EASTLAND TO NAME TWO IN VOTE TUESDAY

Voters of Eastland will elect two city commissioners in an election to be held from 8 a. m. to 7 p. m. Tuesday at the City Hall.

Candidates to succeed themselves are C. B. Wellman and C. T. Lucas. Although the candidates have no opposition voters were urged to go to the polls in large numbers and show their confidence in the officials.

Oscar Wilson will be presiding judge of the election and will be assisted by R. B. Braly and J. F. McWilliams.

By voting for the officials tomorrow Eastland citizens will continue to show their support of the city administration whose work has drawn favorable comment from Eastland citizens and those of this section.

During the tenure of the present officials much progress of the city has been observed. The officials are offering citizens more services than ever, the city's debt is being lessened and due to the cooperation of the officials with the WPA many important projects have been and are being completed.

Texas University Soon Will Have Largest Library

AUSTIN, Tex.—Already claiming, at the University of Texas, the largest collegiate library in the South, Texas is on its way to becoming book center of the Southwest, annual statistics on southern libraries show.

In the Southeast portion of the United States, North Carolina, Duke and Virginia together have accumulated 1,263,961 volumes. The Southwest leaders—Universities of Texas, Oklahoma, Louisiana State and Tulane—count 1,326,492.

University Librarian Donald Coney points out the significance of this group, but in the Southwest the University of Texas with nearly two-thirds of a million volumes, stands out as the library pool of a great area.

"This suggests," Coney said, "that the University of Texas library stands pretty much alone in its region as a dominant institution, with regional opportunities and perhaps regional responsibilities for developing a pool of research materials and means and apparatus for distributing them—if not beyond the borders of the state, at least within them."

Long Ballot Gives Voters Headaches

AUSTIN, Tex.—Texas' long ballot gives its voters more voting control than they can use, divides the interest of the voter and increases the difficulty of choosing intelligently from the candidates.

This is the belief of Dr. O. D. Weeks, University of Texas government department chairman and authority on political parties.

The November general election ballot to be used in Texas will list approximately fifty offices including presidential elections, Dr. Weeks explained.

When the voter has filled a large number of offices from the governor down to the local constable, his attention is not sufficiently focused on important positions and issues, he pointed out.

"Adequate democratic control over State and local government requires the election of only such policy-forming officials as the governor, the state legislators, the county commissioners and the city council," Dr. Weeks said.

Business Failures In State Slump

AUSTIN, Tex.—Comparative safety for Texas business concerns existed during February, the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research has pointed out, citing only 14 commercial failures with liabilities totalling $162,000.

The month's record of bankruptcies showed a 50 per cent drop in the number of failures and 46.2 per cent drop in liabilities from February, 1939. Almost an equal decline from January was indicated, 46.2 per cent in number and 39.2 per cent in liabilities.

Louisiana Hurricane Kills Six

A hurricane, sweeping over parts of Texas, Louisiana and Mississippi, struck the French-speaking fishing village of Pierre Port, La., killing six and wrecking 30 buildings among which was this church. 300 children in a nearby school were unscathed.

RANGER HIGH SCHOOL WINS POSSESSION OF ALL-AROUND TROPHY

With tennis matches in the Eastland County Interscholastic League Meet, held at Ranger, to be played this afternoon, ending late, an unofficial tabulation showed that Ranger was certain of winning the all-around county championship in literary and track events, giving the school permanent possession of the Ranger Chamber of Commerce trophy, which the school had previously won two years in succession.

On the basis of the unofficial figures it appeared that Eastland finished in second place with Cisco third; Rising Star fourth, Gorman fifth and Carbon in sixth place.

The figures today showed the following results, with tennis results not considered:

Ranger High School won 84 1-2 points in literary events and 20 points in track and field, for a total of 104 1-2 points. Ranger ward schools won 107 points in literary events, 20 points in playground ball, and 15 points in volleyball for a total of 142 points.

Eastland High School won 77 points in literary events, 5 points in track, 10 in volleyball for a total of 92 points and the city's ward schools won 15 points in literary events and 5 points in playground ball, for a total of 20 points.

Cisco High School won 43 1-2 points in literary events, 10 points in boys' playground ball, five in girls' playground ball and five in junior track, for a total of 63 1-2 points. The ward schools scored 64 1-2 points in literary events, 5 in volleyball, 15 in girls' playground ball and 15 in ward school track for a total of 99 1-2 points.

Rising Star won 17 points in literary events and 30 in girls' volleyball for a total of 47 points, with the ward school winning 15 points in literary events and 15 in volleyball ball, for 30 points.

Gorman High School won five points in literary events, 15 in junior boys' playground ball, 10 in girls' playground ball, 10 in senior track and 15 in junior high school track events, for a total of 55 points. Gorman ward school won 10 points in literary events.

Carbon High School won 5 points in literary events and 20 points in athletic events, with the ward school not scoring.

