GERMAN OIL SUPPLY IS NOW BELIEVED TO BE ADEQUATE; TRANSPORTATION A PROBLEM

Germany's dependence on petroleum has been vastly overrated and there is little hope of an immediate shortage of petroleum supplies to cause a collapse of her efforts, the London "Petroleum Press Service" reports in its April issue. Despite the predictions of experts, Germany is getting enough petroleum to support her armies under present conditions, and only a major effort by the British to interfere with the flow of petroleum products by bombing refineries and synthetic plants, and by disrupting the oil-transport routes, can hope to complicate the Axis supply problems.

Belief of many petroleum and military experts that Germany's admittedly meager petroleum supplies would be insufficient to prosecute a war has been found incorrect, the article states, because of the great difference in the techniques of this war and the 1914-1918 struggle. In 1918 the central Powers were able to obtain only a little more than 2,000,000 tons of petroleum products, and this quantity was inefficient and a major factor in compelling the armistice.

Two years ago the most conservative estimates indicated that Germany would have to have 10,000,000 to 15,000,000 tons a year for war, and a German expert in her economy reported that 15,000,000 to 20,000,000 tons would be needed. Germany now is operating a huge air force, a vast motorized army, and a greatly-expanded industrial and civilian economy with a new supply of only about 8,000,000 tons of petroleum products annually, plus whatever stocks she was able to store up or to get from occupied countries.

Germany's oil supply obviously has improved greatly from 1918, yet, the article states, "this would have been of little avail had military operations this time been only a magnified version of those 25 years ago. Had fighting, with the huge wastage of most continuous and over fronts of many hundreds of miles, it is almost certain that, in spite of all preparations, a serious oil shortage would by now have arisen."

The blitzkrieg idea of bold, rapid thrusts, in conjunction with total warfare, were calculated to be of short duration. Whatever quantities of liquid fuels such thrusts might consume, they would not cut too deeply into Germany's supplies. The Polish campaign was over in less than three weeks, and the assault in the West was finished in less than two months. While they lasted, the article reports, "these operations certainly involved a quite substantial consumption of oil products; but because they were so limited in time, and because they yielded much booty, they left Germany's supply position practically unimpaired."

"There is thus no parallel between Germany's oil position today and that of 1914-1918. Not only has the oil consumption of her fighting forces been much below expectations, but the ratio between this consumption and the internal requirements of the Reich—meanwhile grown to vast proportions—has been completely reversed. Instead of doubling or trebling the peace-time demand, war operations proper have turned out to form but a fraction of this demand; and what is more, by cutting down civilian requirements substantial quantities of oil were set free for military use."

"These striking differences between the experiences of the two wars explain why Germany has not hitherto suffered from any oil shortage. Nor do they allow us to anticipate an early collapse of the Third Reich because of such shortage. But this does not imply that the Nazis will always be assured of their oil supplies. Given the necessary scale and intensity of interference at the many vulnerable points in the German oil economy, the flow of these supplies may be considerably hampered, if not altogether disrupted."

WPA Truck Bids For Year Sought

SAN ANTONIO—Invitations to truck owners to bid on contracts for truck services on WPA projects by the State Procurement Officer of the United States Treasury, E. A. Baugh, state director of operations for WPA said today.

Truck owners in any part of Texas who do not receive their invitations may secure them by sending their requests to the State Procurement Officer, Bell Building, San Antonio, Baugh said.

All bids for truck service contracts must be returned to the State Procurement Office not later than June 6, 1941, Baugh explained, and contracts for truck services on WPA projects during the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1941, will be awarded winning bids.

Each truck must comply with WPA safety requirements before contracts will be awarded.

Another bombed vessel goes down as Battle of the Atlantic nears its climax.

These unusual pictures, confiscated by British contraband control officers, put you in the pilot's seat of a Stuka dive bomber during an attack on a British convoy "somewhere in the Atlantic." Filmed by official German army cameramen, the pictures were on their way to South America for use in German propaganda.

West Texas Chamber of Commerce To Open Its 23rd Convention Thursday At Mineral Wells; Senator To Speak

Thursday the West Texas chamber of commerce convention, its 23rd annual, will get under way in Mineral Wells.

