British-Greek Forces Retreat To New Lines

U. S. DEFENSE INDUSTRIES TRAINING MEN AND WOMEN FOR NEW PLANT WORK

An overwhelming majority of American industries engaged in national defense production are training men and women for new jobs and training their own employees for advancement to better jobs, a survey by the National Defense Committee of the National Association of Manufacturers indicates.

A total of 161 replies were received from 650 primary contractors who were sent questionnaires. Analysis of the returns showed that 93 per cent of the firms replying already are training employees for advancement from their present positions; 90 per cent said that they were not training outside men and women for new jobs.

Purpose of Survey

The survey was made to determine the progress being made by companies engaged in defense work in meeting problems pertaining to labor shortages, plant operation, and other aspects of production under the vast defense program. It covered plants in 23 states, the majority of which were in the order of their defense importance, located in the highly industrialized states of Ohio, Pennsylvania, New York, Illinois, Michigan, and New Jersey. Plants in those states comprised nearly 70 per cent of the total number of returns.

Other Results

Other significant findings disclosed by the survey were that: 1—Ninety-six per cent of the plants replying already have begun actual defense production. Only five of the companies—all in the iron and steel and machinery industries—had not yet swung into actual production on their defense contracts.

2—Thirty-two per cent of the reporting firms said they had been asked to deliver on their contracts on dates earlier than were originally specified; 3—Fifty-seven per cent of the companies reported that they were operating on a six-day week to increase defense production.

4—A total of 97 firms submitted data on the factory labor supply situation. Those firms employed a total of some 96,000 workmen in current production. Fifty-five per cent of the firms indicated that there was a shortage of skilled labor at present levels of production, but 88 per cent said they anticipated skilled labor shortages on a 24-hour, seven-day-week production basis. The situation in semiskilled labor is not so serious, the survey showed. More than one third of the companies also anticipated an eventual shortage of unskilled labor.

5—Sixty-four per cent of the industrial firms surveyed expressed confidence that the capacity of their entire industry was sufficient to fulfill the needs of the war defense program as now constituted. Forty-six per cent of the firms said they already had contracted for or were planning to build, buy, or rent additional floor capacity to step up their defense production.

National Survey

This special survey was separate from the nation-wide "Preparedness Through Production" inventory of plant facilities which the N. A. M. working in cooperation with the National Industrial Council, recently completed. More than 1,000 questionnaires were sent out to manufacturers, large and small, in that huge undertaking. Preliminary reports indicated the existence of a considerable amount of idle or only partly used machinery, facilities, and floor space. These returns are now being tabulated and the final results will be made available to defense officials at Washington and to manufacturers throughout the country. The data will be especially valuable for expediting subcontracting in particular areas where the primary contractor may be seeking special processing equipment for "farmed out" work.

BRITISH NAVY SETS A TRAP FOR AXIS IN A MEDITERRANEAN AREA

By J. W. T. MASON
United Press War Export

The British Mediterranean fleet has resumed successful operations to lock the entrance door into North Africa against German reinforcements of troops and supplies.

The British, in sinking a full enemy convoy of five loaded merchantmen and three destroyers, undoubtedly have given Berlin cause for uneasiness regarding the eventual fate of the axis forces in Libya.

Hitler's propaganda office is claiming that the British expeditionary force in Greece is trapped. But strengthening of British naval action off Tripoli gives more reason for believing that the Germans, themselves, are in danger of a trap in North Africa.

Should the German offensive in Greece become successful because of overwhelming numbers, British command of the Mediterranean will allow an open road of overseas retirement to Egypt. If, however, the Germans and their fascist allies in Libya are compelled to fall back, a real trap awaits them because their homeward route by sea crosses the resumed patrol area of the British fleet.

Full resumption of the British fleet's action in the middle Mediterranean, however, probably is not yet feasible. As long as uncertainty exists regarding the outcome of the fighting in Greece and the eventual movements of the Anglo-Greek forces there, it would seem essential for a considerable part of the British fleet to remain in readiness for any eventuality in the eastern Mediterranean.

TOBEY CHARGES SHORTER DEFENSE LINES MAY ENABLE ALLIES TO HOLD THE NAZI ADVANCE UPON ATHENS

WASHINGTON, April 18.—Sen. Charles Tobey, Republican, New Hampshire asserted in the United States Senate today that he had received "reliable" information that President Roosevelt had authorized conveying merchant ships by the United States Navy "about a month ago."

