ALL 'WOOFING' LIVENS ARMY FLYING JARGON

By United Press
HAMILTON FIELD, Cal.—The
ing up of the aviation branch nationally resulting in the creaof a jargon that promises to future war birds intelligible the more earthy branches of service.

The new aeronautical language developed through long sessions "bank flying" (sitting around and discussing the ins and outs of aviation, past, present and future).

Sample of the conversation:
"Everything would have been if this dedo hadn't taxied and started woofing to my about taking her out in a phooter. That put me in a and the worst of it was he

Seeing the Future With W.T.C. of C. To Be Featurred

ODESSA.—"Seeing the Future
Through the Eyes of the West Texas chamber of commerce," will be the subject of a featured address before the 15th annual convention of the West Texas Press association here. The speaker will be J. Thos. Davis of Ste-phensville, president of the WTCC.
His talk will be given at the newspapermen's annual luncheon on Friday, this week, to be held in the community room of Odes-sa's First Methodist church. The host city chamber of commerce, Jerry Davenport, manager, is giving the luncheon.

NYA Training Is Forerunner To Job In Hawaiian Isles

A little more than a year ago Arthur V. Purcell of Leaders was enrolled in the Ranger NYA wood shop, a little doubtful about what it was all about, but hopeful that it might lead to something better, after he had secured special training.

Today he is enroute to Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, where he has been employed as a woodworker's helper, a position he was able to secure through the training he had received in the Ranger wood shop.

Last year he had no idea of visiting Hawaii. Today he is enroute to the west coast, with all transportation paid, and will take a boat from there to Honolulu.

The position he received was through the civil service.

While in the Ranger wood shop Purcell was one of the best workers, and made an outstanding record. From the standpoint of time spent on the project he was one of the oldest boys in the wood shop.

It is a long way from Leaders, a small town in Shackelford County, to the huge United States Naval Base at Pearl Harbor, and it is doubtful if young Purcell could ever have made that trip, and certainly he could not have secured the position, had it not been for the year of training he received while enrolled in the NYA project.

His good fortune, which came about because of his application to the tasks to which he was assigned, and not because of luck, will, no doubt, be an incentive to other boys on the NYA rolls.

But when he left Leaders for Ranger a little more than a year ago Purcell had no idea that it would lead to an all-expense trip to the west coast, a trip on a big steamer across more than half the Pacific to Hawaii, and a good job when he gets there, sometime in mid-August.

Caboose on the Loose

Here's what happened when a freight train backed onto a partly opened swing bridge at Grand Haven, Mich. Rail and river traffic were tied up for a day while errant caboose was being brought back to earth.

WPA Expanding Program To Aid In Securing Jobs

SAN ANTONIO—More than fifteen thousand WPA workers in Texas are qualified to participate in the expanding program of training and reemployment now gaining momentum as a major WPA activity. It was estimated today by R. H. McNew, state director of the WPA division which was created to assist WPA workers to find private employment.

In this country's factories still need some 100,000 new machine tools for airplane manufacture and that there is no immediate prospect for sending such equipment to Russia.

Needs Are Listed
The Soviet Union, it was said, wants such machine tools as horizontal boring mills, internal grinding machines, gear tooth grinders, milling machines, hydraulic machines, turret lathes and automatic screw machines.

In past years machine tool builders in this country are said to have found Russian business hard to obtain and difficult to handle, but at the same time profitable because the Soviet paid promptly.

In 1931, it was said Russian orders did save the business lives of a number of firms which now have defense orders running into the millions. In that year when domestic business was poor Russia took more than 20 per cent of American machine tool output.

In 1938 when the Soviet was buying harvest machine tools, Russia's purchases ran to about $24, 000,000 or about one-sixth of American production.

Purchases Fell Off
In the first part of 1941 Russian purchases of machine tools in this country dwindled to about $200,000 a month, a mere drop in the bucket as compared with estimated total production of $750,000,000.

Within the past few weeks, however, machine tool men said export licenses had been issued for about $2,000,000 worth of orders. After the German invasion, the State Department switched its export policy in respect to Russia and applications for permission to send machinery to that country, a number of them several months old, were granted immediately. These orders included some $10,000,000 worth of oil well machinery and other tools.

Scrap Aluminum Sent To Abilene

Eastland and Breckenridge added more than a ton of scrap aluminum to that being collected at Abilene from 16 West Texas counties.

Breckenridge's shipment was weighed in at 1,695 pounds and Eastland's at 1,230.

Thursday's shipments, according to Abilene authorities, boosted weight of aluminum at the terminal warehouse to 23,408 pounds—or almost 12 tons.

County Judge W. S. Adamson of Eastland stated this morning that the Eastland county shipment represented that collected at Eastland only with the possible exception of a small quantity that may have been brought to Eastland by people residing in other than the Eastland Commissioners' precinct.

