From American Hearts

Who doubts the determination of the American people, has not seen them offering the literal blood of their hearts to safeguard as best they may the lives of the soldiers and sailors who go out to risk death for their sake.

In response to an urgent call from the Army and Navy for blood plasma, 200,000 Americans are stepping quietly forward to offer that blood. The American Red Cross is receiving the donations of blood, and taking care of its processing into dried plasma, shipping it then to army posts, ships, and first-aid stations where it may save lives in the treatment of shock and loss of blood in wounds of burns.

It is not a desperate or heroic action, this giving of a pint of blood; yet blood is life, and who gives blood thus gives a little tithe, perhaps, of his own life to save that of another. Literally from the beating heart of America comes this offering, freely and undramatically given.

Have you forgotten what America means? Go to one of these Red Cross stations for the receipt of blood donations, and watch the people come, quietly, with suppressed eagerness hidden beneath an outer layer of deprecation, lest they be caught looking melodramatic.

Here is an old and frail-looking lady, seeming 10 years past the allowed limit of 60. Is it a son or even a grandson she sees bleeding out his life for lack of the plasma that might save it? Not if her blood will prevent it, she might be saying, but she speaks not save through the pride in her eyes.

Here is a skinny, drugstore sort of youth, the kind you would have sworn yesterday had never had a serious thought. Yet he is here, and tomorrow when they ask him about it at the drugstore he will back away with a deprecating "A-a-aw! It ain't anything!" But he is here.

Here is a slender young woman, her eyes too bright, her cheeks too rouged, her fingernails too scarlet, her dress and manner suggesting that even in her youth she has seen things better left unseen. Yet she is here. Has not she too a heart and does it not beat with American blood?

Here is a shapeless woman with great red hands. She speaks not a word of English. But her blood, gushing through the tube into the glass receptacle, speaks eloquently enough.

Here is a brawny truck driver, casual in his second gift of blood; a fat and rosy woman; an embarrassed salesman of neckties; a young man already wearing the uniform of his country; rich man, poor man, beggarman, they come.

Little enough they had in common, these strangely assorted people; they might never have met, never have known the others existed. Yet they have come together in this little room to open their veins into a common life-giving pool.

They had something in common after all, these people. It is America.

Non-College Men Win Quiz Games With Other Soldiers

CAMP BOWIE, Tex. (UP) — Quiz Kings of this Texas army camp are a group of soldiers who did not attend college.

For five straight weeks the non-college team proved the mental masters of select regimental groups composed of men with college and university training.

Program rules pit the winner of one week's contest against a selected team in the following week's broadcast quiz. The high school educated team was on the first program, won, and since hasn't been budgeted by any team sent against it.

Nine men have represented the winning regiment, answering questions on sports, history, music, current events, and other topics. None of the nine, however, has appeared on all the programs.

The non-college group has been so arranged for each program that it contains men whose reading and observation has given them an above-the-average knowledge of certain subjects.

Thus Corporal Carl C. McEwen of Harlingen has battled consistently high on sports questions. It was he who answered "Carling" to the question that stumped college-educated soldiers. The question was: "What sport is played on ice, in which round stones are used?"

Others among the champion no-college team have been: Sergeant Wilson W. Fain, Canyon; Corporal Lecroy Clifton, Westbrook; Private William D. Schwartz, Houston; Private James V. Deniston, Corpus Christi; Private Arthur W. Bender, Saginaw, Mich.; Private Hubert D. Wortham, Fort Worth, and Private First Class Jess F. Donnel, Woodson.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICES

"Love" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ Scientist, on Sunday, Feb. 1, 1942.

The Golden Text is: "We have known and believed the love that God hath to us. God is love; and he that dwelleth in love dwelleth in God, and God in him" (1 John 4:16).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "The Lord thy God in the midst of thee is mighty; he will save, he will rejoice over thee with joy; he will rest in his love, he will joy over thee with singing" (Zephania 3:17).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "God is Love." More than this we cannot ask, higher we cannot look, farther we cannot go" (page 6).

