STATES WRITE 50 NEW LAWS FOR DEFENSE

CHICAGO, Ill.—The 43 state legislatures meeting this year set machinery for state participation in the national defense program through enactment of approximately 550 statutes, according to a survey by the Council on State Governments.

The legislation covered subjects ranging from sabotage prevention to a statute, passed by Virginia, protecting the home front as essential to defense.

The council reported that every state now has a defense council agency. Twenty-seven were established by legislative action and others by order or appointment of the governor.

The survey "could not illustrate the range of state defense activities since little new legislation was required for state administrative co-operation in the defense effort," the council said. Four model acts introduced in legislatures in January requiring support, the survey indicated.

The state guard act was adopted in 31 states, including Oklahoma which set up a women's guard. Sabotage prevention legislation passed by 17 states, explosive control legislation by 15 states with protection of property acts by 14 states.

More than a score of states authorized local defense housing laws, giving authorities to develop projects to assure the availability of safe and sanitary dwellings for men engaged in defense work. Michigan passed a law authorizing the state to acquire land to construct trailer parks in or near industrial areas where housing shortages exist.

Fewer than a dozen states enacted legislation bearing on industrial relations. Almost all of it designed to curb strikes.

Several states adopted laws designed to remove race and color discriminations in defense industries, the council said.

Legislation against un-American activities was enacted by 20 states. Most of the laws were to outlaw Nazi, Fascist or Communist organizations.

Only a few states adopted laws covering soldier welfare and education, the council reported. Kansas and New York authorized communities adjacent to military camps to establish and maintain recreation centers for soldiers, while Arkansas authorized government units, including school districts, to acquire and maintain land and buildings for purpose. New Jersey and Idaho adopted similar legislation.

Planning and planning legislation adopted by eight states included changes necessitated by the use program and the influx of workers and soldiers. It was used by Georgia, Kansas, Michigan, Minnesota, Nebraska, Ohio, Tennessee and Utah.

Approximately 30 states enacted laws covering participation of residents in the military service. Many of the laws assure that their jobs will be available when they return. Other protect draftees with unemployment insurance.

36th Division Blitized By Poison Ivy And Chiggers In Louisiana Battle

Corp. Buster W. Higdon, Headquarters, 142nd Infantry. Here is the second part of the movement of the Infantry units of the 36th Division to Louisiana: At 6:55 a. m. Sunday, August 10, the first truck of a 75-mile convoy for 11,000 Infantry soldiers moved forward on the second part of its journey to a bivouac area near Mansfield, La.

Nearly all of the soldiers breathed sighs of relief at having to leave their bivouac near Fairfield, Texas. The citizens in surrounding towns near this area had been more than kind to the soldiers during their stay there. Some went so far as to take boys into their homes for baths and dinners. Bathing facilities at Red Lake were so crowded this was an honor to be appreciated. A gin at Fairfield was turned over to shower baths for the soldiers at no charge.

At exactly 12:30 p. m. the convoy crossed the Sabine River into Louisiana at Logansport. Many of the men had been in this state a year previous, for maneuvers with the old National Guard, but for many it was also their first trip into Louisiana either with the Army or in civilian life. The primitive aspect of the territory made itself evident at once, when the convoy hit several miles of dirt road which was actually one of the main highways of Louisiana.

At 2:30 p. m. the convoy moved into the bivouac area near Mansfield, and started the task of clearing dense underbrush in an effort to erect some tents for kitchens, supply houses, offices, and other uses.

Poison ivy, poison oak, and plenty of chiggers marked the bivouac area as extremely uninhabitable for other than those hardened to such exposure as this. Men exposed to these terrors of maneuvering are frequently sent to the hospital with serious cases. In the hot climate that exists in Louisiana poison ivy and poison oak spread at an almost unbelievable rate.

Water is at a premium with haphazard supply, and the wells at farm houses near the bivouac area are overrun with soldiers illegally obtaining drinking water. All water used by soldiers is supposed to be chlorinated before it is used.

That is all I can write that might be of interest now, but on August 16, when the troops break base camp and start the maneuvers, there should be plenty of news. If anyone wishes to see a member of any unit of the Third Army of which the 36th Division is a part, they should come to Mansfield before the 16th.

Austin Content As Stevenson Conducts Office

By HARRY BERGE CROZIER
AUSTIN.—There is a definite sort of contentment in Austin, seat of Texas government, this summer. Austin, that all of a sudden sprung a city skyline with jagged tomblike structures that turned out to be office buildings where people worked, has been a pleasant town down through the years. Sam Houston found it a livable place; Stephen F. Austin is said to have cast longing eyes toward it before his untimely death made residence here a devout wish that could not be consummated.