Old aluminum collected in other precincts of the county is yet to be sent to Abilene, but Judge Adamson states that will be accomplished soon.

Prephecy Comes True In School Yearbook

By United Press
FRANKLIN, Ind.—Remember those class prophecies in the high school yearbook? Here's one that came true.

Fourteen years ago, the 1927 Ma-Ho-Hi, Masonic Home high school annual, prophesied that in the 1940's Leroy Bradnick would be an officer in the field artillery.

Today, Bradnick is a first lieutenant in the field artillery at Bowman Field, Louisville, Ky.

"BUILD KANSAS" ORGANIZED
By United Press
TOPEKA, Kas.—Formation of "Build Kansas," a statewide organization designed to coordinate the efforts of Kansas to improve their state by making it a more attractive place in which to live and entertain visitors from other states, has been announced.

TENANTS ARE LANDLORD'S HEIRS

TROY, N. Y.—The landlord is usually pictured as heartless, but when James K. Tobin died, he left $2,000 to the occupants of his properties. Charitable and educational institutions also received large bequests.

NAZI BLITZKRIEG INTO UKRAINE IS BELIEVED TO HAVE BEEN STARTED

The Nazi drive into the rich Soviet Ukraine appeared to be gaining momentum today and the British expressed fear for the fate of the Black Sea port of Odessa.

Moscow reported that the 26th German panzer division had been cut to pieces by a fierce counter offensive. The 26th division was first mentioned in Soviet communications yesterday when it said that two regiments, the 112th and the 59th suffered severe losses in an encounter with the Russians. Today Moscow reported the battle continued until the Germans were able to save only 49 tanks of the entire division.

The Germans said that they had started to crash through the Ukraine again at blitzkrieg pace.
The high command reported the capture of a Russian force of 30,000 men and the commander of the staff of the 6th Soviet Army in Southeast Uman, key communications center between Kiev and Odessa.

The Germans also claimed they had driven a wedge through Estonia to the Gulf of Finland, isolating Soviet forces defending Tallinn from all except the sea communications with the main Russian defense armies around Leningrad.

Mystery arose over bombing Berlin during the night. The Nazi high command said the capital was bombed and inferred that the raids were carried out by planes other than those of the British.

The Moscow communique made no mention of the Russian attack on Berlin but there was apparent the possibility that the Red air fleet for the first time had retaliated for persistent Nazi attacks on Moscow.

Some British sources suggested that the British in an attack upon Berlin last Saturday may have dropped delayed action bombs, which were just now beginning to explode.

TOOL BUILDERS DOUBT ABILITY TO AID RUSSIA

CLEVELAND, O.—Despite the fact that Russia would like to buy about $32,000,000 worth of machine tools to expand aircraft production, officials of the National Machine Tool Builders Association say it will be difficult to fill the orders because of American needs.

Tell Berna, general manager of the association, said that the government is willing to grant export licenses for such machinery only if the equipment is not urgently needed in this country's defense program. He estimated that this country's factories still need some 100,000 new machine
tools for airplane manufacture
and that there is no immediate
prospect for sending such equipment to Russia.

Agent Tells How To Control Leaf Worms In Cotton

The only poison recommended for control of leaf worms in cotton is calcium arsenate, according to information received by the county agent from the A. and M.
Extension Entomologist. It is practical to dust the material on the cotton if dusting machinery is available but since machinery is scarce in Eastland county it is recommended that calcium arsenate be mixed with water at the rate of three pounds per fifty gallons of water and the mixture sprayed over the plants. Calcium arsenate is less dangerous and less expensive than other poison materials. It does not dissolve in the water and it is necessary to keep it agitated by stirring.

The usual equipment for spraying cotton is a barrel sprayer with plumbing pipe used to form a boom, supplied with tees and nozzles to direct a spray downward over each of three to five rows at a time.

Boy, 10, Wins a New Playground

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—Kansas City has opened a new playground on what was formerly a dumping ground, and it's a personal triumph for 10-year-old Larry Stein.

For years residents of the section had petitioned city officials to clean up the corner lot and make a place for children to play, but nothing was done.

"I am 10 years old and I have been playing baseball with my friends in the street," he wrote.
"The other day we were playing there and a policeman came by in a car, and he told us that we couldn't play in the street any more. Now we have no place to play."

"There is a large dump on 42nd street. It is of no use right now.
The children on my block thought that the city could build a playground on that spot and I'm asking you if you'll give my letter a thought and answer me."

A few days later Cookingham and other city officials sent a WPA crew to clean up the lot, and now there is a new ball diamond, a teeter-totter and volleyball courts for the children.

