CANDINAVIA CONTINUES AID FOR FINLAND

By United Press
The Scandinavian tension was increased by a submarine attack on a Swedish coastal vessel in the Gulf of Bothnia, between Sweden and Finland, Sweden believed Russian submarines had penetrated the barrier laid across the entrance to the Gulf at the Aland Islands, and forwarded a vigorous demand to Moscow for an explanation.

Despite the anxiety caused by the German press campaign, Sweden continued to send help to Finland.

News from the Finnish battle front told of fighting in the Salla area of North Central Finland, where the Finns had pushed the main battle lines to within 32 miles of the Russian border. Russian forces in five days of fighting on the front were placed by Finnish forces at probably 10,000 to 12,000 men.

Copenhagen reported that Finnish troops pursuing the remnants of the 163rd Russian division which they destroyed on the central front at Lake Kianta last week had contacted a new Russian division coming to the rear.

The fleeing Russians suddenly turned and began strong resistance, the report said.

On the western front in France, still was no general fighting. Patrols were active and French and German artillery engaged in the Apache sector near the neighborhood of the front.

In Southeastern Europe, attention centered on a conference at which the Greek Count Galeazzo Ciano, Italian foreign minister, and Count Stephen Cskay, Hungarian foreign minister, the meeting was expected to lead to an important series of negotiations designed to assure the Balkan countries, with Italy's support, against incursion by Russia.

Everyone Is Not Exempt In Service On Court's Juries

Oh, so you don't have to serve the jury? The law exempts you, doesn't it?

But don't be too sure about it. The state statutes have a way of being stubborn in the face of popular misconceptions. Many who honestly believe they are entitled to exemptions are entirely wrong.

Exemptions are not granted for the high spots, these are law who may claim exemption on jury duty: All citizens over 21 years of age; all civil officers of the state and U.S. other than judges and second class postmasters; ministers of the gospel engaged in actual discharge of their duties; physicians and attorneys engaged in actual practice.

Teachers, newspaper publishers, school masters, druggists, undertakers, telegraph operators, railroad station agents, ferrymen, and millers engaged in grist, flour and saw mills.

All presidents, vice-presidents, directors, engineers, firemen of road companies when engaged in regular and actual discharge of their respective duties.

Nazi Seamen Keep War Waters Safe for German Ships

Keeping the North Sea clear of mines laid to trap German warships or submarines is the risky job assigned these Nazi seamen. All members of the crew wear life preservers, since at any moment they may be forced to leave the vessel if it strikes an enemy mine.

STEPHENS WELL MAKES 400-BARREL FLOW IN A TEN-HOUR TEST TRY

Stephens County took the oil spotlight of this section this week as Horwitz and Odum No. 1 J. T. Hawley, west of Crystal Falls, flowed 400 barrels through 3-1/2 inch choke in 10 hours.

The fifth producer in the pool had natural flow from line 2-5/8-95 feet with 250 pounds pressure on tubing and 850 pounds pressure on casing. Total depth of the well was 3,600 feet. Pay was from line. On a basis of its flowing 400 barrels in 10 hours, the well could be rated in the 1,000-barrel class.

All the wells drilled by Horwitz in the pool average probably in the 700-barrel class or better.

Operators were moving in 12 miles southwest of Eastland or four and one-half miles southwest of Cisco for the Butler and Horne and Keough No. 1 L. Walters, 660 feet from the north and west lines of the southwest quarter, section 83, block 3, H&T survey, Eastland county. The new well will be a 3,350-foot Caddo lime test.

Stephens county still had other wells testing, among which were: George Fagg No. 1 Richardson, section 5, block 37, SPRR survey, seven miles north of Caddo, around 3,945 feet in lime, and T. G. Shaw No. 2 Stroud, northeast part of the county in the G. Newton survey, around 2,584 feet. Shaw's No. 3 Stroud, same survey, was drilling at 2,450 feet.

About a mile north of Horwitz and Odum production Steadham Petrol company was drilling at 2,900 feet on No. 1 Powers, Geo. York Survey, Stephens county.

Fitzer, West and others No. 1 N. G. Price and others, section 67, BAL survey, southwest corner of Stephens county at 2,300 feet was making hole.

In Eastland county, T. S. Holder No. 1 J. F. Nichols, S. H. Hines survey, two miles southwest of Pioneer, at 3,050 feet was drilling.