Class B results showed "Colony won 50 points in athletics and 5 points in ward school athletics; Morton Valley won 12 points in literary events and 24 in athletic events, for a total of 37; Olden won 15 points in literary events and 20 in athletic events for a total of 35; Alameda won 12 literary points and 15 athletic points for a total of 27; Pioneer won

Showing Of New SS Cards Urged

"Workers looking for employment should carry their Social Security number cards with them," W. O. King, manager of the Abilene Social Security Board office, said today.

Furthermore, the worker should be sure to show the card to the employer immediately upon being hired.

"This procedure is very important," King continued, "as the Social Security number is the means of identifying the worker's wage account with the Federal Government." If the employee does not show his card to the employer, the latter might report the wages without an account number. In this case, the wages cannot be posted to the worker's account by the Social Security Board.

Since the benefits payable under the Old-Age and Survivors Insurance provisions by the Social Security Act are related to the worker's wages, the importance of having all wages posted to worker's account is obvious. "The new benefits under the Social Security Act amendments are of vital importance to workers and their families. Therefore, we urge each wage earner to assure for himself full credit for his wages by showing his card to each employer," King said. If any worker does not have a number, he should go to the Social Security Board office, Room 205 Alexander Building, Abilene, where he will receive a number in a very few minutes.

Truck Is Waterloo To Fighting Ware

NEW ORLEANS.—Carlotta's habit of fighting horseless carriages proved her ruin.

Carlotta, a mare belonging to Anthony Estene, Negro, broke from her stable and was injured in an encounter with a truck, so she had to be destroyed.

Last November, Carlotta damaged three automobiles and injured two civilians and a policeman when she had a frisky mood while in the business section.

Commissioners Seek Truck Law Appeal

AUSTIN, April 1.—All three of the State Railroad Commissioners today asked Attorney General Gerald Mann to make a vigorous appeal from the decision of the Court of Civil Appeals here that special commodity truck permits are invalid, unless accompanied by proof that they are a public necessity.

He Thought He Had Safe Parking Place

SAN ANTONIO, Tex.—When P. A. Saenz parked his car in front of police headquarters, just under the window of Police Chief Ray Ashworth, he thought it was safe. He was wrong.

When he returned, his car was gone. He stepped into the police station, reported theft of his car and also that he had put two nickels in a parking meter.

Police didn't say anything about a refund of the extra nickel, but said they would look for the car.

14 Killed In Floods Over Wide Sector

At least 14 persons were known to be dead today in floods in the New England States, the Ohio Valley, Northern California and Pennsylvania.

Hardest hit was the Susquehanna River Valley, near Wilkes-Barre, Pa., where nine were dead, three missing, 15,000 homeless and 125,000 ready to evacuate their homes.

At Kingston, Pa., three gasoline storage tanks exploded, setting fire to several buildings and covering the river with gasoline. Vapors from the river endangered most of the town, and "no smoking" orders were issued by police to prevent further fires.

Two are known to be dead from storms and floods in Michigan, and two died as the direct result of floods in New York State.

In most of the areas, with the exception of Pennsylvania, floodwaters were receding today and it was believed the flood danger had passed.

Boys Held When Manhole Covers are Reported Missing

Two Ranger boys have been placed in the Ranger city jail on complaints of destroying public property, according to Chief of Police Guy Pledger.

The youths, Pledger stated, admitted taking a manhole cover off a sewer line, breaking it up and selling it for junk. Two other manhole covers have been stolen in the past few days, Pledger asserted, but the two boys denied having anything to do with disappearance of the other two.

Ranger People Go To Family Reunion In Olney on Sunday

Relatives from Ranger attended a family reunion at Olney Sunday, when Mrs. Mart Lasater of that city was honored by 49 children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

Included among those who attended were Mr. and Mrs. Eaton Todd of Ranger and their son, Tommie; Mr. and Mrs. Wilson (Buddie) Robinson and son, Benjie Alvin and Mr. and Mrs. Charney Robinson and children Johnny, D. C., Leona, Jane, Caroline, George, Frank and Nancy.

Mrs. Lasater visited in the homes of relatives in Ranger a few days prior to the reunion.

Tennis Matches In County Meet Being Played Off Today

Six tennis matches were being played off in Ranger today, the final events in the Eastland County Interscholastic League meet. The matches were rained out Friday when a sudden shower halted play.

The matches began at 1:30 this afternoon and were expected to be completed "sometime before dark." They will have no bearing on the final outcome of the county meet, which Ranger has won for the third consecutive year.

Cleanup Campaign Committeemen Will Meet Here Tuesday

L. W. Meador, chairman and A. N. Larson, co-chairman of the Ranger Cleanup Campaign, have called a meeting of all committeemen and members of the committee for 9:30 Tuesday morning, when final instructions for the cleanup drive will be given.

Work on the cleanup started today, with everyone in town urged to cooperate by cleaning up his own premises and those adjoining, if possible.

Bids have been asked on hauling away all trash collected during the campaign, which is to last the remainder of this week.

WEST TEXAS: Fair with high clouds north and east, rain southwest portion tonight. Tuesday cloudiness with scattered showers north and west portions. Colder extreme southwest portion tonight and north and southwest portions Tuesday.

