FOUR INJURED IN ACCIDENT NEAR RANGER

Four people sustained painful, but not serious injuries, early Sunday morning when the automobiles in which they were riding were in an accident three miles west of Ranger on Highway 80. Most seriously injured were Miss Clara June Kimble, Eastland; John L. Hart, Eastland and Alfred Bell, Lyndale, Calif. Less seriously injured was Gerald DeLong, Sacramento, Calif. Miss Kimble received severe cuts about the face, an injury to her nose and lost several teeth in the accident. She also sustained a cut on one leg and part of her shin bone was chipped off, but her leg was not broken, it was reported at the West Texas hospital, where they were taken for treatment. Hart sustained a broken leg and injuries about the face and head. Bell, whose number has been called in the draft, and who was to report for a year of training on Feb. 27, also had a leg broken and cuts about the chest. DeLong's injuries consisted of cuts about the head and face. Bell, accompanied by Gerald DeLong of Sacramento, California, was enroute to Dallas. The two cars, both light models, apparently sideswiped each other, striking engine against engine. Both cars were badly wrecked, the engines being almost demolished.

Rig Being Moved South Of Gorman

Preparations for drilling an oil well on the R. L. Williams farm in the Jewell community south of Gorman, are going forward with the moving of the rig onto the location. The location is near the Lay well, which was capped in 1929.

Your Federal Income Tax

Deduction for Tax on Motor Gas
If an automobile is used for both business and pleasure, those maintenance and operating expenses which constitute allowable deductions for Federal income tax purposes should be allocated to the two uses on the basis of the time the car is used for each. For example, if the total expense of operation and maintenance, plus depreciation, for the taxable year amounted to $800, and the car was used three-fourths of the time for business and the balance of the time for pleasure, the allowable deduction for Federal income tax purposes, would be $600. In general, taxes are deductible only by the person upon whom they are imposed and by whom they are paid. If a law imposing a tax on gasoline by its terms imposes a tax on the consumer and not on the dealer, the consumer may deduct as a tax, for Federal income tax purposes, the amount of the gasoline tax paid by him; but the taxpayer must have kept records of the payment of such taxes in order that the deduction may be substantiated as is required by the regulations. The Federal gasoline tax is not deductible by the consumer. The taxpayer may ascertain whether a State gasoline tax is deductible by the consumer or by the dealer by addressing an inquiry to the collector of internal revenue for his district. In any case where the gasoline purchased is used for business purposes, the tax may be regarded as a part of the cost of the gasoline and deducted as a business expense; but in such case the gasoline tax cannot be deducted separately as a tax under the item of taxes.

Biggest Turtle On Display at Museum

AUSTIN, Tex.—The University of Texas has on display in its Texas Memorial Museum the biggest turtle ever found in Texas. Thick-shelled and measuring three by four feet, the 25,000-year old monster was recovered from a San Patricio County sand pit which has also yielded the fossils of buffalo, camels, and huge, slow-moving animals called sloths. The turtle weighs several hundred pounds, according to Dr. E. H. Sellards, museum director.

Texas Exes Might Have Two Holidays

AUSTIN, Tex.—For the forty-fifth consecutive year next month loyal alumni of the University of Texas will celebrate the "birth-day" of their alma mater. But their problem is that, like Thanksgiving, they have two days to celebrate. "University of Texas Day" is traditionally March 2, Texas Independence Day. However, March 2 falls on Sunday and Texas-Ex clubs from New York to South America will meet either March 1 or March 2, alumni officials here declare.

