New "Clean State Politics" Bill Is Signed Saturday

WASHINGTON, July 20.—President Roosevelt today signed the Hatch "clean state politics" bill, curbing pernicious political activity by some 250,000 state and federal workers paid from Federal funds and imposing drastic limitations on national campaign expenditures.

The measure becomes effective immediately. In signing it, Mr. Roosevelt wrote "fits" to the most hard-fought congressional battle of the year, which found many administration leaders voting against it although it had the president's approval.

The bill is an amendment to the original Hatch bill barring Federal employees from political activity. It provides:

1. A prohibition against political activity on the part of state and local employees paid in whole or in part with Federal funds.

2. A limitation of $3,000,000 on annual expenditures of any political committee, including the Republican and Democratic national committees. The Republican national committee spent $8,000,000 during the 1936 campaign and the Democratic national committee $6,000,000.

3. A limitation of $5,000 on the amount any person or organization may contribute to national committees for campaign purposes.

4. A ban on the purchase of goods, commodities or advertising when the funds go for political purposes. This prohibits such holding agencies as the Democratic campaign books, which for several years have raised a considerable proportion of Democratic national committee funds, whether the language is broad enough to outlaw political dinners, such as the Jackson and Lincoln dinners, was not discussed in the debates.

The provisions of the bill are to be administered by the Civil Service Commission. Persons accused of "pernicious political activity" are allowed to take their case to court but are not guaranteed a jury trial.

Driving Courses Are Due In Schools

AUSTIN, Tex., July 20.—Texas junior high schools next fall will begin regular courses in driving, the State Highway Department announced today at the close of a week-long conference on traffic engineering at the University of Texas.

R. B. Rice, supervisor of traffic education, said the course, first of its kind in Texas, would offer full scholastic credit.

Closing speaker in the southwest's first traffic engineering conference was Dr. D. B. Klein, university psychologist, who noted a trend toward accident prevention through driver courtesy rather than a "fear of speed cops."

Hailing the appearance of "country-club manners" among Texas drivers, Dr. Klein noted the passing of the "smiling, red-faced, bellowing traffic bull," and a corresponding improvement in drivers' attitudes.

"Like the self-assertive pupil, the belligerent motorist used to take to the highway with a 'how-much-can-I-get-away-with' attitude, while his opponent, the traffic officer, like the stern, old-fashioned teacher, pursued him with a 'give-as-many-tickets-as-you-can' resolve," Dr. Klein said.

District Meet of Church Planned

Game Commission Head Retaliates

AUSTIN, Texas, July 20.—Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel and his family made numerous uses of state facilities for private benefit, Chairman A. E. Wood, of the game, fish and oyster commission had revealed today in a radio retort to the governor's charge that the game body was a "millionaire sportsman's club."

Chairman Wood in a radio broadcast last night charged Gov. O'Daniel had failed to cooperate with the department in its work and vetoed appropriations for game wardens, 400 such men.

In addition to citing instances of use of state owned boats by sons Pat and Mike for fishing and recreational purposes, Woods declared:

"W. Lee O'Daniel came into the governor's race two years ago to advertise his own flour business. He used his inauguration, the governor's office, and the governor's mansion for that purpose.

"He used the University of Texas to transcribe records for his personal use in a radio station in the Republic of Mexico.

"He used two state-owned automobiles, driven by state employees of the highway patrol, to convey himself and family over Central Texas to attend church services. He knew that state cars were frequently used by his sons on trips from Fort Worth to Austin and return."

"I called upon the governor last August to assist the department when stagnant waters caused heavy fish mortality in the Upper Laguna Madre. My written appeal was accompanied by photographs. He never replied to that communication and yet this week's issue of the O'Daniel News prints a picture of last summer's fish loss in the Laguna and berates the Commission for negligence. Again he is trying to conceal his own neglect by casting blame on a department that had done its duty more conscientiously than his own governor," Wood said.

Fort Worth Men Are Injured in a Wreck

Three Fort Worth men were painfully injured Friday afternoon when the car in which they were riding struck a concrete bridge railing in the eastern outskirts of Ranger.

At the City-County Hospital, where they were given medical treatment, it was said that W. V. Wingo, who sustained cuts on his arm and face, and Bert Bellew, who had a cut lip and scratched legs, had been released after treatment. B. W. Stewart, who received bad cuts about the face and a fractured forehead, was still in the hospital Saturday afternoon.

GROCERYMEN TO CONFER ON STAMP PLAN

If you are in the grocery business in Eastland county you are invited and urged to meet others similarly engaged in the county at the Eastland Chamber of Commerce offices at Eastland at 2:30 p. m. Monday, July 22.

This call was issued Saturday morning by H. J. Tanner, secretary of the Eastland Chamber of Commerce and is for the purpose of bringing the grocerymen together for a conference with a representative of the Federal Surplus Commodity Corporation who will be in Eastland at that time and for that purpose.

County Judge Adamson and his commissioners and the Eastland Chamber of Commerce officials in cooperation with other interested parties in the county, have been working for some months in an effort to get the Federal Surplus Food Stamp plan set up in Eastland county.

Secretary Tanner of the Eastland Chamber of Commerce has made a thorough study of the plan and watched its working in other counties, estimates that it will mean at least $20,000 new money per month that will be spent with the grocerymen of Eastland county if it is put into use in this county.