Barred From Job

New York Supreme Court Justice John McGeehan has granted an order revoking the appointment of Bertrand Russell, noted English author and philosopher, to the faculty of the college of the city of New York on the grounds that his moral views were objectionable.

Ranger Golfers Win Over Phillips Club

Sunday afternoon at Ranger, the Ranger Country Club golf team won from the Phillips Petroleum Co. players of the Breckenridge area, 8 to 6.

The high light of the match was the victory of Jimmy Phillips, ace Ranger player, over the long hitting J. T. Hammett. Phillips won 2 and 1.

Results of the matches are as follows:

Jimmy Phillips beat J. T. Hammett 2 and 1.

Elmer Norris, Jr., lost to Roy Trower 6-4.

H. H. Vaughn won from W. A. Tunnell 3-1.

Joe Elliott beat A. G. Harrell 6-4.

Glen West lost to Bill Burton 2 up.

Rice Herrington lost to Charles Chapman 5-4.

R. H. Snyder won from J. W. Thornton 6-5.

R. V. Cole beat Steve Crosby 5-3.

Elmer Norris, Sr. lost to Virgil Loughry 6-5.

Felton Braehler won from F. B. Joyce 7-6.

Forrest Ford lost to L. F. Clarke 4-2.

Guy Smith beat Virgil Jones 5-3.

Carl Heinlin won from L. E. Cates 2-1.

J. B. Huntington beat "Pop" Earnest 2-1.

Billy The Kid Once Danced To Strains Of A Prize Violin

FORT WORTH, Tex.—A violin, believed to have been made in Italy nearly 350 years ago, was brought here by its owner, L. H. Prine of Wichita Falls, Texas, whose father played it for half a century.

Prine, a carpenter, said that the instrument was given to his father in 1872 by a musician en route from San Francisco to New York. The owner, who had spent two seasons with the San Francisco symphony orchestra, stayed the winter at the elder Prine's farm in Oregon.

When he left, the musician told the farmer to "keep this until I call for it again." A few years later, the elder Prine moved to Texas and "carried the fiddle up the old Chisholm trail," his son said. The father played it from Ray City, Tex., to Clayton, N. M., and in Roswell the violin provided music to which the outlaw, Billy the Kid, danced.

War Fails To Stop Autograph Hunters

LONDON.—A Rumanian journalist who has interviewed and collected the autographs of 1,500 famous men has arrived in England with the idea of adding 21 British winners of the Nobel prize to his collection.

He is S. Horchover and there are few celebrities with whom he is not acquainted. His autograph book contains the signatures of three kings—Gustaf of Sweden, Christian of Denmark and Zog of Albania, a score of musicians, statesmen and authors.

Family To Abandon Bergdoll Mansion

PHILADELPHIA.—Mrs. Berta Bergdoll, German-born wife of draft-dodger Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, plans to move their family to a new home in West Chester.

The deed to the $45,000 country place has been transferred formally to the Bergdolls, the former owners taking a $30,000 first mortgage as part payment. Mrs. Bergdoll said she and her six children would move to the country home from the "Bergdoll Castle" here, although it may be many years before Bergdoll is released from prison and can see the 2-1-2 story stone and frame dwelling on a 250-acre tract in an isolated section.

Town Will Try To Be First To End Its Census Taking

WASHINGTON, Apr. 1.—Census Director W. L. Austin understood today that the little town of Centertown, Mo., will attempt to be the first again to report its complete census count tomorrow.

Tuesday 120,000 enumerators will begin checking the population of the United States in the 16th census.

Austin said that local results will be announced by local supervisors, and not at Washington.

Invitation Sent At College Day

Dean J. Thomas Davis, head of John Tarleton College, sent invitations last week to a number of Eastland county people, inviting them to attend the Parents' Day Program to be held at that institution on May 5. Among those receiving invitations were:

Mr. and Mrs. N. D. Baily, Mr. R. A. Fonville, Mr. and Mrs. S. N. Foster, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Hazelwood, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Huestis, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Lauderdale, Mrs. C. D. McBride, Mr. and Mrs. W. Apparent Attack Is Frustrated By Screams Of Girl

Chief of Police Guy Pledger of Ranger reported today that a young Ranger girl was the apparent victim of an attempted attack late Saturday night.

The girl was walking to her home from the home of a neighbor, she reported, when a man walked up behind her and grabbed her by the arms. She screamed, she said, and broke loose and fled to her home. Her parents reported the incident to police.

Pledger said today that an investigation failed to reveal any clue to the identity of the man, whom the girl did not see readily enough to describe accurately.

Aged Ranger Man Is Buried Sunday

Funeral services were conducted Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock from Killingsworth's Funeral Home for Eugene W. Sawyers, 71, of Ranger, who died Saturday. The services were conducted by Rev. K. C. Edmonds. Burial was in Evergreen cemetery.

The deceased was born in Tennessee Jan. 29, 1869, and had lived in Ranger the past five years.

School Election Is Slated Saturday

It was announced today that Frank Sparks and W. K. Hyer are unopposed for election as members of the Eastland school board in a vote to be held Saturday at the courthouse.

The officials have served for several years. Although the candidates are unopposed, Eastland citizens were urged to participate in the election in large numbers.