EASTLAND MAN IS KILLED IN CALIFORNIA

Word was received in Eastland last evening of the death at Shasta Lake, California, of J. C.
Day, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. J.
C. Day, Sr., of Eastland. No details were given.

Volney Day, brother of J. C., Jr., left Amarillo by airplane immediately after talking with relatives in Eastland and will accompany the body to Eastland. It was not known this morning when he would reach Eastland.

Day, it was stated, was employed by Pacific Constructors, Inc. The first message received in Eastland stated that Day had been critically injured and within a few minutes was followed by another of his death.

Soldier Seeks A Lost Sweetheart In A Big City

DALLAS, Tex., Aug. An article in the Dallas Journal informed a girl-if she read it-that a Camp Bowie selectee could not keep a date with her.

The soldier wrote Dallas Postmaster J. H. Payne.

"I met the girl on a bus," the letter said, "and I made a date with her. I liked her an awful lot."

Since then, said the trooper, two things had happened: 1. The girl moved to a new Dallas address, which he did not know; 2.
his unit was ordered to Louisiana for maneuvers.

"This I can't keep the date," he mourned. "I wonder if you could find out her address for me and tell her."

Payne was sorry, but postal regulations forbid such a procedure.
However, he turned over the date to a newspaper, which published it.

Home Grown Seed May Supply U.S. Because Of War

By United Press
SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Aug.—
Texas flower-beds may flaunt thistles and sage next spring if the European blockades stay up and seed-men remain seedless.

San Antonio plant specialists report that there has not been a shipment of European seed into the United States for a year.

Vegetable growers in the Rio Grande valley already have been warned that the next spring planting will have to come from American grown seed. Flowers, pods, plants and seed will probably be supplied from California, where the abundant crops have been allowed to stand in the fields.

Oregon and Washington also are products, and in another year it is expected that the American seed supply will equal the quantity formerly imported from abroad.

Bugle Call Is Easy For One Army Man

By United Press
MINERAL WELLS, Texas.— Getting the boys up at 5:45 in the morning with a bugle call comes easy for private first class Sidon Kyser.

Before he was inducted as a member of Company C, 58th Battalion at Camp Wolters, Kyser sang and played wind instruments in bands directed by Ozzie Nelson, Horace Hoidt and Clyde Lo-cas.

He is a cousin of band leader Ray Kyser and has taken part in producing and acting in several broadway productions.

STEVENSON IS SWORN IN AS NEW GOVERNOR

AUSTIN, Aug. 8.—A plea for a "government of laws and not a government of men" was sounded today by Coke Stevenson, one-time freight wagon driver, who was inaugurated at noon today as Texas 33rd governor.

Stevenson, 55, straight as an arrow, a rancher and lawyer, will fill the 17-month term vacated when Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel became United States Senator. Last January Stevenson was sworn in as lieutenant governor for his second term.

"To me the plan of government of our forefathers is of divine inspiration," Stevenson said. "It came from the same creative source from which trees come—it is a government of worship, of respect and of faith."

"In a government of men nothing is secure. This is the government of Hitler and Mussolini. In the government of law the God-given rights of the people are protected."

BRITISH OIL DAY GETTING OPPOSITION

Opposition was building today against the "oil for Britain" day, scheduled by the Texas Railroad Commission for Aug. 17th, when more than 2,500,000 barrels of oil would have been given to Britain, according to estimates.

Houston oil companies said that "unworkable difficulties" to the plan had arisen and in Fort Worth Charles E. Rorer, one of the nation's prominent independent oil operators, said the plan was still "unworkable" and urged postponement for at least 90 days.

R. P. Brooks, Jr., oil editor of the Dallas Journal, said the proposed plan was illegal for five reasons, but in Austin Railroad Commissioner Jerry Sadler said that there was no logical reason for any postponement.

Navy Is Enlisting Skilled Technicians On Reserve Corps

In order to supplement the training schools—and meet the demands of an expanding naval establishment the Navy is enlisting technicians and men skilled in trades used in the Navy.

These men are enlisted as petty officers in the Naval Reserve for a period of four years, to serve on active duty during the national emergency. Pay ranges from $54.00 to $99.00 per month.
Uniform allowance, board, lodging, medical and dental care is also included. Those drawing $72.00 or more per month—receive an additional $34.50 for housing of dependents, if they have any.

A machinist, electrician, metal-smith, carpenter, baker, cook, pharmacist, or stenographer interested in enlisting may call in person or write to the Navy Recruiting Station, Post Office Building, Abilene.

Closed Season Has Made Deer Brave Dangers Of Town

CENTER POINT, Tex., Aug.—
For two miles, a herd of wild deer fled before the automobile of Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Southland, as they drove, on a highway, toward Center Point.