Certain raises in the session will be the directors' initial dinner and business session, at 6:30 Thursday evening at the Crazy Hotel. Following, at 8 o'clock, will come the first general session. This will be a patriotic mass meeting in Mineral Wells' big convention hall on Oak street, seating 3,500 persons. This will be a three-part affair, opening with a 30-minute concert by the 30-piece Odessa high school band directed by G. Ward Moody, president of the WTCOC's official band. Next, a group of girl sponsors—"West Texas Beauties"—will be presented from the auditorium stage by Dr. A. H. Zappe, vice-president of the Mineral Wells chamber of commerce. Mineral Wells is host to the sponsors this year.

Concluding the program—to go on the air over station KGKO of Fort Worth—John Lee Smith of Throckmorton, state senator from the 24th district, will deliver the patriotic oration, his subject, "Preserving the American Way of Life."

Senator Smith, pictured here, was formerly state chairman of the American Legion committee on Americanism. He is now supreme vice-chancellor of the Knights of Pythias of the United States and Canada, in direct succession to the order's highest post reared on a farm in Throckmorton county; taught school, during the first world war served in France in an artillery regiment; and after the Armistice studied in the University of De Puyters. He was county judge of Throckmorton county for six years; was a member of the democratic convention in Chicago in 1932; and is serving his first term in the senate of Texas.

Sen. John Lee Smith of Throckmorton will be one of the speakers on the program of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention, which starts at Mineral Wells on Thursday of this week.

Experiment Shows Church Merger Is To Be Discussed

ST. LOUIS—It appears probable that proposals for merging three church denominations will be discussed here May 22-28, at the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States.

Churches involved are the United Presbyterian Church, the Presbyterian Church in the United States and the Protestant Episcopal Church leading with 1,500,000 members.

Negotiations looking toward such a merger have been underway for a year and tentative plans probably will be presented to the assembly for approval. It is not anticipated, however, that definite action would be taken at this assembly.

First business to come before the assembly will be election of a moderator and for this position two important churchmen are candidates. They are the Rev. Dr. Henry Stoen Coffin, president of the Union Theological Seminary of New York, and the Rev. Dr. Herbert Booth Smith, pastor of Immanuel Presbyterian Church of Los Angeles.

Highlighting the sessions will be the attitude of the church toward national defense with stress on ways and means of cooperating with federal authorities, particularly army and navy chaplains. Involved in this are problems created by conscientious objectors and their care. Also scheduled for discussion will be the problem of protecting soldiers and sailors in areas near camps and stations.

A five-man committee will report findings resulting from an investigation of the service pension plan of the church under which 10,000 ministers and other church employes are protected. The problem here is lower income yields from investments calls for any change in pension rules.

DEFENSE INDUSTRIES Are Facing Strikes

WASHINGTON, May 14.—Motor car manufacturers, with defense orders totaling $780,000, 90 today faced the threat of strikes within the next 24 hours.

Eastland County School Notes

By C. T. WILLIAMS
County School Superintendent

The second payment of transportation aid to Eastland County schools is announced.

The County School Trustees met in regular session in the county superintendent's office Monday, May 12. The twelve grade system was officially adopted for the county. The following plan of classification was suggested:

For schools not maintaining an accredited high school: one teacher school, 6 grades; two teacher school, 8 grades; three teacher school, 9 grades; four teacher school, 10 grades.

For schools maintaining an accredited high school: two year fully accredited high school, 10 grades; four year fully accredited high school, 12 grades.

No school should be classified under the new plan as a seven or eleven grade. Pupils who completed this year the work of the seventh grade in an eleven grade system or in an accredited elementary school operating under the old set-up, should be admitted next fall to the ninth grade of a twelve grade system.

The county school trustees, realizing the need of a health program in schools, recommended for the school year 1941-42 that a health card system be inaugurated in the county and that at least two health check-ups should be made and recorded on the health card. The fact that 40 per cent of those examined by the draft board are found to be physically unfit for service suggested to the board that something should be done if we are to contribute to a defense program to improve the health condition in our schools. The board enthusiastically endorsed the inauguration of the cards at the beginning of the next school term and asked the cooperation of the health departments of the entire county including the independent school districts.