Youths Buried By Cave-ins Are Saved

BEAUMONT, Tex.—Two Texas youths were buried in cave-ins last week but survived.

On successive days, Charles Schule, 12, at Willard's Lake, 18 miles from Beaumont, and Julian Villarreal, 17, near Harlingen nearly were suffocated.

Schule was playing at the edge of the lake with another boy, Jerry Nichols, when an embankment collapsed, burying him under eight feet of loose earth. He was rescued within 20 minutes.

Villarreal was dug from under six feet of sand after a bank of the Arroyo Colorado caved in on him while he was fishing.

Mexican Infant's Rites Conducted

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at Eastland cemetery for Guadalupe Recalde, Jr., three-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Guadalupe Recalde, who died Sunday. Hamner Undertaking Company was in charge of arrangements.

TOTAL WAR IN NEAR FUTURE NOW UNLIKELY

A "total war" soon seemed improbable today as Great Britain and France took steps to disprove Adolf Hitler's claim that Germany is "blockade proof."

Great Britain tightened her blockade of neutrals, particularly the Scandinavian countries, to cut off supplies for Germany, apparently in the hope that the pressure will force Germany to break the military stalemate which has existed since the beginning of the war last September.

In China Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek declared that Japan was crumbling from the military and economic standpoints and that Chinese will fight until all Japanese are driven from China.

In the United States Rep. Hamilton Fish, Republican, New York, introduced a resolution in the house, asking a house committee to investigate charges made in the German "white book" that American diplomats were giving the impression that the United States would aid in a war against Germany.

Fish said the investigation is needed in fairness to President Roosevelt and Ambassadors Bullitt and Kennedy, and if the charges are found to be true, that impeachment proceedings should follow.

Seven Are Killed In Texas Accidents

AUSTIN, April 1.—Seven persons were killed in week-end traffic accidents in Texas, four of them at El Paso, where an automobile struck a bridge.

State Department of Public Safety officials stated today that the March death toll in Texas would likely set a new, all-time high, due partly to the accident at Alamo, in which 29 were killed in a crossing accident.

Compilation of figures on the March toll had not been completed today.

Opinion Divided On O'Daniel Intentions

AUSTIN, April 1.—Opinion was divided today on whether or not Gov. O'Daniel will use his special, one-hour broadcast next Wednesday night to announce a decision for or against running for reelection.

Most observers were of the opinion that he will run, although if he does not, Lt. Gov. Coke R. Stevenson of Junction and Mrs. Miriam Ferguson likely will announce immediately for governor.

Better Business Will Boost Incomes

The American Federation of Labor believes it has found a way to solve the unemployment problem.

It's very simple, as the A. F. of L. sees it. All that needs to be done is to boost the national income 10 billion dollars from the 70-billion dollar mark it struck last year. This, according to the A. F. of L.'s monthly business survey, would involve a general wage increase of six per cent.

If this were done, the report says, the result would be a general 13 per cent expansion in sales for all types of products, with the result that all industries would be able to put more men to work. When the circle was finally completed, it is reasoned, 2,700,000 jobless persons could be placed. The A. F. of L. now estimates there are 10,000,000 unemployed.

The picture is painted in further detail like this: The income received by the new workers would total $3,730,000,000. Workers now employed would get $2,570,000,000 more a year, and an additional $3,800,000,000 would be forthcoming in raises on all other incomes. The total would add up to slightly more than 10 billion dollars.

But would this provide the right answer? Industrial economy is a complex structure. Wages are supposedly based on business conditions. When business becomes better and shows signs of remaining better for longer than just a month or two, wages can be raised. To raise pay arbitrarily without justification other than the nebulous hope of better times to come would be extremely hazardous economic adventure.

Granting that 2,700,000 men could be given jobs, what would happen to the remaining 7,300,000 who would still be unemployed?

Industry will pick up men as quickly as it can absorb them. Everything depends on how many orders are forthcoming. Our problem still is to figure out a way—not removing only a small group of men from among the unemployed—but rather of finding a non-relief job for every man able and willing to accept it.

Hitch-hikers are trying to get their thumbs insured. Probably need protection against getting them clipped off by some of those guys who don't stop.

Prisoners detained under defense regulations, such as blackout violations in London, will be served a pint of ale each daily. There will be a lot of lights burning in the window.

A sewer in California was clogged and investigators found a kiddie car, a play wagon and a tricycle. Perhaps they were stored there for a quick getaway from the truant officer.

Gestapo Has Nothing On Texas When It Comes To Secret Investigation Work

By United Press

AUSTIN, Texas.—Texans who read of the Russian OGPU or the German Gestapo and think of them as something foreign would be surprised to find how extensively their own actions are observed by the State of Texas. Some such indication has been given recently. A hearing was called by the state board of control to hear charges against Dr. W. J. Johnson, superintendent of San Antonio state hospital for the insane. The hearing disclosed a previous secret investigation of wide scope. Again last week, it was disclosed that a secret investigation had been carried on concerning alleged political activities of employees of the State Liquor Control Board. Both investigations were conducted by assistant secretary of state Claude Williams a former Gregg county prosecutor. Still more lately a probe of affairs in the Midland office of the Texas Railroad Commission came to light. Many apparently had been conducting an oil inquiry. Who was first in the matter of considerable rivalry. Not only the state agencies but the federal department of the interior participated in this one. Permanent official investigating agencies of the state include the state rangers, a bureau of investigation in the department of public safety, the state auditor's department and an investigation division of the attorney general's department.