FINNISH LOAN BY U.S. URGED BY SEN. KING

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—Sen. William H. King, D., Utah, touched off a potential congressional battle on neutrality today by proposing that the Reconstruction Finance Corporation lend Finland $25,000,000.

House Opposes Investigation of Budget Demands

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—House opposition to a proposed joint congressional committee to study financial problems brought demands today for an independent senate investigation of President Roosevelt's budget.

Sen. William E. Borah, R., Idaho, joined other republicans in proposing a senate-house inquiry into national defense expenditures past and present. Borah said that defense needs are now computed in "haphazard fashion."

Although sympathy for Finland apparently is unanimous in congress, sentiment in favor of a loan is far from that.

Senate republicans who held a party conference yesterday agreed to go slow on Finnish aid. They did not adopt a formal policy on that issue.

Sens. Millard E. Tydings, D., Md., Harry F. Byrd, D., Va., Arthur Capper, R., Kans., and Rush D. Holt, D., W. Va., all said that their personal sympathies were with Finland, but that King's proposal should be subjected to close scrutiny.

Tydings, Byrd and Capper indicated that their opinions may be revised if advocates of Finnish aid can prove that such assistance would not involve this country in difficulties with Soviet Russia.

Ex-State Ranger Cleared Of Charges

GEORGETOWN, Tex., Jan. 6.—Former State Ranger Sid Kelso was cleared here today of participation in burglaries and robbery of a night watchman at Liberty Hill, Nov. 10, 1939. The Williamson County grand jury indicted two other burglars.

The burglaries under investigation took place after Ivan Allman, night watchman at Liberty Hill, had been held up, disarmed and bound. Three stores were entered.

Terracing Plans Mapped by Cook

A schedule of terracing work planned by County Agent Cook and Assistant County Agent Pratt during the two weeks January 12 to 12 includes running of terraces and pasture contour lines on 33 farms with a total acreage of 1,333. Cook and Pratt are using NYA youths in running the lines.

BRITISH ARE PUZZLED BY BIG SHAKEUP

By United Press
The British public was bewildered today by a sudden shift in its war cabinet, which immediately was hailed by German political quarters as a sign of dissonance in the enemy camp.

Leslie Hore-Belisha, "go-getter" secretary of state for war, was forced by Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain to resign from the cabinet and was replaced by the patrician Oliver Stanley, son of the Earl of Derby.

The press almost unanimously denounced the government for the shift, blaming it on army politics. Hore-Belisha was a cutter of red tape and had antagonized the older "brass hats" of the army by the rapid promotion of younger men to important posts.

There were reports of friction between Hore-Belisha and other members of the inner war cabinet, as well as with Viscount Gort, commander of the British Expeditionary Force in France. For that reason, Chamberlain was understood to have disposed of Hore-Belisha to avoid friction among his aides.

Nevertheless the press denounced the change as for the worse and demands for a parliamentary investigation were raised.

German sources, while pleased at what they regarded as evidence of dissonance in Britain, saw little gain for Germany in the shift. An authorized source commented: "Now we have one Jewish war monger (Hore-Belisha) to work behind the scenes and one more Aryan war monger (Stanley) in the war ministry itself. We know Stanley. Even before the war he favored economic war against Germany."

The German press was busy with an inspired campaign of warning to Norway and Sweden against aiding Finland and particularly against permitting England to establish bases in their countries to war on Germany.

A typical assertion was the one in a local Anzeiger: "Britain wants to involve Sweden in war in order to extend her blockade to Germany's northern flank and cut off Swedish war supplies to Germany."

Attempt Is Made on Life Of A British Official In China

SHANGHAI, Jan. 6.—An attempt to assassinate Godfrey Phillips, British secretary of the municipal council, the governing body of Shanghai's International Settlement, quickly developed into a gun battle, quickly developed into a gun battle, quickly developed into a gun battle.

Holland To Meet Neutrality Threat With Armed Force

THE HAGUE, Jan. 6.—Holland today issued a drastic warning that all violations of her neutrality will be met with force regardless of their source.

The warning, which attracted immediate attention because it was so strongly worded, was issued by the Government Press Service which said: "Some time past tendentious reports have appeared in the foreign press regarding Holland, indicating doubt in connection with Holland's determination to withstand any foreign attacks or violations with all powers of the country possessives."