The Animal-a 14-point buck, a 10-pointer, a doe and a yearling crossed a railroad track and a bridge over the Guadalupe river at the edge of town. They pulled to a halt in the middle of Center Point's main street, remaining until frightened by the excited shouts of the populace.

One of the bucks slipped and fell on pavement in front of the postoffice, but made a safe getaway.

Sutherland and Kerr county rancher, said the deer appeared "extraordinarily bold," a fact ascribed to the closed season on hunting.

A Fast One—But Wide

One of two things now seems likely: either the Germans will now launch another blitz-blow that will bowl over the Russians, or else they will face a prolonged eastern campaign, perhaps even a defensive one.

Churchill has told what would happen in the first case. He expects an immediate attack on England, perhaps by September; certainly no less than an overwhelming attack on the Mediterranean area.

But in the other case? Suppose the Nazi blitz-machine bogs down into a long winter campaign in Russia? Here's a tip, for what it proves to be worth, from a man with good contacts in England:

Perhaps Hitler would be deposed, or appear to be deposed, as German Fuehrer. The army commanders would seize, or appear to seize, control of Germany. Then a tremendous peace appeal would be made to England on this basis: "It was Hitler with whom you couldn't make peace. Now he is out. The army wants no trouble with England or the rest of Europe. It wants only to lick Russia and deliver Europe from the Red Menace. How about it, boys? You call off the dog. Relieved of the war in the west, we can lick Russia. Everybody will be happy!"

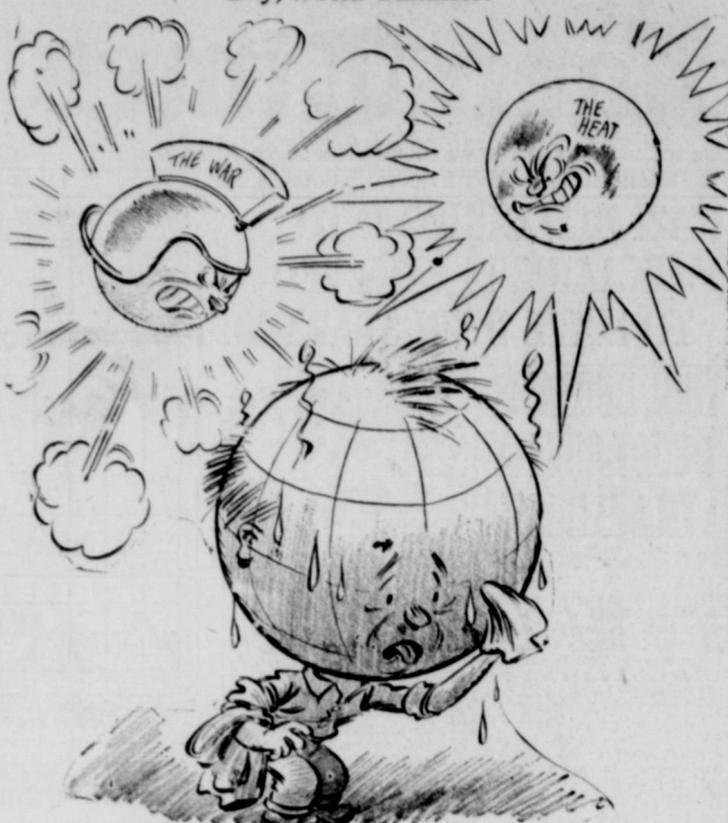

The thought in such an approach is that there were tremendously influential forces in England and in the world which repeatedly avowed no ill will toward the German people once Hitler was out of the way, a means of living with 80,000,000 Germans could be devised.

But unfortunately Germany has elected to sacrifice that good will which definitely did exist toward the German people. Lord Astor of Cliveden was identified with that appeasement position as strongly as any. Yet today he writes to W. R. Matthews, editor of the Arizona Star: "Can we come to terms and have a durable peace by treating with the good and decent element in Germany, especially the German army?" No, says Lord Astor today, whatever he might have thought once. Because the old ruling clique of the German army which once thought it could use Hitler for his own purposes, has been destroyed by him. All high posts have been given only to Nazis, and the German army is indistinguishable from the Nazi party. Hence, "there is no distinction at present between the Nazi party, the German army, and the German people."

If such a man as Lord Astor has already completely discounted in advance any such German peace overture as the one suggested above, you may be sure that if any such "fast one" is pitched, it will be far wide of the plate.

One of the tragedies of the war is that Germany has succeeded in destroying all confidence not only in Hitler, not only in the German army, but in the German people themselves.

"Boy, Wotta Summer!"