Dr Anna Freud Is Treating Patients For Shock of War

LONDON.—Thirty war-shocked children, taken from homes all over London, are being restored to healthy happiness by Dr. Anna Freud, daughter of the famous psychoanalyst.

The children are being cured by psychological treatment in a large house in Hampstead, formerly a Swedish hostel. With the financial aid from the British War Relief Society of America, the house has been equipped as a psychological clinic.

The clinic is under the direction of Mrs. Dorothy Burlingham, an American, who is married to an Englishman. Mrs. Burlingham is assisted by Miss Lillian Bowes-Lyon, a cousin of the Queen.

Twenty-eight of the children undergoing treatment are under 4 years old. Their bunk beds are so arranged that they can hear little of guns or bombs if there is an air raid in progress.

This was one of the first things arranged by Dr. Anna Freud.

Many of the children were badly shaken when they were taken into the clinic but most of them have recovered from their unnerving experiences.

Bailey Warns About Seizure of Ships

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 14.—Chairman Josiah W. Bailey, Democrat, North Carolina, of the Senate Commerce Committee, today warned that the United States might be "inviting retaliation" by authorizing requisitioning of idle foreign ships in our ports.

HESS AFFAIR STILL BRINGS SPECULATION

The mysterious case of Rudolf Hess, the No. 3 Nazi who fled to Scotland in a plane, threw a long shadow over warring Europe today, with the Nazis asserting that the "tragic illusion" of Hitler's deputy included plans to return to Germany within two days, and the British scenting some sinister scheme for peace on Axis terms.

Both Prime Minister Winston Churchill of England and Adolf Hitler of Germany were believed likely to enter directly into the Hess affair with speeches designed to get the greatest possible propaganda benefits from their viewpoints. The British Prime Minister may interview Hess, it was said.

Hess was said by the British to be talking. There were increasing hopes that his words would be of military importance to Britain.

Responsible British sources leaned increasingly to the view that Hess might well be a fantastic leading character in a plot that only Hitler could have imagined, and that he flew to Britain to try to circumvent the "unconquerable" British resistance by organizing a peace movement.

The official German explanation today, given to the foreign press, but not to the German public, included the charge that Hess sought to persuade the Duke of Hamilton, who now is with the Royal Air Force, to act as a leader in a peace party in England, and he expected friends in Britain to enable him to fly back to Germany within two days.

In the House of Commons, meantime, Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden warned Japan there was no softening of the British policy in the Far East, unless British interests in China were respected. He asserted the French government had permitted Germany to send torpedo boats down the Rhone River to the Mediterranean.

Anthony Eden said that British support for China would continue and Japanese complaints regarding the British economic policy would not get results unless Japan reciprocated.

In Vichy the French council approved negotiations with the Germans, but gave no indication as to the results except an unofficial hint that the two countries might work to try to keep the United States out of the war.

Public Warned Against Mailing "Chain" Letters

The mails in various parts of the country are being flooded at this time, it is stated by postal officials, with letters and postal cards pertaining to so-called endless chain "Apron Clubs," "Flower Clubs," "Towel Clubs," "Hobby Clubs," etc., schemes which are violation of the postal fraud and lottery statutes.

Persons who deposit letters of the above nature in the mails, are warned that should this fact come to the attention of the postal authorities they will be required by such authorities to show cause why fraud orders should not be issued against them. Such orders, if issued, forbid the delivery of any mail to the persons named therein.

Dizzy Dean admitted that his famous pitching arm, which has been ailing for the past three years, had not responded to treatment and that he felt he was through as a pitcher.

The League's Pulse Still Faintly Beats

There is something startling, almost shocking, in the news that the League of Nations, dead in the mind of the average man, still feels a faint heartbeat.

The League, experiment in international government which was to have crowned all the horror of the First World War, failed its essential task—the creation of a peaceful and orderly world. When war swept once more across civilization, men cursed this agency through which they had failed to prevent their tragedy, and said in revulsion "Bah! It is dead!"