Austin loves to remember two ceremonies that have been events if not epochs in the town's history. Molly O'Daniel got married on a Thursday at the Governor's Mansion in a Roman Carnival setting that babes in arms there that night will relate to their grandchildren a hundred years from now. A week and a day later on Friday, August 8, Coke Stevenson took the oath of office as governor in the House of Representatives and made an inaugural address that may find a place in the history of Texas. The contrast was stabbingly glaring to those who witnessed both.

Plain people from his own hill country, plain people from all over Texas, people who never embraced the gaudiness of radio or other device to further themselves or an ambition, stood erect and cheered at Coke Stevenson's oath taking—cheered with a fervency that Texans have not shown since James Stephen Hogg took the oath of office fifty years ago.

They were plain people. Nor was there a common person among them.

Texas Ranges Are In Excellent Shape

Average rainfall in July was more than an inch above normal, and dry weather during the last part of the month enabled the ranges to mature, the report stated.

The annual 4-H Club summer camp is to be held in the Eastland city park, Aug. 14-15. Girls from all over the county will attend this camp for 4-H Clubs.

The camp is being planned around a military theme. The group will be divided into smaller groups with a captain. Each group will have its own name such as coast guard, field artillery, and military police. It will be the duty of the captain to see that all of her group are on time and ready for all activities. On Thursday night each group will provide some sort of entertainment for the camp.

The campers will enjoy swimming and games on Thursday afternoon followed by a picnic supper. In the evening County Supt. Williams will provide a picture show which will be both educational and entertaining. After the picture the girls will hear members of the group tell of the 4-H club summer trip to Galveston, and the short course held in A. & M. The gold star girl of 1941 will be presented with her pin to climax the evening.

Friday morning will be spent in recreation and swimming after which assistant county home demonstration agent, Alice Wheatley will give a demonstration on book binding and bread making.

Good manners and health in national defense will also be discussed. Lunch will be served at twelve o'clock, after which the campers will get ready to return home.

J. C. Day, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Day, Sr., was killed last Thursday while at work on the Shasta Lake Dam in California. A wire to his parents from his employers, advised them that he had been seriously injured, and a few minutes later another message informed them that he had passed away.

Volney Day, brother of J. C. Jr., took an airplane from Lubbock and went to Shasta Lake and returned with the body to Eastland.

Surviving the decedent are the following: His parents, one brother, Volney of Pampa, and one sister, Mrs. Louise Hogan of Pampa.

Sweetwater Man Heads U.S.O. In The 17th District

DALLAS.—James H. Beall Jr., Sweetwater, has been appointed chairman of the 17th Congressional District for the U. S. O., according to an announcement made by E. B. Germany, Dallas, Southwestern Regional chairman. Beall succeeds Judge W. R. Ely, Abilene, who resigned because of ill health.

Seven counties out of the twelve in the 17th District have been organized or partially organized by State Headquarters, Germany said. Immediate organization of every county is the aim of the new congressional chairman, who is also chairman of Nolan county, the only county in the district which has already raised its quota. Nolan county completed its fund campaign the day before it was officially opened.

Counties in the district showing chairmen are Eastland, Charles J. Kleiner, Cisco; Fisher, B. L. Conley, Roby; Jones, C. W. Bartlett, Anson; Nolan, J. H. Beall Jr., Sweetwater; Palo Pinto, Maj. W. P. Cameron, Mineral Wells; Stephens, H. R. Owens, Breckenridge; and Taylor, W. V. Womack of Abilene. Five counties will be organized by Chairman Beall including Coleman, Comanche, Erath, Hamilton and Shackelford.

The 17th district has two army cantonments, Walters at Mineral Wells and Barkeley at Abilene.

NAZIS CLAIM ADVANCE REACHES BLACK SEA IN UNSPECIFIED SECTORS

Germany claimed to have made a break through to the Black Sea on the South Russian front today, but it appeared that she was stalled on the North Wing facing Leningrad and had reportedly suffered a setback in the Smolensk sector along the Moscow Road.

The Eastern Front was offensive on Berlin to be pressing deep into the Ukraine and had thrust its advance units forward to the Black Sea coast on several unspecified points. The Russians admittedly were fighting strongly as the main forces gave ground.