Highway Deaths Fluctuate With Highway Patrol

AUSTIN, Tex.—Fluctuation in Texas highway fatalities is opposite to the increase or decrease in the State Highway Patrol force, it was revealed today in a report released by the Texas Safety Association showing the effect of enforcement in reducing traffic deaths. The report on comparative decreases and increases in the death rate per hundred million miles of vehicular travel and the increase or decrease in the patrol force covers the years from 1935 through 1940. The patrol force was increased to 126 officers and men in 1935 and remained at that number through 1937. During the three-year period Texas' traffic death rate dropped from 16.6 to 14.6, a decrease of 2.0. For the next two years the force was increased to 251 officers and men, and in that time, 1938 and 1939, the highway death rate per hundred million miles of vehicular travel moved downward from 14.6 to 10.4, a decrease of 4.2. With a reduction in the patrol force in 1940, the death rate again turned upward, going from 10.4 to 10.9. "That fractional increase of .5 in the death rate," the report stated, "meant that 174 more persons were killed in 1940 than were killed in 1939. These figures show that enforcement has a definite part in the reduction of traffic fatalities."

Towing Sleeve Is Just a Steer An Aviator Discovers

EL PASO, Tex.—With a weather eye peeled for stray Texas steers, a red-faced pilot in the 120th Observation Squadron stationed at El Paso is wondering if anybody has seen a lost target sleeve. The embarrassed aviator, a newcomer from Colorado, was testing new low-target equipment when the anti-plane target floated dangerously near the plane. The pilot cut the cable and carefully took note of the location. The sleeves are expensive and it is considered a faux-pas for a flyer to lose one. The young aviator led ground troops to the spot where he had released the target and then dived his plane to enable the motorized unit to locate the lost sleeve. To his amazement the lost sleeve got up and slowly walked away. The "target" was a white-faced Texas steer.

Clark Raps British Aid As President Seeks More Funds

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—Sen. Worth Clark, Democrat, Idaho, charged today that passage of the British Aid Bill would authorize President Roosevelt to "conduct an undeclared war anywhere in the world." Meanwhile President Roosevelt asked of Congress an appropriation of $150,000,000 to provide needed "community facilities" in areas where national defense programs have caused sudden population increases.

HITLER MARCH USUALLY GOES OUT LIKE LION

If Adolf Hitler wins any new military success this March, he can thank his lucky stars. For Hitler is a student of astrology and regularly consults an astrologer before he makes a major move. He believes the month of March, when planets and stars are in a certain conjunction in the sky, to be the most propitious time of the year—for him to act. So England may have good reason to expect an invasion in March. Some of the biggest things Hitler has pulled off have taken place in that month. In March—1933—after a "plebiscite," Hitler incorporated the Saar Valley, rich in coal and industrial plants, into the Reich. This was Germany's first "drang" in any direction. In March—1936—against the advice of his army chiefs but with his astrologer's OK, Hitler made one of his most daring moves, occupation of the Rhineland, which under the Versailles Treaty was to remain free of German troops. In March—1938—Hitler moved his troops south and annexed Austria, imprisoning Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg. In March—1939—breaking the pledge he made at Munich, Hitler marched into Moravia and Bohemia and made the Czech-Slovakian provinces "protectorates" of Germany. In March—1940—Hitler was hiding his time behind his battlelines. But, according to rumors, his invasion of Norway, which came off successfully not much later was postponed only on the insistence of Marshal Goering and other army chiefs. In March—1941?

Draftees Learn a New Language In First Days In Camp

FORT BLISS, Tex.—One thing draftees learn in the army is a new language, an enlisted man's slang which includes such terms as "wire city," "ruckus juice," "goofing off," and "trucker box." "Wire city" is the guard house or military jail. When a soldier is thrown in for getting into trouble, he is known as a "foul ball" or "under the gun." Soldiers are in a bad way if they have "gone over the hill"—deserted. "Ruckus juice" is whisky. "Goofing off" means to go crazy. A "trucker box" is a mechanized vehicle, and a pickup truck is a "pudde jumper." Some of the more familiar army slang terms are "shave-tail" for second lieutenant, K. P. for kitchen police, P. X. for post exchange and "chow" for food. A cook is a "slurp hurner," and a mess sergeant is a "belly robbor." The green recruit is branded a "farmer" or a "ree-eruit." Any sleekly-dressed soldier is a "G. I."—from government-issued uniforms, usually thought of as ill-fitting. On the target range a miss is called "Maggie's pants," because a red flag is waved. When a miss is erroneously credited as a hit the gunner is "Santa-Claus'd." A machine gun is a "bean-shooter" and the majority of other weapons are called "pieces." Flapjacks are commonly called "saddle blankets," but the men say you can't insult an army cook. Trying to get a promotion by entering to a superior officer is "bucking." Soldiers say their pet names for reveille are unprintable.