In this connection, to avoid miscalculations and to clear up all mistakes it is once again explained that there can be no negotiation regarding Holland's neutrality and that each violator of Dutch territory will be met with the most severe power of our weapons and from whatever side attack may come.

New Archbishop for Chicago

The Most Reverend Samuel A. Stritch, above, has been named Archbishop of Chicago, succeeding the late George Cardinal Mundelein. Archbishop Stritch had been in charge of the Milwaukee archdiocese, where he will be succeeded by Bishop Moses E. Kiley of Trenton.

Man Confesses Slaying A Woman For Nagging Him

CHICAGO, Jan. 6.—Sam De Lao, 49, told police last night that he beat to death his mother-in-law and stuffed her body in a trunk "because she was always nagging me for not getting a job."

The trunk containing the body was found in a south side alley.

He said he clubbed Mrs. Nellie Sharp, 65, after an argument early Thursday and had left the body in their apartment all day. Last night, he said, he crammed the body into the trunk and called Natalie Pantro, a junk dealer, to help him cart it away. Pantro said he had been unaware of the contents of the case.

De Lao told chief of detectives John L. Sullivan that his wife, Cleota, had been in the next room when he attacked her mother and had attempted to stop him. Mrs. De Lao said she had been out walking their dog when the attack occurred. She told police that she had been living with De Lao for three years although they never had been married. De Lao said they had been married at Crown Point, Ind.

Irish Patrol Shot At From Ambush

DUBLIN, Jan. 6.—A military patrol searching for ammunition believed stolen last week by the outlawed Irish Republican army, was fired on today at the little village of Fingals, 10 miles from Dublin.

The patrol moved to question five men seated in an automobile and at once the occupants opened fire. After a brief exchange of shots, the men, their automobile riddled by bullets, sped away. One man in the fleeing car was believed to have been wounded. An extensive search for the fugitives was ordered by the government.

Three Are Injured In Highway Crash

WEATHERFORD, Tex., Jan. 6.—Harry V. Martin, Cincinnati, O., newspaperman, his wife and his two daughters, were injured today when the automobile in which they were riding collided with a truck on an ice-covered highway three miles east of here.

Martin and his daughters, Dawn, 10, and Betty, 13, were treated at a Weatherford hospital for shock and minor abrasions. Mrs. Martin was injured more seriously, the extent of her injuries undetermined.

'Stay-At-Home' Weather Predicted For Entire State

By United Press
Texans prepared for a "stay-at-home" week-end Saturday as a wide assortment of wintry weather made highways dangerous and conditions generally unfavorable.

Rain, sleet and snow were on the state's weather map—and at some places, including Fort Worth and Bonham, the three were mixed together.

Farmers were pleased, however, because the precipitation ended a drought that threatened a month ago to destroy the winter wheat crop. Temperatures were expected to dip again Saturday night in North Texas. Rain was forecast for East Texas and continued cloudiness for West Texas.

Slowly rising temperatures were forecast for Sunday. Temperatures were freezing or lower over most of the United States, the Federal Weather Bureau reported, and in the mid-west and Rocky mountains many stations reported sub-zero lows. Snow was reported in Central Texas, Oklahoma, and Kansas and rain in South Texas.

Sen Hatch Plans To Enlarge Upon 'No Politics' Bill

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—Sen. Carl A. Hatch, D., N. M., completed the final draft of an amendment today that would extend prohibitions of his "no politics" act to state employees of agencies financed wholly or in part with federal funds.

The existing act applies only to federal employees below policy making rank. The state amendment will be introduced in the senate Monday.

Under the proposed amendment federal funds would be withdrawn from state agencies if their employees violate the prohibitions. The act does not apply to voting or private expression of personal convictions.

Hatch said the effects of the bill would be felt most in state highway departments. State highways are built according to federal specifications and, if the completed road meets those specifications, a sum equal to half the construction cost is deposited in the state treasury.

Hatch said the amendment would pass without "too much trouble" and that it would receive the support of administration senate leaders.

Eastland Man Is Killed In Mishap Early On Saturday

CISCO, Jan. 6.—Labaugh Robinson, about 22 years of age, employed by the Uvalde Construction Company of Eastland, was instantly killed early this morning when he was struck by an automobile three miles west of here.

