.

But certainly the people of the United States in general knew nothing of the deals by which the loot of the war was already divided up among the victors years before they were sure they were going to be victors. The American people have never felt as heavy a responsibility for the peace of Versailles as others, but for these secret arrangements which preceded the war, they have none whatever.

The controversies between France and Italy over Suez, slices of north Africa, and Mediterranean islands, go back to a time long before the United States ever dreamed of entering the World War.

Italy maintained at the peace conference and has maintained steadily ever since, that the allies failed to pay the agreed price. Italians have insisted that they were promised certain parts of the loot which they never received. And that is what they are still shouting for today when Mussolini grimaces and screams at France.

Thus the question of whether Italy or France governs the unwilling natives of Tunisia is distinctly no headache for the United States, 4599 miles away.

Students planning tours to Europe have been advised to come with enough money for a return if war starts. Dads will appreciate this advance preparedness.

Now swimming suits are to be designed to look like stained-glass windows. The window in the back will be open, as usual.

It's not surprising that the Netherlands is boosting its air force. That nation has to get some of its soldiers off the ground so the country won't be overcrowded.

The World of Tomorrow?

San Jacinto Celebration Brings Reminder That Forefathers of Ranger People Fought In Battle

By Ethel Brookes Gilmore
April 20 and 21, Texans will attend the unveiling of the San Jacinto Memorial Shaft at the San Jacinto Battlefield near Houston. The celebration will commemorate the 103 anniversary of the battle of San Jacinto. The historical museum which is housed in the base of the monument will be opened to the public at this time. When we think of San Jacinto to the present ceases to be, and in our minds comes a panorama of the past. We hear the cry, "Remember the Alamo," "Remember Goliad!"

Can you imagine the joy of those Texas soldiers who were at Bastrop Ferry, when they learned that the "Twin Sisters" had arrived at old port Velasco? The "Twin Sisters" were the two six pound guns that roared the cry of defiance during the battle of San Jacinto. These guns were the gift of the city of Cincinnati, Ohio, and were the only pieces of artillery that Gen. Houston had.

Adjutant General Wharton arrived with his precious freight April 15, then that long arduous march to the battlefield of San Jacinto began. Heavy rains had fallen, leaving the prairies a quagmire. During the long day of April 17 the wagon trains had to unload eight times, then the soldiers carried the freight, often having to pass it from one soldier to another.

A halt was called at Harrisburg and during this halt Deaf Smith captured a Mexican courier, the dispatches he carried gave Houston the information he needed. Secretary of War Rusk and General Houston made stirring speeches to the tired, tattered Texas soldiers. Cheer after cheer went up, followed by the battle cry, "Remember the Alamo!" "Remember Goliad!"

Two hundred and fifty sick and wounded men had to be left at Harrisburg. Major McNutt, and a guard of 75 men were left to protect them, and the supplies. Gen. Houston's men marched light, carrying iron rations and taking 1st regiment, C. W. Waldron, Co. C Volunteers, and Willis Avery of Company C, 1st regiment, fought at the battle of San Jacinto. The day after the battle Willis Avery went to look for his family; several days later he overtook them in Bastrop County, one mile above the present town of Bastrop. They were fleeing with many other women and children, trying to get to Nacogdoches before Santa Anna overtook them.

Last July the bodies of Willis and Malinda Avery were moved from their burial ground on the old Avery farm in Williamson County and reinterred in the state cemetery at Austin. 3,000 people attended the memorial services.

THEY are suffering from these--how you say?--stage fright! Don Luis suggested, grinning. "They are not used to these posing, eh? Weeth Luis Barro, anyway." He ended with a laugh, and Betty Mary joined him.

"Big bashful boys," she agreed. "They probably realize that a Mexican gentleman--caballero--dresses more charmingly than our American styles permit. Don Luis. But the contrast will heighten my picture."

SHE was busy sketching all the while and shortly she had a fairly creditable likeness of all three, in their strangely intimate pose. From two different angles of awareness, she and Barro were thoroughly enjoying the little drama. It served the boys right for trailing her over here, she was thinking. If they had let her alone she would have begun wanting valuable information from Barro himself, maybe. Meanwhile, too, she was writing a message.

She had taken a small piece of drawing paper and after ostentatiously rubbing her pencil on it to give a sharp point, she held it on her drawing pad out of sight of the three men. On it she penciled:

SERIAL STORY BORDER ADVENTURE BY OREN ARNOLD

CHAPTER XII

THE situation--such as he knew of it--appealed at once to Luis Barro's keen sense of humor. Here were his two sworn enemies, Border Patrolmen from the U. S. A., coerced by a pretty girl into dining with him socially in a pictureque cafe. Moreover, she was actually making them pose with him, cowboy hats and all.

"Just sit between the two ranchers, Don Luis, there's a dear!" she was saying. "Like three friends. I can title this one 'Hands Across the Frontier' or something like that; you symbolizing Mexico, and the ranchmen symbolizing the United States. Just put an arm round each Texan's shoulders--like this. There! There's a dear! You are three friends now. But goodness, you American gentlemen look so glum! It isn't that painful, is it, huh?" She looked coyly at them.

Hope glared back and glanced at Sherry. She could tell that both of them were boiling from within, about to burst. Deep in her heart, she was enjoying this, although she realized the more serious aspects of the situation full well.

"They are suffering from these--how you say?--stage fright!" Don Luis suggested, grinning. "They are not used to these posing, eh? Weeth Luis Barro, anyway." He ended with a laugh, and Betty Mary joined him.

Typhoid Control Is An Achievement Of Medical Science

AUSTIN, Texas--"The control of typhoid fever in the United States represents an outstanding achievement in preventive medicine. In 1900 the national death rate from this disease was 31.3 per 100,000 population. Today the rate is 2.1 nationally, but 6.5 in Texas. This marked decrease in typhoid's killing power is based on knowledge of its cause, how it is spread, and the application of scientific control measures," states Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

Today no other disease is more vulnerable to scientific attack than typhoid. Indeed, it is no exaggeration to say that, from a public health viewpoint, there should be no typhoid fever.

"Typhoid fever is caused by a germ. The organisms are found only in the excreta of persons suffering from it, or in those of carriers, the latter being persons who harbor the germ but are not ill. If it were possible to prevent people from becoming infected with germs coming from these sources, typhoid would cease to be a problem.

"In cities and towns, thanks to safe water and milk supplies, adequate sewage facilities, and environmental sanitation, typhoid has been almost eliminated. Unfortunately, sanitary and environmental protection on a community basis cannot be offered to those living in rural areas. While control methods are the same for both city and country, in rural districts it is essential that not only public health officials but the householder become personally interested in them if they are to be effective," Dr. Cox warned.

"If every rural dweller in Texas as realized his personal obligation

Mental Millstones are Going Out of Style

Too often we have met a person who was content to wear defeat like a millstone 'round his neck. How refreshing it was to see him resolve to use his neck to hold up his chin! Then he saw a failure for what it should be--not a millstone but a milestone on the road to long-range achievement. It's how well he carried on that was all-important. He had looked defeat in the face and no longer feared it. Nor would he let mild success lull him into lazy contentment. He was ready for his full share of the glorious opportunities that America alone can offer him. He went swinging down the highway with the courage of youth--the spirit of America.

Back of this great record of help to weak, rundown, nervous women who suffer from headache, depression, cramp-like pain and other symptoms of functional dysmenorrhea due to malnutrition, is a sound medical explanation. CARDUI stimulates appetite, aids digestion, and so helps build physical resistance.
