VOLUME XXIII RANGER, TEXAS, MONDAY EVENING, AUGUST 25, 1941 PRICE 3c DAILY (5c ON SUNDAY) NO. 60

MOTORCADE TO LEAVE RANGER 8:45 TUESDAY

The first big motorcade, to advertise the Fourth Annual Labor Day Rodeo and Homecoming, will leave Ranger promptly at 8:45 Tuesday morning, it was announced today by T. J. Anderson and Charles Bell, chairmen of the motorcades.

Entertainment will be furnished at the seven towns to be visited on the trip by Merle Jenkins and his big accordion and by a trio composed of Fern Allen Meroney, Edith Taylor and Margaret Jo McCleskey.

It is expected that about 50 cars will make the trip, carrying a large number of Ranger citizens who will advertise the big event throughout the territory south of Ranger.

The motorcade will be led by a pickup from the Ranger Fire Department, on which the new Ranger public address system will be mounted.

All who wish to accompany the motorcade have been requested by the co-chairmen to be on Main Street, in front of the Chamber of Commerce office not later than 7:30 Tuesday morning, so they may be assigned a place in the caravan before it leaves Ranger.

The schedule for Tuesday will be as follows:

Ar.	Lv.
Ranger	8:45
Stephenville	10:00
Hublin	10:35
Mananche	11:30
Leon	1:30
Orman	2:00
Arbon	2:30
Spring Star	3:20
Ranger	4:30

The second motorcade will leave Tuesday morning, visiting Eastland, Cisco, Moran, Albany, Cadillac, Breckenridge, Palo Pinto, Mineral Wells, Gordon, Mingus and drawn before returning to Ranger.

Lyndon Johnson Urges Young Men To Meet Challenge of Hitlerism

LOUISVILLE, Ky.—Young men of America must meet the challenge of Nazism with all-out support of President Roosevelt and his beat-Hitler policies, Cong. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas declared here Thursday night in a keynote address that opened the national convention of Young Democrats.

Johnson termed the present emergency "the greatest and the most desperate challenge ever thrown down against our beliefs and our democracy."

He himself one of the nation's youngest law-makers at 33, and administration leader and member of the house naval affairs committee, the rangy Texan said bluntly:

Gasoline Prices Rise Fractionally

NEW YORK—Average retail price of gasoline in 50 representative cities on August 1 was 13.87¢ per gallon, as compared with 13.81¢ on July 1 and 12.58¢ on August 1, 1940, it is indicated in reports received by the American Petroleum Institute.

Taxes averaging 5.95¢ per gallon, as compared with 5.92¢ per gallon a year ago, increased the average cost of gasoline to the consumer to 19.82¢ per gallon on August 1 as against 19.77¢ a month ago and 18.50 a year ago.

Gasoline taxes generally now are equivalent to a retail sales tax of more than 40 per cent, but in some cities consumers are paying a gasoline tax of more than 60 per cent.

Big Increase In Defense Training Classes Are Seen

AUSTIN—A sharp increase in enrollment in adult supplementary and pre-employment National Defense Training classes in the state has been registered during the past six months, according to James R. D. Eddy, state director of vocational training for national defense.

Eddy reported that enrollment has increased six and one-half times during the six-months period. The latest check showed 9,222 enrolled in the classes, 5,934 of whom were working to supplement their present knowledge. Net enrollment in pre-employment classes in January was 1,492.

Those enrolled in supplementary classes are being given specific training to further qualify them for work in defense industries, Eddy said.

Although many major defense contracts have been completed, others are coming on, Eddy said, and a large number of skilled workers are needed.

Selection of trainees and all placement is handled by the Texas State Employment Service.

Prisoners Missing A Woman Singer

DENVER.—Prisoners at the Denver county jail can no longer hear their favorite lyric sung by "One-Step Dell."

For Mrs. Winifred Irell Bouwre died as she had lived—the victim of a tough break.

The career of the one-time beautiful singer ended when more than a ton of cement and bricks toppled on her from a building on Larimer street in the heart of Denver's "flophouse" section.

Her life included a carefree childhood in a well-to-do Denver home, a marriage terminating in domestic troubles with her husband disappearing and 13 years of life during which time she accumulated a record of 48 arrests.