Democratic leader Alben Barkley, Democrat, Kentucky, said that he had been authorized by Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox to say that American warships had not conveyed munitions and that such convoys had not been authorized.

In his press conference today President Roosevelt declined to comment on a question about United States convoys for shipping to Britain, but warned the newspapermen that citizens of the United States had not yet become conscious of the seriousness to America of the war in Europe.

Questioned as to whether German advances in the Balkans had increased America's concern over the war in Europe, the president stated that it would not be proper for him to comment upon such a possibility.

SENATE PASSES A BILL TO DRY UP THE DRY COUNTIES

AUSTIN, April 18.—After two days stiff opposition in the Texas senate the house-passed bill to end prescription liquor abuses in dry areas was passed yesterday afternoon without a single negative vote.

The bill prohibits a physician issuing more than 100 prescriptions in a 90-day period in dry territory. Few changes were made in the house-passed bill. All amendments, except those accepted by sponsors, were tabled. The accepted amendments, however, send the bill back to the house.

When the bill is finally passed it will become effective the moment the governor signs it. A vote of 112 ayes to 16 noes in the house and the senate vote of 29 ayes gives the bill the required number to make its emergency clause effective.

Sen. Olan Van Zandt of Tioga made the final stand against passage of the bill by the senate after various amendments which he offered had been rejected. Van Zandt said the strictness of the provisions will result in a revival of bootlegging on a large scale in dry counties. After the bill had been passed to third reading over his dissenting vote Van Zandt announced he bowed to the will of the senate and voted for it.

In the house, a constitutional amendment proposing to put the state government on a cash basis beginning in 1945 was passed finally by 110 to 29 votes.

If the proposal gets a two-thirds majority in the senate, it will be submitted to the voters and become effective Jan. 1, 1945.

The measure passed by the house today was a substitute for one that lacked five votes of the required 100 when it came up Tuesday. By Rep. W. O. Reed of Dallas, the constitutional amendment was recommended by Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel.

The resolution provides that the comptroller shall submit at the beginning of each session of the legislature a report on the financial condition of the state and revenue expected to be available to pay appropriations by the legislature. Appropriations made in excess of the comptroller's estimate would be unconstitutional.

Objection that the provision was not elastic enough to care for emergencies was met in the substitute bill by a requirement that the legislature, by four-fifths consent, would make appropriations for which there was no money immediately in sight.

Another major resolution is for issuance by the legislature of a bond issue to finance the deficit in the state treasury as of Sept. 1, 1943. This would enable the legislature after that date to appropriate from a deficit-free treasury.

General J. Watt Page, State Director, pointed out that this rule applies in those cases in which the suspended sentence is still pending, as well as in those cases in which the suspended sentence has been set aside.

"All Texas Selective Service boards have today been instructed to check their classification records, and to re-classify and induct in the order of their order numbers all registrants heretofore placed in Class IV-F as fellows who come within the purview of this ruling," General Page said.

This new inculator is still in the experimental stage and has been prepared especially for peanuts. If it proves to be better for peanut production than the general legume inculator, it will be placed on the market for sale next year.

The Eastland County 4-H Club boys are planning to keep an accurate record of their demonstrations, and compare them with the production of the same type of land where an inoculant wasn't used. If anyone is interested in the results, they will be able to get them in the County Agent's office as soon as the demonstrations are completed.

WASHINGTON, April 18.—Corporations and individuals today faced the prospect of paying from 25 to 30 per cent higher taxes on this year's income and on cigarettes, gasoline and other taxable commodities, beginning July 1.

The new prospects followed Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau's request for new taxes to meet defense program expenditures for the coming year.

U. S. Army Issues Call for More Men

General J. Watt Page, State Selective Service Director, today announced the quotas of men that each of Texas' 351 local boards will furnish to fill a U. S. Army requisition for 1,000 trainees under the Selective Service Act.

The trainees—all white—will be inducted May 5th, 6th, 7th and 8th.

This is the Army's twelfth call on Texas to supply men for military training. The first trainees were inducted last November, and the total number already inducted is 23,385. According to War Department plans, approximately 5,000 additional will be inducted before July 1 to complete the State's quota for the first year of the program.

The Eastland Local Board received their 12th call for the Army today for six men to report to Dallas Induction Station on May 5, 1941. To date the board has eight volunteers for the call.

Farmers Buy High Grade Goats For Breeding Stock

Four Eastland County farmers have just bought for foundation flocks one hundred forty-four high grade Angora nannies from Joe B. Ross of Sonora, according to County Agent Elmo V. Cook. Those who bought the goats were John Blackwell, 35 head; Frank Williamson, 50 head; George Bennett, 19 head and J. C. Carter, 40 head.

