Free Flying Being Offered To Boys Who Can Qualify

All men between the ages of 18 and 25, who have had at least one year of college or junior college work, are eligible for free flight instructions in Ranger, it has been announced by W. T. Walton, president of Ranger Junior College. The instruction in flying is being offered through Ranger Junior College and the Ranger Flying Service. Applications may be filed with Walton at his office in the Recreation Building. Those who are able to qualify can receive this instruction, which normally would cost $450, absolutely free of cost. Those planning on taking the flying courses should make application before noon Saturday. If possible, this offer is not limited to boys living in Ranger, but applications will be received from anyone who has the required college work and who is within the age limits.

Well Completions Show An Increase Over the Nation

HOUSTON, Tex.—Oil well completions in the United States during the period from January 1, 1940, to May 25, 1940, totaled 2,244, or 28 percent more than the 1,753 for the corresponding period in 1939, according to figures just released by The Oil Weekly. Of the new wells of this year, 391 were oil producing wells, 62 were gas wells, and 2,601 were dry holes or failures. Completions during the first 28 days of May were 1,810 oil wells, 10 gas wells, and 516 dry holes. Total oil well drilling rigs running in the United States on June 7, 1940, amounted to 4,327, 96 compared with 3,837 a year ago, an increase of 21.3 percent. Texas led all states with 1,247 rigs, an increase over 1939 but a slight decrease as compared with May 1, 1940.

Kelly Says Million Against Government

DALLAS, June 7.—Raymond J. Kelly, National American Legion Commander, said today that 2,000,000 persons in the United States are working against the government, including more than 400 communists and nazis holding federal jobs. "Why doesn't anti-aircraft fire work life this?" he asked himself as he reloaded his shotgun. "Shooting a plane with single shot or shotgun is like shooting a dove with a rifle." He devoted several months to a study of methods of fire and ordnance design, at an Atlanta gun shop, before making a final design for his proposed weapon. Army officials acknowledged receipt of the plans, and said they would receive careful study. According to Dempsey, the gun would have an effective range of 25,000 to 35,000 feet.

Science Is Urged To Shift Its Work

By United Press
TUCSON, Ariz.—Turning the search for synthetic materials and substitutes "misdirected energy and sensationalism," Dr. D. T. MacDougal of the Carnegie Institution suggests that scientists instead devote themselves to solving the riddle of photosynthesis—the process by which energy is created in plant life. "Once photosynthesis is understood so well as to be capable of duplication in our laboratories, there would be available continuing energy to such amount as to allow us to be totally indifferent to the state of our balance of store deposits of oil and coal," he said. Understanding and duplicating this process by which green leaves utilize sunlight for creation of energy would be of far greater significance than efforts for finding synthetic coal or oil, which, he said, are "misdirected energy and sensationalism." Dr. MacDougal said the study of photosynthesis now was little above a stalemate because of the uncoordinated and piecemeal efforts of scientists. Actually, he said, the green leaf and its latent energy can take care of all the world's possible needs. Dr. MacDougal, who is connected with the Carnegie laboratory at Carmel, Cal., commented that the world was making "poor use" of those things which science already had contributed.

A Giant Shotgun As An Air Weapon Has Five Barrels

By United Press
MACON, Ga.—A Macon stockbroker, who shoots pigeons in his spare time, is awaiting word from Washington concerning an invention which, he says, would damage a flight of enemy warplanes as much as a shotgun blast does a covey of birds. Norbert Dempsey, who served with the field artillery during the World War, has completed plans for a gigantic five-barreled shotgun which he asserts will bore a quarter-mile hole through the atmosphere. The plans have been sent to the War Department. Dempsey said he first conceived the idea while on a hunting trip. "Why doesn't anti-aircraft fire work life this?" he asked himself as he reloaded his shotgun. "Shooting a plane with single shot or shotgun is like shooting a dove with a rifle." He devoted several months to a study of methods of fire and ordnance design, at an Atlanta gun shop, before making a final design for his proposed weapon. Army officials acknowledged receipt of the plans, and said they would receive careful study. According to Dempsey, the gun would have an effective range of 25,000 to 35,000 feet.

Lion and Rotary Captains Begin To Hurl Challenges and Insults As "Game of the Century" Nears

The Ranger Lions Club, which has accepted a challenge of the Ranger Rotary Club to a softball game, to be played next Thursday night at the Ranger Softball Field, has in turn issued a challenge to the Rotarians.

