REGISTRATION PLANS ALREADY ARE PERFECTED

By United Press
WASHINGTON, July 25.—The joint army-navy selective service committee has completed preliminary plans to register all American men between 18 and 65 years of age under the pending compulsory military training bill.

Sample registration and identification cards and a sample eight-page questionnaire that would be sent to all men after registration were presented to the house military affairs committee yesterday by Major Louis B. Herthey, representing the army-navy committee, during consideration of the Burke-Wadsworth bill.

Herthey said that the committee planned to use present election machinery as much as possible and to establish approximately 6,500 local selection boards throughout the nation.

The proposed cards and questionnaires he presented were patterned after documents used during the World war and were printed two or three years ago to provide training for army officials who will be charged with the registration machinery.

The proposed registration card contained 19 questions, including: name, age, permanent mail address, telephone number, employer's name, place of employment or business, place of birth, and date of birth.

Other questions were: Of what country are you a citizen?

Have you taken out first naturalization papers? Have you a person "who will always know your address."

Relationship and address of that person.

The remaining questions were concerned with identification only—race, height, build, color of eyes, color of hair, complexion, and:

Has person lost arm, leg, hand, eye, or has he any other obvious physical characteristic that will aid in identification?

The identification certificate, which would be issued on the date of registration, would bear the registrant's full name, address and signature, and this inscription: "Be alert. Keep in touch with your local board. Notify local board immediately of change of address."

On the reverse side would be carried the registrant's physical description, corresponding to the replies given to the inquiries on the registration card.

The proposed questionnaire contained 12 sections of detailed inquiries relative to the amount of income earned, possibility of a criminal record, and claims for exemptions for dependents, disability, occupation or religious conviction against war.

The sample questionnaire was prefaced by a warning that failure to fill out the document was punishable by fine and imprisonment "and may result in immediate induction into the military service."

Political Pow Wow In Eastland Closes Campaign

Plans are complete for the big "political pow wow" to be held in Eastland tonight. All candidates for state and district offices have been invited and many of them have signified their intention of being on hand for a last chance at Mr. and Mrs. Voter.

The south side of the courthouse will be the gathering place where Commerce street will be roped off and where seats are being placed for the people. A loud-speaker system will be available for the speakers.

Missionary Is In Hospital At Temple

Miss Maybelle Taylor, Baptist Missionary to Brazil for the past two years, underwent a serious operation in the Scott and White Sanitarium in Temple, Monday, it was reported here today.

Miss Taylor flew from Brazil last week arriving in Dallas last Saturday and has been under treatment in the hospital in Temple for the past week. She received emergency blood transfusions Monday night and Tuesday following the operation, but is reported as slightly better this week.

She is the daughter of Dr. L. F. Taylor of Haskell, and is the wife of Mr. A. F. Taylor of Eastland. Miss Taylor taught in West Ward school in Eastland in 1930 and 31.

Hopelessness of French People Seen By Writer On Tour of the Country

By JEAN GRAFFIS
Paris Manager, Acme News
Features

BORDEAUX, France — The French are proving they can take it.

To placate their one-time enemies, many glad hand the Germans.

To show their support of the Pétain government, many proclaim their dislike of the British.

Once republican homebodies, now they are totalitarian nomads, living on their dwindling savings, far from their homesteads, hedged about both by German and French restrictions.

In a 750-mile tour of the occupied and unoccupied regions of France, I have just seen French people of all classes and under all circumstances rationalizing their fate.

Formerly life of Bordeaux, I went by train, by bicycle and on foot almost to Marseilles and returned through the heart of the unoccupied zone.

Amazingly enormous crowds are fleeing the occupied region. Leaving Bordeaux on an overcrowded third-class train, many rode on the crumpled benches that piled up in the narrow departments of France were more easily attainable via Vichy.

Tiny buses, the aged and the crippled often were packed in cars for 14 hours at a stretch without relaxation and without food except for slim meals of sandwiches and preserves.

Train Coasts to Save Fuel
Crossing the elevated part of France, known as the "massif central," the engineer cut off the power at every hilltop and coasted down to conserve fuel. The trains I boarded were conductorless so that the trip seemed as limitless as on the New York subway.

No papers were required in the zone occupied by the German troops, and passage from there into the unoccupied region was unnoticeable.

The hopefulness of the passengers was apparently justified upon arrival at Vichy, where the presence of the new French government falsely indicated escape from the rigors of being refugees.