The accident in which Robinson was killed occurred at 4 o'clock Saturday morning, when he stepped from his stalled car on the snow covered highway. He was struck by a passing car.

Exemptions From Shutdowns For 27 Wells Announced

AUSTIN, Texas, Jan. 6.—Exemption from shut-downs were in effect today for 27 wells of the Texas Company in Humble oil field of Harris county, as part of new regulations to permit the company to produce 8,193 more barrels of a special grade of oil daily to meet certain refinery requirements.

FINNS PUSH TO POINT NEAR THE SOVIET BORDER

By United Press
WITH THE FINNISH ARMY, Raviemi, Finland, Jan. 6.—Finnish victories in the war above the Arctic circle had pushed the main battle lines back today to the Salla front, only 32 miles from the Russian border.

The Russians remaining west of Salla were considered now of little importance and Finnish patrols kept the advantage over them by constant sniping, which kept them always on the move.

The full significance of five quick Finnish victories on this north-central front between Dec. 18 and Dec. 25, was only now being realized.

On Dec. 18 the Russians had reached Kemijarvi, 50 miles southwest of Salla, in the middle of North Central Finland. At that point they were half way to the Swedish border and when they took Kemijarvi the Russians had called it "the front gate to Sweden." But they had been driven from that region and now this whole advance appears to have been nullified and for practical purposes the Russian army was still held at Salla, which it had reached in the first days of the invasion.

The Russian losses in the five days were estimated at from 3,000 to 4,000 men. Their losses farther south, in the Soumsalmi sector, were heavier. Estimates of the entire Russian strength on this front ranged from one to two divisions, of about 18,000 men each. It is estimated that more than half a division, probably 10,000 to 12,000 men, have been slain.

It was believed that the Russians on the Salla front either must retreat or await reinforcements. With the Finns holding Savukoski, northwest of Salla, the Russians were in a less favorable position to advance than before they lost the battle at the Kemi River. They can not try another move toward Kemijarvi as long as their right flank is open to attack by the Finns from Savukoski.

Whatever the Russians decide to do, it seemed that the fate of Central Finland must depend on fighting around Salla. The Russians lost Savukoski in the battle of the Kemi River Dec. 18, and have been on the defensive since.

The silence of army headquarters regarding operations around Salla was considered significant. All big battles in the north have been preceded by periods of official silence—a silence which is as much a part of Finnish strategy as the assaults of the whitened "invisible" soldiers.

Fighting, described officially as "patrol activity," continued on the Salla front.

Deaf Mute Dies In Apartment Fire

DETROIT, Jan. 6.—A deaf mute woman was suffocated, at least six persons were hurt or injured, and a hundred others fled or leaped to safety today when fire swept a large apartment building.

Firemen were credited with aiding to safety at least 40 residents of the three-story structure. Some were carried down ladders and some leaped into life nets from second and third floor rooms.

The woman who died was Mrs. R. Heron. Her husband, also a deaf mute, was reported in serious condition.

6,671 Wells Added To States Total During Past Year

AUSTIN, Tex., Jan. 6.—Oil operators completed 6,671 new oil wells in Texas during the year 1939, a compilation revealed today in the oil and gas division of the State Railroad Commission. The total of gas wells drilled in the same period had not been tabulated but will be approximately 200.

Records already tabulated show that 8,958 applications for approval of well locations observing the usual spacing regulations were made during the year. There were also 5,799 applications for special permits to drill wells under exceptions to the spacing rule. Of these 246 were rejected.

The report is yet incomplete on the number of wells abandoned and plugged during the year, but the finished report is expected to show the biggest gain yet experienced in number of new wells in the state.

Uncle Sam Sends Out Some Checks

Nearly a million persons will divvy up the impressive sum of 114 million dollars during 1940 with the compliments of the federal government. Although the total may be staggering, the average payment per beneficiary comes to only about $114 for the year.

This is not much security. No one can live on a little more than $2 a week. As the social security system gains momentum, the average will increase. At best, under the amendment effective on Jan. 1, the payments are none too high. They are set as liberally as sound finances permit—perhaps even higher. If Congress doesn't increase the payroll tax from 1 per cent each for employer and employe to 2 per cent each in 1942, the security administration is going to find a lot of red ink splattered over its records.