Tanner states that both United States Senators Tom Connally and Morris Sheppard and Congressman C. L. Garrett from this district and County Auditor Don Parker have been co-operating with those of Eastland county who are endeavoring to put this plan into action here.

Farmer Willkie

Collie Invited To Meeting In Washington, D. C.

WASHINGTON, July 20.—President Roosevelt signed the $4,000,000,000 naval expansion bill today, setting into motion a program to give the United States a formidable two-ocean fleet larger than the present combined sea power of Japan, Italy, Germany and Russia.

The bill authorizes a 70 per cent, 200-ship increase in the navy's fighting tonnage, over and above ships now afloat, authorized or building. When completed in 1946, the program would give the navy an estimated total of 701 warships—35 battleships, 20 aircraft carriers, 88 cruisers, 378 destroyers and 180 submarines.

Funds for starting the shipbuilding authorized by the bill are contained in the president's pending request for $4,848,000,000 for total defense. That measure will be acted on when congress reconvenes after the democratic national convention.

Besides the 1,325,000 tons of new fighting ships, the expansion bill authorizes an increase in the navy's air strength from 4,000 planes to a maximum of 15,000. It also provides for 100,000 tons of new auxiliary ships in various categories.

The measure is the second naval expansion authorization approved by congress. Previously, it voted an 11 per cent overall increase in fighting tonnage.

The 70 per cent bill authorizes 1,325,000 tons of combatant ships, which with the 11 per cent measure and previous authorizations, together with the tonnage of vessels now afloat, would give the United States 3,049,480 tons. Japan, Italy, Germany and Russia now have about 2,600,000 tons in all, built or building.

Construction authorized under the new bill includes: 385,000 tons of battleships, or about eight 45,000-tonners; 200,000 tons of aircraft carriers, about 10 in all; 240,000 tons of destroyers; 70,000 tons of submarines; 420,000 tons of cruisers.

The measure also authorizes appropriation of $65,000,000 for expansion and construction of gun factories, $35,000,000 for expansion of armor plate production and $50,000,000 for the procurement of a fleet of torpedo and patrol vessels.

A provision of the bill prevents any sale of U. S. war vessels to a foreign power without the express consent of congress. The scrapping of any vessels without congressional approval also is forbidden by the measure.

Ranger Banker On A Committee for State Association

Hall Walker, vice president of the Commercial State Bank of Ranger, has been appointed on the committee on constitution and by-laws of the Texas Bankers Association. Walker's notification of his appointment was contained in a letter from W. A. Philpot, Jr., secretary of the association, which reads as follows:

"You have been appointed by President Naier and his executive committee as a member of the Committee on Constitution and By-Laws of the Texas Bankers Association during 1940-41. F. F. Florence, President, Republic National Bank, Dallas, has been asked to serve as chairman of this committee.

"The work of this committee is important and we hope you will honor President Naier by accepting this assignment. With such sound bankers, as you making up the personnel of our standing committees, the achievements of Mr. Naier's administration is made certain."

NAZI BOMBERS DRIVEN AWAY FROM ENGLAND

By DAN CAMPBELL
United Press Staff Correspondent
LONDON, July 20.—German bombing planes struck at the British Isles and launched a lightning attack on South England harbor today as a grim reminder of Adolf Hitler's demand for submission or destruction.

Seventeen Nazi planes, apparently Dorniers, escorted by Messerschmitt fighting craft, smashed in blitzkrieg fashion at ships anchored in the harbor this afternoon.

A number of bombs were dropped inside the harbor but dispatches said that it did not appear that any of the ships suffered direct hits.

One German plane was reported shot down over the English Channel in a counter-attack by British fighting craft, making two Nazi planes brought down during the day.

The raiding planes first flew over the coast, then whirled and dive-bombed the harbor.

They met a fierce barrage from anti-aircraft guns which broke up the attack and drove them off.

British fighters joined in and engaged the bombers, one of which dived almost to the rooftops to evade three British Spitfire planes. Then it swerved out to sea, where the Spitfires caught it again. The bomber was reported to have plunged into the sea.

Bombers, Stuka dive bombers and fighters attacked shipping and land objectives.

The Air and Home Security ministries reported that bombs had been southeast and southwest Scotland and northeast, southeast and southwest England in the latest raids, and that one German plane had been shot down by a British fighter.

It was asserted that 10 German planes, four bombers and six Messerschmitt fighters had been shot yesterday when more than 150 German planes were engaged by British fighters in two air battles, and other German planes ranged the country.

Five British planes were lost.

Escaped Convict Is Captured by Missouri Police

ATCHISON, Kans., July 20.—Ivan Sullivan, one of the three desperadoes who escaped from the Iowa State prison last month, was captured three miles east of here on a Missouri highway today.

Missouri state troopers made the arrest. They said Sullivan, who had eluded capture late yesterday at Marysville, and again here early today, offered no resistance.

Troopers A. T. McClard and Miller Asbury saw Sullivan standing at the side of U. S. Highway 59. As they drove up he surrendered and they started to Kansas City with him.

Earlier Sullivan had tried to drive a stolen car over a railroad bridge here, but was forced to abandon the car. He fled back to the Kansas side. Officers Otis Dierking fired at him with a riot gun, but Sullivan slipped away in the darkness. He apparently doubled back to the bridge and crossed the Missouri river unnoticed.