's Getting So You Can't Start a Committee in Washington Without Raiding a Committee

BY PETER EDSON

NEA Service Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—The sagebrush, crackerbarrel or waterfront philosopher who first wisecracked, "The best kind of committee to appoint is a committee of three members, two of whom are dead," should be rounded up and brought to Washington to save his country. He should be ordered to speak his piece into every private office and over every private telephone line in government circles. Secretaries who are listening in should take the speech down in shorthand and put neat little typewritten reminders on the corners of their bosses' blotting pads every morning.

Idea men dreaming up slogans, creative artists painting posters that will win the war, government propagandists, government ghost-writers of brass hats' speeches, press handout hackwriters, government "educational film" directors, even the government's radio script writers should be called in on the play, for nothing less important than winning the war is at stake.

If something like this isn't done soon, Washington is going to be overrun with so many committees there won't be enough conference rooms to go around, or enough chairs for the delegates to sit down in, and of course they can't all be standing and speaking at once.

If all started, apparently, in the Office of Production Management when the production and the purchases and the priorities divisions of OPM decided there would have to be Defense Industry Advisory Committees, in order to get manufacturers into line for all-out defense. These committees were carefully planned, and they were set up with Department of Justice blessing, in such a way that they could do what the old NRA code authorities tried to do.

These OPM Defense Industry Advisory Committees were probably all right in their conception. There were to be only 50 or 60 of them, and they would split up the U. S. industrial world in such a way that every business would be represented and have its interest looked out for.

If the committee setup had stopped there, all might have been well, but on top of this OPM list of committees, Leon Henderson's Office of Price Administration and Civilian Supply decided that it, too, must have Defense Industry Advisory Committees. And so, gradually, there is appearing on the Washington scene a second set of committees, the OPACS committees.

If you haven't surrendered already, it might be mentioned in closing that the boys thought up another dodge last week. Not committees and not branches—panels. Just what the difference is between a committee and a panel is not yet clear, but first indications are that while the committees will be permanent, the panels will be temporary crises, and they will then be expected to dissolve.

The gag around Washington now is that OPM will die, one of these days, of its own sheer weight and clumsiness. An equally good bet is that Congress will appoint a committee to investigate OPM. Or the Supreme Court might be argued into declaring it unconstitutional.

LESSONS IN LOVE

BY JERRY BRONDFIELD

YESTERDAY: Standing on the edge of Larry Grover's swimming pool, Barbara is suddenly picked up by Dugan Blake and hurled into the water. Dugan explains he was just collecting his golf bet. Later, after everyone else is in bed, Barbara hears sounds coming from the kitchen. She investigates, finds Dugan preparing a late snack. After breaking a paper bag and frightening Dugan, Barbara is clasped in his strong arms and finds herself kissing him.

DUGAN IS CLEARED

CHAPTER X
BARBARA clung to Dugan for a few seconds longer after he had released the pressure of his arms. She tried to collect her thoughts.

Dugan Blake had kissed her and he had returned his kiss. Why? ... Why? ... she asked herself over again.

As abruptly as he had taken her in his arms, he left her and went over to straddle a chair. His face was expressionless.

"According to the book, I'm supposed to say something melodramatic, like 'I shouldn't have done that.' Well, whether I should or shouldn't have is a moot point. I did it for only one reason. I'm always doing what my impulses dictate, and I suddenly got an impulse to kiss you then."

She felt disappointed. "Oh, is that the reason?"

He looked at her sharply. "I guess so."

"You guess so. For a minute," he said brightly, "I thought you finally were succumbing to my charms."

"You say 'finally' as though it were inevitable."

He got up and took her hand. She made a move as if to withdraw it, but he tightened his hold.

Dugan smiled tightly. "Maybe I shouldn't be a hypocrite. Maybe it was inevitable. Maybe it's me that's being fooled, and not you."

Something jumped inside her—something she knew wasn't supposed to happen to her. She laughed nervously. "Quite a speech for you."

She turned to the stove. "Well, this is where we came in. How about those eggs?"

"I'm not hungry any more," he said. "Maybe we'd better go to bed."

She couldn't help saying what she did. It was too perfect a spot. "Beating a retreat, eh, before you do irreparable damage to yourself?"

His mouth set for an instant. "Don't worry about me. I recover fast from something that isn't good for me."

To Barbara it was like walking smack into a door in the dark.

BARBARA hardly saw Dugan during the next four days. Once he practiced with Larry's Briar Hill polo team. Most of the time he spent in New York with Uncle Hank.

Uncle Hank came back from New York alone on Wednesday night.

"Dugan's having dinner with some people tonight, Barbara," he said, drawing her to a chair. "Sit down. I want to tell you something."

He took her hand in both of his. "I found out today what's at the bottom of this Midwest Oil business."

"Yes?" she said eagerly.