The goats bought from Ross are "C" type, producing a fine quality of mohair and are from a flock that has been bred up for more than forty years.

Cook reports that Eastland County farmers are buying small flocks of goats as frequently that it is hard to estimate the numbers brought into the county during the last few months. He admits, however, that some of the goats being brought into the county are culls from flocks that were not too good before culling.

He describes a good mohair goat as one well covered over the entire body, except face and legs, with fine mohair of good length; and an animal that will produce a good poundage of mohair for a number of years. Such an animal should also produce its kind.

A few Eastland county farmers who have recently gone into goat production on a small scale are Ed Castleberry, John Nix, Melva Love, D. C. Weekes, J. R. Powers, Charlie Nossok, W. N. Stephens, Melvin Maynard, Frank Hagood, Merritt Hazard, Robert Barber, J. C. Caraway and Hulon Sims.

Convicted Man May Be Able To Get In Army As Draftee

A man convicted of a felony, but who receives a suspended sentence, is still eligible for induction into the military service if otherwise subject to the Selective Service Act, it was announced at State Headquarters today.

General J. Watt Page, State Director, pointed out that this rule applies in those cases in which the suspended sentence is still pending, as well as in those cases in which the suspended sentence has been set aside.

Twelve 4-H Club Boys Are Given Special Equipment

Twelve 4-H Club boys of Eastland County have been given a new and special nitrogen inoculator for their peanut demonstration, according to John A. Wright, Ass't County Agent.

This new inoculator is still in the experimental stage and has been prepared especially for peanuts. If it proves to be better for peanut production than the general legume inoculator, it will be placed on the market for sale next year.

The Eastland County 4-H Club boys are planning to keep an accurate record of their demonstrations, and compare them with the production of the same type of land where an inoculant wasn't used. If anyone is interested in the results, they will be able to get them in the County Agent's office as soon as the demonstrations are completed.

LOVE POWER

BY OREN ARNOLD

COPYRIGHT 1941, NEA SERVICE, INC.

YESTERDAY in Dr. Hale's laboratory, Carolyn learned something of the power of the new discovery X-99. A pungent but more explosive power than 15,000 tons of TNT. Finally, Carolyn began to get off for food. Dr. Hale has forgotten about meals. But he enjoys dancing with his new...

MOVES X-999 CHAPTER IV

LEANA SORMI'S indignation was almost frightening to Carolyn for a moment. The older girl's lips were taut, pale, and she talked in peculiar clipped manner revealing a hint of foreign accent which didn't show ordinarily.

Then fear in Carolyn was suddenly replaced by anger.

"Miss Sormi," she said, levelly, "if any reprehensible act is to be done, Dr. Hale is the one to be hired."

Robert Hale had been acutely stressed by the whole scene. He felt himself responsible, and yet Carolyn quickly caught herself.

"Oh, I beg your pardon! Both of you. Let's not be touchy. It's quite late and of course you are on edge tonight."

That was reasonable. Leana left them without another word, and with his manner Bob Hale thanked Carolyn. He had her go home and order a taxi for her.

"Rest, but come back early," he said. "There is so much to do tomorrow. So much every day now!"

Course Leana is upset. So am I, Miss Tyler. You—I don't know what I should have done about you today, and tonight!"

He pressed her hand with fervor, and gazed longingly after her when the cab drove away. Carolyn told herself again that she had never encountered so extraordinary a young man. She felt far removed from him professionally because of his fame as a scientist.

But personally, woman to man—the vague stirring within her kept her delightfully awake for an hour even after retiring. Then sheer physical fatigue triumphed and seemingly in a matter of seconds it was morning. She dressed hurriedly. Dr. Hale had said come back early, and this job was a piece of cake anyway.

"I will not!" She dimpled at her boss. "Ken is just a nice convenience. I told him I had a job this week. I shall wait."

"All right, I'll call Ken. We—Himmum!"

"Ken Palmer. You met him, remember? He wanted to come to dinner tonight and—"

"Oh, Oh I see. Then of course, Miss Tyler, you will go."

"I will not!" She dimpled at her boss. "Ken is just a nice convenience. I told him I had a job this week. I shall wait."

"That was that, it developed. Dr. Hale showed no skill at arguing his point, and no cunning for it anyway.