'War' Comes to Capitol Steps

Senator James Mead of New York, at the wheel, tests army's new batam reconnaissance car on steps of Capitol in Washington. Representative J. Parnell Thomas of New Jersey sits beside Mead. Cars weigh a ton, can make 75 miles per hour. Army claims three cars can be carried by one of its transport planes.

So Called Big Bills Less of Problem For Legislators Than Minor Ones

By GORDON K. SHEARER, United Press Staff Correspondent
AUSTIN, Tex.—So-called "big issues" before the session of the Texas legislature really cause the members—both representatives and senators—less worry than many matters that are looked upon as trivial. The "big issues" usually develop on a variety of opinions and involve so many compromises that a member without difficulty can explain his position on either side of it to the satisfaction of most of his constituents. The little things are the ones about which he has to be careful. One of them can trip him and plunge his political career into eclipse. Fishing and hunting bills come in the category of hard problems for the legislator to decide. One group will convince him that there ought to be a closed season on a species of game or fish. Then another group will protest that instead of a closed season the legislature has to extend the season. At a recent session bills were passed both ways on the fishing regulations in an East Texas stream and then the people found fault with the result. Another thing that makes a legislator unpopular at home is the discovery that a bill, supposed to affect some other part of the state, has been so drawn that it affects part of his district or some of the officials in his district. This occurs frequently in the bracket bills that the legislature passes in quantity. These bracket bills limit their application to places within a specified population bracket. A legislator has to watch them closely to see that the brackets do not affect his territory. This trouble was heightened for members of the 47th Legislature by the new federal census. Population changes have required bracket changes, both to include and to exclude counties, cities or communities. Sen. Penrose Metcalf of San Angelo came to the rescue of fellow members in this connection. He had prepared and mimeographed a list showing the population of each Texas county according to the 1930 census and according to the 1940 census. The list was prepared in numerical order so the legislators will still have to hunt through it until some member goes Metcalf one better and prepares an alphabetical list. The bill to tighten up on sales of preparations containing narcotics caused so many protests to members that its passage was delayed in the senate to permit further investigation. Sen. L. J. Sulak said he had been told by constituents that the measure would make a farmer get a prescription in order to get an effective dose of paragon for a hog that had colic. Past experience has shown senators that the unexpected application of laws, such as one requiring a prescription for paragon, is what causes trouble back home. The Capitol dome rang with "Revive Us Again" and other time-honored hymns as the Austin Gideons decided that Bible might be an aid to the Texas legislators in their duties. The Bibles, similar to those the Gideons place in hotels for use of travelers, were piled high on a desk and placed in the state capitol lobby before distribution to the desks of the members. The legislative fight over the truck load limit has its lighter side. Rep. Lon E. Alsop of Carthage, sponsor of a scientific formula bill, said his constituents want a big load limit because they need it for hauling timber in East Texas. A few days after Alsop made this statement, a box arrived at his desk. It contained a bright red, six-wheel toy truck with the name "Alsop" painted on the truck doors and on its sideboards were painted the words "Log Hauling."

