DRIVE TO WIN WAR SUPPORT IS CHARGED

By United Press
WASHINGTON, July 19.—Bernard J. Gehrman, Prog., charged today that the agriculture department will begin a drive within a week to farm support for "the war." Gehrman said he had been informed that the department will use its soil conservation marketing quota enforcement agents in 3,000 counties to farmers to sign a pledge of loyalty to the United States. An agreement to produce over the government wants to accept the government's price.

The agents, Gehrman said in an interview will receive $5 a day for pay when engaged in ordinary government business. They will contact farmers who have received government loans and conservation payments, he said.

The drive would be in Wisconsin because the state is anxious to increase production of dairy products for Great Britain.

Gehrman attacked the drive as another move to get farmers to back the war.

Most Stubborn Of All, Draftees Is Colorado Farmer

EVER, July 19.—The most stubborn man the Federal Government has encountered here today to harvest his crop but he still had not made up his mind to go to the front.

He is Eldon D. Smith, 31, a farmer who spent weeks in jail because he refused to fill out the selective questionnaire "an account of my business" how much he earns.

Smith said he was his only complaint with the army and definitely not a conscientious objector. District Attorney Thomas Striskey attempted daily to get him to change his mind.

Smith's most stubborn man whom I've ever had to deal with," he finally decided. He told his wife he would have to place his own hands on the grand jury but meanwhile he's let the farmer keep his wheat crop if he'd like to return after the war's end.

"I'll come back, but I'm willing how much I make my business."

Smith's wife said she would have to place his own hands on the grand jury but meanwhile he's let the farmer keep his wheat crop if he'd like to return after the war's end.

Army Car Clothed in Canvas for Creek Crossing

In lieu of bridgework, the mahouts of a motorized division float vehicles wrapped in canvas across a stream near Fort Benning, Ga. This 500-pound car was pushed onto canvas spread on the water, tucked in snugly for a dry jaunt to the other side.

NAZIS STRIKE DEEPER INTO SOVIET DEFENSE AFTER BLOODY FIGHTS

By HARRISON SALISBURY
United Press Staff Correspondent
German troops blasted deeper into Russian territory today, still attempting to strike a decisive blow against Soviet forces after four weeks of the war's bloodiest fighting.

As the battle went on into its 28th day, Russian armies still were in the field, fighting stubbornly and fiercely despite repeated Nazi claims that their power to resist had been smashed.

The Germans still were more than 200 miles from their prime goal—Moscow—having driven between 375 and 400 miles to a point beyond Smolensk in four weeks of campaigning from the frontier break-through point of Brest-Litovsk.

It appeared likely that other Nazi columns were in the immediate vicinity of Kiev, capital of the rich Ukraine area, and were close to Leningrad in a three-pronged action, northward from the Lake Peipus corner, east along the Baltic coast and southward from the Finnish frontier.

However, the chief German objective—the destruction of the Red army as an effective fighting force—had not been achieved.

The rate of Nazi advance into Russia had slowed considerably from the speedy pace of the initial break-through at the frontier.

In the first 10 or 12 days of fighting the Germans pushed forward at a rate of almost 25 miles a day. The average has now dropped to about 13 miles a day, at the points of deepest penetration.

Berlin has hinted that the German high command over this week-end will make another series of dramatic announcements. However, it was indicated that instead of dealing with territorial gains these will be concerned with the destruction of Soviet armed forces—the number of prisoners captured, planes shot down, etc.

A week ago today the Nazi high command claimed that the Stalin line had been broken at "all decisive points" that the German troops now stand before Kiev and that Soviet power to counter attack had been broken by German air attacks.

Aluminum Drive May Put 3,413 Back On Payroll

AUSTIN, Texas—More than 3,413 persons, or approximately one-fifth of all the employees of the aluminum cooking utensil industry have been laid off or have quit their jobs as a result of the industry's present inability to obtain aluminum for non-defense products, the Office of Production Management advised the National Defense Committee for Texas today.

This number of lay-offs and resignations represented the total for 14 of the 22 concerns in the industry, the OPM announcement said.

Information from the remaining companies is not yet available.

"The possibility of converting these plants into defense production was discussed in a conference attended by representatives of several aluminum ware companies," the announcement continued, "and it was agreed that two of the industry's best engineers would be selected to consult with Government technicians regarding conversion possibilities."

The OPM statement gave the following additional information regarding the aluminum situation:

"The manufacturers reported that the industry had 16,000 employees and gross sales of $36,996,705 in 1940. Their civilian 'pots and pans' business is now practically gone, they said, because they are unable to obtain aluminum for this purpose and previously acquired stocks are either exhausted or nearly so."