But there was no dancing at the word "our" but she didn't misunderstand him; Dr. Hale was wrapped up in the great discovery and its potentiality, she knew.

"I have already arranged for a man," said he now. "A man to drive a truck tonight. There is a farmhouse, vacant, 30 miles out of the city. A friend of mine owns it and the acreage around it. There is a tight barn, too. Guards can be disguised as woodcutters, and—"

Carolyn interrupted. "But Dr. Hale, why do you tell me this?"

"Himmum!" He looked surprised.

"If it is to be a secret hiding place—you know scarcely anything about me! Might not I—?"

"No. I have studied you, Miss Tyler. Analyzed you, yesterday. I trust you wholly. And anyway, I had checked on your credentials before you came, as I told you."

"A few must know all the intimacies here, the secrets. Leana Sormi. Myself. Now you. For the time being we three are enough. The X-999 is so dangerously explosive and so unprecedented in every way—What I needed in you was a confidential secretary but if you feel that the work may be too—"

"Oh, Dr. Hale!" He had honored her highly and she felt deep gratitude. "I love it! What do you wish me to do first this morning?"

There was a pile of unanswered letters. After he had labored an hour with trivial, routine dictation, Carolyn volunteered to answer all that she could alone, submitting the typed answers only for his approval. By noon only a scant dozen remained that demanded his own phrasing.

She ate alone in the drive-in place a few blocks away, and was soon back typing. In mid-afternoon her employer asked if she could work this night again.

"I shall be very busy in the laboratory arranging a hidden case," he explained. "It is under way now. In fact, we might clip out for a bite together again, at 6:30 or so. Himmum!"

"All right, I'll call Ken. We—Himmum!"

"Ken Palmer. You met him, remember? He wanted to come to dinner tonight and—"

"Oh, Oh I see. Then of course, Miss Tyler, you will go."

"I will not!" She dimpled at her boss. "Ken is just a nice convenience. I told him I had a job this week. I shall wait."

"That was that, it developed. Dr. Hale showed no skill at arguing his point, and no cunning for it anyway.

But there was no dancing at the word "our" but she didn't misunderstand him; Dr. Hale was wrapped up in the great discovery and its potentiality, she knew.

"You must go home as soon as you can and sleep," she ordered kindly. All at once she felt embarrassed. Bussing her own boss! She couldn't ever imagine herself feeling this friendliness and proprietorship for the banker where she had just been secretary; but Robert Hale was so—so different.

The man who the truck came at 11:30. He was an efficient-looking but somewhat arrogant individual. Dr. Hale, Leana Sormi and Carolyn all went to the laboratory with him. Immediately both the driver and Carolyn were astounded.

From the great laboratory, surrounded by armed guards—themselves enough to arouse curiosity—Robert Hale carried a parcel no bigger than half a shoe box. But he strained with the weight of it.

"Partly wrappings, partly the leaden case," he explained to Carolyn. "The actual content is only a paltry portion, of course. The lead is essential to guard against powerful radiations. It would take sudden heat or a shock like a dynamite cap to explode it, but—"

"They had come then within earshot of the driver, who spoke then."

"What's in it?" he asked, jokingly. "Jewels, huh?"

"No," Dr. Hale said, calmly. "Nothing like that. But it demands the utmost care."

"Yeah! Think of that! I'll help you fix the rest of 'em."

"This is all. Only the one."

"Yeah!" The truck driver was incredulous. He had a two-ton truck, enclosed. For just one tiny parcel, hardly six inches square, to sit in that big van looked silly to him. And why did some screwy professor want it sent out at night to an abandoned farm? "22" why must it rest, like 225, 250, 255 cotton paddings?"

Robert paid the man in advance generously, but that didn't satisfy his curiosity. They

Winning Essay In Contest Sponsored By Elks Committee

(Editor's note: The following is the second prize winner among Ranger High School Students in the national contest sponsored by the Elks National Defense Commission.)

By Claudine Jarvis Ranger High School 310 S. Marston, Ranger The fourteen persons or things which I see in the picture of Uncle Sam are as follows: 1. The face of Uncle Sam; 2. Stars of the American flag; 3. Soldier; 4. Red Cross nurse; 5. Aviator; 6. Sailor; 7. Chemist; 8. Farmer; 9. The Capitol; 10. Cannon; 11. Factory; 12. Man working in steel factory; 13. Airplane; 14. Ship. I have been under the protection of Uncle Sam all of my life, and to me, Uncle Sam has become a symbol of freedom, opportunity and security. He is a symbol of something that I hold dear and of something that I shall always cherish.