Sullivan, Lowell Haenze and Forrest Estes escaped from the Fort Madison prison by cutting through an electrified fence. Yesterday Haenze was wounded and captured at Marysville, Kans., after he and his companions had robbed a bank at Diller, Neb. His companion, whom he refused to identify, escaped.

The card abandoned here was stolen from Francis Messick, a farmer near Marysville. Messick was put out of the car last night near Westmoreland, Kans. Mud had been smeared on the license plates to obscure the numbers.

O. F. Chastain Is Recovering From Accident Injuries

O. F. Chastain, Eastland candidate for county judge, who was injured in a car accident near Rising Star last Friday, was reported by members of his family Saturday as resting well.

It was stated that he sustained no broken bones and no permanent injuries and that his complete recovery was only a matter of a few days.

He was removed from the hospital at Rising Star to his home in Eastland.

BIG NAVAL EXPANSION APPROPRIATION SIGNED TODAY BY PRESIDENT

Mexico Chooses

Mexico votes, and several scores of people lie dead and wounded.

"Shocking!" say the thin-skinned, conveniently forgetting the 10 dead and 100 wounded who lay on the ground in Chicago on Memorial Day, 1937, when the United States also had failed to adjust a controversy without violence.

It is not to be denied that the Mexican election was a violent and rowdy affair, falling far short of textbook democracy. The votes are yet to be counted. It remains to be seen whether the candidates and their followers will abide by the announced result. Probably until September there will be more or less disorder in the southern republic.

But initial shock at this rough-and-tumble election ought not to blind us to something very significant.

That is the fact that nearly five million people are believed to have voted. No such widespread expression of the popular will has been seen in Mexico for many years. Whether that is now to be translated into an orderly change of administration remains to be seen. But there seems now an excellent chance of it.

So President Cardenas deliberately permitted not only greater latitude in campaigning than an opposition party has had in Mexico in 20 years, but deliberately held back military domination of the election though it was clear that there would be considerable disorder.

Remains now to be seen whether the defeated candidate will abide by the announced decision. Already there are charges that the election, for one reason and another, was not fairly conducted. There have been such charges, and with excellent reason, even in Kansas City and Philadelphia.

When the count is completed, the test will come. It is not only necessary to have elections. It is necessary that they be fair, and that the defeated as well as the victors abide by the result.

If Mexico can achieve this, the whole western world will have reason to be proud. From Hudson Bay to Patagonia millions of eyes are on Mexico, and in them are mingled anxiety and hope.

Police Can't Agree On Leisure Garb

FORT WORTH, Texas.—As usual, the officials of Fort Worth and Dallas cannot agree—even on the matter of whether policemen should wear slack suits when off duty.

The Dallas chief took exception to the wearing of the be-muscled officers of shirt-tails-out sports clothes and open-toed sandals. Such a man, if wearing a gun, "would virtually have to disrobe to bring it out in an emergency," said Chief Welch.

Next day in Fort Worth, there was only approval when patrolman Russell Groves, on vacation, came to the headquarters station attired in a pea-green slack suit. The city's 208 policemen wear the regulation uniforms when on duty, but a survey disclosed that they go in for fancy garb during their leisure hours—for sport shirts, ascot ties, and lattice-work sandals.

Even the detectives, nicknamed "plainsclothesmen," chuckled at the Dallas edict. The "plainsclothesmen" here like to wear pastel shirts and flamboyant neckties.

Dies Is Probing Communism In Ranks of Teachers

By United Press

BEAUMONT, Texas, July 20.—Chairman Martin Dies of the House Committee Investigating Un-American Activities turned his attention today from German-American fund activities in Texas to alleged communist activity through the state's school system.

An authoritative source said that he had obtained the names of several college professors and school teachers suspected of communist party membership and that that he would investigate their activity among public school students.

The names were said to have been a part of the minutes of a communist meeting turned over to Dies by Sheriff Chris Fox of El Paso.

Earlier Dies heard George Bertholon of Los Angeles, Calif., who said he was a former college communist leader, describe activities of the party of Los Angeles Junior College.

Bertholon said the communist controlled several west coast young democrat clubs. He testified also that white girl members of the party were required to attend social gatherings at which they were forced to dance with negroes or "be disciplined." He said morals among the young party members were "loose."

British Knockout Italian Tanks In African Conflict

ON THE EGYPTIAN-LIBYAN FRONTIER, July 17 (By courier to Cairo).—Crack mechanized British cavalry knocked out 11 Italian tanks at dawn today as they tried to break through a ring of fire to take food, water, ammunition and supplies to 1,000 Italians besieged in wrecked Fort Capuzzo.

Pursuing their tactics in a merciless eight-day siege, the British armored units had pounced on the remnants of a big Italian convoy which had previously been attacked by artillery.

The British overran seven Italian guns and captured 12 gunners. They walked the gunners back into Egypt, ahead of the British tanks, under a rain of fire from Italian artillery and machine guns.

I talked to the prisoners. They seemed happy enough but they said they were gunners escorting the truck convoy, and hence knew nothing of conditions in the fort.

They said that crack non-African Italian units were being used for the Fort Capuzzo operations.