Nocona Is Center Of An Oil Boom

By United Press

NOCONA, Texas.—This North Texas county, where farmers were wondering a year ago how to pay their debts, is in the throes of the state's biggest current oil boom. Hotels here, at Montague and at Bowie are thronged with lease agents. The farmers and ranchers—instead of worrying about the rainfall needed for their crops—are bargaining for the highest prices on mineral rights. The activity began last year when John Holmes of Fort Worth and Joe Benton of Nocona staked out a well two miles north of Bonita and it came in as a producer. The pool now has eight commercial wells, and the Texas Railroad Commission this month named the pool "Benton & Holmes." It previously was called "Bowers' pool."

Since the discovery, new producers have been found in several parts of the county, including the Nocona townsite. The latest discovery is the wildcat three miles south of Ringgold, where W. Bland Omohundro of Wichita Falls brought in a well that some operators predict will be "North Texas' biggest strike in several years." The well now is being completed. Like a snowball rolling down a hill, oil activity throughout Montague county has gathered speed. Walter H. Gant of Ardmore, Oklahoma, has staked a semi-wildcat on the J. W. Robinson farm a half-mile northwest of the Benton & Holmes discovery. The Gant well is contracted to 5,000 feet. Two miles north of the pool, Seitz, Comegys and Seitz have made the location for another wildcat on the E. B. King farm. Sinclair-Frairie is seeking a west extension to the wildcat discovery. It made two weeks ago a mile west of Bonita, and a townsite test in Bonita itself is in prospect soon. Several operators were considering drilling in the vicinity of the Omohundro strike near Ringgold. The Nocona townsite pool continues to be the most active in the county. It has five wells now in the process of drilling.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla.—The richest golf tournament in the United States annually is not any of the many Opens you read about. It is a little 18-hole amateur-professional tournament held each March at the ritzy Seminole Golf Club of Palm Beach.

There the better pros pair with merchant princes, playboys and just ordinary simon-pures with the total of the auction pool running into a fortune—$55,000 this year to be exact.

Three men, so it is understood, split $46,000 at Seminole. To one Oscar Johnson of Chicago who had Jimmy Demaret as a partner, went $23,000. The other $23,000 was split between Robert O. Bacon of New York, who had Dick Metz as a partner, and a friend who invested equally with Bacon in the Metz-Bacon twosome. Johnson bid in his own team alone.

WHEN all the putts had dropped for 48 teams, Metz and Bacon had turned in a best ball of 64 to match a similar card turned in by Demaret and Johnson.

The $46,000 represented first and second prize money in the pool in which each team is auctioned to the highest bidder. A percentage is deducted for the pros and other expenses. The remainder goes into the pot.

This year at Seminole, Metz and Demaret split $2750—the $2000 first prize for the pros and $750 second prize, but money players never fail to do well financially with generous holders of winning tickets.

It is for this reason pros take keen interest in the performance of their partners. Johnny Revolta and Raymond Guest prevailed at Seminole a year ago, and it was a treat to see Revolta give the polo player a lesson in a sandtrap on the fringe of the 18th green. While it is not nearly so high pressured, the pros do all right in the 18-hole pro-amateur at the fashionable Miami Beach Indian Creek Club, too.

There the ever-present Demaret and Holly Slover, the Washington coal and iron operator; Bob Barnett, the home pro, and Col. S. L. Slover, the Norfolk publisher, and Revolta and Alexander Thayer, a Gwynedd Valley, Pa., dairyman, tied in a fearful wind with best balls of 71.

THE amateur-pro at St. Augustine is confined to the better amateurs who are keenly sought by pros. Bud Ward, the national champion, for example, was paired with Horton Smith. Wilford Wehrle, the Racine crack, was the partner of Sam Snead, and Ellisworth Vines was teamed with Gene Sarazen.

The pros get no more than the $3000 prize money out of this one which lasts four days. There should be more of these amateur-pro affairs. Rich men can afford to dabble in auction pools in the fancier ones and the others give the amateurs an opportunity to play alongside the fastest kind of company.

Realism Takes On A Pageant Role In Louisiana Festival

By United Press

NEW ORLEANS.—A direct descendant of an Aedean official who played a part in the real life story of Evangeline took part in an "Evangeline" pageant staged here.

He was J. Dwight LeBlanc, New Orleans business man and descendant of Rene Le Blanc, the notary who was to have performed the marriage of Gabriel and Evangeline in Nova Scotia. But that marriage never took place for the British drove the French descendants out of Canada in 1755.

The separation and wanderings of Gabriel and Evangeline have been immortalized in Longfellow's poem "Evangeline." The poem tells how the separation took place just before the scheduled time for the marriage and how Gabriel found Evangeline years later on her death bed.