I can go about my daily tasks, go places, talk to friends, and do fairly well as I please, without the fear of molestation. I can feel free to talk to my friends and express my opinions about any subject that I choose; whether that subject be political or religious. I can choose the worship I wish to follow and everyone else, no matter what race, can choose the worship he wishes to follow. There is also freedom of the radio and the press and it is my privilege to gain information from these sources and in doing so, I can be fairly sure that what I hear and read is the truth. Thus, first of all, Uncle Sam is a symbol of freedom for the people who are under his rule. Uncle Sam is also a symbol of many opportunities offered to the American people. He gives all possible aid to help educate and train the youth and prepare them for the future. He offers to us, the youth, a wider field of business activity. We can be scientists, farmers, miners, doctors, or workers of any kind; each person is free to choose whatever occupation he wishes to follow. Through the aid of Uncle Sam, we are able to accomplish our dreams and desires and in return, Uncle Sam asks very little. Perhaps the most important symbol for which Uncle Sam stands is that of not only securing but keeping these things. Uncle Sam has protected me against foreign invaders in the past and is doing all in his power to do so now. He is enlarging our army and navy; he is manufacturing more guns, tanks, airplanes, ships, etc. He is training our youth and making them stronger and more accurate in warfare. He is training them to endure the hardships that accompany war. In short, Uncle Sam is doing all in his power to fortify our "country" and "home" alike. He guards against the threats of those who are causing so much strife in other countries. Uncle Sam is doing all these things so that I, and every other American citizen, may continue to enjoy the freedoms that are now ours; that we may take advantage of the opportunities offered us; and that we may continue to be a free people. He is unselfish and does all for the good of the people. May the freedoms and opportunities that he has worked for through the ages and is working for now endure. May he always be a symbol of the things for which he now stands—freedom, opportunity, and security.

Longest Beds In World Installed In Amarillo Hospital

By United Press
 AMARILLO, Tex.—A pair of "No. 11's" peeping out beneath the end of the covers inspired the nurse that gave this city the longest hospital beds in the world. When the addition to the Northwest Texas Hospital was built a year ago, 7-foot beds were installed. The standard bed stretches only 6 feet, 6 inches. The largest beds were made to order. Administrator Harry Hatch got the idea when he saw a pair of "No. 11's" sticking through the foot of a bed and resting on a table shoved in to meet the problem.

Plain Good Sense Will Pull Us Through

For some kind of tin medal for having made the least valuable contribution toward solving the strike situation in defense industries, we nominate those gentlemen who rose in Senate and House and shrieked for "the electric chair" and "treason charges punishable by 25 years' imprisonment" for strikers.

Strikes in defense industries are a grave matter. It is certainly true that they must be regarded in a different light from ordinary strikes. The country has deliberately and democratically decided that its future safety depends on quick production of defense material of all kinds. It will not allow that decision to be nullified by petty personal selfishness or political prejudices of either workmen or employers. But few strike leaders have shown greater irresponsibility than have those congressmen who scream "electric chair" and "treason."

We believe firmly that the great mass of American workmen is completely loyal to the United States. If there were not so, nothing would save us, certainly not electric chairs and 25-year prison terms. But we have complete faith in the ultimate loyalty of American workmen to a country and a government, which, with all their faults and shortcomings, have still provided the best place in the world to live and work.

A strike is like any quarrel. It is possible, technically for one side to start one. But as a practical matter, that seldom happens. There is almost always fault on both sides. And one can scarcely fail to notice that in most cases where defense strikes have been long and bitter, they have occurred in places where labor relations in the past have been unhappy, in places where the modern trend in such relations has been resisted, and where long legal and obstructive delays have shaken faith in existing labor laws and machinery.

One quick way to iron out misunderstandings would be this: when a strike is called largely for jurisdictional or organizational reasons, let the government call and run an instant election, not waiting for either union leaders or industrialists to ask it. Then claims of who represents who can be winnowed, and the facts found. Then let the government insist on good-faith bargaining with whoever is revealed as the true representative of the men, and let work go on while bargaining continues.

You'll have better luck doing your best and expecting the worst than doing your worst and expecting the best.

It's likely some folks already are saving up old paper and trash to scatter around picnic grounds.