TWINS NAMED FOR JAP ATTACK

CONWAY, S. C.—A Conway farmer was wondering what he would name his newly born twin daughters when he picked up a newspaper carrying headlines on the Pearl Harbor bombing. That settled his problem. He named one "Pearl," the other, "Harbor."

bones from hunger." Miles enlisted in Forrest's cavalry in preference to the state militia.

The Beville veteran lives in a small home in northwest Beville and he lives alone — through choice, not necessity. He built his home here in 1909 and has kept bachelor's headquarters following his wife's death in 1919. He does his own housework and prepares his own meals.

Tall and erect, the one-time cavalryman is widely known throughout this section of the state. His white beard is full and flowing, his voice clear and loud, his clothing neat and immaculate, and he is well informed on events of the day.

Relatives of "Uncle Billy" claim one branch of the family or another has been represented in every war in which this country has engaged, including the Revolutionary War. His own great-grandfather, Major Charles Miles, fought alongside General Andrew Jackson at the Battle of New Orleans at the close of the war of 1812. His oldest son, John Boyce Miles, was the first Beville soldier to die in the first World War.

A firm believer in keeping his credit good, "Uncle Billy" claims he doesn't owe a single penny to anybody in the United States.

For many years he was a farmer and stockman in McMullen county, serving eight years as county commissioner before he finally retired.

Yield of wheat in Argentina this year is estimated at 6 million metric tons, 26 percent less than for 1941, the Department of Commerce reported.

Steeplejack Lives To Tell Of a Fall From High Chimney

COLUMBUS, O. (UP) — A man who "should be dead" has lived to tell the story of his 100-foot fall from a chimney.

Ersel Bidlack was plying his trade as a steeplejack high atop a hospital chimney when his safety rope snapped. Four seconds later he was on the ground.

Here is Ersel's second-by-second account:

1st second: "I yelled, 'Get out of the way!'"

2nd second: "I kicked, trying to get out beyond the concrete and fall in the shrubbery."

3rd second: "Kicked some more."

4th second: "A two-point landing — on the concrete."

Ersel plummeted directly down. Never spinning, never turning, he landed on his heels and fell forward. When he was taken into the emergency room at the hospital, doctors counted 11 fractures in his feet and leg bones.

"I know I should be dead," Er-sel says, "but as soon as I get my feet set well, I'll be back to work. I like the work and pays good money."

DOC—FAIR-HAIRED BOY

CHAPTER XXI

JUDDY didn't take the trouble between Maurie and Bixie Groff as seriously as I did. Much gooding like that might put Maurie on Doc after all, but Juddy only joshed Doc about it.

"Why don't you borrow Dolf for a police dog?" she said. Doc didn't even answer her. He said, "Do you think I should apologize to Sears, Mom?" "What for?" I said. "You didn't do anything to him."

"Are you afraid?" Juddy said. "Of course I'm afraid. I'm not a fool, I have no ambition to be shot."

I guess Juddy had never heard that tone out of him before. She had it coming to her all right. She colored up.

Angel showed up, looking like something the Salvation Army had salvaged. No, he wasn't looking for Juddy. He wanted a private talk with me. We went down to the river. It was private enough there because an airplane had just gone over, scaring Old Swoby into the stockade, and Dolf was covering his retreat.

"What's it all about, Big Boy?" "Money. Got any to spare?" "No. How much?"

"Seven hundred dollars," he said like a dying swan. I can add three to four. "The bet," I said. "Juddy's bet." "It wasn't my fault."

"It never is." "When she passed me the fee pitcher, I went on the razz."

"Yeah!" I said. "Was it dice, draw, or dominoes?" He let out a groan. "What does it matter now? The game was crooked. Mom, I could pay you back sure in two months."

"I haven't got any seven hundred dollars," I said. He put his head between his big hands. "How'll I ever square it with Juddy?" he moaned. Just then Loren Oliver came out of the stockade with his hand on Old Swoby's shoulder. Angel looked over at him and dropped his voice. "You could get it from him, Maa," he said.