The real situation is more apparent at Clermont-Ferrand, where the backwash of refugees reaches its high tide. There extemporaneous political forums operate night and day in all quarters of the town.

"War Insurance" By Military Training Urged by LaGuardia
WASHINGTON, July 25.—Mayor LaGuardia of New York testified before the house committee today that compulsory military training is necessary as "war insurance."

Other officials hoped to avoid compulsory training, and one suggested that one-year, rather than three-year voluntary enlistment periods would fill the army quota quickly.

BRITISH AND GERMANS CONTINUE WARFARE IN AIR AND ON CHANNEL

British and German warplanes, ships and torpedo boats battled today and both sides claimed heavy damage was inflicted.

The British said that two destroyers and two torpedo boats had chased off nine German motorboats in the English Channel and that 28 German warplanes were shot down in the past 24 hours, with only five British planes being missing.

At the same time Britain admitted the loss of one trawler and damage to two destroyers, while Germany claimed that 11 of 23 boats in a convoy had been sunk by their forces. Another German claim was that three British ships, totaling 22,000 tons, had been sunk today and another had been set afire.

London announced that a French warship and a French crew was operating with the British fleet, under orders from the Refugee Government in London and that other French craft were being outfitted for war against the axis powers.

The British extended the blockade to all European and North African ports and American officials astounded the Japanese by granting permission to Russia for using American tankers to carry gasoline to Siberia, whereas only yesterday a similar privilege was denied to the Japanese and Spanish.

At Havana Pan-American conference members continued to expect that trusteeship will be established over the Western Hemisphere possessions of countries in conquered Europe, in spite of opposition to the plan that has been presented by Argentine. Argentina has advocated a counter plan to let the possessions decide for themselves what measures should be taken in each case.

Swimming Pool Is Just as Good A Place As Any To Take a Drink Report of State Chemist Reveals

The city officials of Ranger and H. C. Scraggs, manager of the swimming pool felt confident that the water in the pool was as pure as could be. They should, because the engineer who installed the purification plant assured them that it was. But they wanted to make doubly sure.

A sample of water was dipped from the pool and was sent to Austin to the state chemist, and the chemist was told that they wanted him to "give it the works."

That wasn't what J. J. Kelly, water commissioner; Hall Walker, mayor; or E. T. Eubank, city secretary told the chemist, literally, but that was what they implied. And to make the test even more thorough they didn't tell him that it came from a swimming pool, and wanted to know if it was good enough to swim in.

So the state chemist took his bottles, his chemicals, his retorts, test tubes and whatever a state chemist has on hand with which to test water. He "gave it the works." Then he sat down and sent in a report on it. That report was something, too.

Not in the words of the chemist, because the report is not at hand and is being quoted from memory, but the gist of the whole report was that the water was good for drinking purposes and was not contaminated in any way. A movie press agent would have quoted him as saying it was supercolossal, even if the word wouldn't fit a report on the purity of water.

In other words the chemist said, in effect, that anyone could take a drink from the swimming pool, and the water he drank would be just as pure, just as "good for human consumption"—and those are his words—as if he had taken it from a water faucet anywhere in the city or from the water jug in your own refrigerator.

Tests like that are made regularly on the drinking water used in Ranger, and the standard is kept at a point recommended by the chemist. It has to meet certain requirements, be free from any contamination, before it receives a rating as good for human consumption.

A testing system has been installed at the pool, which is used each day. In fact it is used from eight to 12 times each day. Several of the employees of the pool have been schooled in its use, and have been taught to make these tests, which take out two minutes and can be made at any time.

In teaching the employees of the pool to make the tests, a member of the engineering firm gave them a short talk on chlorine, which is used in the water.

Chlorine, he said, is put in the water to protect the bathers from any germs. As soon as one enters the pool the slight chlorine content in the water forms an insulation about the body, which sticks to it. If there are any germs in the water, or if there are germs on anyone in the pool—and everyone is covered at all times by millions of germs of one kind or another, most of which are harmless—this insulation of chlorine prevents the germs from passing from one body to another. These dead germs, after being killed by the chlorine, drop to the bottom of the pool, where they are picked up by the vacuum cleaning process used in the pool.

So, if anyone wants a good drink of water about as good a place to get it as any is right in the swimming pool. The only thing is that it would be a little inconvenient unless he went in swimming to get the drink, or brought along his own glass.

Lyerla Estimates County Will Poll 7,000 Votes Sat.