Vibrations of passing traffic over a half-century caused the cornice to weaken, officials said.

"It was typical of Dell's luck that she chanced to be passing at that moment," said Detective John Walker. "She was considered an outstanding beauty nearly 20 years ago."

"She displayed evidence of a thorough schooling and reflected the breeding of her socially prominent family."

"She married a young Denver patrolman, Walter Koenig, and for several years they were an example of domestic happiness," Walker continued.

"We never knew just what happened, but Dell changed. Her husband showed plainly that he was worried, but he never discussed his troubles. Then about 15 years ago, he disappeared. He left work one day, without a word to anyone, and to this day he has never been seen, nor has a word been heard from him."

"It wasn't long until Dell became what is commonly known as a 'police character,'" Walker said.

West Stepping Up Mercury Mining

RENO, Nev.—Nevada's Humboldt county ranked fourth in the nation in output of mercury in 1940.

In a special quicksilver report prepared by the U. S. Bureau of Mines, Nevada was credited with a greater proportional increase in the production of mercury last year than any of the important mercury-producing states.

Forests Offer A Metal Substitute

COLUMBUS, O.—The hardwood forests of Ohio and the Middle West may off-set the aluminum shortage in the airplane industry, according to Dr. J. Alfred Hall, director of the central state forest experiment station.

"The products of the forests helped us out during the last war," Dr. Hall said. "Airplanes were made from spruce, and propellers were made from laminated hardwood 23 years ago. The trees may have to do the job again."

Dr. Hall said that synthetic resins and glues have been developed, making possible the construction of hardwood plywoods for airplane fuselages and other needs of national defense.

The director of the experiment station, who is in charge of tree planting and experimentation in eight Middle Western states, believes that even the inferior woods will be found useful in arming America for defense.

He points out that new water-resistant plywoods are being used in the construction of training planes. The government has appropriated funds so the forestry service may experiment with newer wood products for combat planes.

The new plywood sheets are tough and impervious to water and are almost as desirable as lighter metals in the construction of airplanes.

Dr. Hall cited another new process, recently discovered, for compressing wood to one-sixth its size, thus increasing its density and durability.

The new products may not be immediately perfected for defense needs, but they probably will provide materials for non-defense industries that are deprived of metals by the national emergency.

Tuskegee Sends Fliers To Army

TUSKEGEE, Ala.—The army's first flying school for negroes, located at Tuskegee Institute, is turning out fliers now for the nation's flying forces.

A class of 10 graduates of the Civil Aeronautics Authority training school held at the Institute is undergoing elementary flight training and, upon completion of a five-week course, will be transferred to the 99th air corps squadron base now under construction near here.

A contingent of 278 Negro enlisted men will be brought to the base from Chanute Field, Ill., to serve as ground personnel. The base will be one of 42 operating under the Southeast Air Corps Training Center, which has headquarters at Montgomery, Ala.

At the dedication of the school Major-Gen. Walter R. Weaver, commanding officer of the training center, told cadets that "the eyes of your country and the eyes of your people are upon you. The success of the venture depends upon you."

In addition to the flight training the Tuskegee Institute has instituted a program of training for aircraft mechanics.

Tuskegee Institute has been the site of a C. P. T. training school since inauguration of the nationwide program in 1939. The school, aided by the Rosenwald Fund, has spent $50,000 on equipment and building facilities, and has eight planes and a staff of six instructors, four ground school instructors and two mechanics, as well as helpers and clerical workers.

Crow Shooters Have Costume Like Klan

WAUKEGAN, Ill.—A group of men clad in white robes and carrying shotguns gave residents a scare recently and led to reports that the Ku Klux Klan was on the march.

Sheriff's deputies encountered the men huddled together in a lonely woods. It was quite simple, the white garbed group explained.

"We're members of the Pointer and Setter club and we've gathered together here to shoot crows. We're dressed in white because crows can't see white objects at night."

Rolling House Is Made Of A Log

RELSO, Wash.—The home of Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Arnold is nearly 2,000 years old—and it's American in its foundations, which consist of four wheels.