"Yes," I said. "But he'd have a right to know what it was for." Angel thought that over. "It's all right," he said. "He'd better not do anything. I've got plenty on him."

"You're crazy," I said. "Well, if I haven't, I will have. Enough to can him out of his job."

HE was so cocksure that I got uneasy. I didn't like the smell of it. As for Doc, I didn't worry so much, for I figured that Angel could make good on the loan.

"Run along, little boy," I said. "I'll pull you out of this hole. But it's the last."

I went over and stood in front of Doc and looked him in the eye. "Doc," I said. "What would you do if I told you I needed seven hundred dollars?"

"Just like that? Without knowing what, which, or why?" He didn't look at me. "We're friends, aren't we, Mom?" "Doc," I said, "you're a funny guy. I don't get you, at times. But, speaking man to man, there aren't a lot of people in this more or less phony world that I think more of than I do of you."

"Cash or check?" he said. He was like that. This was my day to be personal, though. "Cash," I said. "And that isn't all. You aren't doing right by the Feederia lately. Have you gone sour on my vittles?"

"There's nothing the matter." But he wouldn't look at me. "Listen, Doc. You haven't gone and fallen for Juddy, have you?" "She's in love with Todd. You heard what Sears said that day."

"I didn't hear her say anything, though." "She didn't deny it." He tried to smile. "Strange as it may seem, she doesn't even like me."

"Get this, Loren Oliver," I said. "Juddy's a pretty wise guy about a lot of things. But her own self isn't one of them."

ANGEL got his nerve up and owned up to Juddy about his drunk. Of course he didn't say anything about the money; just handed it over. His explanation was all right with Juddy; she didn't ask any embarrassing questions. She even became more friendly with Loren Oliver, which Angel didn't like too well, though.

"I was curious. What did they find to talk about?" "Wandos, by Crispiel!" Angel said. "And she made a date with him for 10 o'clock tomorrow morning—this morning, that is."

"That made me uneasy." (To Be Continued)

It took a movie queen to alter her views. Lolita Marquesas was billed in Cherrington, only a hundred miles away, for personal appearance with "Spanish Love." Angel Todd brought the news.

"Look me over," he said to Juddy and me. "I'm the most important guy in Welliver University."

Well, it seems that last year Lolita had been chosen Sweetheart of Chi Rho Gamma, and she was coming to pay a visit to the Mother Chapter and Angel was chairman of the committee of escort to go and fetch her.

"We're throwing a swell dinner for her at Rogues Hall," he said. "You're invited; both of you. Friday at seven. Evening dress."

"Thanks," I said. "Movie stars are no treat to me. I've been in show business myself." Besides, I had other reasons for not going.

"I'd love to go," Juddy said. Angel couldn't come for her, having the Marquesas on his hands, but he brought her home himself. They were so full of the occasion that they came busting into my room at 3:30 a. m. and sat on the edge of the bed, telling me all about it.

"What do you know?" Angel began, and Juddy pushed in with, "Who'd you think the star made a play for?"

"Prexy Gilchrist," I said. "They always shoot for the biggest game on the preserve." "Not this time," Angel said, and Juddy chirped, "Loren Oliver!"

"God save the king!" I said. Angel did the explaining. "Some of the boys were ragging me on the way back from Cherrington about Tambay and somebody mentioned your Feederia, Mom, and Lolita piped up and said, 'Feederia? What's that?' So Rags Owen told her about Mom. And she said 'Oh, I'd love to eat in one of those funny things.' Then Van Clark chips in and says, 'Loren Oliver's got the inside track with Mom. He's her star boarder.' Lolita asked a lot more questions and then made us stop on the road and telephone Oliver to come to the dinner, and he was to sit next to her."

"How did they get on?" I said. "Talked their fool heads off," Juddy said.

I was curious. "What did they find to talk about?" "Wandos, by Crispiel!" Angel said. "And she made a date with him for 10 o'clock tomorrow morning—this morning, that is."