"I am a Democrat and pledge myself to support the nominees of this primary."

So reads the pledge at the top of the ballot to be used in Saturday's election, and any voter in that election who fails to take this pledge might as well not go to the polls, County Democratic chairman O. E. (Oscar) Lyerla, said today.

He said no ballot would be counted if it had the pledge scratched out or any word substituted for the word "Democratic."

"A ballot with the pledge scratched out or otherwise altered, will be considered a mutilated ballot and will be ignored by the judges in the final counting," he said.

The County Chairman estimated that there would be 7,000 votes cast in Saturday's election in Eastland county.

"I have made arrangements with precinct chairmen to either bring or send in the returns from their boxes at once, and we are sure that all returns will be in Eastland not later than 11:00 o'clock Saturday night," the County chairman said.

A large bulletin board will be placed on the southside of the Eastland county courthouse and seats will be provided for spectators present to watch the posting of returns. The returns will be announced through a loudspeaker from an upstairs floor of the courthouse.

Mr. Lyerla also stated that arrangements had been made to get early reports in Eastland on the congressional race over the 17th district.

Democratic precinct convention will be held Saturday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock when delegates will be named to the county convention, which will meet in Eastland on Saturday, August 3.

At the state convention delegates will be selected for the State convention, which meets in Mineral Wells on Sept. 10th. Returns of Saturday's election will be canvassed by the County executive committee meeting in Eastland on August 3rd.

GERMANY GETS TEXAS OIL IN RE-SHIPMENTS

By United Press
HOUSTON, Texas, July 25.—The bulk of oil and gasoline that has been moving to Spain and Portugal—that Great Britain believes has been finding its way to Germany and Italy—was shipped from Texas and Louisiana, it was learned today.

An informant said that more than 2,000,000 barrels of aviation gasoline was shipped from the Sabine district of southeast Texas during one 90-day period in 22 tankers loaded at Port Arthur, Port Neches and Beaumont.

"Movement of the fuel has been kept secret," the informant said. "Even customs officials will not release any information. The names of the vessels are guarded. The data is censored because of the danger of spies who work in the refinery areas."

A considerable portion of the oil for Spain and Portugal had been moving also from Houston, Corpus Christi and New Orleans until the U. S. Maritime Commission stopped all shipments because of the British blockade, the source said.

The oil that has been loaded at Corpus Christi is part of an order placed by the axis powers," the informant said.

Until the last 20 days when the scarcity of tankers raised difficulties, gasoline had been moving in large quantities from the Corpus Christi district.

The informant said that Spain's imports were 80 per cent greater than its normal domestic consumption and that an American company supplied General Francisco Franco's armies during the Spanish Civil war and has continued to supply Spain with gasoline which has been moving to Germany.

A total of 656,000 barrels of aviation gasoline was exported from Texas last May, compared with 844,000 barrels in April, exclusive of regular fuel necessary for a mechanized army," it was said.

The difference in high-octane gasoline exports for the two months, the informant explained, resulted from lower British purchases on the Gulf coast. This gave a greater percentage of the fuel being shipped to Spain and Portugal.

Great Britain now is buying gasoline and oil in Atlantic ports and storing large quantities in Canada, it was said.

Food Reliance Of Greenland Rests On United States

BY H. O. KNIGHT
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, July 22 — Greenland is expected to become more and more dependent upon the United States during the coming months.

Germany's invasion of Denmark has brought the isolated island to the verge of possible famine, according to Gov. Eke Brun of North Greenland, who came here to arrange for purchase of foodstuffs and goods in return for the sale of Greenland's products. He declared that an economic crisis was faced and that famine might follow unless greater quantities of food could be imported.

Maurice Reddy of the Red Cross disaster relief staff, who was sent to Greenland immediately following subjugation of Denmark to survey the needs, outlined the situation on his return. He reported Greenland had enough food to last 12 months, or perhaps longer, if the government ordered a rationing system.

Second Motorcade Boosts Garrett

Fifteen are more cars, including a big school bus, loaded with boosters for Congressman Clyde L. Garrett for reelection, headed a motorcade that left Eastland this morning for a trip through the southern portion of the 17th congressional district. Other boosters were scheduled to join the motorcade as it progressed through other towns along the route.

A brass band accompanied the party which was well supplied with Garrett campaign literature.

This was the second motorcade for Garrett from Eastland this week.