Their home is a trailer house unit from a giant spruce log and mounted on a truck. Arnold bought the 25-ton log from Olympic Peninsula loggers. He worked steadily for two years converting it into a "home."

He called it the "Squirrel's Nest." Inside the giant hull, the average person can walk erect. The entire mobile unit weighs 13,000 pounds. The hollowed-out log is 22 feet long, 8 feet wide and 9 feet high.

The Arnolds have started a tour of the United States, hoping to obtain the signatures of the 48 governors.

Powder Plant Will Have Motor Patrol

PINOLE, Cal.—To create a fool-proof guard against any attack on attempted sabotage to its plant here, Hercules Powder Co. is constructing a motorcycle road that will completely encircle the entire plant.

Around the highway will be constructed a barbed-wire fence. Entry to the plant will be impossible without climbing barbed wire fences and a motorcycle patrol will spot anyone before he gets over the top.

Wild Fox Killing Many Livestock

Farmers and ranchers in the Kokomo community in Eastland county are losing quite a few pigs, chickens and goats, according to information received from there. These losses are attributed to an ever-increasing number of fox in that section.

It has been suggested that the farmers, ranchers and hunters should get together and work out a program by which the fox could be exterminated. It is pointed out that many hunters hesitate to run their dogs in that section for fear of poison or having them shot.

War Games: Hide-and-Seek and Peek-a-Boom

Boys in the brush play a blitz in Dixie as 100,000 soldiers of the American Army go through their first big maneuvers. Crew handling 105 mm. howitzer, left, finds big leaves camouflage the big gun effectively, while a weary radio operator, right, relaxes in the shade beside his portable set after 48 hours on duty.

Data On Strange Pre-Historic Texas Animals Collected

PITTSFIELD, Mass.—The last member of her family, Dr. Anna Bates, 80, drove her auto 2,000 miles here from her Denver home with the ashes of her father and mother for burial in the family crypt that was hewn from solid rock atop Mt. Lebanon.

AUSTIN.—Data on the strange creatures that roamed the Texas plains thousands of years ago are furnished by an exhibition at the University of Texas Memorial Museum of the 25,000-year-old fossil of a giant armadillo.

The remains were unearthed by a university WPA field crew on the W. E. Tedford farm in San Patricio county recently and reconstructed by WPA laboratory workers.

Resembling a stone bench umbrella, the huge, helmet-like shell is at least 25,000 years old, Dr. E. H. Sellards, director of the museum, said.

Big Crowd Is At Revival In Spite Of Heavy Rains

Good crowds attended the revival services at the Church of Christ Sunday, in spite of bad weather, and heard Lyle Price deliver two inspirational and interesting messages.

What shall I do then with Jesus which is called Christ?" was the evangelist's as he pointed out that this is the question that was asked of the Pilate as Christ stood trial before him.

Every man who lives must answer that question today," he said.

Then asked the question, "What are we doing with Christ?" followed it with the queries "are we crucifying Him?" and "are we denying Him or just trying to ignore him?"

Every day we live we are asking the question that Pilate asked many years ago.

By evening the evangelist was pointing out the importance of seeing to it that tonight he will speak on "Is New Testament Christianity too Old Fashioned for the World of Today?"

Frighthouse Is Charge On Which Man Faces Trial

FORT WORTH.—The most sensational case on the docket of Criminal District Court, to open Sept. 2, is the trial of Mac McGhee, 43, who is charged with the "frighthouse" of Tom Wells.

The murder charge grew out of a union meeting two months ago. According to witnesses, McGhee had asked for recognition from the chair several times during a heated meeting. Wells refused to recognize McGhee.

Fistieuffs followed and a pistol was produced. The weapon so frightened Wells that he jumped from the second-story window of the Labor Temple. He died of injuries two days later.

Germans Claim Big Victory In Ukraine

LONDON, Aug. 25.—The Berlin radio reported tonight that German forces had captured 5,000 more prisoners and many tanks and other war material in the battle of the "last Russian bridgehead" over the Dnieper river in the Ukraine.