Eight Farmers Get Fertilizer As Soil Builder

Eight farmers and ranchers of Eastland County who are cooperating with the county agent in demonstrating soil improvement received a carload of TVA triple superphosphate fertilizer last week from the Tennessee Valley Authority plant in Sheffield, Alabama. Seven of the demonstrators have been conducting their demonstrations for from one to three years, applying the high analysis fertilizer to legumes and turning these legumes under as soil builders or applying it to permanent pastures which have been seeded with legumes such as bur clover and sweet clover.

The eight soil improvement demonstrators are J. D. Inabnet, A. W. Armstrong, J. F. Robertson, F. E. Harrell, Geo. P. Fee, T. E. Castleberry, I. S. Echols and W. B. Starr. Robert Tucker, another demonstrator who has several acres of hairy vetch growing on land fertilized and planted to peas last year, did not make application for TVA fertilizer this year.

MAKING AMERICA STRONG

INDUSTRIES PRODUCING FOR DEFENSE ARE EMPLOYING INCREASING THOUSANDS OF NEW WORKMEN FROM WEEK TO WEEK. Includes a bar chart showing employment increases in aircraft, shipbuilding, machine tools, aircraft engines, and firearms.

This is one of a series of articles designed to inform the public of the progress being made by American industry in providing the weapons for national defense. The facts presented have been gathered in surveys of leading defense industries and from other authoritative sources.

SERIAL STORY

LOVE POWER

DELANEY GETS CURIOUS CHAPTER V. UNANSWERED questions in the mind of Mr. Spud Delaney, a staid driver for the Metropolitan Transfer Company, nagged at his curiosity for a full hour while he edged his truck in and out of the city's traffic. He decided he should have taken the truck route down Commerce street, which would have been faster, but this was midnight and by going straight through town he could stop over by the furniture factory and have a late beer with Red Cragin. It was only 30 miles to the farmhouse anyway, so why hurry? He pulled up in front of Cragin's "Red Spot," which was just a shanty saloon catering to factory workers by day and chance motorists by night. The place would have been closed for lack of business except that Red also slept there. Red was willing to chin with Spud Delaney. They had more than one beer; at least Spud did. It was past 11 when Spud left Red's bar, singing. He was not drunk—he was too smart to get drunk on any driving job—but he wasn't depressed, either. He had a good new cigar, on Red. He climbed up to his truck cab and turned to face Red again. "Red, I got the nuttiest load I ever heard of," he declared sarcastically. "Big as my two cats, settin' on cotton."

of labor's estimate of total non-agricultural employment to 36,384,000 — which is 2,213,000 greater than the February, 1940 level and 1,356,000 above the previous February peak of 35,225,000 for 1929. The biggest gains, of course, were recorded in manufacturing which, with 175,000 new workers on the payrolls for the month, also had a new employment high for February. These figures reflect the steadily expanding employment in defense work. The new employes are both skilled and unskilled, but industry—as shown in a recent survey—is doing its utmost to convert this new unskilled labor into semi-skilled and ultimately skilled workmen. The survey showed, for instance, that 93 per cent of the firms questioned (all of them primary defense contractors) were training men and women for new jobs. The February increases in employment followed rises recorded in January. Taken together, the two-month increases give a picture of the swelling tide of productive activity in American industry today. Here are the employment increase figures for the two months in key defense industries: aircraft, 17,300; shipbuilding, 17,100; machine tools and machine tool accessories production, 11,400; aircraft engine, 7,500; firearms, ammunition and explosives, 4,600. This in a mere 60 days, industry has added in these few categories a total of 57,500 workers. Add the new employment figures for tanks, big guns, trucks, ordnance production and the thousands of feeder plants at work on defense orders and you have an approximate picture of the teeming activity which typifies the present-day American industrial scene. Training these new workers and retraining the older ones who are "coming back" present problems for industry to solve before the newcomers can actually go to work for defense. Under the present pace of urgent need, there can be no thorough schooling in all phases of mechanical or other techniques. There is no time for that. Specialized training in the order of the day, many industries reducing the training to a per-where the new workman—at least for the time being—is learned but one or two steps of the process. But those he learns thoroughly that he becomes an expert in a single phase of defense production. Thus do industry and labor join hands to make good on America's number one job.

4-H Club Boys Demonstrate The Raising of Feed

Twenty 4-H club boys from as many clubs in Eastland County are cooperating with Elmo V. Cook, county agent in demonstrating how to raise feed on sandy land, thus exploding the belief among many farmers of the county that feed cannot be profitably produced on their land.

According to the feed production plan being followed by the twenty club boys, each boy has received ten pounds of Texas State Certified Seed which have been treated by the county agent with Ceresan to control head smuts and other seed carried diseases. Some of the boys are planting hegari and the others kaffir.