STAMP PLAN IS DUE SOON GARRETT SAYS

A telegram was received here this afternoon from Congressman Clyde L. Garrett, at Washington, stating that he had just been in a conference with Department of Agriculture officials in reference to the food stamp plan for Eastland county, and inauguration of the plan seemed now assured.

"The telegram from Congressman Garrett reads:

"I have just been in conference with department of agriculture with reference to inauguration of food stamp plan for Eastland county. Final details only to be worked out, the department assured me that formal approval may be expected at an early date."

Work on the food stamp plan, which is expected to bring nearly $200,000 a year in additional revenue for the county, has been going on for several months, with the County Commissioners Court and Chambers of Commerce of the three towns, Eastland, Ranger and Cisco, working on it, with much of the work being done by H. J. Tanner of Eastland.

At a conference in Eastland recently representatives of the food stamp plan signed a contract with the Commissioners Court, and assured all present, including grocers from all over the county, that everything would be done to expedite installation of the plan in this county.

It was estimated at the conference in Eastland that grocers would receive $50,000 in Eastland, $50,000 in Cisco, $50,000 in Ranger and similar amount for the remainder of the county.

Under the plan stamps would be purchased with which groceries can be purchased and the relief clients would be given a similar amount in stamps that would be redeemed by surplus commodities, with the grocers getting the benefit of both sales. This would replace the regular distribution of surplus foods.

Dallas Man Is Hurt in Wreck Near Eastland

C. C. Brewer, truck driver of Dallas, was brought to the Payne hospital here early this morning suffering from injuries sustained when his truck overturned and burned on the Bankhead highway between Eastland and Cisco.

Mr. Brewer, it is reported, received injuries to his back and possibly to the kidneys. The exact extent of his injuries could not be ascertained immediately.

Relatives and friends of the injured man were reported enroute to Eastland from Dallas.

NAZI MILITARY TECHNIQUE IS ONE OF TERROR

United Press War Expert
BY J. W. T. MASON

German military technique, which is unsurpassed in efficiency, is now developing with increasing intensity the weapon of fear in radio barrages of words directed against Great Britain.

Hitler's purpose is to try to undermine British morale as a preliminary movement to throwing the civilian population into confusion if and when the delayed German offensive forces the British Isles begin. This action, called the "strategy of terror," met with some success in Holland, Belgium and France.

Its use is being directed against civilians, more especially women and children. Efforts to terrorize trained troops are old in the history of warfare. The war whoop and painted faces of Indians, the frenzied cries of African natives advancing into battle, grotesque masks formerly worn by oriental warriors are examples of terror strategy which, however, have been discarded by modern armies as useless against disciplined soldiers.

But warfare now seeks civilian victims of a new form of combat among civilized nations. The ancient device of fear thus has been resurrected for that purpose, and in expectation that civilians, and more especially mothers of young children, can be forced to plead for peace and surrender.

German broadcasts in English tuned to British receiving sets are no waning the climax of fear propaganda by telling British mothers that no matter where their children may be they will be unable to escape bombing, once the German air blitzkrieg starts.

The German broadcasters, too, are declaring that if British men, not formally incorporated into military service try to oppose German invaders, they will be shot when captured.

The effect of the fear weapon on the British people is not yet apparent in any way advantageous to Germany. Little pressure is being brought to bear on the British government by British mothers to move their children out of the country. Only a fraction of 1 per cent of British children has left the British Isles.

The use of fear as an advance weapon depends for its effectiveness largely on the emotional characteristics of the population of a threatened country. The British are unemotional. In Belgium, Holland, and France the fear complex shown by the people was due principally to the unexpectedness of the German attack and the unpreparedness of the civilian populations.

Great Britain has received innumerable warnings from Germany so that surprise is impossible. The whistling bombs have produced jobs in British newspapers and cartoonists have pictured German fear propaganda in ironic manner. German knowledge of international psychology has much increased since the last war, but the stolid character of the British people is the most puzzling of all for the Germans to understand.

Former Resident of County Will Drill A Test In County

L. M. White, formerly of Eastland county, has secured a block of oil and gas leases in the H. Hendricks Survey, Eastland county, on which he has contracted with A. J. Bartrug of Ranger to drill a 900-foot test.

A permit for this operation has been granted by the State Railroad Commission, and work will start at once, according to word received from White.

This well is to be drilled near some shallow gas wells that have already been drilled, one of which is still producing pipeline gas. Location will be 600 feet from the north line and 150 feet from the west line of the W. H. White farm of 520 acres.