"Several of the companies reported that they had obtained sufficient defense contracts or subcontracts to retain a portion of their employees, but added that the cost of converting their plants to defense work made it difficult and often impossible to bid successfully against firms in other industries already equipped for such production. It was pointed out that there is a great volume of metal stamping facilities in the country."

Oil Production Of Nation Down

HOUSTON, Tex., July 19.—United States crude oil production declined sharply during the week just ended because Texas fields were shut down three days, compared with only two days' shutdown in the previous week, the Oil Weekly Magazine reported today.

The nation's output averaged 3,687,100 barrels daily, 160,000 barrels less than the indicated daily average market demand for domestic crude during July, and 178,850 barrels less than the average production the previous week.

Because of the three-day shutdowns, Texas production for the week ending today averaged only 1,234,100 barrels daily, compared with 1,439,300 the previous week.

The trend by states showed: Texas 1,234,100 barrels daily, off 205,200; California 641,900, up 5,500; Oklahoma 421,750, up 7,650; Illinois 343,500, up 1,200; Louisiana 318,300, up 800; Kansas 239,950, off 2,800; New Mexico 107,500, off 2,800; Eastern States 90,200, off 400; Mountain States 106,550, off 250; Michigan 39,400, up 300; Indiana 21,300, up 100; Arkansas 72,300, off 200; Mississippi 45,500, up 41,000; Nebraska 5,250, up 300.

CIO Will Try To Force Truckers To Join Despite Vote

DALLAS, Tex., July 19.—Not satisfied with a vote of the Safety Convoy Company's seventy-two truck drivers to reject attachment to any union, the CIO United Construction Workers organizing committee today planned a campaign to unionize the drivers.

At an election Friday the truck drivers voted against joining the CIO. However, William W. Barr, organizer for the construction workers union, said that he would not be satisfied with the result.

"We will not accept this count as final," he said. "Before this election forty-five drivers signed statements that they would support the CIO. Apparently 16 of them backslid."

Barr declared that the drivers "could not remain non-union" because they did work for the Ford Motor Co.—a CIO-organized company. He said that for the same reason the drivers could not join the American Federation of Labor.

The convoy company transports Ford automobiles.

The CIO organizer said that his plans call for the unionization of every truck driver and construction worker in Dallas under the banner of the CIO.

Flashing Beam Assures Man That He Can See Again

MADISONVILLE, Tex.—A flashlight beam comforts J. O. Brown when he doubts, sometimes, that he really can see again.

Blind for two years, Brown still wakes occasionally at night, throat tight, eyes staring, gripped by a fear of perpetual darkness. He reaches for the flashlight under his pillow and presses the button.

"The beam of light," he said, "is the most remarkable thing I've ever seen."

The Rotan, Tex., man two years ago was foreman at a gypsum plant at his home town. While at work one day, he attempted to connect a power line with a 440-volt, 60 horsepower motor.

The line had become short-circuited, and when he plugged it in the current arced with a searing, 3,700-volt flash. Brown was knocked to the ground, his eyes bled, a half-mile away, workmen saw the atmosphere "light up, with a kind of blue haze."

Three days later, Brown was completely blind. Doctors said the shock to his optic nerves was so great they probably never would function again. He applied for admission to a school for the blind to study the Braille system of reading, and prepared to buy a "seeing eye" dog.

Then he entered a Glen Rose hospital and a near-medical miracle occurred. After weeks of massage treatment, his vision returned "with a shock that felt like an explosion."

Draftee Finds He Is Really Exempt After A Long Trip

ABILENE, Texas—"It's all a mistake go home," draft board officials told L. D. Gay.

Almost as surprised as Gay when he received an order to report for military service, the draft board saw him arrive, four days early, escorting a wife and 13-month-old daughter.

"Things had gone too far," the Carlsbad, N. M., potash miner explained. Classified as eligible for the draft, he was a little dumbfounded when given a medical examination and a 1-A rating. The call to report was the crowning blow.

"I looked around the neighborhood and learned that other fellows with fewer dependents had not been called," Gay said. "I decided to present my case in person."

So one evening, after work, Gay loaded his wife and baby daughter, Dorothy Ann, into their automobile and set out for Abilene. They drove most of the night.

Both Gay and the board were right, it developed—his questionnaire was wrong. It had been filed out by an advisor and duly signed by Gay. It listed him as a single man, with no dependents.

Tom Brownlee, board chairman, immediately gave Brown another questionnaire. When it was completed, he received another classification—3-A.

Tired but pleased, the Gays climbed into their car again for the return trip to Carlsbad.

"I have to get back to work," Gay smiled. "As you can see, I have two mouths to feed."

Cotton And Rayon Price Ceilings To Be Stabilized

WASHINGTON, July 19.—Price Control Administrator Leon Henderson, announced today a comprehensive program for price stabilization in the cotton textile and rayon industry.