Rene Le Blanc, also driven out of Canada, stopped in New Orleans in 1755 en route to the Teche country west and southwest of here along the Bayou Teche. The "Evangeline" pageant was part of the Flower Trail observance in connection with opening of a 35-mile route of flower-bordered boulevard built under sponsorship of New Orleans Chamber of Commerce and the New Orleans Parkway Commission, and the WPA at a total cost of approximately $1,000,000.

SERIAL STORY

K. O. CAVALIER BY JERRY BRONDFIELD

YESTERDAY Hansen attended to have three sailors let themselves be shanghaied, just to give Val a thrill. The men are taken after a battle, and the Northern Belle sails on time. An hour at sea, Mike Kelly rushes to Hansen, telling him there's been a mistake. Instead of the sailors, they've shanghaied Eddie Cavalier, his manager and his trainer.

CHAPTER IV

CAPTAIN STEVE HANSEN went down the steps, three at a time, a lurid Scandinavian oath trailing in his wake.

For just a brief moment Val felt as though paralyzed. Then she flew after Hansen, a hundred thoughts racing through her head. Eddie Cavalier aboard the "Northern Belle" . . . shanghaied . . . by her . . . no wonder the three victims had put up such a terrific battle. . . . And it must have been Cavalier who was black-jacked!

She caught up with Hansen just as he started to go below. "Steve," she gasped, "Steve, before you talk to them, tell me . . . you had this thing all framed for my benefit, didn't you?"

"Of course, Matey, but who'd ever dream these three eggs would happen along at just the right time and right spot. How was MacGregor to know in that darkness?"

He groaned. "Those three guys Barney had lined up probably didn't want to sign on anyway, took their 10 bucks each and got themselves offed."

She clutched his arm. "Steve, what're you going to do?"

"Only one thing we can do, I guess, and that's take 'em back to Frisco and try to convince 'em there's been a big mistake."

"That," she murmured, "will take an awful lot of talking. And Steve, if we turn back now we won't be able to get out again until morning—if then," she added meaningfully. "Port authorities might want to know why we turned back. And our three friends, if slow might cause us a lot of trouble and get us held for investigation. We don't dare take the chance, Steve. That contract means too much."

"Besides, Steve," she said slowly. "I've just had a wonderful idea."

She started. "Another one of your ideas, eh. You'll be sinking me speedboat we'd rented and we drifted around until dark when someone asked us up and towed us in. And that's where they happened to drop us off."

"I see."

Duffy Kelson, regarding his voice, glared at her. "I don't know who's boss around here, but you'd better have your admiral friend turn this mud scow around and take us back to Frisco."

"And what if we refuse?" Val inquired sweetly.

"DUFFY KELSO once again

strangled over his attempts to talk and it was Cavalier who answered her.

"You'd be an idiot to refuse. Where you bound for, anyhow?"

"Prince Rupert, British Columbia," she announced quite calmly. "And you won't be back for at least 12 days. I might inform you, also, that while on board you'll have to earn your keep. We're shorthanded and you'll have to fill in. However," she added, "you'll receive standard wages for your efforts."

Duffy Kelson's shriek almost split the cabin walls. "You crazy dame, you can't do that to us. We've gotta fight in two weeks. Get us off this tub immediately or I'll murder you myself!"

"Disregard the sensitive gentleman on your left, Captain Hansen. He becomes violent on the slightest provocation. He's really harmless, however."

"Quit clowning," Eddie Cavalier slid ominously. "Do we go back or not?"

"The answer is 'not.' About your fight. If I recall correctly, you and Johnny Massini are meeting to see who gets a crack at the champ. Right?"

"For the first time in your life—yes."

"As much as I hate to say it, you ought to take Massini without too much trouble," she said meditatively.

"Look, lady . . . what're you driving at?" Duffy Kelson grated. "You're killing me by inches. Why don't you get it over with and end my agony?"

"Okay, Duffy. Here it is," she said exultantly. "You'll be able to go through with your fight with Massini, all right, but in so doing you're going to give me the scoop of the year. You're going to train for that fight right on board this ship and I'm going to file my stories by ship's radio every day."

"Wow! What a setup," she chortled. "The more I think of it the greater the idea sounds. What a story! This'll make! What a story!"

"OUT OUR WAY"

BY WILLIAMS THE PLAYOFF..

BY JERRY BRONDFIELD NEA Service Sports Writer

WE are in no way paying off a debt to the Texas Chamber of Commerce when we take up the subject at hand. It is rapidly becoming a matter of record that the Lone Star State is producing more than its share of athletic talent and is a virtual incubator of champions.

Jimmy Demaret of Houston, leading money winner of the winter golf circuit, is the latest to call attention to the stars of the range.

The colorful clown who has breezed through five of nine tournaments is only one of a great Texas golfing brigade. Texas linkmen headed by Ralph Guldahl of Dallas have won the Western Open five times in a row. Byron Nelson of Fort Worth hasn't fared badly either. It seems he won a National Open title last year. During 1939, golfers who learned their game in Texas won 13 of the 28 leading professional and open tournaments.