Here, then, is a security program stretched to the limit. It extends only to "covered" workers—that is, those persons who fulfill the requirements of the Security act as amended by remaining employed for specified minimum periods. It does not yield payments on the basis of need, but rather on the basis of average salary earned and length of time employed.

It represents the best that can be done with the present tax rate on payrolls. To keep the plan alive with its present provisions, the rate will need to be raised eventually to 3 per cent each for employer and employe. Even if these increases are granted, it is doubtful whether Congress or the voters at large will permit higher increases.

Meanwhile, for those aged persons not included in the general security program, increases in their monthly pensions may soon be forthcoming. Under the terms of the social security amendments, the federal government will contribute half of the pensions up to $10 each. The present maximum federal contribution is $15. It will be up to the states, of course, to increase their share of the pension before persons over 65 can collect their maximum of $40 a month.

No one will contend the Security act, even as amended, is perfect. It is simply a step toward an equitable system.

Perhaps, when its endless complexities are better understood, and when the financial framework becomes more apparent, the fallacy of depending on panaceas for old-age security will become clearer. Voters in states that have rejected utopian proposals for old-age security will be thankful they have not encumbered themselves with any unwieldy tax plans.

Every intelligent shopper knows he can't get something for nothing. That goes as well for pensions—you can't have them unless someone pays for them. And the aged will get only as much as they are able to pay for during their employable years, or as much as their neighbors can afford to finance. That will be the foundation of all sound pension programs, state and federal.

In Congress Assembled

GARLAND BRANTON

Garland Branton Again Candidate For Co. Treasurer

Elsewhere in this issue of the paper is the announcement column Garland Branton asks the voters to give him the opportunity to serve them again for the office of Treasurer of Eastland County.

Garland, as he is familiarly known throughout the county is one of the most popular county officials in the courthouse. He has with precise efficiency conducted the affairs of his office with honesty and integrity and has never failed to render prompt and courteous service in every capacity that his office calls for, and the records under his jurisdiction are thorough in every detail.

We herewith gladly pass on to the voters and citizens of the county a statement handed to this paper by Mr. Branton.

TO THE VOTERS OF EASTLAND COUNTY:
In offering myself for a second term for the office of County Treasurer of Eastland County, I do so feeling that my services during my first term have met with your full approval.

Henry Davenport Enters Race For County Commission

This issue of the paper carries the announcement of Henry V. Davenport for the office of Commissioner Precinct No. 1 of Eastland County.

Perhaps in the annals of the county's financial and general overseeing of the road, bond and bridge projects, there has been no man that has devoted more time, hard and diligent study, and longer hours than has Henry Davenport.

The efficient and intelligent manner in which he has conducted the affairs of the office can no doubt be attributed mostly to the fact that he likes his work as well being devoted to the interest of the people whom he serves.

His careful deliberation on all subjects, his keen judgment and his ability to carry out the work necessary for the welfare of the people has done much towards holding the county's financial interests without waste and within the bounds of consistency.

We gladly pass on to the voters the following statement as to his candidacy for the office he seeks: TO THE VOTERS AND CITIZENS OF PRECINCT NO. 1, EASTLAND COUNTY:

I herewith submit my candidacy for the office of Commissioner of Precinct No. 1 of Eastland county and in doing so I ask your kind and careful consideration in making your selection for the office when you go to the polls in the July primary.

I have done everything in my power to conduct the affairs of the office with which you entrusted me to the best of my ability. I have attempted to faithfully perform every trust that you have imposed upon me and I have tried to give every community in my jurisdiction my best service and one that would meet each demand to the entire satisfaction of all concerned.

If I have failed in any instance it has only been because of the limited time I have had to meet these demands and assure all that at the first opportunity no person or community will fail to receive the needs that my office should comply with.

I only hope that it will be possible for me to meet every voter personally during the coming campaign and that I shall be glad at any time for any citizen to come and discuss their problems with me.

With this in mind I humbly submit myself to you for your sincere consideration and pledge you my full service as your Commissioner. Sincerely yours, HENRY V. DAVENPORT.

John White Enters Political Race For District Clerk

JOHN WHITE

This issue of the paper announces the candidacy of John White for the office of District Clerk of Eastland County.

Frankly there is hardly a man woman or child that does not know John White in the entire county, as he has been around these parts practically all of his life. During the period of time that he began to grow up he has gradually made friends until they have grown into a part of his existence.