Today's operation, I am informed, brings the total of Italian trucks destroyed to 50 in this sector and the number of Italian prisoners to 700 at the cost of 127 British casualties in killed and wounded.

Fires Rage Through Idaho Range Land

BOISE, Idaho, July 20.—Fire today raged out of control over 18,000 square miles of range land and 2,000 acres of timber north of here. Already it had caused the death of a CCC enrollee, destroyed 100 cattle and burned crops on more than 50 farms.

Riding a high wind, the flames entrapped Joseph Galozzo, CCC member from Ohio. Earle Templeton, superintendent of the 500 fire-fighters, went back through the hot ashes to recover his body.

At least four homes were destroyed and the fire raged through Boise's new recreational center at Bogus Basin.

U. S. Forest Service authorities closed off all roads into the area to aid movement of men and supplies.

Border Patrol Is Being Increased

By United Press

EL PASO, July 20.—The U. S. Immigration Border Patrol which will be doubled from its present strength of 800 men to 1,600 within eight months, will make the Canadian and Mexican borders "practically air tight" as far as smuggling of aliens and fifth columnists is concerned, Col. Hubert C. Horsley, Chief Inspector of the patrol, said today.

Colonel Horsley said that the first batch of 100 new patrolmen being trained at the school here soon would be "graduated." The school is training the 800 additional patrolmen at the rate of 100 a month.

Snow Unearthed In 90-Degree Weather

ROCHESTER, N. Y., July 20.—Snow was found in Rochester yesterday while the thermometer was registering 90 degrees.

A steam shovel hit into a cinder pile, exposing a white surface. A perspiring workman examined it.

"Holy smokes!" he yelled. "It's snow!"

National Guard Gets $2,000,000 Annually

By United Press

EL PASO, Texas, July 20.—The Texas National Guard is receiving approximately $2,000,000 annually from the Federal Government for pay and equipment for its 10,000 members. L. F. C. Quinn of Company H, 141st Texas Infantry, told the El Paso Optimist Club yesterday.

Quinn reported that employers of members of the National Guard were "showing a fine spirit of cooperation by letting the men off" for training maneuvers.

and Electric Company recalled they had dumped the cinders last winter when the snow was a foot deep. The hard-packed cinders had insulated the snow.

Big Spring Girl Refuses To Quit Despite Handicaps

By United Press

EL PASO.—Pretty Dorothy Dublin refuses to call it quits.

The 23-year-old Big Spring bank teller, who less than a year ago was rushed to Southwestern General hospital here from her home in a dying condition from infantile paralysis, is overcoming her fourth serious ailment in that time, friends reported Monday.

Early last winter, Miss Dublin was brought to the El Paso hospital where she was placed in an iron lung. In a few months she was removed from it apparently on the road to recovery.

She was just beginning to walk, with the aid of a brace, when a serious kidney ailment hit her two, but she rallied and recovered from it, even after doctors had given up hope for her.

Then Miss Dublin developed pneumonia, but she beat that.

Now, she is in Lubbock sanatorium, recovering from an operation for the removal of a kidney stone. Friends here said her father, Charles Dublin, had reported her condition as "excellent."

Army Man States 30-Day Troops Are Well Trained Now

By United Press

AYER, Mass.—Streamline army training methods now can turn out a soldier in a month—completely trained as a Garand rifleman—according to Col. Harold R. Duffie in charge of the Corps Area Service Command of Fort Devens.

"We are virtually convinced by work here that it is practical to take a raw recruit and make a soldier out of him in a month where previously it required three months," he said.

Col. Duffie admitted that such training would not include such specialties as machine-gun operating, since such a soldier "must be almost a specialized mechanic."

Municipal Taxes Low In Washington

By United Press

OLYMPIA, Wash.—City taxes in Washington are nothing if not varied—ranging all the way from 45 mills down to no levy at all.

The little town of Milton, a suburb of Tacoma, got through the year without having to levy any 1940 taxes at all for municipal purposes, realizing enough revenue from state liquor funds and other money to obviate a property tax levy.

POLLY HEMSLEY reveals how he first curbed and then cured Feb Feller's wildness with the simplest of pitching suggestions. When the now famous battery mates—the kid and the veteran—first were brought together on a barnstorming tour in the fall of 1937, Hemsley immediately noticed that Feller looked at the ground before pitching.

"Keep your eye on the target, Feb. Never take it off," Hemsley told the youngster. "With your stuff all you have to do is get the ball over the plate. Just try to hit my glove."

The two have practically been playing catch ever since.

It was the pitching knowledge of the then 19-year-old Feller absorbed on that barnstorming trip that led him to tell Cyril C. Slapnicka that Hemsley was the best catcher to whom he had ever pitched, and to suggest the Cleveland club make a deal for the one-time coal miner.

FELLER'S influence had as much to do with Hemsley's reformations as any other one thing. The faith which the upstart farm boy showed in Hemsley did what abuse and neglect couldn't do in Pittsburgh, Chicago, Cincinnati and St. Louis.

Hemsley, proud of having had a hand in the development of Feller, speaks of the strikeout king with the pride of a parent.

"He's as fine a boy as the pitcher," beams the 33-year-old backstop. "And he's going to be an even better pitcher."