Then there's pet Betty Jameson, the San Antonio lass who won the 1939 U. S. women's golf championship.

Ohio and Pennsylvania may disagree but Texas will stand a lot of beating when it comes to football. The finest organized high school competition is set up there and the Southwest Collegiate Conference, with six of its seven teams from Texas, admittedly is the pioneer of the modern open game.

From Texas has come the widest use of the forward pass. Recall the feats of Sammy Baugh and Davey O'Brien. Last fall it was Texas A & M that was recognized as the top team in the country and many critics regard Big John Kimbrough as the greatest fullback of all time.

SCHOOLBOY ROWE, lanky Detroit pitcher who holds the American League record of 16 straight victories, and who is attempting a comeback after a siege of arm trouble, is only one of a tremendous list of Texas ball players.

To name a few there are Sam West of the Senators; Roy Weatherly of the Indians; Pinky Higgins of Detroit; Lee Grissom of the Yankees; Jim Turner of the Reds; Tex Carleton of the Dodgers; Beau Bell of the Indians; Bob Seeds of the Giants; Deb Garms of the Pirates, and a dozen others.

Law Jenkins, the 23-year-old better who knocked out Tippy Larkin in one round recently to become the leading challenger for Lou Amber's lightweight crown, is of course, from Texas. Sweetwater is the town.

THE southwest got a late start, but today some of the best basketball in the nation is played in Texas. Rice and the University of Texas had two of the country's greatest teams this past season and Bobby Moor's, Texas' All-America guard, was the finest ball-handler seen in Madison Square Garden in years.

The world's greatest mauler is Fred Wolcott, the lightning blond from Rice who most likely will be the first three-time winner in the history of the National Collegiate meet this June.

Frank Gunnesey, another Rice athlete, is favored to become the first man in N. C. A. A. annals to win the singles tennis title three years hand-running.

It might be the climate, the diet, or merely the heritage of men like Sam Houston, W. B. Travis and Col. James Bowie.

MODERN MENUS

BY MRS. GAYNOR MADDOX NEA Service Staff Writer

THE only trouble with meat loaf is you meet it too often. But a little imagination can change that dull familiar dish into a surprisingly welcome new friend. So add these two recipes to your "budget menus that don't taste that way."

PRUNE STUFFED MEAT ROLL (Serves 12 to 15)

One pound ground uncooked pork, 2 pounds ground uncooked beef, 1 tablespoon salt, 1 tablespoon poultry seasoning, 2 eggs, 1 cup cornflakes. (Excellent served cold next day.)

STUFFING

One cup soaked prunes, 1/4 cups chopped celery, 1/2 cup chopped onion, 1/4 cup chopped parsley, 1/2 quarts white bread cubes, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon poultry seasoning.

Have meats ground together. Add seasonings, beaten eggs and cornflakes, and blend thoroughly. Pat into a square about 12x12 inches, on wax paper. Fill prunes and cut into small pieces. Combine with other stuffing ingredients and blend well. If bread is dry, some moisture may be needed, in which case add 1/4 to 1/2 cup broth or water. Spread stuffing over meat and roll as for jelly roll. Place in greased baking pan and brush with fat.

Tomorrow's Menu
BREAKFAST: Stewed prunes in orange juice, cornbread, coffee, milk.
LUNCHEON: Spanish omelet, whole wheat toast, orange and banana cup, frosted cup cakes, tea, milk.
DINNER: Pork and veal loaf, baked potatoes, eight-minute cabbage, pineapple and lettuce salad, chocolate bread pudding, foamy sauce, coffee, milk.

Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 1 1/2 to 2 hours. Serve with brown gravy or Spanish sauce. For an attractive service, garnish serving platter with thin slices of unpeeled orange or red apple and whole cooked prunes.
FORK AND VEAL LOAF
One egg, 1/2 cup milk, 1/2 teaspoon sage, 1 1/2 teaspoons salt, few grains pepper, 2 cups soft bread crumbs, 1 onion, 1 pound pork shoulder, ground; 1 tablespoon chopped celery, 1 pound veal shoulder, ground.
Beat egg; add milk, sage, salt and pepper. Add bread crumbs. Let stand 5 minutes. Mince onion; add with meat and celery, to bread crumb mixture. Mix well. Pack meat mixture into greased loaf pan. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 1 1/2 hours.

Commission Race May Overshadow That of Governor

By Gordon K. Shearer

United Press Staff Correspondent AUSTIN, Texas.—The race for railroad commissioner may overshadow the governor's race in the 1940 democratic primary campaign.

Not only does this race promise to have the greatest number of entrants but the oil and utility issues that are coming to the fore may make it the race that will produce the most political fireworks.

The term to be filled at the next election is the one now held by commission chairman Lon A. Smith. Smith is under treatment at Marlin for a sprained ankle but is expected to launch his campaign for re-election as soon as he can travel with comfort.