The Lions have challenged the Rotary Club to a ticket selling campaign, and both sides have begun to brag about what they will do to the others, both in selling tickets and on the playing field.

Capt. Elton Jennings of the Lions has already started working on his lineup, which has not been completed, and Capt. L. W. Meador of the Rotarians is also around, asking advice on which players have had the most experience and at which positions they should play. They are both in dead earnest, too.

Already the Lions have accused the Rotarians of making plans to import some "big league" material and to run them into the game under the guise they are "prospective members" of the club, or have made application for membership. The Rotarians, however, have countered that their team will be on the "up-and-up" but that the Lions will have to be watched to see that they don't use any questionable tactics to win the game.

Nothing is at stake except the honor of the two clubs, as there has been no penalty set for the loser. In years gone by the two clubs have played, with the losers to stand in front of a watermelon supper, but usually the games have been argued better than they were played, with both sides claiming to be victors and each club claiming the other owed the watermelon supper.

It looks as though these insults will likely continue, until the game is played at least, and possibly longer. Anyway both sides are keyed up to win, and there may be a ball game at that. At least there should be lots of fun. And sore muscles.

Big Crowd Is Due At Short Course Of A. & M. College

COLLEGE STATION, Tex.—Although the annual Farmers' Short Course on the campus of A. & M. College is still a month distant, indications are that previous attendance records will be broken this summer. Dates for the 4-H Club Short Course are July 8 and 9, while the adult Short Course is scheduled for July 11 and 12.

Expected to be especially outstanding this year is the attendance of an unusually large number of men. This was assured when B. F. Vance, assistant administrative officer in charge of the state AAA office, announced that approximately 750 AAA secretaries and county agricultural conservation committeemen would be present for the Short Course as well as to attend group meetings of their own.

In addition, county land use planning committees are being asked to send two men and one woman from their number, according to Director H. H. Williamson of the A. & M. Extension Service.

Apparently there is no question about the presence of women, for in recent years heavy attendance of home demonstration club women has necessitated assignments of quotas for counties and districts. Attendance figures this year have been placed at 1,002 girls, 187 sponsors and 1,478 women.

Annual meeting of the Texas Home Demonstration Association during the Short Course is expected to draw 740 delegates and officers who will represent the body's membership of 40,000 rural women. Mrs. A. J. Brown, of Nederland, president of the Association, estimates that approximately a thousand women will attend the sessions of the meeting.

Aggregates for both sections of the Short Course are expected to reach nearly 3,000 boys and girls and 2,600 men and women, predicts Roy W. Snyder, extension supervisor of specialists' work, who is general chairman in charge of Short Course arrangements.

U. S. Cruiser On "Good Will Tour"

WASHINGTON, June 7.—The United States heavy naval cruiser Wichita left here today for South America on a "good will tour."

Rotarians Steal March On Lions In Ticket Selling

The Ranger Rotary Club jumped the gun on the Lions Club today on the ticket selling contest in which the two clubs are engaged, by furnishing the Lions with 250 tickets to the softball game between the two clubs, then selling eight members of the Lions club tickets.

Cries of unfair competition were heard from the Lions' headquarters this afternoon when it was found that one committee of two Rotarians had already sold $16.60 worth of tickets to the game, and of the total $5 had been sold to members of the competing Lions club.

Pleas E. Moore and L. W. Meador reported this afternoon that they had sold that amount of tickets to A. J. Ratliff, Hall Walker, C. L. Crews, A. E. Crawley, W. H. Clarke, Saul Perstein, Lee Dockrey and Cy Perkins.

"Men, too, will have to be content with some half dozen shades of brown, blues and grays. The dyeing section of the Yorkshire woolen industry considers this reduction in colors necessary to offset the tremendous war demand for khaki, air force blue and navy blue. They are concentrating on the lighter shades for spring. West End dressmakers approve of the idea. They consider women have become color conscious with the present multitudinous choices, and that equally good effects can be obtained with a smaller range.

Color Shades Cut To 12 In Britain

LONDON.—Women will spend much less time this year matching colorful patterns for the reason they will have only 12 shades to choose from.

U. S. SENDING OLD SUPPLIES TO THE ALLIES

WASHINGTON, June 7.—Surplus United States war supplies being made available to the Allies include several hundred army and navy airplanes, 1,000 old cannon and 600,000 British-made rifles of the World War, the United Press learned today.

