BRITAIN HAS MADE CHANGES IN ALLIANCE

By United Press
LONDON, May 22.—Great Britain has made a fundamental change in its security front policy in order to assure Russia's confidence, it was understood today.

A high diplomatic source indicated the proposal brought Great Britain close to accepting the Russian demand for a defensive military alliance, which would put France and Russia together in any war of aggression.

Important were the concessions made to Russia in the new proposal. It was said, that it was not certain whether the full cabinet would accept it at its regular weekly meeting Wednesday.

However the proposal was accepted by the foreign affairs committee of the cabinet, including the most influential members.

The foreign office has forwarded the new proposal to the Polish envoys to Poland and Russia, which are directly affected by the British guarantees of security. Rumania has been understood to have intimated it is now in a position to accept any British-Russian military pact and an accompanying Russian pledge to defend Rumanian independence.

Poland is understood to have modified its refusal to accept Russian aid. A new phase of the NYA program will be continued, Mr. C. Kellam Says

Witness Warns Of Leftist Uprising

WASHINGTON, May 22.—Dudley P. Gilbert, New York socialist millionaire, today told the Dies committee investigating un-American activities, that the American people "will have to rise under some American officer of the Franco type if a red revolution" is to be averted.

Gilbert was the initial witness at the committee's first open hearing into the circulation of allegedly anti-Jewish propaganda to head off a purported "leftist uprising."

Gilbert was questioned about his activities in helping to circulate warnings of the supposed revolutionary threat among a selected list of about 40 persons, mostly leaders of war veterans.

Motorcade Will Stop Here Tuesday

SAN FRANCISCO, May 22.—Starting from San Diego early Sunday morning, the annual "Broadway of America Motorcade" will arrive in Eastland for a short stop Tuesday at 5:50 p. m. and in Ranger at 6:15 p. m. where the party of over 40 cars of Westerners will rest before continuing the first lap of their gay trek to the New York Fair and the return to the San Francisco World's Fair.

Accompanying the Motorcade will be Frank Peterson, special assistant to Leland Cutler, president of the Golden Gate International Exposition, serving as the official representative of the San Francisco World's Fair and as official spokesman for the "Motorcade."

"The belief of this annual Motorcade," said Peterson, "is that self-help is the best road to prosperity. A publicity-arousing cavalcade such as this is the ideal way of inducing a maximum number of people to travel to the Fair by 'Broadway of America' route."

Mr. Peterson, who has made more than 3000 speeches throughout America in the past two years, brings with him colored motion pictures and slides of "Treasure Island," which he will show along the Motorcade route, and will ultimately formally present the compliments of the San Francisco World's Fair to the officials of the New York Fair upon the arrival of the cavalcade there on June 1st.

The Motorcade is extending an "open-house" invitation to meet in the cities along the route to join the cavalcade, and it is expected that when the Motorcade reaches the San Francisco World's Fair on its return journey westward, it will have added over 200 cars filled with visitors to the Golden Gate International Exposition.

DIONNES ARE INFORMAL IN THEIR GREETING

TORONTO, Ont., May 22.—The Dionne Quintuplets today saluted Queen Elizabeth with five moist kisses in one of the strangest audiences ever granted by British monarchs.

The queen, forgetting royal custom and tradition, leaned over and put her arms around each of the Dionne children and kissed them back.

The audience took place in the drawing room of the lieutenant governor's quarters in the parliament building. The quintuplets were dressed in ankle-length court dresses of white and they wore little white poke bonnets.

Dr. Allen Roy Dafeo, physician and guardian of the quintuplets, came to the royal audience fearing that at least one of the little girls would stand on her head, grab hold of the king's gloves or otherwise behave as five-year-old children do. He could have forgotten his worries, however, for the quintuplets were on their best behavior.

They had been carefully schooled in the technique of making the curtsies but no one had anticipated they would put their arms around the queen's neck and kiss her. That was their own idea. They walked up to the queen, put their arms around her neck and, one-by-one, kissed her. Persons in the room said the queen was deeply touched by their actions.

King George VI was the forgotten man in the midst of all this feminine affection until Yvonne decided she would fix up that situation. She ran away from the queen, and going to the king, took hold of his hand and grinned at him.

Kansas City Boss Gets Sentence In Income Tax Case

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 22.—Tom Pendergast, the fallen boss of the democratic political organization here, today was sentenced to prison for one year and three months. He also was fined $10,000.

The sentence was imposed by Judge Merrill Otis, after Pendergast, the man who made senators and governors, had pleaded guilty to charges of income tax payment evasion.

The sentence meant the end of the political career of the 67-year-old man whose influence reached, at one time, beyond the borders of his state of Missouri.

House Considers Omnibus Tax Bill To Pay Pensions

AUSTIN, May 22.—The Texas House of Representatives today began consideration of an omnibus tax bill to finance social security.