"That made me uneasy." (To Be Continued)

Professor As Mixed Up On His History As Was Coolidge

AUSTIN.—"Remember Pearl Harbor" brought into the public notice again the slogan of 1898 which was "Remember the Maine" and its predecessor of 1836, "Remember the Alamo."

Prof. David P. Barrows, chairman of the political science department and president emeritus of the University of California, is credited with the statement that "Remember the Alamo" aided to spur the United States to victory in the Mexican War.

Amboina is on an island of 262 square miles but the Dutch defense units there were believed much inferior in numbers to thousands of Japanese troops on the invading transports.

The Japanese also bombed Bulolo and Salamaua on New Guinea Island and pressed their land offensive from Sarawak down the West Coast of Dutch Borneo, where they are being strongly opposed by Dutch defenders of Pontianak, which the enemy is seeking as a base for attack on Java. On the East Borneo coast, the Japanese were also still meeting resistance in the Balikpapan sector.

In Burma, the Japanese claimed to be pressing closer to Moulmein and dispatches from Rangoon said the enemy had heavily attacked a British air base in central Burma.

Northward, in China, there were reports of an impending Chinese attack on the Japanese flank in French Indo-China and Chungking newspapers warned Russia of the possibility of a Japanese drive from Manchukuo into Siberia.

On the Russian front the Germans were reported to be using "suicide" units in an effort to halt the Red Army Counteroffensive, which was said to be menacing the whole Axis front in the Ukraine.

In North Africa, British planes pounded heavily at the Axis armored units that re-occupied Benghazi and there were indications that the enemy forces under Gen. Edwin Rommel might have been stopped, at least for the time being.

Bulldogs Win In Double Header At Cisco On Friday

The Ranger Bulldog Cagers won another double header at Cisco Friday night, the first team winning by a score of 28 to 11 and the second team winning 18 to 4.

Arterburn was high scorer for Ranger with 11 points, while White and Lee scored six points each, Mitchell four and Townzen one.

Gordon was high scorer for Ranger in the second game with a total of seven points, with Mosley being high scorer for the Cisco second team, with two points.

A double header will be played between Mineral Wells and Ranger at the Recreation Building in Ranger Tuesday night.

The story goes that when men in the sunken submarine Squalus were waiting for help, they read aloud "On The Bottom," the tale of a submarine rescue.

World's Champion Jap Haters

This tough visaged group of Koreans, known as the world's champion Jap haters, would like nothing better than to line up some Nippies in their gun sights. They are some of 100 Koreans drilling under supervision of California state guard at Los Angeles.

The Band Mothers Club of Ranger will present a band concert this afternoon at 3:30 in the Recreation Building, for the benefit of the Red Cross.

Mrs. Elwood R. Priesing and her boys' quartet will also be presented, as will a girls' trio.

The complete program for the concert will be found elsewhere in this paper.

Law Students Will Join Armed Forces

AUSTIN, Tex. (UP) As in World War I when the University of Texas Law School was almost deserted because its students joined the armed forces, law faculty members anticipate a large drop in enrollments.

A questionnaire submitted to the 439 law students revealed that approximately 80 per cent expect to return for the second semester beginning this month. Summer school enrollment likely will see a larger decline for only 143 signified their intention of attending summer courses even though 200 were registered last year. The number to attend next fall appears to be highly uncertain, more so than for any other school.

At a meeting held Saturday afternoon in the home of Mrs. W. C. Palmer it was decided to start nursing classes at the high school on Monday, probably at the second and third periods. Credit will be given students taking this work, and a local doctor and local nurse will be on hand to act as instructors.

Home nursing classes will follow the organization of the high school classes, it was stated.

At a meeting held at the Red Cross Center Friday night a permanent Red Cross organization was formed and officers were elected. Mrs. Leslie Hagaman acted as temporary chairman of the meeting.

Monday evening at 7:30 with R. H. Clifton in the chair. The plans are for the wives of the official board members to meet with the board and have refreshments, but further announcements will be made this morning regarding that matter, as the ladies are to meet at the church Monday and do some work and the other plans may be changed. Will make announcements this morning.

Come and worship with us.