It is difficult to imagine Feller much more formidable than he is, but Hemsley points out that Feller has yet to develop any thing like a slider or knuckle ball.

HEMSLEY has been out with a bruise on the butt of his left hand. It was not caused by Feller's cannon balls, as you might suspect, but is the result of the Old Hollicker falling over Jimmy Fox in going to first base.

Hemsley, who until he straightened out didn't care if he ever caught, is now trying to catch with the hand in a leather cast.

That is how proud Holly Hemsley is of being the battery mate of and the man to whom baseball's greatest pitcher listens for pitching advice.

ECONOMY need not be without its relish. Now that the makings for pickles are abundant, a well-planned kitchen economy suggests that you put up a few jars of those pickles and relishes which belong in every American pantry. The recipes given below were worked out by a woman born in the south who now lives in the north. She says they taste just as good one place as another and are very inexpensive to make.

BEEF RELISH
Two cups chopped peeled beets, 2 cups chopped celery, 1 cup chopped onion, 1 cup chopped sweet red pepper, 2 cups chopped cabbage, 1/2 cup sugar, 2 cups vinegar, 2 tablespoons salt, 3 tablespoons mustard seed, 1 tablespoon celery seed.
Mix all vegetables and seeds. Add liquid. Cook until tender. Pour into hot sterilized glass jars and seal at once. Approximate yield: 3 quarts.

RHODE ISLAND RELISH
One pint (2 1/2 lbs.) ripe tomatoes, 1/2 cup chopped onions, 1 cup chopped celery, 3 tablespoons chopped green pepper, 6 tablespoons sugar, 2 teaspoons salt, 1 tablespoon mustard seed, 1/2 cup white vinegar.
Peel tomatoes and chop coarsely. Drain. Add other ingredients, stirring well and mix. Turn into hot, sterilized containers and seal. Serve only after the relish has stood for at least 24 hours. Yield: 1 1/2 pints.

PICKLED STRING BEANS
Select tender beans without strings, if possible. Keep beans full length but snip off ends and remove any strings. Soak beans overnight in enough brine to cover. To make brine, add 1/4 cup salt to every quart of water. Drain, rinse in cold water and dry on clean cloth.
Pack in hot sterilized jars, adding a few bits of chili pepper, mustard and celery seed. For each quart jar, allow 3 cups vinegar, 1/2 cup firmly packed brown sugar and small piece of horseradish root. Heat vinegar, sugar and horseradish to boiling point and fill each jar to overflowing. Seal at once. Allow about 1 1/2 lbs. beans to each quart jar.

SERIAL STORY

FLYING CO-ED

BY MARY KINNAVEY MOORE

COPYRIGHT, 1940, NEA SERVICE, INC.

YESTERDAY, Anne takes her first flying lesson. Patricia and Dorothy, Dick, explain to her the mechanics of flying a plane. Anne is nervous, but she manages to get the plane off the ground.

CHAPTER VI

There was laughter and the sound of gay voices in the brightly lighted dining room of one of the city's exclusive clubs. The general air was one of secure and contented dignity.

But it was not a comfortable atmosphere for Tony Scott, dining with Anne Norris. He reminded himself furiously that this was just the first of the things he had to do to get through his marriage with her. He was here now, at her request, but he didn't like it. He had an uncomfortable feeling that people were staring at him and whispering. He'd show them someday, when he promised himself. Someday, when he was Anne's husband.

"Tony, I just can't see you again for a while." He lifted an eyebrow. "I see. Why sorry, Anne, I'd had an idea I was important to you. I guess I was wrong."

"Of course, you're important to me. Don't you see, Tony? I've promised your uncle—my guardian—wouldn't see you again until the end of the summer. He's got to go to college in June. Having dinner with you tonight is the last thing I'll do until then. I had to see you before—after school classes—before—"

"She lifted her hands in a lovely gesture. "This was another of those times, he told himself, when he was going to agree would win him some later, later that very evening. In fact, when Anne had suggested they dine at her uncle's club, he had readily assented—because he had his own plans for the evening. He wouldn't want you to go against your guardian's wishes," she told her. With a sudden smile, she added: "After all, it isn't long before June."

"He noticed a couple at a nearby table glancing at him curiously. He felt angry and uncomforable. "Come on, Anne, let's get out of here!" He started to say "These fellows think they're the only ones on earth," and caught himself just in time. That wasn't the way to say to Anne. He smiled and nodded suavely. "I want you all to myself—on our last date before long while."

RAIN was beginning to fall as Tony's sleek, fast car drove away from the club. "Maybe we'd better go straight back to the college," Anne suggested. "It's going to storm."

"Okay, I guess you're right." They drove a few miles in the direction of the Midland campus, then suddenly the car slowed. "Anne, let's go by the Post road. There's a fellow out there I want to see about a boat I'm buying—it won't take but a minute."

"All right. It's early, anyway." They drove out the Post road, talking idly of the boat Tony meant to buy. At last he stopped the car before a low, brilliantly-lighted building. Staring out the car window, Anne recognized it as the Villa Aloha, one of the roadhouses forbidden to college students.

"Come on with me, Anne. It's too wet for you to wait in the car. She shook her head. "I don't want to break school rules, Tony."

"Oh, come on—it isn't as if you were going in to spend the evening. Anyway, no one will recognize you. The manager won't let any college people in."