The Nazi thrust to the sea presumably was east of Odessa, big port which the Germans are trying to encircle and isolate by plunging south of Kiev and down the Dniester River front.

If the gains claimed by the Germans are quickly consolidated and followed up the Russians will be deprived of a huge portion of the Ukraine bread basket, probably as far east as the Dniester River "bend." This would mean that the advance by the Germans was perhaps 275 miles from the pre-war frontier of Russia and would break up the railroad and river communications system of the Ukraine.

The Germans for the time being avoided a direct assault on either Kiev or Odessa. Moscow heard reports that the Germans were thrust back on the Central Front and London radio said that the Russians were still in possession of Smolensk, which the Germans claimed they had taken in July. Intensive aerial operations continued all along the front and both Berlin and Moscow had air raids last night.

In France Admiral Francois Darlan today assumed more power than any great figure since Napoleon when an official decree gave him authority over the armed forces of unoccupied France and the French colonies.

Meanwhile in Washington Secretary of State Cordell Hull said that the United States Government watched with "interest" the anti-British Darlan and any moves affecting the security of this government. Vichy's action today climaxed the censor-suppressed German pressure moves upon unoccupied France's government, which may end in granting Germany important territorial bases for further anti-British operations.

Bachelor Wed?

Rosalind Russell, Hollywood's No. 1 bachelor girl, may be a bride, for she told a California policeman she was on her way to be married. Or maybe she just pulled a fast one to beat speeding ticket.

"Yes, sir," Stevenson remarked on the second day of his administration. "I believe I will stay out here at this desk in the reception room unless I have mail to answer or something else that can't be handled out here. When people want to see, they can just step in the door and there I will be."

"If I'm back in the little corner office, I can come out at least a couple of times a day and shake hands and say 'howdy' all around. That's all most folks want anyway."

"But, governor, I don't see how you can work much in this reception room, if people are waiting around to see you," said a visitor.

"I've been speaker and lieutenant governor for more than eight years," he said, "and I never had my door closed when I was in the office. If anybody wants to see me, they can look inside and see whether I'm busy. If I am busy, they don't mind waiting. People won't abuse you if you try to show them that you want to do the right thing."

"When I was in the bank (as president) at Junction, I was the first fellow that the customers could meet when they came in the door. I didn't have any bars between me and them, either. Most folks like to see the boss on the job."

White Collar Men Also Have Hazard A Survey Shows

AUSTIN.—"The average person, if considering the question at all, likely will conclude that the white-collar worker lacks hazards such as surround the man or woman in industry. Accident prevention campaigns, which have been directed toward making factories and plants safer places in which to operate, have given rise to this popular notion. Nevertheless, the fact remains that those in offices also are confronted with hazards which are no less real simply because they are somewhat intangible and often insidious in their effects," states Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

"A prominent health educator recently topped his list of office hazards with the swivel chair. He indicated that its virtue lies in its vice. Being comfortable, the office worker either by choice or as a measure of necessity remains in it. Thus its harm is not of itself, but in the physical inaction for which it is responsible, coupled with bad posture due to undisciplined sitting."

Again the male office worker, despite his comparative physical inactivity is prone to consume more food than is good for him. Excess weight in many cases results. And excess weight can be a health liability. On the other hand, a limited number of the female contingent are likely to be too streamlined-conscious. Over-emphasizing this idea results in breakfastless days, light lunches, and insufficient dinners. Malnourishment with its untoward effect upon well-being, as well as a consequent lack of resistance to disease, is neither conducive to health nor maximum vitality.

"Emphasis on the need of physical conditioning as a direct result of the present emergency should be reflected to some extent in a constructive change in the office worker's habits. More daily exercise in the open, a more rational attitude toward food from both the over-eating and under-eating standpoints, adequate amounts of sleep, and a curb on excesses of all kinds are natural buffers against the disadvantages to which the office population is subjected."

"In factories safety committees, safety education, and protected machinery do much to eliminate industrial hazards. On the other hand, in the office the removal of less pronounced but just as real hazards depend largely upon personal interest, understanding and action."

Bomber Plant Has A Serious Blast

WICHITA, Kans., Aug. 12.—An explosion in the boiler room of the Stearman Aircraft Company's new bomber plant injured eight employees today.

President J. Earl Schaeffer of the Stearman company said that an air compressor in the boiler room exploded. He said that there was no evidence of sabotage, but that the Bureau of Federal Investigation was conducting an investigation of the explosion.

Food Warehouses Built At a Camp

CAMP POLK, La.—Modern gas-and-oil armies still have one ancient problem, for, whether it marches, rides or flies, the armed force still moves and fights on its stomach.