Two years ago White took office as District Clerk and during his first term has rendered a service to the people of the county that has been valuable, from the standpoint of efficiency and diligent application to the job that was entrusted to him.

We gladly commend his manner as a public official to the voters of the county and herewith submit his public statement and appeal to the voters for a second term:

To the People of Eastland County:
I sincerely thank you for electing me to the office of District Clerk of Eastland County, and for your courtesies and cooperation extended to me during this my first term.

I feel sure that my official record in this capacity merits a second term, and assure you that the affairs of the district clerk's office will in the future, as in the past, be conducted in the most efficient and courteous manner.

I thank you most sincerely for the confidence you have placed in me. I am striving every day to merit that confidence and will appreciate your support in the coming primary.

Sincerely,
JOHN WHITE.

Drop of Peso Is A Boon to Juarez

JUAREZ, Mex.—The fall in the Mexican peso in relation to the United States dollar is bringing a building boom to this border city across the Rio Grande from El Paso, Texas.

New residences and buildings in all parts of the city are springing up as a result of favorable business conditions in the area, increased productivity of the Juarez Valley and, according to city engineer Federico Esqueda, most important of all, the drop in the peso.

Many of the new homes are being built either by Mexicans who cross the Rio Grande daily to work in El Paso, or by Mexicans who have returned to Juarez to retire after having "made their fortunes" in the United States, with the peso hovering around 20 cents in United States currency and often dropping to 18 and 17 cents, a laborer who earns $2 a day in El Paso can convert it into at least 20 pesos after crossing back to Juarez.

91st Tribunal Has Case In Consideration

George L. Davenport, judge of 91st district court, has under consideration the case of J. E. Pratt vs. the Grand International Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and the Wichita Falls and Southern Railway.

The case was concluded Friday in the court. It involves Pratt's contention that as an engineer he is entitled to more consideration in his work from the brotherhood and railway.

It was a non-jury case. The Irish seem to be having a little trouble of their own again. It did seem a little too quiet on the Emerald Isle.

Miami Police Chief Refuses To Discuss Charges Of Hoover

By United Press
MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Jan. 6.—H. V. Yocum, Miami Beach chief of police, today declined to discuss the assertion by J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, that members of the Miami Beach police department have criminal records, except to say: "My records are open to the public at any time, and Mr. Hoover or any one else may see them."

SERIAL STORY BLACKOUT BY RUTH AYERS

COPYRIGHT, 1939, NEA SERVICE, INC.

YESTERDAY! Mary is discharged from the hospital. As she prepares to leave, Dr. Lenox offers her the use of his apartment until she finds employment.

CHAPTER XII

HERE just weren't any jobs in London, Mary Carroll decided after three weeks' search. Even with the war providing many new types of employment, there was nothing she could find to do.

On leaving the hospital Mary went at once to the rooms Dr. Lenox had put at her disposal, rooms useless to him because of the required residence in the medical center.

Of the money in Anna Winters' purse there now remained only a few over-size coins. "Ninety-three cents!" Mary was amazed when she reckoned it in terms of "real money."

That her looks were against her finding work she did not need to be told. Nor were her clothes any great help. Kindly Mrs. Simmons, the landlady, had helped her dress them until they had some semblance of fit and the two had washed and pressed until Mary was passable. But they were not the clothes of a New York fashion designer.

Days of job hunting passed and Mary knew her chances of getting work were slimmer and slimmer. England had already settled to its unprecedented warfare and much of the emergency work had slackened.

It was in despair that Mary Carroll looked the winter winds and night—the crowds in Piccadilly—her way home after another fruitless day of job hunting. "I want to die," she thought, in despair. "What's the use of dragging on like this? I've nothing to look forward to, nothing to hope for."

But no. It wasn't going to lick her Yankee fighting spirit! which is in charge of the area is attempting to improve the Longhorn. Originally, the breed was a tough, string creature, mostly tough muscle and bone, and weighed 400 to 700 pounds.

A Spanish viceroy brought the prototype of the Longhorn to Mexico from Spain in the sixteenth century. With the coming of the great cattle age in the United States in the middle of the nineteenth century, Texas plainsmen found the Longhorn their immediate most suitable breed.