She hesitated a moment. It was true it was a little different to go in for a moment with Tony, who was there on business. It was, she hoped, just as true that no one would recognize her. And she had always been curious to see inside the place. Still—

The Villa Aloha was a tawdry place, too bright, too filled with loud voices, heavy smoke and the unmistakable odor of liquor. A three-piece orchestra played swing at one end of the room. The men and women sitting at the tables were as strange to Anne as the guests at her uncle's club had been strange to Tony. She was uncomfortable and a little frightened, and hoped Tony would hurry.

They would have to wait a few minutes, he explained, and a little reluctantly, she sat down at one of the tables. "Hi, Tony!" Anne turned and saw a slender, pretty, blond girl, in a cheap taffeta evening dress standing by the table.

"Hello, Clarice," Tony's cheeks had reddened a little. "Miss Norris—Miss Lane. Clarice runs the dice game here," he added, in explanation. The blond girl barely acknowledged the introduction, devoting her attention to Tony.

"Where have you been, anyway? I thought you were going to wait in the car last week?" "I was busy," Tony said curtly. "Never knew you to be that busy before," Clarice said, laughing.

ing shrilly. She laid her hand on Tony's arm, familiarly. A sudden wave of revulsion came over Anne. More than anything in the world, she wanted to get out of the Villa Aloha, away from Tony, back to the security of the college.

"Please, Tony—I'd like to go." "In a minute." The blond girl stared at her coldly.

Anne had had enough. Suddenly she rose to her feet. "Tony, I'm going, right now. I'll wait for you in the car!"

Her voice died in her throat. Two men, wide shouldered, flashily dressed, edged past their table, hands in coat pockets. As they reached the next table, a stout man seated there leaped up in sudden fear, overturning his chair.

Angry voices, guns spitting flame—confusion—somewhere a woman screamed. The musicians stopped in the middle of a phrase.

For an instant, Anne was too paralyzed with fear to move. Then she realized that she must get away, and at once— "Tony!"

Tony was gone. HER one thought was to get away. Others had had the same idea, and there was a crowd at the door. The police would be here soon, she might be held for questioning. That would mean the end of her college career, she knew.

Frantic and frightened, she looked around the room for a way out. "Come this way—"

She saw Clarice, a look of sympathy on her face. "Here—there's a rear door to the manager's office—follow me."

Anne followed the dice-game girl as she led her through a maze of hallways to the office, and unlocked a rear door.

"Beat it while you can. That guy Tony—he would save his own skin, and leave you stuck here—the rat!"

She all but shoved Anne out the door, slammed it shut and ran. A police car had stopped at the front entrance of the building. Tony's car was gone. In desperation, Anne ran the other way, across a stretch of bushes and open ground.

Stumbling in the dark, her dress catching on branches and bannisters, she ran through the rain. Somehow she must get away. But she had a sudden terrible feeling that she was being pursued.

Miller Speaks at Ranger Saturday

On Saturday, Miller, of Jones county, candidate for congress from the 17th district, spoke to the voters of Ranger Saturday afternoon at 1:45.

Miller said in his talk that he was in favor of preservation of state's rights, was opposed to creation and maintenance of conditions favorable to one section of the nation over another and in favor of "overhauling the farm program to prevent what is now taking place under the present farm program, namely driving off the farms thousands of tenant farmers."

Miller said he was in favor of revising the methods of cotton allotments to now exist against West Texas counties where fertilizer cannot be used to increase production on reduced acreage.

He touched on public spending and the foreign policy, but stressed needs of farmers.

From Ranger Miller went to Breckenridge, where he was to deliver another address in the afternoon.

Nine From County Attending CMTC At Camp Bullis

CAMP BULLIS—International events, fast approaching a grim and tragic climax, have brought to the important part played by the Citizens Military Training Camps in the national defense picture.

From every town and hamlet, from crossroad stores and metropolitan street, from farm and ranch, office and industry, young men—more than 1500 of them—have become enrollees in a month's training at Camp Bullis, training calculated to prepare them physically and educationally for a rigorous role in national defense, should that ever be needed.

Ranger has three representatives at the camp and Eastland has six. Those from Eastland are John Briggs, Wayne Brock, William Gatta, Claude Williams, John Williams and Anthony Wright. Youth from Ranger are Mack Dutton, Carl Eskins and Jesse Gideon.

Participation the full 30 days of camp will be so regulated that at the end of the period the enrollees will be in excellent physical trim, will know military routine, understand camp duties, so that he will be of maximum worth to the U.S. in time of danger.

The Citizens Military Training Camp is not just a military cantonment, where a man performs a soldier's duties. It is a schooling process. The enrollee spends long hours of drilling not only to familiarize himself with military function, but to build up his physique so as to be able to fulfill that function.

But there are other activities as important. The enrollee learns community sanitation, first aid, comradeship, discipline. Likewise, during afternoon "classroom" periods he is taught Americanism—principles upon which the nation was built, and how to defend these principles. All of these things produce a busy month. And while the month is progressing, religion and entertainment are not neglected. Every Sunday morning religious services in the various faiths are held. Every evening occurs a planned entertainment and the open air theatre is available to enrollees. Afternoon periods are partially devoted to sports, boxing, softball, track, baseball. At night, these sports are produced on a competitive basis, as on other occasions. The enrollee learns responsibility by guard duty, and by fatigue duties, such as KP, at least

Job Emerges From Troubles, Doubts By Believing in the Strength of Faith

Text: Job 42:1-13

BY WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D. Editor of Advance

WE have seen Job in the depth of doubt, distressed by the intensity of his disasters and sufferings, more distressed than helped by the complacent and futile counsel of his friends who are incapable of appreciating the depth and nature of his troubles, and tempted by the whole situation to "curse God and die."