The bill, drawn up by a group of anti-sales tax members, places its chief levies on natural resources, including a graduated tax on oil production, which attorney General Gerald C. Mann has ruled unconstitutional. It also places taxes on selected luxury articles, such as the sale of new automobiles, higher-priced furniture, cosmetics and clothing.

Sponsors of the bill estimated that it would raise between $15,000,000 and $20,000,000 of which almost one-fourth must go to the school fund because of constitutional requirements.

U. S. and Canada, Best of Good Neighbors

To paraphrase Master Shakespeare, some countries achieve amity with their neighbors, some are born friendly, and some have a peaceful relationship thrust upon them.

But in the relations between the United States and Canada, both are fortunate in being bound by all three conditions. We have achieved mutually cordial relations by 100 years of their conscious development, we are born naturally friendly and in key with one another, and our geographical and economic relationships thrust us one upon the other in so emphatic a way that any but the most friendly relations would be ridiculous.

Often we take this relationship for granted, so accustomed to it have we become. We strive to improve relations with Mexico, Central and South America, which is eminently proper. But we are apt to take Canada for granted, and she us.

We seldom think about the interweaving of destiny that is drawing irresistibly together the two great countries. When President Roosevelt gave renewed assurance that the United States stood ready to defend Canada against any foreign invasion, nobody was much surprised. He only said what everybody knew would be the case in practice anyway.

Obviously neither country could feel safe if a foreign force got a foothold in the other. What Pacific war could be imagined that would not concern Canada equally with the United States? International affairs, especially those of the last 20 years, have been putting the two countries, even more emphatically than they have put all the American countries, into the same boat.

It would not be at all surprising to see Canada some day a participant in Pan-American conferences, from which her status as an empire dominion has hitherto barred her.

But we also sometimes forget that the trade between the United States and Canada is 3 per cent of all world trade, and greater than that between any other two countries. While U. S. exports to China in 1937 were under 50 millions, Canada was taking more than 500 millions in American goods. She was meanwhile sending back about 400 millions. And this apparently unfavorable balance was more than made up by U. S. tourist traffic going into Canada, estimated for 1938 at 150 millions.

One-third of all U. S. foreign long-term investments are in Canada, nearly four billions, but that is no one-way affair, for Canada has invested at least a billion in the United States.

So closely interwoven a relationship as this needs no political ties, and no formal alliances to emphasize that the two great countries are growing closer as each year passes, and that in respect to certain phases of foreign relations they are, and must be, one.

Prisoners Make Doll From Jail Scraps

EL PASO, Texas.—An 18-inch doll made from scraps which some unidentified prisoner-artist gathered in the city jail graces the desk of Chief of Police J. W. Fitzgerald.

The doll is a miniature prisoner with ball and chain. It was found during an inspection of the chain gang "tank." Its head is made from a hand towel and its body from a fragment of a cotton blanket. The hands are carved out of soap, and the feet are constructed from two fingers from a leather glove. Features are penciled on the towel, and a battered hat cut from some old felt chapeau is pushed down over the toweled head.

A chain made from some bits of wire attaches a wooden ball to the figure's ankles.

New Aldermen To Be Docked Because Of Former Mistake

EL PASO, Tex.—Under a ruling by the city's legal department, future aldermen will have to accept $20 deductions from their first month's salaries to make up a shortage in their predecessor's wages.

When Louis Fail and L. A. Reynolds left city council posts after their terms as aldermen were ended, they filed claims against the city for $20 each on grounds their checks for their last year in office totaled $2,380, while the city charter provides $2,400.

The legal department ruled that they are entitled to the $20, and Mayor J. E. Anderson said the amounts will be deducted from checks of present aldermen.

Boy Wears Suit He Wove By Himself

LUBBOCK, Tex.—Charles H. of Bonham, a student at Technological College, has his textile engineering training practical use without waiting till he gets out of school.

He wears to his classes a suit for which he wove the material himself, using a combination wool and spun rayon. It is the first of its type ever worn by a student at the college. Made of white and green thread, it has a finished effect of bluish green.

After Stokes wove the material his mother tailored the suit for him.

"I guess they will all get $20 back at the end of their terms," he said.

Poppy Day Sale Slated Saturday

Poppy Day will be observed throughout the United States on Saturday, May 27, with the wearing of memorial poppies in honor of the World War dead. The observance will be led by the auxiliary women who will distribute poppies on the streets during the day.

More than eleven million of the little red memorial flowers have been made by disabled World War veterans working in government hospitals and in poppy workrooms maintained by the national auxiliary. These flowers are crepe paper replicas of the poppies which grew on the World War battlefields and among which the dead and wounded fell. They are recognized throughout the English-speaking world as the memorial flower for those who fell in defense of democracy.

Volunteer workers from the unit will offer poppies on the streets all day and will receive contributions for the Legion and Auxiliary welfare and relief work among the disabled veterans and dependent families of veterans.