It is not dead. Its heart beats feebly with a trickle of life-blood pumped into it by 48 nations which are still members. Throughout 1940, as in 1939, every state within the British Empire (The United Kingdom, India, Australia, Canada, Eire, New Zealand and the Union of South Africa) paid their contributory share in full, though nearly all of them were at war.

States now prostrate under the German heel are still trying to pay their shares to League support. Even the Vichy government in France is trying to get frozen credits in the United States released so that it can pay its balance of the 1940 contribution. For 1941, the Dutch government has already paid half of its contribution, and Norway is willing, though not able.

Those are pitiful gestures by countries robbed of the ability to carry on as they would like to do. Failure though it was, the League still seems to have a hold on the hearts of many men in many lands. In the depths of despair and the humiliation of conquest, some have even tried to cling to what is no longer more than a name and symbol of an orderly international world.

Names and symbols are not without power even today, an dthe fact that the League of Nations as the post-war world knew it was a failure is no proof that no such league may eventually succeed. The first constitution drawn up by the American people... after independence was won was a failure, but they did not cry, "See, it is hopeless!" They formed a new constitution, and this second effort framed a government that has already lasted 150 years and is stronger than ever.

Whether that faint heart-beat still pulsing in the prostrate League of Nations will ever strengthen again into life, no one knows. The prospects are not bright. Yet it is strange and wonderful to see so persistent a vitality in it; plainly the idea and the ideal are not dead. Some day Law must replace Anarchy between peoples.

Don't quite know how the campaign in the Balkans is going just now. It's all Greek to us.

The defense picture is one place where three strikes didn't seem to be out.

Pilots Wanting To Fly for Canada To Be Interviewed

W. A. Southworth of the Clayton Knight Committee is at the Gholson Hotel today and tomorrow interviewing experienced airplane pilots who are seeking positions in Canadian Aviation.

The Clayton Knight Committee, a group of Americans who flew during the last war, has been set up to give authentic information and advice to those wishing to offer their services in civilian positions in the Commonwealth Air Training Plan.

The Committee, with headquarters in the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel in New York, and the Baker Hotel, Dallas, has been instrumental in the placing of nearly 500 pilots, ineligible for U. S. defense needs, who are helping in "Aid to Britain."

Among the outstanding American pilots now employed are Clyde Pangborn, the round-the-world flyer, who made the first non-stop flight from Japan to the United States; Homer Berry, noted pilot, who made the first flight of the Bell "Airacobra"; Earl Ortman, speed pilot in all the National Air Races, and other lesser known flyers from Maine to California.

During the last war, Canada was besieged by young men wishing to join them in their war efforts. Many were unfitted and left the United States in futile attempts to offer their services. The Clayton Knight Committee, through their Canadian connections, are able to advise applicants as to whether or not those pilots have the necessary qualifications to be of effective service.

Co-Eds Play Blocks With Coffee Cans

Girls Quick To Join The Happiness Club

When this trio of East Texas State Teachers College beauties read about the Admiration Happiness Club in the Commerce Daily Journal, they lost no time in filling in entry blanks and becoming members of the club. Among the most popular members of the student body at East Texas State Teachers College they are from left to right, Fern Blackwell of Ben Wheeler, Texas, former drum majorette of the snappy Van High School band; Arilyn Hatter of Moody and Nell Sharp, beautiful co-ed from Cleburne, Texas. Blackwell plans a medical career and Hatter and Sharp will enter the teaching profession when they graduate from ETSTC in May.

Ohio State Will Have A New Course

COLUMBUS, O.—A new curriculum for students who can spend only two years in college will be instituted next fall at Ohio State University.

The new course of study, which was devised after six years of planning, will be started on a five-year experimental basis under the administration of the College of Arts and Sciences and a university-wide Council on General Education.

University officials said that the study program could be taken as a complete two-year curriculum or elected by students seeking degrees in other colleges.

It was emphasized that the new program was not intended for students who have academic difficulties or who intend to work for degrees but are undecided about their fields.

