Engineers Sought By Abilene Office Recruiting Service

ABILENE.—The Army of the United States has just issued a call for enlistment for engineer specialists in the Corps of Engineers. In an interview today Capt. C. K. Smullen, commanding officer of the Abilene Army Recruiting and Induction Station, had this to say of the work of the Corps of Engineers, "Engineering and the result of work of engineers form the very foundation on which our war effort rests. Total war is engineered war. The rate of expansion of the military branch of the Corps of Engineers has exceeded the rate of expansion of any other branch except that of the Air Forces. What we have today is not simply a larger Corps of Engineers but a new Corps of Engineers; new in details of organization, new in equipment, new in transportation, and new in many forms of technique. The Army Engineer figures in every phase of modern military operations and in each of these operations his role is a vital one."

Capt. Smullen further stated that at the present time the Corps of Engineers is organizing new units which will be trained in a nearby camp. In these engineer units every man is a specialist and the Abilene Army Recruiting and Induction Station has been called upon to fill a quota of these specialist openings. At this time a special effort is being made to enlist the skilled personnel required to build these new Corps of Engineers units by volunteer enlistments.

Enlistments have been asked for the following qualified specialists: blacksmith, tool dresser, demolition man and foreman, bridge construction foreman, railway construction foreman, crane operator, shovel operators, compressor operators, foreman mechanics, structural steel workers, quarryman, riggers and foreman, jackhammer operator, electrician foreman and highway construction machinery foreman and operator, hoist engineer, and rock crusher foreman.

These existing openings must be filled prior to May 15. Each man before enlistment is required to get a certificate from his local draft board stating that he has not been called for induction and that he is not holding a key position in the war time industry. Any qualified man interested is urged to write or call at the Abilene Army Recruiting and Induction Station, Masonic Lodge Bldg.

Traffic Deaths Up On British Isles

WASHINGTON.—The Federal Bureau of Investigation reports that a study of a huge traffic death increase in Britain shows war has a tendency to encourage reckless driving.

Figures recently received by the FBI disclose that in Britain's second war year, September, 1940, to August, 1941, 10,073 persons were killed in traffic accidents, an increase of 51.9 per cent over the corresponding pre-war period.

Fifty-three percent of all victims were pedestrians. Deaths of this type, involving persons over 15, jumped 81.5 per cent over the pre-war year, while the number involving children 15 years and younger increased 52.3 per cent.

"The English traffic statistics," the FBI reported in its law enforcement bulletin, "reflects that while accidents were fewer they were more deadly and generally resulted from five factors in addition to the recklessness which war has a tendency to encourage."

These factors were listed as follows:

- 1—Heavier character of road traffic.
- 2—Faster driving (frequently necessary on the part of the military.)
- 3—Lower driving standards.
- 4—Fewer traffic police.
- 5—Bad mechanical condition of some vehicles.

The FBI now is conducting traffic schools throughout the country for the purpose of instructing law enforcement agencies in handling wartime traffic. All the factors listed as contributory causes in Britain are receiving special attention.

Dublin Motorcade Visits In Ranger

Two bus loads of rip snorting boosters visited here Wednesday advertising the World's Championship Rodeo to be held in Dublin, April 24, 25 and 26. An entertaining program was given by a cowboy orchestra which was enjoyed by the crowd. Announcements were made concerning the big rodeo.

A few facts concerning this rodeo as brought by these visitors are:

The Dublin World's Championship Rodeo is staged by the Lightning C ranch that is located at Dublin. This is the largest rodeo ranch in the world. Dublin is able to put on this exceptional rodeo only because this is the home town of this big ranch.

The Dublin show uses the same stock as is used at the Madison Square and Boston rodeos each year. Everett Colborn is the arena director at the New York and Boston shows and is also arena director at Dublin.

NAZIS HAVE TROUBLE IN PARIS AREAS

By United Press
VICHY, France, April 17.—A fresh wave of terrorism broke out today in Nazi-held France as Pierre Laval prepared to assume full power over the Vichy government, with a cabinet of his own choosing.