Each boy has agreed to prepare his land well before planting by deep listing or bedding, fertilizing with one hundred pounds of 4-12-4 fertilizer per acre and keeping complete cost records on the crop. The feed will be planted between May 1 and 15. The crop produced will be used to feed out beef calves, lambs or pigs this next fall.

Ordnance Base To Be Equipped With Shelters

By United Press
 OGDEN, Utah—When the new, multi-million dollar shell-loading plant at the mammoth Ogden Army ordnance depot is completed about July 1, sixteen bomb-proof shelters at the arsenal will be ready for occupancy when and if necessary.

Construction officers said the shelters were designed primarily to protect workers in case of an emergency such as an explosion. However, Constructing Quartermaster Elmer G. Thomas said the shelters "would also be a protection against bombing attacks."

Thomas said the shelters might collapse under a direct hit, "but such attacks are considered very improbable and this remote danger isn't the reason for building the shelters."

PARADOXICAL SUPERSTITIONS

The superstitious angler who would rather stick his trout in his back pocket or shirt front than court poor luck by carrying a creel, would probably stop ... and reach for his rabbit foot if he came across this ... fishing guide of Quebec—who courts double bad luck by carrying a frying pan. Just before the trout season opens in Quebec the Indian guides go to their favorite streams or lakes and fry bacon which is supposed to bring them good luck throughout the season. In one place it's bad luck to anticipate your catch and in another it's the best of luck which is what makes busy men play truant from their "business and leave their families without quail of conscience.

Jungle and Perils Lure Girl Steno On Vacations

By United Press

CLEVELAND, O.—Many girls who spend their lives pecking away at an office typewriter or behind a sales counter, yearn on for a summer cruise outfitted in the latest styles for sailing. Not so Bernice Goetz of Rocky River, O., however.

Bernice, 30, is a girl who would rather camp through a jungle or other less traveled spots on the globe and so far has explored ancient ruins in Mexico, climbed the Andes and traversed the interior of Peru looking for Inca ruins; made a muleback trek into Guatemala; roamed the sparsely inhabited regions of Honduras, and looked for the Jivaro head hunters in the snake-infested Oriente jungles of Ecuador.

Her first trip, through Mexican archeological ruins when she was only 20, further whetted her appetite for globe-trotting. Her next jaunt will take her into the Honduras territory again to study

Homes Reflect a Steamboat Era

By United Press

NEW ORLEANS.—Two homes, built by a river pilot and his son to retain some of the lore of the old Mississippi packets, stand beneath the levee in the older section of this city.

Capt. M. P. Doullut, who spent his entire life on the river until his death in 1928, built one of the homes on the pattern of an old river boat, with its stacks, beaded gingerbread and silvered iron—a reminder of what had gone before.

Capt. Doullut was one of the last of the old pilots who worked the river before the advent of modern steamboats. He hated to see the old life pushed out—the present century.

With his son Paul, and a Negro helping, Capt. Doullut built his home in a year and a half. The two-story building is topped by a pilot house with windows on all sides. On the first floor—the en-

Traveling Pack Light

She travels with only a toothbrush, comb, soap, and two changes of clothes in addition to a camera and film. Traveling alone except for a native guide, Bernice has had some hair-raising experiences, although she says, "I have been frightened some, but never enough to be stopped."

Her worst experience, she related, was on her Ecuador trip when she sought out the Jivaros, inland head hunters. She was deserted by her guide and carriers and wandered lost in the jungle for four days until an exploring Englishman chanced upon her.

"I go on these trips for my own reasons," Bernice says, "because it's in my heart to go after certain interests. That's why I don't take the risks seriously. Of course, if you're afraid, you may as well not start. You have to wear your courage on your sleeve in a country where first impressions are everything."

Guides Selected Carefully

It's a pretty ticklish business picking a guide and maintaining his respect and obedience afterwards, she relates. First she visits the guide's home so that his wife can see her. Washing in hot water and extensive hair combing in the morning becomes a ritual to give one a proper caste with the guide.

"The first few days the guide probably will be lousy of the unusual job of guiding a woman. Carrying a cot has enabled me to maintain prestige and the proper distance at night, though I reaped cramped limbs from privacy in my mosquito bar and wish for an informal hammock."

When not roving, Bernice is secretary to C. H. Parsons, president of Brooks and Stafford Co., Cleveland underwriters. Understanding her unusual call of adventure, her employer gives her a vacation every time her "going away" feeling asserts itself.