REVIVAL HAS BIG CROWD TO HEAR MESSAGE

Another large crowd was present last night at the revival meeting in progress at the First Christian Church. The preaching is being done by Rev. J. R. Wright, pastor of the First Christian Church in Cisco. The Rev. Wright has had a large and fruitful experience as both pastor and evangelist. For four years he was pastor of the First Christian Church in Longview, Texas, a church of over a thousand members; and for three years he was pastor of the First Christian Church in Hot Springs National Park, Arkansas, the third largest Christian Church in the State of Arkansas. He has held many revival meetings for churches in Texas, Oklahoma and Arkansas.

Last night Rev. Wright brought a very forceful and inspirational sermon on the subject, "The Thirst of the Lord." He spoke in part as follows: "We are not giving a very detailed description of the crucifixion of our Lord, but who desires a minute description of suffering. It is enough for us to know that He was willing to die on the cross for our salvation. Neither is much said about the thirst of Christ on the cross, but here imagination can run riot. His cry, 'I thirst,' was wrung from Him because of physical pain, and physical suffering tends to increase one's thirst. The cross was the most inhuman form of torture devised by man. But His cry was also a spiritual significance. He had wept over Jerusalem because He had a great desire for the redemption of mankind. To satisfy His desire for man's redemption He died on the cross. In answer to His cry, 'I thirst,' they gave Him vinegar to drink when they might have given Him a cup of cold water. His enemies would not

Putter Around the Country Club

By A. Poor Putter

A very enthusiastic meeting of the Country Club members, presided over by President A. N. Larson was held at the club house Tuesday night. Committees were appointed by President Larson for the Invitation Golf Tournament, May 20 - 31st - June 1st.

After much discussion, it was decided to continue as in previous years and have 16 men flights. Prizes to be awarded to medalist - winner and runner-up of each flight and winner of consolation flights and driving contest. As many flights will be made as players entered.

Registration qualifying day will be Friday, May 30th. However, players can qualify anytime from Sunday, May 25th on. But only those qualifying on Friday will be eligible for the medal.

The barbecue and Calcutta pool will be held Friday night. Driving contest Friday afternoon late, after all qualifying scores are in. It was decided that the bridge party would be handled entirely separate from the tournament in general. The ladies of the club will have charge of that part.

Tickets for the golf tournament, Calcutta pool and barbecue will be $2.00 and no tickets will be sold for either one alone.

In addition to the tournament committees, President Larson also appointed a standing ladder committee, to set the players ladder in good shape at once. Roy Troner, chairman, Rice Harrington and Carl Heinlin.

A new revised list of members was presented by Glen West, sec. This shows we now have 32 certificate members, 43 associate members and the full quota of 50 fishing permit members. The 76 golfing members is very encouraging and shows that golf is at fever heat in Ranger.

A letter was presented, received by the club from Robert T. (Bob) Jones, himself, inviting the Ranger country club to participate in the national one day handicap golf tournament for British war relief. To be held at the various country clubs, throughout the country, one of which will be the Ranger club. June 14th is set for this play. No action was taken at this meeting on this proposition, but it is believed that the Ranger club will co-operate with the National Committee of which Bob Jones is chairman.

As Tuesday was ladies' day, a regular meeting of the ladies was held at the club house, presided over by Mrs. H. T. Schooley. Matters pertaining to the ladies' part to be taken in connection with the invitation tournament were discussed. The ladies volunteered to hold a bridge party for the visiting ladies an afternoon during the tournament. After the meeting about fifteen ladies played their usual Tuesday golf.

Senior Play Will Be Given Friday

The Senior class of Ranger High School will present its play, "Here Comes Charlie," at the Recreation Building Friday evening, May 16.

Rehearsals for the play have been in progress for several weeks and the cast has been pronounced as almost letter perfect for the presentation Friday evening at 8 o'clock.

The play is a farce, full of good comedy situations and clever dialogue. It is full of fun all the way from the opening scene to the final curtain, and winds up with a surprise ending. The plot is novel and the cast is composed of unusually talented students.

This promises to be one of the outstanding attractions of the school year, and a large attendance is anticipated.

CORRECTION