"Whodunit" Fans Reassured By Ushes From AUSTIN, Tex.—Detective stories, for many years thought of as "unnecessary" but entertaining have at last been recognized as a part of modern literature. Many detective stories are good literature, according to Miss Lola Rivers Thompson, University of Texas library science instructor.

Approaching Marriage Announced Sunday

Announcement was made Sunday of the engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Betty Gorman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Gorman, to Mr. James Sanders, son of Mrs. Hattie Sanders of Henderson. The announcement was made when Mrs. Vera White and Miss Mary Jane Irenkofer, aunts of the bride, entertained at their home, Breckenridge Highway, with a beautifully appointed breakfast at 9:30 o'clock Sunday morning.

Crystal and silver appointments were used on the tables with a color scheme of yellow and white being carried out in other appointments. The bride elect's table was covered with a cut work cloth and centered with a large crystal basket filled with marigolds. Tiny crystal baskets filled with sweet peas centered the smaller tables. Places were marked by heart shaped cards to which were attached miniature bouquets of lilies and in which were yellow cards bearing the initials of the betrothed couple. The wedding will take place early in September.

The hostesses presented Miss Gorman with a lovely gift of crystal.

Those attending the breakfast were Miss Dorothy Henry, Vera Ann Vaughn, Alice Louise Henry, Fannie Bell Swaney, Marise Chastain, Jane Lauderdale, Electra Pearson, Doris May, Betty Louise White, Billie Jean Gorman, and Misses Robert Hinkson of Strawn, Ralph Rider of Gorman and L. J. Kitchaid, sister of the groom-elect.

Sheriff Shorty SAYS

Well now folks, it was down right pleasin' to see all them pretty girls all done up in their Western duds Saturday, even when it was rainin'—and the rest of us, we wasn't makin' 'em do it at all, as the big "Go Western" idea wasn't to start until today. That all goes to show just how them gals and ladies mean to cooperate with us fellers who are workin' hard to put over this here rodeo and home comin' celebration for the benefit of Ranger and surrounding territory. Yes sir, we was plum delighted to see them pretty gals all over town—and as today starts off the "Big Go Western" our fair city sure did blossom out with lots of color and gay trimmin's. We just know everybody will have a good time wearin' them pretty duds—and when these here tourist folks are passin' through Ranger goin' or comin', they are sure to see that somethin' important is goin' on. Then when they hear about our rodeo that's goin' to be—maybe and perhaps they might decide to come back and see it—and be with us for that there home comin'. You know, we fellers who haven't been anywhere miss the best part of the home comin', fer we're already here and can't come home no more.

As per my previous announcement, Mrs. Sexton, the lady who is in charge of that square dance they are puttin' on tomorrow night up at the swimmin' pool, positively and absolutely says you can't dance up there if you ain't done up in Western clothes. So I am just remindin' you of the same. Then that big, good lookin', square dancin' deputy of mine, named Dutch Doss, will be detailed to cover the square dance and see that Mr. Sexton's orders are carried out. And maybe perhaps if my dogs get to itchin' fer some music, I might come on up there to see what is goin' on myself. So if any more of my sheriff force happens to be around, I'm mighty sure we can handle any situation that comes up. Meenin', in other words, trouble—which is somethin' we don't run away from much.

And now folks, get a good night's sleep—go to bed early and get up bright and early tomorrow mornin' so as to be all ready fer the startin' time of that rip-roarin' rodeo. Be up to the Chamber of Commerce in plenty of time fer Mr. Fire Chief George Murphy aims to start off with that little red fire truck and his loud speaker at 8:45 a. m.—or 15 till nine o'clock in the mornin', and as it takes a long time to get everybody in line, the earlier you come up there the better we will all like it.

I'll be seein' you tomorrow mornin'.

at the Municipal Park, as was announced Sunday.

Royal Neighbors To Meet Tonight

The Ranger Camp of the Royal Neighbors of America will meet tonight at 7:30 o'clock in the Odd Fellows Hall. Communications on defense will be read and all members are urged to attend.

It was announced this morning that Mrs. Carrie Henry has returned from Sweetwater and will attend the meeting.

PERSONALS . . .

Leslie Hays is confined to his home because of illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Cayce Garrett have returned from a vacation spent in Houston and Galveston.