HITLER WARNS WORLD SPRING BLITZKRIEG IS TO SMASH THE BRITISH

Investments And Savings Grow for Home Loan Bank

LITTLE ROCK, Ark.—Savings and investment funds in unprecedented amounts were received in January from Texas savers by the 119 insured savings and loan associations in the state, the Federal Home Loan Bank of Little Rock reported today, in its monthly review of home financing conditions in the Southwest. New funds aggregating $4,179,724 flowed into the associations during the month and the total number of thrifty Texans having accounts in the institutions increased to 89,600, establishing a new high record both in the amount of savings and the number of accounts. The report prepared by the Bank includes the figures of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association in Ranger by which the local area is served. Officials of the Bank expressed gratification at the progress made by the Texas associations. They pointed out that the associations have had a steady, substantial growth during the past several years. They said the number of savers in the insured associations in Texas had increased from 73,000 in January 1939 to 80,690 in 1940, and 89,600 in 1941, being a gain of 16,600 in two years. In the same period the aggregate balances in these accounts increased from $55,600,000 to $80,000,000, for a gain of $24,400,000. These balances average about $900 each, although many of them are for a much smaller sum, representing the weekly and monthly savings of persons of modest means. The marked increases recorded by the Bank are attributed by the officials to the improvement in business conditions throughout the state and to the security afforded savers through the insurance of their funds up to $5,000 for each account provided by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation, an instrumentality of the Federal Government. The lending activities of the Texas associations have also increased in recent months, the report stated. In January, 1909 loans were made totaling $2,012,214, of which $743,342 was used in the construction of new homes. Other loans were granted totaling $549,758 to assist borrowers in the purchase of existing dwellings, while $343,260 was used to refinance mortgages carried by other lending agencies. All indications point to much more new home construction during the coming Spring months, and the associations are reported to be well prepared to finance the expected increased demand.

State Government Probe And Auditor Bills Are Killed

AUSTIN, Feb. 24.—After many sharp words the Texas House of Representatives today killed a previously passed resolution to create a five-member committee with broad powers to investigate the State government. The Senate today postponed until April 1 action to place appointment of the state auditor in the hands of a legislative committee, after receiving a message from Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel asking the bill to be given emergency status. One senator predicted that postponement was tantamount to killing the measure as the calendar is so crowded after April 1 that the bill could never be passed.

Travel Record Is Established In Mine

JACKSON, Mich.—This city is enjoying striking success in curbing its juvenile traffic violations with a traffic school. In the summer and fall of last year, the city had 150 juvenile traffic violations, and in seeking a solution to the high number of bad driving youngsters decided upon a once-a-week three-hour school. During a year, 200 boys and girls have attended the school and have received their diploma of attendance. Of the 200, ten have repeated the original offense.

You and Safer Highways

Realization of the staggering economic loss from highway and street accidents in Texas during the past year has spurred safety leaders of the state into more intensive effort. The efforts of those who have interested themselves in traffic safety received a set-back during 1940 when the state's fatalities rose nearly 11 per cent over traffic deaths in 1939.

Faced with the loss of over $49,000,000 as a result of these accidents which claimed the lives of 1,757 persons in the state, safety leaders have been able to unite the forces of more than twenty state organizations of business and professional leaders in a concentrated drive for safer highways.

These organizations working in close cooperation with official groups and recognized engineers in traffic safety have devised a program which has proven successful in reducing traffic accidents elsewhere. This program calls for legislative action in the passage of a standard driver's license law; an increased highway patrol; a strengthened drunk driving law; a revised speed limit; and a uniform reporting system for serious accidents.

The matter of safety isn't one that should be left for a few interested leaders of the state to struggle with. It is a matter that is of primary concern everywhere. Death and destruction from highway accidents can strike anywhere. It concerns every person in Texas.

Many a careless and reckless driver would mend his ways if he only knew that he would be deprived of his license under the provisions of a law that has enforceable features. If a person has no regard in his driving for the rights of others, we need provisions to make him respect these rights.

The part you can have in this drive to make the streets and highways of Texas safer for you and your loved ones will be to let your Senator and Representative know that you want a recognized standard law in the licensing of drivers. The time it takes to write a letter and the cost of a postage stamp may help save hundreds of lives.

Statistics show the weatherman about 80 per cent correct—leaving 20 per cent for the holidays.

Student of '41 Is Alert To a Crisis

ROCHESTER, N. Y.—College students of 1941 are as sensible, sober-minded and keen to the perils that face the country as were those of 1914, according to Dr. James Phinney Baxter, president of Williams College, Williamstown, Mass.