Here in this lesson we see him emerging from his troubles and his doubts into the strength of faith. His faith is so strong that now, instead of cursing God and dying, he feels that he can trust God even though He should slay him.

It should be noted that it was faith that Job attained. He did not find a solution of the problem of suffering, and no one has found a solution. It is a great mystery that still goes unsolved. Jesus went to Calvary, praying earnestly that He might be spared the Cross, but He also found in the hour of Gethsemane the faith that sustained Him and that enabled Him to believe that in His sufferings and death He was fulfilling the will of an all-wise Father and His purposes of redemption.

ALL this is grastly at variance with the popular idea of doubt. The common notion is that we should suppress it, that we should not allow any questioning to enter our minds concerning God and His Providence. But the book of Job and many other parts of the Bible speak differently. They suggest that we should face the problems of life earnestly and sincerely, and that if we do thus face them we shall come not to a conventional belief that has little reality, but that we shall come to real faith.

All this has never been more finely expressed in modern times than in Tennyson's great poem, In Memoriam, which has sometimes been called "A Modern Book of Job." Tennyson wrote this poem, deeply moved by the death of his friend Arthur Henry Hallam. In one section he is replying to someone who has expressed the conventional idea that "doubt is Devil-burn." In this he says:

I know not: one indeed I knew In many a subtle question versed, Who touch'd a jarring lyre at first, But ever strove to make it true;

Perplex in faith, but pure in deeds, At last he beat his music out. There lives no more faith in honest doubt, Believe me, than in half the creeds.

He fought his doubts and gather'd strength, He would not make his judgment blind, He faced the spectres of the mind, And laid them; thus he came at length

To find a stronger faith his own, And Power was with him in the night, Which makes the darkness and the light, And dwells not in the light alone.

AS Job comes to faith and finds the approval of Jehovah, his triumph is in contrast with the discomfort of his plausible friends who had tried to cheer him with weak and superficial words and who in their shallow pretense of faith had rebuked him for his doubts. The wrath of Jehovah is kindled against them because they had not spoken of Him the thing that was right.

SALMON! HOLY SMOKE! DOZENS OF EM!

YOU MEAN FISH ARE BORN IN FRESH WATER AND THEN LIVE IN SALT WATER?

FISH LADDERS? YEP! THEY WERE BUILT SO THE SALMON COULD GET UP THE STREAM EASIER!

Life is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, July 21. The Golden Text is: "This is life eternal, that they might know thee the only true God, and Jesus Christ, whom thou hast sent" (John 17:3). Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Blessed are they that do his commandments, that they may have right to the tree of life, and may enter in through the gates into the city" (Revelation 22:14).

To the Voters of Eastland County

During the past few months I have met most of you and discussed my candidacy for the office of County Judge. It was my intention to continue a vigorous campaign until election day, but I was unfortunate in having a car accident that may prevent me seeing you again before the 27th. May I urge my friends over the County to continue active in my behalf until the polls are closed. After all in a political campaign one must depend upon their friends.

Your continued support and influence will be appreciated.

Your friend,

Any Decision of Automatic Tax Board, Meeting On July 22, Will Be Wrong In Eyes of Some of the People Affected

By JOHN WAGNER
 United Press Staff Correspondent
 AUSTIN, Tex.—The automatic tax board which meets about July 22 to fix the state's ad valorem tax rate will do the "wrong thing" whatever action it takes.

It sits in the crossfire of two large state groups: the school people and the real estate owners.

The tax rate is 77 cents per $100—35 cents for the general revenue fund, 35 cents for school fund, and 7 cents for the Confederate pension fund.

At the end of the fiscal year, Aug. 31, the state is indebted some $25,000,000 so the general revenue fund tax of 55 cents must be cut. The pension slice is fixed. So that leaves the available school fund, which is in good financial shape this year.

When the automatic tax board meets, it may find that the school fund has a few million dollars over its estimated budget for the coming year. If that is true, the law tells the board to use the axe on the 35-cent rate to the point that income will balance expenses.

"Good," say the real estate and property owners, if the cut is made.

"You're robbing us," say the school people, if the cut is made. As a member of the comptroller's office will tell you, this is one of the chief misunderstandings the public has of the work of the automatic tax board. The biggest howl came from the school people back in 1937. At that time the income from other sources such as oil, sulphur, gasoline tax—was enough to balance the school fund budget without any ad valorem tax. However a 7-cent levy was made just because the law says school books must be bought out of the ad valorem tax. The tax board, composed of the governor, the state treasurer and the state comptroller, received the wrath of many a school marm, who thought the fund was being arbitrarily starved. But the word "automatic" is literal in its meaning.

All Ears

It is estimated that there will be about $38,000,000 in the available school fund for next year. Even with fixing the per capita apportionment at its legal limit, $22.50, plus the purchase of text books this year, the board finds that all the fund may not be used.