Camp Polk, with three food warehouses for 17,000 men, is building a bakery, a cold storage plant to hold enough perishables for 10 days and an ice plant with a capacity of 20 tons daily.

These and other new solutions to the old problem make possible such daily items as these: 1,161 pounds of bacon, 8,796 pounds of beef, 1,100 pounds of butter, 11,800 half-pints of milk, 4,800 pounds of bread and 10,500 pounds of potatoes.

River Channel To Be Changed To Put A Stop To Floods

ALTUS, Okla.—The Red River channel is to be changed near Hess to prevent a recurrence of floods like those which covered six sections of Jackson County farm land last June.

The county and the WPA are cooperating in the construction of a dam four feet high and 200 feet long, with additional wings two feet high and 500 feet long to be added later, designed to keep the river from spreading out over farm lands in high stage.

VETERAN WAR MASCOT GOES WEST

HALIFAX, N. S.—The Royal Navy lost a much-loved member of its personnel with the death of Bingo, the big, black dog that had been ship's mascot in more than one encounter with the enemy. Bingo survived the bombardment of a British town and an adventurous Atlantic crossing, only to meet his death in a traffic accident in Halifax.

Overplaying the Hand

It has been galling to have to sit back and watch Germany insinuate itself into American countries by means which the United States dislikes to adopt and for which it has small talent.

But there is good hope today that the Germans have badly overplayed their hand. The very arrogance and effrontery which served them so well up to a point is now beginning to trip them up.

Bolivia stood for a lot. But when letters were found from their own military attache in Berlin to the German ambassador at La Paz detailing plans for a military coup, the Bolivians called a halt, and called it in words of one syllable.

Next piece of Nazi effrontery was a circular letter to all Latin American governments demanding that they protest against the action of the United States in stopping shipment of American goods to Nazi agents in Latin countries. Such cool crust has seldom been seen in diplomatic circles—at least not since Berlin was promising Mexico most of the American Southwest in return for support in the World War.

But the Mexicans, who are a proud people, know how to answer a request that Berlin dictate its foreign policy. With the smooth and delightful language which has distinguished Mexican diplomatic correspondence in late years, Mexico replied to the Germans that she alone "is competent, in absolute fashion, to note on what occasions the liberty of commerce and the sovereignty of Mexico are injured."

Further, continued this little gem of diplomatic wordage: "I can assure your excellency that the road Mexico will take will be that which it esteems most appropriate, without the need of receiving or carrying out instructions of other authorities conveyed by any of the accredited diplomats in this capital."

That is a delightfully diplomatic way of saying, "Of course we will do no such silly thing, and you, sir, can go and take a running jump into Lake Chapala."

A few North Americans have been annoyed at times when, in the oil controversy and other matters, Mexico and other Latin American countries have shown a quite determination to go their own way. But when that same rugged spirit of independence shows itself equally determined to take no back talk from European totalitarians, we of the United States must feel a little thrill of pride.

We want the American nations to march forward, arm in arm, as equals and comrades united by bonds of goodwill and mutual interest and respect, but never by chains of subservience to any power, including our own.

In hot weather when someone tells you to go jump in the lake, don't get sore—do it!

Tree Is Producing Synthetic Jewels

AUSTIN, Tex.—Not that diamonds grow on trees, but Dr. C. S. Albers, University of Texas pharmacist, has a shrub from which synthetic jewels can be made.

The plant is a relative of the mesquite and produces a seed from which guan arabic is made. Synthetic diamonds can be processed from this material, which also is used in emulsifying agents and in medicine.

Scientific name for the plant is Acacia vreri.

Albers obtained the shrub from the British department of agriculture and forestry in Egypt. He believes his specimen, which he uses in classroom lectures, to be the only plant of that species in the United States.

Troops Guests In An Old Mansion

By United Press

FORT WORTH, Texas—A generation ago the aristocracy of the cattle country made social headquarters of this stately, towered white house.

But today the fortunes of the builders have dwindled. The mansion has been transferred to other hands and today it is used as a lodging house.

Owner of the house is Mrs. Adie Reynolds, mother of two sons in the armed services, who believes that patriotism is more than something to talk about at a luncheon club.

Recently—on a Saturday night—she was returning from town about midnight. She was shocked to see a half-dozen soldiers taking their night's sleep on benches in a mid-town park.