Father's Hobby Is Benefit To Sons

BELLEVUE, O.—Dr. Charles J. Wehr paid the college tuition of his two sons with butterflies, which he had collected for more than 30 years.

He supplied Findlay College with a collection of the insects for its biology department to pay the tuition of his eldest son.

"That seemed like a good idea," Dr. Wehr said, "so when my next son was ready for college, I sent a similar, but more complete, collection to Adelbert College of Western Reserve University in Cleveland—my alma mater."

Dr. Wehr began his collection of butterflies—which now numbers more than 10,000—when he was put in charge of a summer camp while still a medical student.

"Among the campers were many high school students who had been instructed by their biology teachers to collect and mount specimens of any insects they could find," Dr. Wehr said. "I became so interested that I decided to start a collection of my own. That was in the summer of 1900—and I'm still at it, and as interested as ever."

Dr. Wehr's collection includes specimens from all over the world. "A butterfly collector must have friends all over the world if his collection is to be complete," he said. "The Philippine section of my collection was contributed by my nephews in the Philippines."

Frederick Springer, an artist friend from Cuba, brought the physician a large Cuban collection when he visited him recently. "Naturally the most beautiful specimens come from the tropics," Dr. Wehr said. "I went to Florida two years ago and came back with more than 1,000 beautiful moths."

Dr. Wehr considers as his choice of all that section of his collection which he received from Dr. Donald Baker, a medical missionary who then was stationed in the Belgian Congo.

The physician developed his own method of mounting insects, which he believes has many advantages.

"Mounting insects on pins seem to me to be gruesome as well as often ruinous to the specimens," he said. "So I worked out what I consider to be a much better way."

Dr. Wehr uses cases which are less than three-quarters of an inch deep, eight inches wide and 12 inches long. He covers them with transparent material much lighter than glass.

Cardboard used for the cases is hard and thick. Cotton backing used for the mounts is covered with white or tinted paper. Specimens can be removed from the cases without damage.

"I've learned a great deal in my 30 years of butterfly-collecting," the doctor said. "I'll be very happy if my sons learn half as much in the college education which the butterflies bought them."

Summer is mighty slow in coming, but it must be definitely on the way. Brother is gradually getting up enough nerve to wear his white shoes.

Texas Ranks High In New Criminals And Socialization

AUSTIN, Tex.—Third in the nation in the number of new criminals routed to prison, Texas has in the last two years made long strides toward socializing the State prison system, University of Texas sociologists believe.

Asked by State officials to conduct an 18-month demonstration, the University Bureau of Research in the Social Sciences examined and made thorough studies of 2,509 white male prisoners from March 1, 1936, to August 31, 1937, including 2,195 new inmates.

Final report of this project has just been issued as a University bulletin, "Classification in the Texas Prison System," by Carl Basland, psychologist for the program.

Preliminary reports caused the Legislature at its last regular session to make the Bureau of Classification a part of the State prison system.

Findings of the investigators provoked segregation of first offenders from habitual criminals, young inmates from old, and have provided special custodial supervision for the small but vicious group of "public rats," the hardened criminal leaders, Mr. Basland pointed out.

Of the 2,509 inmates studied: 613 were under 26 years of age and of good rehabilitative prospect.

82 had some previous criminal record and doubtful rehabilitative prospects.

320 had a serious history in crime.

16 had records of past viciousness, little regard for human life, and general criminal activities—No. 1 "public enemies."

They found that 105 were feeble-minded, 27 others were homosexual, and 153 were addicted to drugs.

Of the total, the research classifiers recommended 400 inmates as mentally and socially capable of handling specific trade assignments, for special trade training to prepare them for return to useful "free" society.

"Of those assigned all except three or four have worked out successfully," Mr. Basland said. The University investigators recommended construction of a separate unit for housing homosexuals, physically-defective, and old-age groups.

As the Board of Pardons and Paroles is making use of the Bureau's case studies and records in many cases, Mr. Basland predicted that few of the second or habitual criminals would receive early release by clemency.

Modern Trend Of Law Keeps Pace With Latest Modes

By United Press
FORT WORTH, Tex.—The modern trends of law generally keep the legal framework of the country well in line with the changing times, Chief Justice Irbly Dunklin of the Second Court of Civil Appeals believes.

"The process of changing the laws is slow, as it is vested in the people," he said.

"Common sense plays a large part in the making of the laws, as it is up to the people to place legislators and executives in whom they have confidence in office."

The veteran jurist believes that there might be some improvement in criminal procedure—especially in connection with the calling of a special venire. He regards the venire of 100 men as having outgrown its usefulness and need.

Thief Trades Guinea Hens For Chickens

By United Press
EL PASO, Tex.—The thief who robbed E. L. Day's hen-house of 18 hens and a fine Rhode Island Red rooster believed in barter, but Day doesn't like his end of the swap.

"I wish the thief would come back and get the two guinea hens he left in place of my chickens," Day said. "I don't want 'em."