The equipment is being "traded in" by the army to manufacturers for later models, and can be resold to the Allies.

About 90 navy planes, some only a year old, were being collected at Buffalo, N. Y., for transfer to Canada. It was expected that Canadian aviators might fly them direct to England.

Opposition to the plan was developing in congress, and some members called it a step toward war.

Advisory Group To Aid Legislature Is Being Urged

AUSTIN—Proposal for the Texas State Bar Association to appoint an advisory committee to assist the state legislature in drafting laws was made during the week at a meeting of the legislative committee of the association. It was sponsored by Robert Calvert of Hillsboro, former speaker of the house of representatives.

As speaker, Calvert became familiar with the difficulties that meet legislators in enacting laws that will be sustained by courts. In the rough and tumble of legislative contests bills are amended, frequently, in such a way that the measure cannot be enforced after it is passed. There have been occasions when seemingly innocent phrases were inserted and later found to be jokers frustrating the purpose of the legislation.

Most legislators ask a member of the attorney general's office to draft bills they propose to offer. As it is usual for a session to have more than 2,000 bills offered, all the attorneys can do is see that the proper enacting clauses are provided. What happens to the bills during the course of the session may change them entirely.

At one time the senate employed an attorney to draft bills and follow them through their course. It is also customary for interests seeking laws to hire attorneys to prepare them and submit them to one or more members of the legislature for presentation.

Alameda To Open Mattress Program Tuesday, June 11

The mattress making program for Eastland County will start Tuesday, June 11th. The first center will be opened at Alameda at nine a. m. Tuesday, June 11 with the following committee in charge: Mrs. John Love, chairman; Mrs. S. R. Rodgers, Mrs. W. E. Calvert, Mr. L. C. Cooksey and Mr. R. H. Redwine. Seventy-two applications have been approved for this community to date.

Cotton has been delivered to Alameda and the following communities where work centers will be opened within the next two weeks: Romey, Rising Star, Sabanno, Kokomo, Morton Valley, Cross Roads, Flatwood, Staff and Bluff Branch. Two other centers will be opened along with these. Only 12 centers can be in operation at any one time. Then mattresses have been completed in the above centers, they will be closed and others opened in other parts of the county. Families interested in a center for their community should write Ruth Ramey, Eastland, for information on establishing a work center.

Are you eligible to make application for mattress in this program? If you are eligible and have not made application, do so at once. June 15 is the dead line for getting the applications in. This program is for "low income" bona fide farm families, that is, families who make $400 or less gross cash income, part of which is derived from the farm. Help get this information to your neighbors.

Meter Robbers Are Caught By Police

SAN ANTONIO, Tex.—Homer Pyle, parking meter mechanic, and Police Captain Emil Scheffler undertook to catch the persons who had tampered with meters on Lozoya and College streets.

Several nickels were marked and placed in the meters in question while Pyle and Scheffler stood watch on either street. The plunderers appeared, opened the meters with a paring knife and were nabbed and searched. The marked nickels were found in their pockets.

Training Field Is Being Constructed

FORT WORTH, June 7.—A $250,000 construction program, to make a primary air training base here at Hicks Field, used during the World War, was announced today and the first class of 130 cadets will begin schooling here late next month.

TRIPLING OF NAZI DRIVE OF LITTLE EFFECT

Washington, June 7.—The battle of Northern France continued unabated today with Germans claiming general advances and the French saying their lines were holding, despite a tripling of the force of the Nazi drive.

London sources praised the French stand and declared that no gaps had appeared yet in the French line.

British aircraft constantly bombed behind the German lines, and it was estimated that 2,500 German tanks have been destroyed since the start of the Belgian invasion.

The Germans admitted "stubborn French resistance, but said their troops were moving forward and that the Nazi aircraft were bombing the French and British airfields as well as the great French port of Cherbourg.

A Paris spokesman said the Nazis had not tripled the number of their troops in the line, but were striking three times as hard as before.

Italy's stand drew further interest when Rome ordered all Italian ships on the high seas to put immediately into neutral ports.

Rome claimed that former Ethiopian Emperor Haile Selassie had raised an army to fight for the British in Africa, but London said that Selassie still was in England.