The present ceiling on prices for cotton print cloth will be increased from 39 to 43 cents per pound—or to the level prevailing during the last week in May.

Henderson said that prices for a number of types of rayon goods are "too high" and that a ceiling will be placed below present levels.

The grades believed affected are twills, crepes, spun rayons, and taffetas.

Cotton carded and combed broadcloths, tobacco cloth, three classes of sheetings, and part waste osenaburgs prices will be allowed to increase to the May level.

Top prices set during May for single-ply combed cotton yarns, used widely in garment manufacturing, will be increased by two cents a pound, Henderson said. The current price is set at 42 cents a pound for No. 30, single ply yarn.

RUSSIA HAS HUGE RESERVE ARMY WAITING

By BEN AMES
United Press Staff Correspondent
ISTANBUL, July 19.—A diplomatic source claimed today that Russia has massed an army of 1,000,000 in the area west of the Caucasus Mountains to protect the vital Soviet oilfields and that another great force—estimated by some as high as 4,000,000 men—still is held in reserve on the central fighting fronts.

The estimates purportedly emanated from Axis diplomats who arrived here from Russia.

The same diplomats contended that German reports of heavy Russian losses have been exaggerated although the Red air fleet was said to have suffered severely.

Fortification work in the Urals and along the Volga was said to be being rushed in event a Soviet withdrawal that far east becomes necessary.

It was believed here that Germany has no intention of halting her drive east with the conquest of the Ukraine and the Caucasus oil regions.

Russian sources claimed that Constanta, the Rumanian Black Sea base, has been badly damaged by Soviet bombardment. German labor battalions were said to be clearing the wreckage and repairing rail lines and other communications.

Bucharest, it was said, has only been slightly damaged by raids of the Red air fleet.

Russian sources claimed that the German armies of occupation have been reduced to a bare minimum to support the attack on Russia. They estimated that Germany now has only 200,000 troops in the Low Countries, 150,000 in France, 40,000 in Norway and practically none in the Balkans where Italian forces have been placed on guard.

Way To Tar Roof Is From Bottom Imbiber Learns

NEW YORK, July 19.—The way to tar a pitched roof is to start at the bottom and work up. Roofer Herman Dietrich started at the top of the slope and diligently worked down, now and then taking a tremendous swig from the jug of wine he carried along with his tar bucket.

Finally he reached the gutter and looked up, with pride, at the glittering expanse of spread tar. Then it occurred to him that he would have to go through it in order to get to the skylight and down off the roof.

He fortified himself from the jug and started up. He hadn't climbed five feet when he was back in the gutter again. Fresh tar is as slippery as glass. He tried again and again and in the street, two floors below, neighborhood women gathered. They screamed each time he slid because each time it looked as though he would fall off.

Police came at last and rescued him. Tried in night court for disorderly conduct, he was sternly admonished not to mix tar and wine and was let off.

Close State Races of the Past Recalled

AUSTIN.—As politicians look over state races for office, the closeness of the count between Gov. O'Daniel and U. S. Rep. Lyndon Johnson in the Senate contest does not seem so strange.

Most people can remember the election in which Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson defeated Gov. Ross Sterling by less than 4,000 votes. Sterling started to contest the election, but the magnitude of an attempt to recount more than 800,000 votes stumped him.

State School Supt. L. A. Woods had conceded his defeat by former Rep. Charles N. Shaver of Huntsville in the same election; but when the official count was made, Woods won by nearly 25,000 votes.

The late C. M. Cureton won a race for attorney general on a recount of ballot returns. It developed that transposition of figures from some counties had occurred. Such a change is a double error, for it takes from one man and adds to another.

British "V" Drive Reaches Houston

HOUSTON, Tex., July 19.—When H. E. Slaymaker and Maj. Leslie B. Dufton, consul and vice-consul, respectively, arrived at the British consulate here today and found a large "V" scratched on its entrance, they were at first puzzled. It soon dawned on them, however, that it was the letter symbolizing British victory.

Another large "V" was chalked across the window panel at the Czechoslovak consulate on the seventh floor of the Medical Arts building.

Bermuda Rejects Daylight Saving

HAMILTON, Bermuda, July 19.—The Assembly has rejected daylight saving time because it believed it would be cruel to animals.

Farmers said daylight saving time would deprive their animals of an hour's sleep each night because, not knowing man was playing with the clock, they'd go to sleep at the same time. The Assembly then defeated the proposal, 25 to 6.

In Midst of War—Peace

Men are meeting in Washington who may hold the internal peace of the Western Hemisphere in their hands. Millions of people in both North and South America are hoping that they will be able to work out a formula to avert war between Peru and Ecuador.