The animal could be bought cheaply or stolen from the Mexicans, and was adaptable to the semi-wild conditions of the time. Heat, drought and Indians were less of a problem to him than to the gentle bosses imported from England and Northern Europe.

He also could move fast and was little affected by long marches, the thousand-mile long cattle drives up the Texas Trail, across dangerous Oklahoma territory to the Kansas Railways, often in the face of Spring blizzards and across plains parched by summer drought, would have been disastrous for the typical beef cow.

Shanghai Pierce, a prizzled old cow baron of the eighties, called his Longhorns "sea lions" because he vowed they came up right out of the Gulf of Mexico. Pierce swore his cattle were so fat it took two men to see one of the animals—one to say, "here he comes" and another to say, "there he goes."

The Longhorn began to decline in the nineties, however. With the extension of the railroads to the great Texas grazing lands, cattle men found it more profitable to invest in herds of Shorthorn beef, which were heavier and of infinitely better quality.

After they disappeared from the plains of Northwest Texas, some were still raised along the Gulf portions of Texas. Successive epidemics of tick fever, a disease to which the Longhorn is very susceptible, decimated even those herds until in 1920 federal govern-

"Only cowards talk about dying," she told herself. "And for me to have such thoughts is worse than cowardly. After all Dr. Lenox has done for me—after he struggled day and night to save my life. Is that the way to repay him?"

BACK in the rooms in Soho street she found a coal fire burning in the study grate. "Dear Mrs. Simmons," she mused. "She knows I can't afford a fire. And this must be a real sacrifice to her, what with the price of coal in this country!"

"Come," she spoke without looking up. It could only be Mrs. Simmons. "Hello, there," a deep masculine voice spoke. "I hope you'll not regard this as an intrusion. I had a particular reason for wanting to see you."

"Why, Dr. Lenox!" Mary's eyes lighted. "This is a grand surprise!" She sprang from her chair, her face reflecting the ruddy glow of the coals.

"Oh, I say. You aren't eating well, are you? You ought to look more fit by now. Have you found a job yet?" "Not yet. And I almost gave up today!" "Poor little kid." He patted her hand and led her to a chair. "The going's been tough for you, hasn't it?"

"If you only knew," Mary wanted to say, thinking about her masquerade as Anna Winters. "INSTEAD she said aloud, "You've been so good to me."

"I'm glad if I've been any help. You must never let your courage get low. It has made me very happy that these rooms are good for something." He looked around, groping for a way to lighten her mood.

"I say," he said at length. "I haven't had any tea and I bet you haven't either. What say we have some?" Without waiting for Mary's reply he went to the door.

"Mrs. Simmons. Oh, Mrs. Simmons. How about some of that famous tea of yours? And if you have any, some hot muffins. And if the war hasn't stopped it, could we have a mere spot of Scotch marmalade?"

He settled in an easy chair opposite Mary. They talked of the cases in the hospital. Mrs. Tully would soon be dismissed as well as other survivors of the Moravia. Soon Mrs. Simmons bustled in with a giant tray.

"Shall I light the lights, Doctor?" she asked. "No, I think we'd like to have our tea in the frelight," he answered. "The days will be getting longer soon." His tone was hopeful. "You'll be saving on your light bills, Mrs. Simmons."

"It'll be a blessing," she answered. "With rates as they are now." When the tea was finished Dr. Lenox fished for his pipe.

"I had a reason for coming here," he said, slowly, deliberately. "I didn't merely come to take up your time. I've got news for you—good news, maybe. You can stay in these rooms as long as you like. I've joined a hospital unit in France. I'm going overseas very soon."

MARY was staggered. When Gilbert Lenox left England she would lose the only friend she had on the whole island. "You don't know how I'll miss you," she managed to get out before she was overcome with her own loss. For all too well she realized what a bulwark of defense he had been to her. And now his departure would take away her only source of encouragement in a friendless winter world.

Ninety-three cents! Not a prospect of a job! And now to lose one who had befriended her!

"There's something else I want to say to you, Anna," he hesitated. "Now this may seem utterly preposterous. To you it will be as absurd as all the other things that are taking place in this topsyturvy world. But nevertheless, here goes—

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICES

Sunday school, 9:45 a. m. Morning worship, 11 a. m. Wednesday, testimonial service, 8 p. m. Public cordially invited.

"God" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, January 7.

