An Era Comes to an End

An era of some of the vastest subsidies ever offered by a government to private industry is coming to an end.

Ninety years ago a developing America wanted railroads, and wanted them badly. So it offered land grants to those who would build them. More than 158,000,000 acres of land were given to railroad companies -- an area almost equivalent to the whole Atlantic seaboard from Canada to the Gulf. Usually they received great tracts alternating on either side of their right-of-way.

This subsidy didn't cost the taxpayers anything directly. Land was what the United States had the most of, and giving it away to railroad builders by the millions of acres did not seem extravagant so long as the needed railroads got built. But it was a subsidy-and a subsidy so generous that those who received it couldn't even use it

In 1940 a new transportation act was passed, providing for the return to federal ownership a million of acres of this land The whole system had become antiquated. Stop-Watch Accuracy Isn't Good Enough When It Comes to Your Electric Service!

· A hundred and twenty times every second—no more, no less—the electrical energy that operates your clock alternates. That's why thousands of jobs done electrically in home, office, store and factory-jobs where nothing less than such precision will do-are entrusted to service of Texas Electric Service Company.

Stop-watch accuracy isn't good enough for your electric service because the 60-cycle alternating current you receive must be exactly that at all times no matter when you flip a switch and no matter how heavy the loads you ask it to handle.

Your electric service company is able to provide this reliable power in abundance and at low cost because throughout the years it has anticipated your increasing needs accurately. Then it has put into operation facilities for this expanded service in advance of your needs. And finally, having always accurately estimated your expanding needs and having always provided ample reserve facilities to fill these needs, it has analyzed the daily power-consumption habits of the people so thoroughly that it knows the probable amount of consumption in any given area at every hour of the day.

Make greater use of your cheapest, most reliable and most versatile servant: electricity. Enable it to do each job for less by giving it more jobs to do!