Two anti-German attacks occurred in Paris, shortly after Laval's departure from the city and his return to Vichy to set up a new government there, under the guidance of Nazi leaders.

Two other attacks were reported in the northern industrial region of France, which is under German domination.

A troop train, carrying German troops on leave, was derailed by saboteurs and 40 persons were reported killed.

Youth Is Training At An Air Field Named for Father

By United Press
FOSTER FIELD, Tex.—Aviation Cadet Arthur Foster, Jr., has entered upon his final 10 weeks of training at the field named for his flying father.

The field was named in honor of the World War I pilot who was killed near Brooks Field, Texas, in 1925 while serving as a flight instructor.

"My biggest thrill," said Cadet Foster, "came when I was told I would be stationed at the field named for my dad. I'm going to fight and fly for my country as Dad did, and I only hope I'm half as good as he was."

He arrived here recently with Class 42-E from basic training at Gardener Field, Calif.

Foster Field, an air corps advanced flying school, is one of many fields that have mushroomed in Texas during the last several months. Pursuit piloting and aerial gunnery are taught here.

AIR ALERT IS SOUNDED OVER COAST SECTOR

By United Press
SAN FRANCISCO, April 17.—A daytime air raid alert was ordered today in San Francisco Bay and the Northern California area, because of the approach of a flight of unidentified airplanes.

The alert was cancelled in 17 minutes, when the planes were identified as friendly, the Fourth Army Headquarters here announced at the conclusion of the alert period.

Radio stations in the vicinity were silenced, as a precaution, and the Civilian Defense Headquarters forces stood by for further orders during the period. There was no general air raid alarm, however.

It was the first daytime alert of the year in San Francisco and the bay area of that city. There have been two night alerts, with blackouts being held, since Jan. 1 of this year.

She Wanted To Help In The Food For Defense Move

By GLORIA SULLIVAN
Alameda 4-H Club

You hear so much talk about food for defense I wondered how I, as a 4-H Club girl, could do my share. Then when my parents agreed that I might have the 208 English white leghorn chicks for my club project I was thrilled to be able to do my share.

We purchased them as day old chicks in a nearby town, bringing them home ourselves. The only cost in preparing the brooder house was 45 cents for a flame spreader, since gas was furnished free. I then lined the inside snugly with paper boxes, making my home-made brooder from a large piece of tin cupped to throw the heat down, and set upon legs.

I lost only 10 the first few days, and had the misfortune of dropping a board on three of these.

I kept them on baby chick starter for six weeks and then gave them growing mash. Now we are feeding grain and with plenty of fresh water and sunshine furnished by a drop-door on the south one could almost see them grow.

They are two and one-half months old now and almost ready for the market. I expect to sell the cockerels and keep the pullets as layers for next year, since fortunately three-fourths of them are pullets. The whole family is interested in them, too, for who doesn't like smothered, fried or barbecued chicken?

I hope to clear enough from these to pay for a similar brood in the early fall for fall or Christmas market.

Alameda Girl Has Written of Work Done On Bedroom

By WANDA MYRICK
Alameda Club

National defense needs more healthy men and women to help win this war. One of the great benefits derived from a properly made and cared for bed is that it helps form correct posture of the body. The bed giving relaxation and rest causes strong, healthy men and women.

When planning improvement for my bedroom, I first considered how I might save money and time. Our entire family would be greatly benefited by my improvements done. Having an old bed, I cut the footboard off, then painted, and using old material I made a spring cover. I have a well made cotton mattress. By using a mattress protector and mattress pad my bed is well protected and easily kept clean.

Next, I refinished an old wardrobe to take care of my clothes. Using a small table with a mirror hung above for my dressing table, and found this very satisfactory.

By improving my bedroom and having proper ventilation, a restful bed with warm covers, it will cause me to be more alert and wide awake to help my family, community, and my country to produce more food to keep our men and women strong to defend our country.

tinues," without important change in positions.