The Golden Text is: "Ye shall know that I am in the midst of Israel, and that I am the Lord your God, and none else" (Joel 2:27).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Let us hear the conclusion of the whole matter: Fear God, and keep his commandments: for this is the whole duty of man" (Ecclesiastes 12:13).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "In other words: Let us hear the conclusion of the whole matter: love God and keep his commandments: for this is the whole of man in His image and likeness. Divine Love is infinite. Therefore all that really exists is in and of God, and manifests His love" (page 340).

The Problem of Forgiveness Text: Matthew 18:21-35

BY WILLIAM E. GILROY, D.D. Editor of Advance

THE title of our lesson is well chosen; forgiveness is a very real problem and one that comparatively few people manage to solve.

Many people, especially professing Christians, believe in forgiveness in theory. They are quite sure that forgiveness is a good thing, and they follow all that Jesus has said about it until there is really something to forgive, and then the teaching and philosophy desert them and they are as bitter and vengeful against anyone who has wronged them as any person of Christian spirit might be.

Others do not accept the philosophy of forgiveness at all, and perhaps this is the more common attitude of the world in general. Even well-meaning people often speak of a man as a "good hater," as if any hater could be good or as if hatred under any circumstances could be a good thing.

I suppose what people mean is to approve of intensity of spirit, of implacable refusal to compromise with wrong, etc.; but, nevertheless, there are no circumstances under which hate is a good thing.

THE teaching of Jesus has to do largely in this lesson with personal and individual relationships—the sin of man against man. But the need of grasping thoroughly the teaching of forgiveness is greatly emphasized in such a situation as we meet in the modern world, where hatred on a vast scale is either encouraged or is very easily developed within the field of social relationships and in relationships between nations.

FORGIVENESS is the necessary and sure way of bringing to light something better in human character and conditions. As long as men meet wrong with wrong, violence with violence, and hate with hate, there can be no gain; there may indeed be a real loss. But where someone dares to break this tragic circle of hatred by introducing forgiveness, immediately a new and constructive force enters, healing divisions and dissensions, and tending to establish a new foundation for better relationships.

In a very real sense forgiveness is the foundation of all progress toward better relationship between men and nations. God is the only force that can really overcome evil.

BRUCE CATTON IN WASHINGTON

BY BRUCE CATTON NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON—Television, that perennial entry in the race for new industries which always seems to be scratched before coming to the post, has been shoved into the stall once more.

This time it is a little matter of disagreement between the Federal Communications Commission and the radio manufacturers that appears to be holding up the show.

The Television Committee of the FCC has just released a report that it considers television still too immature to be considered a public service. It has turned thumbs down on the plea of the Radio Corporation—owner of most of the television patents, that it be allowed to finance further television experiments by selling time to sponsors on television broadcasts.

The committee recommends that the radio industry continue to bear the costs of television development, already great, until technical problems have been further solved.

RCA WANTS TOOTH PASTE MONEY

RCA had argued that it could bring television programs to a broad public sooner if they could be financed by tooth paste or hair tonic manufacturers. But the FCC committee pointed out that although the British government heavily subsidized television development there until the war cut off experimentation, only 14,000 Brits had bought sets to look in on programs which had been made available to 14,000,000 people.

So if you find a brand new radio under the Christmas tree, you may notice on it an intriguing little button marked "television." But don't let it get your hopes too high. Not today; perhaps not even tomorrow can you use it.

There are television receivers on the market costing from $275 to $600. Manufacturers say that in a year they will be cheaper. Many ordinary radios this year have television connections.

It will cost from $200 to $300 less, salesmen are saying, to have a television receiver attached to sets like that later, than it will to buy a complete television receiver. The FCC committee appeared to feel this estimate of the nearness of popular television a little too optimistic.

UNUSED CHANNELS TIE UP AIR WAVES

NINETEEN channels in the higher kilocycles have been reserved for television broadcasts. Each television frequency band takes up 600 times more space than a channel for ordinary radio broadcasts. Only seven of the 19 channels are now in use, and you could receive no more than five of these if you had a television receiver today.

Only about 1000 people have sets, mostly in New York and other big cities. Three regular stations are now fulfilling FCC requirements of five hours a week of television programs to hold their other space reservation. But only those receivers who live near the point of broadcast can now receive the programs because there is as yet no television chain or relay system.