Many observers believed an African border clash might precede Italy's entrance into the war beside Germany, and children were being evacuated from Alexandria, Egypt.

Courage Is Not Enough

Write it in large letters—courage is not enough. The days are past when the United States could afford to listen to a Bryan with his confidence that, when they were needed, "a million men would leap to arms overnight."

"What arms?" asks the American of 1940, his eyes apprehensively on Europe, and especially on the countries which trusted in non-aggression pacts, in meticulous neutrality, in patriotic spirit.

In the days when the United States rebelled against the British crown, "embalmed farmers" could crouch behind the stone fences of Concord with muskets hastily snatched from above the fireplace, secure in confidence that they were not conspicuously worse armed than the British regulars.

"That is over. All men skilled in military affairs have known it for years. Now it is written across the face of Norway, and Holland, and Poland for all to read: "Courage is not enough."

The British should have had their lesson in 1915, when the great Kitchener felt sure that two machine guns to a battalion were "more than sufficient," and that the tank was "a pretty mechanical toy." Yet they have allowed Germany to outbuild them in planes and mechanized equipment.

At last the Garand rifle is being delivered in slow dribbles, replacing the 1903 Springfield. The air forces have not been neglected, yet were it not for European orders, the rate of production would still be very slow. Pilot-training, almost more important than plane-building, lags. There is no anti-aircraft artillery worth the name, and virtually no munitions industry.

All this is no cause for hysteria, but for sober thought, careful planning, and wise foresight.

We need to calculate carefully just what our military needs are to defend this country from any likely attack, and then supply them promptly and effectively.

For whatever heroic deeds may have been performed in the past by ill-armed and under-equipped patriots, it is perfectly plain that today courage is not enough.

As a means of signifying enjoyment of food, Arab etiquette requires the dinner guest to smack his lips. It follows that if he didn't enjoy the meal, he will smack the host.

It isn't the mounting war taxes that bothers the folks on the home front so much. It's the low cost of government to result in about 50 years when there won't be any claimants around for old age pensions.

Out in the fields, the wild flowers are beginning to bloom. And what makes them wild, no doubt, is the way the last group of picnickers drenched them in catsup and pickle juice.

"War Pilot" Might Mean Much More After Present War

FORT WORTH, Tex.—Maj. B. S. Graham, air corps reserve, predicts that the suffix "war pilot" will mean more after a flier's name in the future if the United States ever sends its airmen to battle an enemy.

"If the United States enters the present war," said Major Graham, "The expression 'he's a good aviator, he was a war pilot' will mean much more than it did after the first World War."

"I went into action in the last war with the 12th Aero Squadron with just 65 hours' training. Today, a student is just ready to learn what flying is about when he has 65 hours."

Major Graham estimated that current American aircraft production is about 7,000 planes a year. He is associated here with the Bennett Aircraft Corporation, which will begin this summer building a medium-sized monoplane by a plastic plywood process adaptable to "assembly line" production methods. The Bennett airplane is suitable for military use as a light bomber or transport, Major Graham said.

American aircraft is superior to any in the world, the Major added, except in one respect. Germans can install new motors in their fighting planes in 12 minutes, an operation that requires eight hours under present methods in the United States.

The government is training new pilots at the rate of 2,500 a year, he said, and under the new Civil Aeronautics Authority program he predicted that pilots can be turned out within three years as fast as planes can be manufactured for them. The complexity of new aircraft requires the best of pilots, he said.

Major Graham said that the latest ships have speeds up to 420 miles an hour, a factor that also requires well-trained gunners, when missions must be accomplished in the space of a few seconds.

The speed of two huge bombers that the army now is building has not been disclosed, the airman said, but they have a cruising range of 9,000 miles, a wingspread of 212 feet, rudders as tall as a three story building, and could carry 350 persons although the normal crew will be 25 men and a load of bombs.

"These planes surely can shrink the oceans," he said.

The present European war and U. S. Army maneuvers are "teaching us many things," he added. One lesson learned is that the large bombers present a serious problem in landing, because of their size and speed.

Courage Is Not Enough

Write it in large letters—courage is not enough. The days are past when the United States could afford to listen to a Bryan with his confidence that, when they were needed, "a million men would leap to arms overnight."

"What arms?" asks the American of 1940, his eyes apprehensively on Europe, and especially on the countries which trusted in non-aggression pacts, in meticulous neutrality, in patriotic spirit.