"Chap by the name of Bert Lipscomb was Dugan's roommate at school. Pretty close roommates, I understand. Well, Bert's father is president of Midwest. There was an attempt to squeeze Old Man Lipscomb out of the company, but he found it out just in time."

"Then he had to work fast. There had to be a reorganization, but things were in a mess. In order to swing it he had to get an awful lot done in a very short time. There was no one he could trust ... until his son remembered Dugan."

Uncle Hank sat down beside Barbara. "Well, substantially, that's the story. Dugan couldn't turn down his old roommate, and he didn't dare breathe a word to anyone. Circumstances just put him smack in the middle ... and we, like fools, jumped to conclusions."

"And I guess we jumped too far and too fast," she admitted.

He looked at her quizzically. "You like him?"

"He's frightfully handsome, but he's too superior for his own good. I like men to be superior, but I like them more like—like, well, like Larry Grover. He's a superior type, too, but at least he'll bend once in a while."

Uncle Hank chuckled. "You're going to the country club dance with Grover Friday night, aren't you? How about Dugan?"

YESTERDAY: Dugan tells Barbara he kissed her on an impulse. Later Uncle Hank explains that Dugan's part in the Midwest Oil affair was that of a person helping out a friend. Barbara is repentant for her accusations. At the country club dance, Dugan strolls through the garden as comes upon Barbara and Larry in an embrace.

BARBARA SAYS "NO"

CHAPTER XI
LARRY GROVER took Barbara's face tenderly between his two hands.

"Okay," he murmured. "You win. Here I am broken down like an old pair of shoes." He smiled into her eyes. "You'll marry me, now, won't you?"

His arms went around her again and his lips sought hers, but she turned her face against his chest instead of kissing him.

"Larry," she said quietly, "I think I've always wanted you to kiss me the way you did just then. It was the first time you—well, it was the first time you really ever put your heart into it."

She looked up at him then. "Yet even now you take me for granted. You confess your love unreservedly, so of course you figure I'll start marching right down to the altar with you."

Barbara patted his cheek tenderly. "I'm glad you finally kissed me that way, Larry. It woke me up."

He frowned slightly. "What do you mean?"

"I'm pretty sure I don't love you, Larry," she said softly. "You're sweet and swell, but"—she pointed to her heart—"but something didn't click in here when you popped the question."

She looked at the moon streaming from behind a feathery cloud, and she felt as though a big load had been lifted from her mind.

"It's funny, Larry," she mused. "The way we think we want something, and then discover we never really did want it when we get it."

She poked him in the chest playfully. "That applies to you, Larry?"

He smiled ruefully. "Not angry. Just disappointed. But I guess it's my own fault for not playing my cards right. Or would you say it isn't the way you play them but the cards you have to play?"

"Let's not analyze it," she whispered.

"Let me know if you change your mind?"

She nodded. "But I don't think I'll change it."

He took her by the arm. "Let's go inside. As I recall, you haven't danced with Dugan yet," he said pointedly.

She stiffened slightly. "No, I haven't."

THEY couldn't find Dugan Blake anywhere. "Haven't seen him in the last 15 minutes," said Uncle Hank. "Haven't seen him all night, in fact," said Uncle Hank.

There was a troubled frown on Larry Grover's face as he drove Barbara home.

"Funny, about Dugan disappearing, wasn't it?"

"I hadn't thought much more about it."

"Liar," he said matter-of-factly. "Why don't you admit you're in love with him?"

"I'm not," she flashed. "Nor have I any intentions of falling in love with him."

"Well, at least you're a beautiful liar," he added cheerfully. "Which makes it all right, of course."

Larry offered his hand as he took her to the door. "We've got to be very impersonal from now on," he said gravely, and she laughed.

"He's staggering ... as usual he probably needs a bodyguard to protect from the sweet young things."

"Oh, I daresay he'll manage to break away to dance with you at least once," Uncle Hank told "That is, if you don't wear 'keep-your-distance' look you ally have whenever he's in room."

She wanted to laugh. If Uncle Hank knew what had happened last week-end.

DUGAN brushed a spot of powder which a "sweet young thing" had deposited while venturing—and leaned on the railing with Rod Porter, No. 2 on the Briar Hill polo team.

"Not a very good stunt, dancing business, for gents play a round-robin polo tournament in two days," Rod said.

Dugan laughed. "You're not going to be able to climb a horse. With seven teams to pick, how many games do you think the winner will event play?"

"About three," Porter guessed. "Unless there's a bye week along the line. Anyway, we've got to beat that Spring Mountain tomorrow morning."

Dugan nodded absently. He just noticed Barbara and was walking off the terrace toward the garden.

From within the clubhouse, a melodic throbbing of the orchestra floated out through the open doors. He could hear the laugh and all the sounds in the which spoke of carefree gaiety.