Her trips vary in cost from $400 to $1,000 and are financed by herself out of her savings and lectures about her experiences which bring her additional revenue.

Policemen Use Club To Save Man's Life

By United Press

PHILADELPHIA.—The first time in 10 years that John Hackett, Philadelphia park guard, used his policeman's club, he saved a man's life.

Carter Reed had been riding on the rear of a truck when it was struck by a private car. Hackett used his nightstick to tighten a tourniquet he applied to Reed's crushed leg. The leg was amputated but hospital authorities said the tourniquet probably prevented death from excessive bleeding.

Cancer Is Second To Tuberculosis Is Given Publicity

AUSTIN, Texas—“Next to tuberculosis, no other disease in recent years has been more emphasized in the press and by magazines, over the radio and from the speaker's platform than cancer. Despite the widespread and easily understood information thus made generally available, the number of cancer deaths in Texas and in most states continues to increase. This unfortunate situation in part is due to the fact that fully one-third of these fatalities, but for carelessness or ignorance, need not have occurred,” declares Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

“During 1940, deaths from all causes in the State of Texas totaled 62,492. Cancer was responsible for 5,345, or 8.6 per cent of all deaths. Out of this number, at least one-third of the cancer deaths, or 1,780, might have been saved had a physician been consulted early in the course of the disease. A loss of 1,780 savable lives is a factor that neither the medical profession or public health officials can view complacently. Moreover, a measurable reduction in this figure depends not so much upon present-day scientific information, but, rather, upon a more general individual appreciation of early symptoms and prompt professional attention thereto.

“This suicidal indifference to recognizable suspicious symptoms is explained but cannot be excused, on the basis that in the pre-caerous and early stages of cancer pain is lacking, bone cancer excepted. Thus, a painless lump in the chest or other parts of the body; a painless though persistent sore, particularly on the face or on the mouth; a painless though unusual bleeding from any body opening; and chronic indigestion are frequently disregarded until pain drives the victim to his physician's office. When the disease has progressed to such a point, often the treatment that could have been applied successfully earlier no longer is of benefit.

“While the above-mentioned symptoms do not necessarily mean that the cancer exists or is in the offing, to assume that such is not the case is to turn one's back deliberately upon warnings that can only be properly diagnosed by a physician. The sooner the facts are known, the greater the chances for recovery, provided the diagnosis be positive.

“It is heartening to know that in three-fourths of the cases displaying usual symptoms, cancer is not present. Nevertheless, it is the height of folly and may result in what practically amounts to self-destruction to be unappreciative of their potential significance.

“In short, prompt diagnosis, coupled with prompt and effective treatment is the greatest weapon against cancer. In the light of present-day cancer knowledge, the cure of cancer depends to a large extent upon early team-work between the patient and his physician.

Gorman Growers Spraying Fruit To Kill Worms

S. E. Mears and L. F. Mears, two brothers who farm four miles east of Gorman, are conducting a demonstration of control of fruit insects in cooperation with the county agent, Elmo V. Cook. They are following a recommended spray schedule on their one thousand peach and plum trees to control curculio (known as plum weevil or peach worm), brown rot and scab, using a barrel sprayer and applying a mixture of five pounds of wettable sulphur, three pounds of lime, three pounds of zinc sulphate, one pound of arsenate of lead and fifty gallons of water.

They expect to spray four or five times in order to effectively control insects and diseases.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank you our friends for your thoughtfulness and loving kindness in our recent bereavement.

Mrs. G. R. Getts, Harold Getts and Family, Ralph Getts and Family.

Eastland County Has Two Men On Stephenville P.C.A.

Dr. Henry Fisherman, veterinarian for the U. S. Bureau of Animal Industry has just completed tuberculin testing of nineteen hundred and sixteen cattle in Eastland County and found them to be one hundred percent free of tuberculosis. The cattle, mostly dairy cows and family milk cows, were owned by one hundred and eighty seven people. Dr. Fisherman spent four weeks testing the cattle in the county as a part of the U. S. Government's program to keep the county T. B. accredited. Practically all of the cattle in the county were tuberculin tested in 1935 and a few hundred head each three year period since then.

ITHACA, N. Y.— Collegians are becoming religious-minded to the extent that it is costing Cornell University money.

So well attended are Sunday services and activities of the Cornell United Religious Work program that the board of trustees has approved plans for the enlarging of Sage Chapel.