Promptly she returned to her big white house and took inventory. Many of her rooms had been rented to boarders but on the third floor she had four beds in a huge, spacious room which would easily accommodate six soldiers.

With enough sheets and pillow slips at hand, she issued an invitation to soldiers of the nearby army camps that they were welcome to stay at her house. Now, nearly every Saturday night, the first six who call get one of the free beds.

Her only restriction is that they call before supper time and not too much racket or drinking. "And please, boys," she pleaded, "don't set the house on fire."

Thus far she has reported the soldiers are always courteous and happy over the free lodging. They even clean the room before departing.

NEA Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK—Unless Mike Jacobs changes his mind, or is out of it, Lou Nova will fight Joe Louis at Comiskey Chicago, Sept. 23.

The Yankees are home practically the entire month of September, including the 18th and 25th, the preferred dates. Taking his cue from the late Tex Rickard, Promoter Jacobs tries to stage outdoor productions on Thursday nights, gives the fight Friday in case of rain.

Sept. 23 is the ideal date because it follows Jewish New Sept. 21-22-23, among other things.

BUT the real reason Jacobs leans to Chicago is that he has New York baseball people 10 per cent of the net receipt. He can have Comiskey Park for $20,000 flat, and no question asked.

If Nova and Louis gross $750,000, which they are quite to do, that would mean a net saving to Jacobs of something like $50,000, a share of the swag that would have to be split with nobody but the old Broadway ticket scalper himself.

Jacobs tried out this plan with gratifying results in connection with the Braddock-Louis engagement, which grossed $750,000 at Comiskey Park, June 22, 1937.

Nova is an old story in New York, and was not too important a time or two.

Jacobs stresses the point that the Negro population of South Side is vastly more Louis and fight conscious at the office than are the people of Harlem.

NOT having had a major production since Louis bumped Braddock more than four years ago, Chicago is ripe and ready for another.

Jacobs is assured of an enthusiastic press. The many railroads running in and out of Chicago promote co-operation. Jacobs contends that many of New York's suitors would welcome an excuse to get away from home. We would special trains from big cities within easy access, such as Detroit and Cleveland, and from as far as Chicago, Seattle.

John Doe's Laundry Chagrins Sergeant Pipe Line Workers Find Old Money

By United Press

SHELBURNE, N. H.—The national defense emergency reception center, there's a bundle of laundry marked "Private John Doe."

First Sergeant Erich F. Vetter is chagrined. And Private Fred Pife is, well, minus his laundry.

Vetter took pains to instruct his men, when the camp laundry opened recently, very carefully on how they should fix their tags to prevent mixups in the return of bundles. He even typed sample tags and distributed them.

Pife took him at his word. That is why there's a bundle of laundry marked "Private John Doe."

There was no record of the existence of the unit.

Your Electric Service Knows No Vacation

GO AS FAR AS YOU LIKE AND STAY AS LONG AS YOU PLEASE—I'LL BE ON THE JOB WHILE YOU'RE GONE!

"Yes, folks, have a good time on your vacation. I'll stay on the job as usual, and when you get back, I'll be ready to start working for you where I left off. If you come home after dark you can light up the house at the snap of a switch, and I've kept a tray of ice cubes in your electric refrigerator."

Most everybody takes a vacation, or at least gets a day of rest, but your electric service is always instantly ready when you want it, 24 hours a day and 365 days a year. Like the sun which rises every morning, like the air we breathe, electric service is taken for granted, so dependable and so essential is electricity to our everyday comfort and convenience. But dependable, good electric service doesn't "just happen." Skilled employees, miles of wire, great electric turbines and other equipment combine in the Texas Electric Service organization to make available for you this modern service any hour of the day or night.

Ward's Remodeled Store Will Reopen With 4-Day Sale

The newly remodeled Ward store at 407 main street will be opened officially tomorrow morning at 9 A. M. A 4 day Grand Opening Sale will be held in conjunction with the event, according to Mr. Crews, store manager.

Remodeled Store To Show Larger Stocks
Enlarge stocks, improved shopping facilities, and many innovations are featured in the newly remodeled store.

Recent developments in retailing require that the ultimate in shopping convenience for the customers must be placed foremost. Wards have accomplished this by following a plan which combines "three complete stores in one," thus bringing together all needs of every member of the family.

Complete stocks of hardware, wearing apparel for men, women and children, and furnishings for the home are carried at all times. The addition to the newly remodeled store is a complete hardware unit, where the customer will find sporting goods, house, wares, paints plumbing and heating supplies, washers, refrigerators, radios, tires and auto accessories.