Dr. Baxter, a member of a Williamstown draft board, asserted during a visit here that since the blitzkrieg of the Low Countries college students have looked upon the crisis with "even more concern."

"If there ever was a gulf between the college student of today and the student of my days of 1914, it has disappeared since a year ago September," he said. "I have yet to find a student who was not wholly interested in the national defense program. Many students have already entered the services in various engineering and aviation branches."

Students voted 7 to 1 in favor of the Selective Service Act at Williams College, Dr. Baxter said. Most of them were deferred because of their educational status, he said, but during the summer many of them in Class I-D will join service camps for a year's training.

Jinx Catcher Has Hard Time Finding Man for Roommate

SHREVEPORT, La.—A nice guy and a good catching prospect, Ernie Potocar probably won't be overwhelmed by members of the Shreveport Sports spring squad wanting to be his roommate.

Ernie hasn't the measles or the mumps, but he does have an unfortunate reputation of being a jinx to room-mates.

In 1939 for example, Potocar was in the West Texas-New Mexico League, playing with Abilene. He had no fewer than eight room-mates during the first few weeks of the season. Each left the club with the familiar "pink slip" in his hand. Finally, it got so none of the players would room with Potocar. They felt that to do so was to flirt with a release slip.

Kirby Jordan, a young outfielder who reported to the club, became roommate No. 9. He hadn't heard about the jinx and did not inquire. He was the only one to stick and he still is in the game.

Potocar came to the Shreveport Texas League team with a good hitting record, although all of his professional baseball career thus far has been spent in Class D ball.

He started out in 1937 with Midland of the West Texas-New Mexico loop and was hitting .361 when the team dropped out of the league July 9. He remained out of professional baseball the rest of the summer and through 1938.

Returning the next year with Abilene, he moved with the franchise to Borger and hit .316 for the season. Back at Borger last year, Potocar clubbed out a .331 figure.

He thinks he's ready for the Texas League's Class A pitching.

BRUCE CATTON IN WASHINGTON MAIN STORE BUYING EXPERTS TEACH ARMY NEW TRICKS, MODERNIZE SERVICE SUPPLY SYSTEM

BY PETER EDSON NEA Service Staff Correspondent WASHINGTON.—There's still a little bit of jealousy between the regular army officers and the experts brought from private industry to speed up the supply effort, but that's only to be expected. Quietly, army officers will add that the right boys from Sears, Roebuck, A. & Penney and other chain stores are getting them.

ter corps, with a civilian expert sitting in to advise. Under the old setup, the Q. M. from each camp would do his own buying. Sometimes, when there were three or four camps in the vicinity of one market town, the Q. M.'s would drive up with their trucks early in the morning, go into competition with each other for supplies, run up prices, and by noon have the market so cleaned out there wasn't anything left for the local housewives. The new idea is to eliminate all that. Furthermore, truck farming in the vicinity of each camp is to be encouraged, so that areas will be largely self-supporting. Take clothes—take overcoats. Right now is the slack season in the overcoat making industry. All coats for this winter have been made, and they haven't started on the coats for 1942. The army will need nearly a million overcoats for next winter. It owns the cloth, so it will soon let contracts to cut, make and trim next winter's garments. RUBBER SOAP PLANTS TO MAKE POWDER BAGS THIS matter of finding plants to make the things the services want is a problem in itself. More than 10 years ago the army began its big survey of industrial production facilities in the United States. Ten thousand plants were inspected, catalogued and classified. The survey took into account how each factory could be converted to make war supplies. A forest factory, for instance, was found to be an ideal place to make gas masks. For some supplies, the number of experienced manufacturers is limited. There are only about four companies that can manufacture explosives on a big scale—DuPont, Trojan, Hercules and Remington. The job of making 15 freight car loads of smokeless powder per day had to be turned over to them. That done, the problem of finding firms to lead the powder bags for artillery had to be met. With few exceptions, it was found that the army looked around for companies with good records of plant management and asked them to tackle the job. Two of those who said "yes" were Goodyear and Procter & Gamble, and as a result, these rubber and soap companies are going into entirely new businesses, starting from scratch. There will be funnier ones than that announced soon.