Dugan knew suddenly that he was going to miss much of On Monday he would leave Oklahoma. Oklahoma and black dirt and the still gold which rushed and gushed from the ground.

It was good to think of the because that was his life and love it.

His reverie was broken by other "sweet young thing" girls.

"This is our dance, but I want to dance," she said. "C'mon, show me the garden this moon."

He tried to pry her hand dragged him off down the "Isn't this gorgeous," he panted breathless, but Dugan noticed.

All he saw was Larry and Barbara behind a bush tree.

Barbara was in Larry's arms and he was kissing her.

Dares Newsmen To Take Exams Of Highway Patrol

By Dallas Press
AUSTIN—State police have issued an invitation or challenge to Texas newspaper men to take the examinations upon which applicants will be admitted to the state police force. Exams will be given at 14 district patrol headquarters.

The newsmen will not win membership on the force if they pass the tests, but they will get an idea of what the patrolmen must know and be able to do.

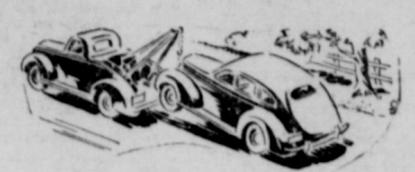

Director Homer Garrison, Jr., said that the writers may quote directly from the examination questions, for the set used on one test is never repeated on later quizzes. The tests will be given Aug. 11.

Garrison said that 4,000 men applied for the 100 new jobs on the force. About 2,000 applicants were rejected for failure to meet cardinal requirements and 2,000 will take the combination oral-written examinations.

Demonstration On Screw Worm Smear By E. C. Cushing

As a surprise part of the program at the third annual sheep and goat day at Gorman on July 29, E. C. Cushing, a representative of the U. S. Bureau of Entomology Experiment Station at Leonard, demonstrated the mixing and use of Screw Worm Smear No. 62, formula for which has recently been released to the public. The smear was made by a mixture of 25 per cent benzol, 25 per cent diphenylamine, 10 per cent Turkey red oil and 20 per cent lamp black.

Cushing used the smear to demonstrate the treatment of a case of screw worms in a sheep and announced that it is now available to livestock raisers through reliable dealers of livestock products.

Thenothiazine Is Recommended To Kill Screw Worms

Dr. J. B. Boughton, Experiment Station Veterinarian, in his talk to sheep and goat raisers at the sheep and goat day program at Gorman recently, recommended thenothiazine for elimination of stomach worms and other intestinal parasites in sheep and goats. He pronounced the drug the most efficient found so far for eliminating all intestinal parasites except tape worms from sheep and goats.

BY HARRY GRAYSON

NEW YORK—Tom Brennan, Dobbs Ferry cop and old friend, is waiting for James Dykes when the White Sox pull into New York.

"Where yuh been?" he asks.

"You know we aren't due till 10:45," replies Jimmy Dykes.

"The way the White Sox are playing, I was afraid you'd never get here," says Policeman Brennan.

Officer Brennan owes the Chicago manager a hat on the Conn-Louis fight. He wants to know the size.

"Well," asserts Dykes, "it used to be 7 1/4, but make it 7. Haridge and his umpires and looking at this ball club!"

Brennan inquires about the Chicago? "What's wrong?"

"They're hitting their weight," explains Dykes, "and they're anemic! I'd have to wrap two of my blokes together to net a 400 hitter."

DYKES is convinced Connie Mack is wrong in contending that pitching is 90 per cent of baseball, or even 75.

"Look at the Reds," he shouts, "and take a gander at us. We have Lee, Higley, Lyons and Edgar Smith backed up by Dietrich, Ross, Hallett and Humphries, and Hayes and Appleton for relief. Why, old Pete Appleton hasn't been out there in so long he probably couldn't find his way to the box."

"But what good is all that pitching when we think we're 164 miles in front with a two-run lead. Our idea of a blitzkrieg is a base on balls, a hit batsman, a sacrifice and a passed ball. If the other side is guilty of an error somewhere in there, we really get to town."

DYKES adds that he would like to write baseball in Cleveland. "What a racket," beams the Round Man. "All they have to do is use the same old pieces over and over again."

"They start winning the pennant in April and gradually build up until they have a seven-game lead. Then the let-down comes and all the slobber."

"About every three years they fire the manager. All they got to do is change a few names. And it's always good."

"Why, Oscar Vill hasn't enjoyed such light summer reading in years."

Dr. J. B. Boughton, Experiment Station Veterinarian, in his talk to sheep and goat raisers at the sheep and goat day program at Gorman recently, recommended thenothiazine for elimination of stomach worms and other intestinal parasites in sheep and goats. He pronounced the drug the most efficient found so far for eliminating all intestinal parasites except tape worms from sheep and goats.