On the Main floor are clothing and accessories for the family, women's hosiery and lingerie, men's furnishings and work clothing, underwear and shoes. A large section is given over to a smart Fashion Shop which features fashions shipped directly from New York, where Wards experienced buyers continually "keep their ears to the ground" in order to bring the latest trends and modes of the moment to Wards customers throughout the country.

The second floor is in reality a complete home furnishings store. Here the homemaker can find furniture for every room, including bedding, floor coverings, and the new time payment office. Extra Sales Force On Hand To Serve Opening Day Crowds
Many additional salespeople will be present to serve the overflow crowds expected to attend the Opening Day Sale. "The generally wide interest in the newly remodeled store, plus the wide publicity given the Opening, indicate that capacity crowds will attend the gala celebration tomorrow," said Mr. Crews. "We at Wards wish to urge early shopping, for it is extremely difficult to control the supply of many sale specialties announced for the Grand Opening Sale. In spite of huge stocks on hand, past experience has proven that customers are quick to realize the exceptional values offered whenever and wherever a Ward store is opened."

Many Special Values Will Attract Record Throng
"We expect to exceed attendance records set on other Grand Opening Days in Ward stores," said Mr. Crews. "The combination of buying in large volume, economical distribution and unusual Opening Day reductions assure plenty of values for the Grand Opening Sale beginning tomorrow at 9 a. m."
Ease of Shopping Provided For Customers
Counter displays are now so arranged that customers may actually handle and feel the merchandise for quality. Spacious aisles, quickly efficient service and strategic location of related departments provide easy, satisfactory shopping for the most discriminating customer.

Outside window displays, modern and beautifully designed in Chicago, give the passer-by an attractive glimpse of the merchandise selection awaiting him inside the store.

Sheriff Shorty SAYS

Well folks — just wanted to tell you that them committee fellows is workin' hard already on the little details to put that big celebration over in a big way. Saw the big boss a hurryin' round the drag this mornin' and I'll bet he wasn't out sellin' any ice, either. Couldn't find PLEAS MOORE so I guess he was out workin' on something to worry about too. And do you know what—they went over to Cisco and got my jail today. Its up in front of "SLIM" GARNER'S oprey house now, so all you folks will see what a fine hoosegow was provided for the sheriff this year in the "Go Western" affair.

Was up in the bank this mornin' just to mingle with the rich folks and to get a nickel changed, and there was that feller CREAGER, countin' out a lot of money. Don't reckon it was rodeo money, but still I guess he is workin on his stuff, too.

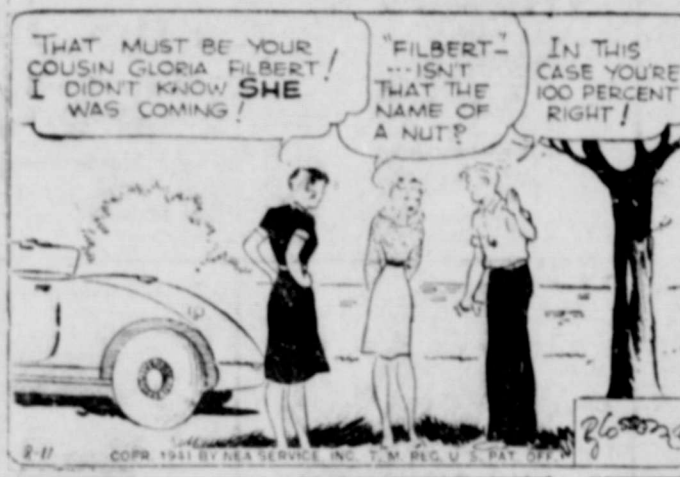

Saw lots of cowhands going around the drag with important lookin papers in their hands trying to get some money fer to help pay the rodeo bills and such. They was all workin hard. Why, one of them collector fellows even come to me—fer me to give 'em some money. See, they sure are a hustlin around.

And CHIEF MURPHY is a gittin out all his pretty flags and other trimmings athinkin about decoratin the town up smart. All the boys are a hustlin around the ranches gittin their cow ponies handy for the parade. I'm a tellin you right now, things are sure a hummin around town with the time gittin short and that big celebration a-gittin closer and closer every day. We ain't lettin old man hitler bother us none, fer war or no war, that big rodeo is a-goin to come off real pert. And everything else that goes with the celebration is goin to be better than ever.

And before I fergit it—want to remind you to go on up and look at our swell jail. It's sure nice and peaceful inside.