Of course, some catastrophic change may come in oil production to cut off the tax from that source. But unless something does happen there may be a slight reduction in the ad valorem tax.

The law requires that the board meet about July 22. But it so happens every year and the comptroller's office so far has noted no great change in human nature that the county assessors are slow getting in their property evaluation statements and the board merely meets and recesses. Then, too, the day falls just before elections—a most embarrassing time to be talking taxes.

Speaking of the school fund, its main source of revenue are estimated for next year to be about $11,000,000 from motor fuel, taxes, $6,000,000 production tax on oil, $2,400,000 on cigarette tax, $2,450,000 interest on bonds in the permanent fund, $1,200,000 from taxes on liquor, wines and beer. At the present 35-cent rate the ad valorem tax will yield about $10,250,000.

Mobilization of Guards To Take But Short Time

By United Press

AUSTIN, Texas—There are 11,399 men in Texas, engaged in hundreds of different occupations, who can mobilize and be completely out of the state in 24 hours. They are the men and officers of the National Guard.

Right now these men are getting their affairs in shape for the annual camp which lasts 20 days and begins August 3. The camp this year will be held in the low piney woods of western Louisiana. Netting to ward off the stuka dives of mosquitoes in that sector is essential equipment.

In the office of Adj. J. Watt Page, head of the Texas National Guard, is a large map showing the war grounds where the U. S. army and the guard will maneuver together this year. The war grounds cover about 5,000 square miles and include three National forest areas. The army has already made arrangements with the land owners in that sector to have a "war." However, there are some sections of the map, marked off in red diagonal lines, where "it isn't fair" for the 70,000 soldiers to fight. The land owners forbid it.

Texas guardsmen, who are just a little proud of their records, were a little disappointed when President Roosevelt didn't list them in the four divisions he called out for extended training.

There is a difference, by the way, in the president "ordering" out the guard and "calling" out the guard.

When he "calls" out the guard, the state mechanics of the system is in force. The governor continues to be the normal head of the guard and the officers are selected from the Texas National guard. But when "ordered" out, there is no state control. All instructions come from the head of the U. S. Army and vacancies in the officer's posts are filled as the army sees fit, with no official state say-so.

In event of war or other active guard duty, the guard is moved out to training posts immediately. The state staff, consisting of the Adjutant General and 19 other officers, remains in the state and supervises further enlistments.

The plans for recruiting when M-day comes already are worked out with a chairman in every recruiting district. On word from the state staff, the recruiting machinery is thrown into gear—and then begins the band playing, and intensified recruiting campaigns.

Courageous Chow Whipped by Wildcat

By United Press

OAKLAND, Cal.—The pet chow of Mrs. William Pearson which won first in its class at the Oakland dog show two years ago is dead as the result of too much courage in chasing a wildcat.

The dog treed the cat at the top of a ridge, but eventually the cat leaped to the ground, the dog closed in, a fierce fight ensued, but in the end Donna, the dog, lay dead with a broken back.

Grasshopper War In Oklahoma Is Watched Closely

By United Press

DALHART, Texas — Farmers along the northern edge of the Texas Panhandle are watching with keen interest the progress of an intense grasshopper war in nearby Cimarron county, Okla.

There, a huge area of flat prairie region has become the scene of the nation's worst grasshopper outbreak this year, and upper Panhandle farmers fear if the fight is a losing one the horde of insects will move down into this country.

Aided by airplanes and other modern mechanized equipment, farmers, ranchers and government scientists have turned Cimarron county into a battleground in a war against the grasshopper.

During a seasonal lull in the insect's egg-laying activities, the farmers and government employees are taking advantage of the opportunity to halt its inroads.

Every day airplanes skim the countryside spreading poison bait. In other sections where croplands are predominant, trucks loaded with bait to be spread by ground forces speed to the infested areas. Here crews of workmen take the bait and spread it on the crops.

The grasshopper " blitzkrieg" began in June and officials said it would continue until the invasion is halted.

Most of the equipment has been supplied by the U. S. Bureau of Entomology and plant quarantine. It includes 13 airplanes, eight for bait-spreading and five for scouting; 17 light trucks; 15 heavy trucks; and 15 bait-spreaders for use by farmers.

One airplane can spread the bait on 50 acres of ground within five minutes time. The bait is effective for slightly more than a week before it must be replenished.

Federal employes do not spread the poison bait on crops, but leave that to individual farmers. The government bureau instead concentrates its preventive work on thousands of acres of idle range and pasture area.

Another Man Has Bad Luck Getting Hitch-Hike Ride

BORGER, Texas—Carl Simpson hitched a ride with the wrong person.

Simpson, one of three prisoners who escaped from the county jail at Stinnett, June 22, was back in jail today, after unknowingly giving himself up.

Deputy Sheriff O. B. Ellis was driving north on the Stennett highway. A man in a field alongside the road hollered and whistled at him in an effort to get a ride. Ellis recognized the man as Simpson and picked him up. Simpson recognized Ellis only after he had got into the automobile. The two just kept driving and Simpson was placed in jail to finish serving a sentence which accrued from a drunken driving charge.

Now, officers speculate, if Jess Winks and Stanley Buck Lane, two other escapees, would flag them down, everything would be fine.