Railway Workers Get Salary Raises Effective Saturday

WASHINGTON.—Approximately 1,141 workers employed by the Texas & Pacific railroad will get pay raises estimated to total approximately $93,000 annually, when the minimum wage order of the nation's railroad workers becomes effective Saturday. It is estimated that 70,000 workers in all will be affected by the minimum wage order and wage increases will total more than $7,000,000 annually. The order was issued by General Philip B. Fleming, Administrator of the Wage and Hour Division, United States Department of Labor, on the recommendation of the railroad carrier industry committee appointed under the Fair Labor Standards Act (Federal Wage and Hour Law). The recommendations were made after extensive investigations and public hearings. The minimum wage established for trunk line railroads was 36 cents an hour and for short lines 33 cents an hour. About 65,000 workers will receive pay raises on the trunk lines and 5,000 on the short lines. By far the largest group affected by the order will be the maintenance of way employees, including crossing, bridge flagmen and gatemen. It will also include clerical workers, station workers, shop laborers, red caps, dining car and kitchen workers where their present wage is lower than the minimum established. This is the third largest wage increase to be ordered under the Wage and Hour Law. The largest was in the apparel industry where a schedule of minimum wage rates from 32 1-2 cents up to 49 cents an hour increased the rate of pay for 175,000 workers. The number of workers for whose wage rate increases have been ordered under the Wage and Hour Law is now more than 600,000 and the total pay increases on an annual basis due to these wage orders will exceed $35,000,000. The 30 cent an hour minimum for all interstate employees caused pay increases of more than $65,000,000, making the total pay increases as a result of the Act $169,000,000.

SERIAL STORY DRAFTED FOR LOVE

BY RUTH AYERS. CHAPTER XIV. WINKIE APPLEMAN was struggling to get out of the car. Winkie was old, had the reputation of being lazy, shiftless, and sly. He had never been in any real trouble but once, when April's father had been district attorney, there'd been some sort of a run-in with the court which had resulted in Winkie's being sent to the workhouse for 30 days to "straighten him up." It was Winkie who had been at the station platform the night when Kent arrived from camp on leave. Winkie, in fact, on whom April had fastened her eyes as someone known and familiar in the first shock of learning Kent was blind. Now Winkie, shivering in tattered clothes, was pushing out of Kent's arm. April started to move, but found her foot had been pinned under Kent's bag when it had toppled from the seat. She felt a knife of pain strike through her ankle and then the numbness settled again, muffling her, deadening her senses. Winkie clutched the side of the car with a groan. "April Burnett, I know you! Lawyer Burnett's daughter, ain't you?" His voice burst from groans to shrillness. "Yes, Winkie. Oh, I'm terribly sorry. Are you hurt?" "Hurt? We'll see, April Burnett. You with your reckless driving, knocking an old man down. You with your high-stepping ways and no regards for the rights of others." "Please, Winkie. I'm sorry!" Winkie doubled and then jerked up again. "Huh, I know you, young lady. Think you're something, don't you. Running all over the countryside these last two days with your sister's feet. I'll make a town scandal out of this."