It is to the interest not only of the Peruvian and Ecuadorian peoples themselves, but to the peoples of all the Americas, that war be avoided. There is enough war in the world today without having the peoples of the Western Hemisphere at each other's throats. They are all sufficiently affected by the sweep of the Second World War, without warring among themselves.

The average North American will do well to take no contemptuous tone toward this border dispute which has caused ill-feeling between Ecuador and Peru for 100 years—it will not do to say, "A stupid row over a few miles of jungle!" and let it go at that.

To Peruvian and Ecuadorians, the fate of the vast interior territory of the Oriente is of utmost importance. It lies in the over-the-mountains hinterland of both; it is the outlet to the headwaters of the Amazon; it is potentially rich. Danzig was not so important to Germany as the Oriente to both of these countries.

The United States itself came to the verge of war with Great Britain over our own northwest boundary at a time when it must have seemed to any European a stupid dispute over an untrodden wilderness.

Yet because cooler heads prevailed than the ones which were shouting "Fifty-four Forty or Fight!" the border was amicably adjusted, and neither country has ever regretted it.

That is the Western Hemisphere way, and while it is true that the United States and many other American countries have not always adhered to it, that is the direction, that is the goal.

Only last April Columbia and Venezuela adjusted a border dispute as old as that which now shakes Ecuador and Peru, and did it amicably. Panama and Costa Rica settled in the same month the status of a 30,000-acre dispute tract. It can be done.

We hope that the United States and other American powers which have an interest in peace within the hemisphere will be able to devise formulas by which these two South American countries, both of which are on unusually friendly terms with the United States, will be able to adjust their dispute without shedding more blood in a world which is already saturated with the blood of unoffending men.

Why is it some passengers think the ticket agent sold them the train?

Some people are fenced off from success by their own railing.

Truckers Warned To Leave Highways To Other Vehicles

AUSTIN.—Texas truckers have been forgetting the fourth of the Ten Commandments, and operate unnecessarily on Sundays, the Railroad Commission finds. A fresh warning against use of principal highways on Sundays, except as permitted for emergency, has been issued to the truck operators. The famed "remember the Sabbath day and keep it holy" order of the commission was issued two years ago.

Rookies Surprised To See Shavetail Drilling Colonels

CAMP WOLTERS, Tex.—In Besides limiting use of the highways on Sunday to passenger cars and trucks hauling perishable goods, the order takes into consideration crowded traffic conditions on other days due to holidays. These days are June 19, when Negroes celebrate their emancipation; July 4, Labor Day, Armistice Day, Thanksgiving Day and Christmas.

Army parance, second lieutenants are "shavetails, the lowest form of commissioned officer."

Rookies rubbed their eyes, consequently, when they saw a "shavetail" on the parade grounds giving orders to a lieutenant colonel, a captain and eight first lieutenants. A closer look, said Lt. Col. Cecil H. Lang, would have revealed that the marching officers were chaplains. "This is our way of 'toughening up' new chaplains, helping them fit into military activities," Lang explained. "Most of them come here straight from churches, and we want them to be able to take their places as staff officers." Lang said they were "willing students, catching on rapidly."

Chatter Box

One of Mrs. George Fengler's treasured possessions is a photostatic copy of a check for $3.50, sent her by Bing Crosby. And here's the story. Mrs. Fengler is president of the Ladies Altar Society at St. Rita's church and keeps busy thinking up ideas to earn the budget. She's also a great admirer of the Big Crosby crooning. So she says to herself one day, "Well, anybody who can sing like that must have a real human heart," so down she sits to write to Bing and tell him about one of the society's famous suppers that was to be. Of course, she invites him to come and, as an after thought, includes ten tickets. Well, Bing "reverts" but not without sending along a check for tickets. Now Mrs. Fengler dares anyone to turn off the Crosby radio program and she never misses one of his pictures... This is in-

Beaty Family Is In Town After a 35-Year Period

NASHVILLE, Tenn., July 19.
—The Beaty family came to town today. That's news because the Beaty's almost never come to town. Faw Beaty recollected he came to Nashville 35 years ago. He had to because the mountain store had burned down and he was out of eating tabercary.
The Beaty's live on the Cumberland Plateau in the Tennessee mountains, down the road a piece from Sergeant Alvin C. York.

World War hero, and the movie people were taking them to New York to see the motion picture, "Sergeant York."
Charlie Beaty, 25, drove Faw, Maw, Marie, 14, and Martha, 12, down in the family Ford. Granny, Maw's Maw, who has 60 grand-children and 40 great grand-children, was left at home to mind the other 14 children. Charlie had intended driving them to New York, but he changed his mind when he saw Nashville, calculating New York, being larger, would be worse.
"I just seem to go to pieces when them cars come at me from all directions," he said.
The Beaty's leave for New York by train tonight.