Dr. Boughton advised sheep and goat raisers to not only keep their animals free from these parasites during the summer months but also to worm them before they go into the winter in order that breeding animals won't have to support worms in addition to producing young.

A lark is something that if you go out on you can't get up with. Some airplanes require 50,000 feet of electric wiring, according to the Department of Commerce. Japan is the principal source of imports of canaries, the Department of Commerce reports.

Dairymen To Hear Sheep And Goat Day Program Is Decided Success

Dairymen and other livestock raisers of Eastland county who are interested in learning how to have their herds tested in order to clear them of contagious abortion are invited to attend a meeting in the County Court Room, Eastland, at 8:15 p. m. Tuesday, August 12. Dr. L. R. Noyes, veterinarian for the U. S. Bureau of Animal Industry, will talk on how owners of dairy and beef cattle herds can cooperate with the bureau in accrediting their herds for contagious abortion or Bangs disease.

Milk consumed from cattle infected with contagious abortion frequently causes a disease in humans known as Undulant Fever. In recent months dairymen and milk consumers in Eastland county have shown an increased interest in eradication of the disease from dairy herds. This increased

More than five hundred sheep and goat raisers and others interested made Eastland County's third annual sheep and goat day a success by attending the educational meeting held at Gorman on Tuesday, July 29. A total of 7,425 sheep and 6,630 goats are owned by those from Eastland County who signed the register at the meeting. The largest single Eastland County owner of sheep present was Leslie Hagaman of Ranger who has two thousand head H. S. Weston of Carbon, who has 1,400 head of goats, was the largest goat owner present from Eastland County.

Some of the larger owners of sheep and goats who attended the meeting from other counties were R. L. Steen and C. O. Norton of Goldthwaite, Joe Rogers of Cad-do, M. P. Zimichi of Strawn and Wayne Everidge of Comanche.

Delegations of sheep and goat raisers and county agents attended from Palo Pinto, Erath, Comanche, Mills, Stephens and Throckmorton counties.

Those who appeared on the program with talks and demonstrations were Dr. I. B. Boughton, Experiment Station Veterinarian, E. C. Cushing, U. S. Bureau of Entomology, W. R. Nisbet, A. and M. Extension Sheep and Goat Specialist, and Roy W. Snyder, Extension Animal Industries Specialist.

Barbecued chevon with trimmings was served at noon by the Gorman Young Business Men's Club. Facilities for the meeting were arranged by the Southwestern Peanut Growers' Association, at whose headquarters the meeting was held.

Petty Crimes, Inc. Mystery Is Solved

By United Press
FORT WORTH, Texas—The case of "Petty Crime, Inc." was solved by Fort Worth detectives with the able assistance of the resident, himself, pint-sized Kenneth Howard.
Howard was given a three-year suspended sentence in federal court last year for taking a stolen car across the state line. Recently, the 17-year-old "executive" was arrested with a friend in an attempted burglary charge. The federal judge revoked the sentence and gave Howard three years in an institution "to be designed by the attorney general. When his future had been decided, Howard asked for a telephone and called for City Detective Jay Dunwoody.

"I want to see you, Jay," he said, "to straighten out some of my business."
At the conference, Howard outlined to detectives a story of nocturnal thefts on a scale that approached big business methods. Working with him were five other boys. Some helped break into homes and business houses, others sold the loot in house to house canvasses. Three business men also were arrested for "receiving and concealing."
Today, police believed the loot taken by "Petty Crime, Inc." would pass the $1,000 mark. Eight persons besides Howard have been captured and will face charges.

Twelve student cooks are now taking instruction under the tutelage of Sutton, six of whom will be placed at Camp Walters in the near future.

G. Land prepared, seasoned and cooked fried chicken served at the dinner, Earl Douglas made the apple pie served as dessert, Woodward Goss, one of the advanced students, supervised all the cooking, Alton Rhodes had charge of decorations.

The meal was planned in order to give the cooking students special instruction in preparing meals for hotels or cafes. The

Meter Is Devised To Check Up Vision

By United Press
SOUTHRIDGE, Mass.—Many puzzling cases of eye strain, sick headaches, nervousness and some traffic and flying accidents may be eliminated through the development of a new instrument for faulty eyes.

The eikonometer is designed to detect and measure aniseikonia, recently discovered eye defect.

Aniseikonia, discovered by Dartmouth research scientists, causes pictures of objects received by the brain through the two eyes to be unequal in size or shape, or both. The strange eye condition may effect stereoscopic vision so that objects in space appear tilted, rotated and distorted.

Formerly it was necessary for victims of the disease to visit clinics in New York, Boston, St. Louis, Baltimore and Hanover, N.