In the days when the United States rebelled against the British crown, "embattled farmers" could crouch behind the stone fences of Concord with muskets hastily snatched from above the fireplace, secure in confidence that they were not conspicuously worse armed than the British regulars.

That is over. All men skilled in military affairs have known it for years. Now it is written across the face of Norway, and Holland, and Poland for all to read: "Courage is not enough."

The British should have had their lesson in 1915, when the great Kitchener felt sure that two machine guns to a battalion were "more than sufficient," and that the tank was "a pretty mechanical toy." Yet they have allowed Germany to outbuild them in planes and mechanized equipment.

At last the Garand rifle is being delivered in slow dribbles, replacing the 1903 Springfield. The air forces have not been neglected, yet were not for European orders, the rate of production would still be very slow. Pilot-training, almost more important than plane-building, lags. There is no anti-aircraft artillery worth the name, and virtually no munitions industry.

All this is no cause for hysteria, but for sober thought, careful planning, and wise foresight.

We need to calculate carefully just what our military needs are to defend this country from any likely attack, and then supply them promptly and effectively.

For whatever heroic deeds may have been performed in the past by ill-armed and under-equipped patriots, it is perfectly plain that today courage is not enough.

As a means of signifying enjoyment of food, Arab etiquette requires the dinner guest to smack his lips. It follows that if he didn't enjoy the meal, he will smack the host.

It isn't the mounting war taxes that bothers the folks on the home front so much. It's the low cost of government to result in about 50 years when there won't be any claimants around for old age pensions.

Out in the fields, the wild flowers are beginning to bloom. And what makes them wild, no doubt, is the way the last group of picnickers drenched them in catsup and pickle juice.

"War Pilot" Might Mean Much More After Present War

FORT WORTH, Tex.—Maj. B. S. Graham, air corps reserve, predicts that the suffix "war pilot" will mean more after a flier's name in the future if the United States ever sends its airmen to battle an enemy.

"If the United States enters the present war," said Major Graham, "The expression 'he's a good aviator, he was a war pilot' will mean much more than it did after the first World War."

"I went into action in the last war with the 12th Aero Squadron with just 65 hours' training. Today, a student is just ready to learn what flying is about when he has 65 hours."

Major Graham estimated that current American aircraft production is about 7,000 planes a year. He is associated here with the Bennett Aircraft Corporation, which will begin this summer building a medium-sized monoplane by a plastic plywood process adaptable to "assembly line" production methods. The Bennett airplane is suitable for military use as a light bomber or transport, Mayor Graham said.

American aircraft is superior to any in the world, the Major added, except in one respect. Germans can install new motors in their fighting planes in 12 minutes, an operation that requires eight hours under present methods in the United States.

The government is training new pilots at the rate of 2,500 a year, he said, and under the new Civil Aeronautics Authority program he predicted that pilots can be turned out within three years as fast as planes can be manufactured for them. The complexity of new aircraft requires the best of pilots, he said.

Major Graham said that the latest ships have speeds up to 420 miles an hour, a factor that also requires well-trained gunners when missions must be accomplished in the space of a few seconds.

The speed of two huge bombers that the army now is building has not been disclosed, the airman said, but they have a cruising range of 9,000 miles, a wingspan of 212 feet, rudders as tall as a three story building, and could carry 350 persons although the normal crew will be 25 men and a load of bombs.

"These planes surely can shrink the oceans," he said. The present European war and U. S. Army maneuvers are "teaching us many things," he added. One lesson learned is that the large bombers present a serious problem in landing, because of their size and speed.

U. of T. Club Sends Funds To Refugees

AUSTIN, Tex.—The entire bank account—$500—of a University of Texas club has been sent to aid French refugees.

During the past two years the club—Alliance Francaise—has shown here more than a dozen French-produced motion pictures. All profits from the sale of tickets have been sent to France to aid French fugitives from der Fuehrer's war machine.

This group, headed by Dr. Aaron Schaffer, University French professor, is composed of about 40 graduate students, faculty members and town people interested in French language and culture.

More Jobs Are Due For The Graduates

Dr. James C. DeVoss, head of the personnel and psychology department holds that students graduating this year will have the best chance in the past 10 years to land a job quickly.

Dr. William Postress, director of the social science department, believes this year's crop of college graduates will be most likely to find jobs in the technical lines.