NYA Girls' Garden has Produced Much

The NYA Girls have a vacant lot near their residence project, which they have cultivated this year and on which they have raised many vegetables for their table use, and much of which has been canned.

The girls planted this garden and did all the work in it. Most of the produce has been used with the exception of blackeye peas, which are still bearing.

Among the things canned are a bushel of cucumbers, 46 quarts of blackeye peas, 50 quarts of squash, 34 quarts of grapes and some beets and tomatoes. In addition to these vegetables, corn, lettuce, carrots, parsley, onions, Irish potatoes, radishes and peppers were grown. So far two bushels of peaches have been bought and canned, and other canning is to be done.

Joseph Lee Day Is Observed In Ranger

National Joseph Lee Day, a day set aside as a memorial to Joseph Lee, who devoted a lifetime to the development of the playground and recreation movement in the United States, was observed by a special program at the Corral last night.

The program presented, demonstrating some of the favorite recreational activities of Joseph Lee, consisted of the following numbers: singing games by four children from the WPA Nursery school under the direction of Miss Moad; a demonstration volley ball match; musical selections by a quartet composed of Gwendolyn Tunnell, Francine Hatley, Lillian Ruth Carter and Mildred Balch; and a square dance demonstration presented by Dorothy Parrish, Leona Bailey, Polly Seymour, Ella Joy Ferris, Billy and Raymond Charles Doss, and Leonard and Junior Arterburn.

The evening's entertainment was concluded with folk dancing in which everyone participated.

NYA Display Shows Projects In Ranger

A neat NYA display has been placed in the window at City Hall, showing some of the projects in the 7th district, particularly in Ranger.

At the top of the display is a map of the 7th district, of which Fort Worth is headquarters. Below the map are pictures taken in the various NYA shops in Ranger, with an aerial view of the barracks.

Other views show work that has been done outside the shops, including building of the barracks, and a colored photograph of stone work done at Mineral Wells.

HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE

Many of those gnawing, nagging, painful backaches people know on cold or stormy days caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sensations shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Special Contests Sponsored Thursday at WPA Playgrounds

Both Hi-Way Park and Hodges Oak playgrounds, under the supervision of the WPA Recreation project, sponsored special contests on Thursday afternoon.

The Hodges Oak directors held a horseshoe and washer pitching tournament and the following participants were the winners in the events: Billy Sexton and Harry Hanson, first place in horseshoe doubles, with Ishamel Black and G. W. Jacoby runners-up. Billy Sexton and Ishamel Black, first and second place respectively in washer pitching.

At Hi-Way Park a knife show was held and judges selected the knife entered by Robert Lawson as the prettiest.

A number of good singers will be present. Rev. Johnson stated, and lovers of good singing are promised a rare treat, if they attend.

Does Gold Rust?

One of the properties of gold is that it does not rust. So the chemist will tell you. But there may be another side to that. If to rust is to deteriorate, to waste away, to disintegrate, perhaps even gold will rust.

The United States now has $20,000,000,000 worth of gold. That is between 70 and 80 per cent of all the gold in the world. The last billion has been accumulated since mid-May.

As this hoard accumulates, so interest mounts as to what to do with it. Monetary experts disagree.

Some say we are rapidly approaching the day when this gold will be useless as money. If one country has it all, or practically all, it seems clear that others must find a means of conducting trade without it. Already German papers like the Deutsche Bergwerkszeitung are saying, "The gold standard has for us only historical interest."

That is not braggadocio. Already the goldless German mark is the standard currency of the whole continent of Europe. Because it is not traded in international dealings, one may say that the mark is practically worthless. But if it has) then it is not worthless. And if barter dealing and the bayonet can make it good throughout all Europe (and economic pressure can make it good in other farther-away places, then it is not worthless there, either.

It is becoming increasingly clear to more and more people that gold is useless unless it is used. So the Republican platform has suggested its distribution, at home and abroad. The Democratic declaration is, of course, not yet available.

But if the United States is to compete in international trade after Europe's war is over, it is clear that there must be countries whose money bears a recognizable relationship to our own, so that exchange is possible.

Everything passing month points more clearly to the idea of distributing part of this gold to countries whose trade and friendship is sought, and whose money can thus be put in relation with our own. We do not want to setup a monetary bloc with the bayonet. But we must not much longer refuse to use that other more peaceful weapon, our own surplus gold stock.