Already campaigning for the office is Rep. Ross Hardin of Prairie Hill, twin brother of Sen. Dose Hardin of Waco. Ross will campaign with Ross, and a third campaigner with Ross, and a third brother, Sid Hardin of Edinburg, another former state official who will pitch in and help. Campaign cards suggesting that the voters "put Hardin in the harness" are on display.

Judge Olin Cuiberson, former head of the gas utilities division of the commission also is campaigning actively for the office and making the most of his gas rate reduction successes before he was removed by the commission. Incidentally, state Sen. Clay Cotten of Palestine, who was appointed to succeed Cuiberson, has not yet taken office. He has been ill.

Former State Land Commissioner William H. McDonald has decided to run for railroad commissioner.

Pierce Brooks of Dallas, who was the leading candidate for Lieutenant Governor in the first democratic primary of 1938, also has decided to switch to the railroad commission race.

Sen. Olin R. Van Zandt of Toga will be in the race. Van Zandt has been a close student of utility legislation, so that phase of the commission activities is due a thorough airing in the campaign.

Either house speaker R. E. Morse of Houston or county judge Roy Hofheinz of Harris county is another former state official who seeks to become railroad commissioner. He was adjutant general in Gov. James V. Alford's administration. Larry Mills of Dallas, John Paul Jones of New London, Howell E. Cobb of Brady, Ray Motley of Waxahatchie and J. D. Copeland, now a drug store proprietor in Austin, formerly was an employee of the oil and gas division of the railroad commission.

One of the things that makes the race particularly interesting is the prospect that the entire personnel of the commission may be changed. Commissioners Ernest O. Thompson and Jerry Sadler are candidates for governor. Thompson has not seen fit to deny nor confirm a rumor that he might resign when he opens his campaign, May 1.

Thompson's resignation would give Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel the right to name a commissioner. Whoever O'Daniel appointed would have to become a candidate this year in order to continue in the office after next January. If Thompson did not resign and should not be elected governor he could serve until January 1943.

Sadler does not intend to resign, unless Governor O'Daniel will also resign. Sadler's term will last for four years if he does not become governor.

First Class From Civil Air School Given Its Wings

SAN ANTONIO, Texas.—The first class of army air corps student fliers in the nation to complete the initial phase of training at the recently organized civil air schools was graduated at Kelly field.

This group, known as class 40-A is the largest single class so far graduated from Kelly field since its establishment during the World war in 1917. The class contains 220 pilots.

The class began training last July at the inception of the present air corps expansion program. Of the 220 who will receive their "wings" tomorrow, eight are commissioned officers from other branches of the regular army. Upon graduation, they will be transferred to the air corps. The other 212 are flying cadets who will be commissioned as second lieutenants in the air corps reserve and will be placed on active duty.

Major General Henry N. Arnold, chief of the air corps, is flying from Washington to participate in the graduation exercises. Close formation, 120 combat planes will fly before Major Gen. Arnold and his reviewing party at 9:30 a. m.

Following the aerial review, Maj. Arnold will address the graduating class and its members will receive their diplomas and wings. Thus the first 220 pilots of the two-year program of 2,000 will be supplied to the fighting units of the air corps.

This class of flyers will depart immediately for the third army area in the Southwestern states, where they will take part in the maneuvers just beginning. Every seven weeks since last July a similar class has begun the same course of training at the civil air schools, and every six weeks until June, 1941, a similar class will graduate. During that time upwards of 2,000 student flyers will be undergoing training continuously at the air corps training center at Kelly Field. The present training course consists of nine months training. The first three months are

Malaya Fighting War Saboteurs

By United Press

SINGAPORE—Europe's Nazi-Communist coalition has "infected" Chinese anti-Japanese organizations in the Straits Settlement, with the result these organizations are now carrying on anti-British activities, government officials charge.

Organized originally to collect money for the relief of war refugees in China and to further the boycott of Japanese goods, the Chinese "All-Classes-Anti-Enemy Backing-Up Society" is controlled by the Communist party and is actively concerned in organizing strikes, R. O. W. M. Davis of the criminal intelligence branch of the Malayan police, declared.

The organization, with branches throughout Malaya and claiming a large membership, is seeking to persuade workers to go on strike. One government official declared they are behaving "as if the Nazis were their friends." He said that since the outbreak of war in Europe, the society has become increasingly anti-British, and is attempting "to retard efforts of the country in prosecution of the war."

Two men were sentenced on Feb. 9 to 12 months' imprisonment for participating in illegal organizations. The magistrate, in agency and president of the Top Club, will preside.

sentencing one, said that if the accused had been a British subject he would undoubtedly have been charged with high treason. Many other members of "illegal" organizations have been banished from Malaya, while other cases are pending in court.

During a trial at Ipoh (Perak) it was alleged that the Chinese "Anti-Enemy" organization was engaging in terrorist activities, including cutting off peoples ears, tarring, assaults and public demonstrations.

Recent strikes in Singapore were blamed on these agitators. A few weeks ago, a prominent Chinese, Han Say Hoan, was expelled from Malaya on the grounds that he had been associated with illegal organizations. Han left for Shungking after Gov. Sir Sdentou Thomas pointedly charged that "certain people" were trying to stir up trouble in Malaya, principally through instigating strikes.