THE PAY-OFF

BY HARRY GRAYSON NEA Service Staff Editor. WHEN the end of the season doesn't stop Lou Novikoff, highly entertaining left fielder who comes to the Chicago Cubs after leading the Pacific Coast League with a swatting average of .363, runs batted in and 41 circuit clouts. On Oct. 24, the Mad Russian manufactured home runs in two Detroit cities the same afternoon. He smacked one in Los Angeles for an all-star outfit against the Baltimore Elite Giants, and motored to South Pasadena and repeated for another club in the bases loaded in the seventh. Lou Novikoff appears to be a stand-up-and-cheer better if there was one. BILL McKECHNIE welcomes Dick West back to the Cincinnati scene as a catching staff candidate. Cincinnati can use someone capable of spelling lumbering Giuseppe Lombardi. RAY Wilson won't be present to hop back into the thick of the next fall even if he were able. West has been up the past three autumns as a power-drive center-outfielder, but the batsman in the Louisville led got the other hand in Indianapolis last summer to the extent of featuring back of the bat in 99 engagements. Because McKechnie is pleased that Dick West finally made up his mind... to stick to the position where he is needed most. IN appendectomy in 1938 and a knee injury in '39 derailed the swift infielder, George Myatt, from his set path to fame as all off man and spearhead of the New York Giants' attack. All winter, Myatt, Knoxville shortstop last trip, has strengthened his knee by indoor mountain-climbing, using a Sen L-ego for his knee as his Alps. He took the elevator down to the ground floor, then repeated his peak scaling maneuver until the night watchman chased him away. BARNEY BARNICLE is not a sailorman, as his name might indicate, but he was a promising candidate for No. 1 big league shortstop, booked in the Jan. 3 quota from his Fitchburg team, until Uncle Sam conscripted his teeth, decided he required a new set, and deferred his service.

Gen. Fleming Now Heads Wage-Hour Division for U. S.

DALLAS, Texas—A Brigadier-General of the regular army of the United States is now at the head of the Wage and Hour Division, U. S. Department of Labor, it was announced today by Gus C. Street, Jr., Dallas, Regional Director for Texas, Arkansas, Oklahoma and New Mexico.

Philip B. Fleming, heretofore a Colonel, Engineering Corps, U. S. A., has just been sworn in as a Brigadier-General, and continues by authorization of Congress, to be Administrator of the Wage and Hour Division.

"If there are any persons who think that the Wage and Hour Law is not a vital link in the National Defense program, this promotion of Administrator Fleming from Colonel to Brigadier-General in the regular army should be convincing," said Mr. Street.

"General Fleming is a West Point man, a professional soldier, and he was appointed by the President, with the approval of Congress, to administer the Wage-Hour Law. He is on record as stating that if he thought or found that the Wage-Hour Law interfered with National Defense, he would report that fact to his Commanding Officer, the President, as quickly as a sentry would report to his superior the presence of the enemy."

"Under General Fleming, as under Colonel Fleming, the Wage-Hour Law will continue to be an aid to National Defense. I cannot emphasize this point better than by quoting Defense Director William S. Knudsen himself. Mr. Knudsen has said:

"What the National Defense Commission wants is more machine hours, for machines if properly cared for can work 168 hours a week. Men can't."

"Under the Wage-Hour Law," continued Mr. Street, "employees do not have to stop work after 40 hours a week, so far as the Fair Labor Standards Act is concerned. All that is necessary is that they be paid time and one-half their regular rate of pay for all hours worked in excess of 40 per workweek."

Youth Kisses And Runs, Cops Seek Him

DENVER—Denver police are on the lookout for a red-haired boy, about 17 years old, who's a kiss thief.

He darts up behind a pretty girl, clasps her in his arms, gives her a kiss and runs.

The youth once ran between two girls and kissed them both before fleeing.

His victims report he is a silent red-haired boy, operating at night, who never kisses but once.

Years of Misery Ended By Hoyt's Says Texas Lady

Indigestion, Gas, Bloating, Constipation are Gone; I Eat Well, Says Mrs. Martinez. She Credits Hoyt's Compound.

"For nine years I suffered with indigestion, gas and bloating," says Mrs. Nora Martinez, 715 South Irving St., San Angelo, Texas.

MRS. NORA MARTINEZ
"After meals I had untold misery from this trouble. I could not eat fried foods of any kind without after distress. I was badly constipated, and had nervous fainting spells. Nothing I tried relieved me."

"Now that I am using Hoyt's Compound, I can eat anything put before me without suffering. Hoyt's has been a perfect laxative, and my bowels are regular as can be. The fainting spells have ended, and I haven't had a trace of nervousness. I gladly recommend Hoyt's."

Hoyt's Compound is recommended and sold by the Texas Drug Store and by all leading druggists in this entire area.