Allied airplanes, under General Douglas MacArthur, also kept up a steady pounding of Japanese-held invasion bases north of Australia, attacking Keopang on the Dutch Island of Timor early this morning, despite intensive enemy anti-aircraft fire.

But in Burma the British forces were reported driven back to within 10 miles of the oil fields near Minhsa, on the east bank of the Irrawaddy River, in heavy fighting against Japanese troops, which had received about 100,000 reinforcements.

This represented a Japanese advance of about 15 miles, but on the east of the river the British were holding the Taunggyingyi Front, in an effort to cover the flank of the Chinese troops fighting near Myohla, about 40 miles north of Toungoo.

Six enemy columns, including one that thrust out from Thailand in an effort to flank the Chinese under Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell, are in action on the Central Burma Front, in an effort to win a decision before the rainy season immobilizes the armed forces in May.

Colony 4-H Club Girl Writes About A Frame Garden

By DOROTHY WYMER
Colony 4-H Club

The first thing that was done was to stake off the ground where the frame garden was to be built. The plot was twelve feet long, thirty-four inches wide, and eighteen inches deep. The frame was then built.

A two inch pipe was put in the center of the frame garden lying on the bottom of the bed. This pipe was perforated with about twenty-eight holes in it for the water to seep through, and to water the garden this pipe was plugged at one end and had an ell on the other end with a riser by which to pour the water into the pipe. This pipe was covered with about four inches of straw to keep the perforation in the pipe from stopping up. Then about six inches of barn yard fertilizer was placed over the fertilizer.

The bed was watered three days before planting the seed.

My frame garden was built of material from an old house that was torn down on our farm.

I do not know, but the cost was very little, as we had all of the materials.

It took about two days to build the frame garden.

The frame garden slopes to the west. It is twenty-four inches high in the back and twelve in the front, and it is covered with single window frames which can be lifted off in six separate sections as may be desired. There are two screen doors to place over the garden when the glass frames are taken from the garden to keep the chickens out and to let the air get to the plants. There are also two wooden doors to cover the garden to protect it from the weather and to protect the glass frames from hail. The plants have from ten to sixteen inches space from the surface of the garden to the glass frames in which to grow.

The things that I have planted in my garden are as follows:

Eggplants, peppers, lettuce, tender greens, tomatoes.

I am very proud of my plants that are growing, as well as of my garden.

They're T-O-U-G-H

Americans have had some funny ideas. They would go around saying "The bigger they come the harder they fall" at the same time they were telling each other that America couldn't be licked because she was too big and powerful, that man for man the Japs didn't have a chance because they were small and Americans were big guys.

They would declare that America never could lose a war because America never had lost a war. Of course they didn't mention the fact that Japan also was an undefeated champ. And they forgot Japan never had been invaded, which is more than can be said for the United States.

These illusory ideas and pat pratings have now been pretty well disabused. Let's hope we haven't lost them too late. We should have lost them a long time ago.

Writing in the current Infantry Journal, Maj. Harold Doud, U. S. A., tells of the training that has made the Japanese such tough soldiers. Major Doud spent six months in 1934-35 as a guest officer of the second company, seventh regular infantry of the imperial Japanese army. That autumn the company held its "dog days" training." Quoting from Major Doud's article:

"The 12-day autumn exercises were divided into three fourday exercises. . . One day we marched 37 miles. Twice the troops went three days and two nights without sleep except what could be snatched during 10-minute halts and brief lulls in the situation.

"The last four-day period was the most strenuous. We started out at 5 in the morning and marched almost continuously until 10 the next morning. In that time we covered 56 miles. The same night everyone was occupied with outpost duty and patrol. . .

"Why not let some of them sleep?" I asked the captain. "Oh, no," he said. "That is not necessary. They already know how to sleep. They need training in how to stay awake."

These tough little yellow men were even then getting ready to fight us fat and sassy Americans. While we were calling them soft touches, they were driving to make themselves so hard that in due time we would turn out to be the soft touches.

Major Doud saw the Japan toughening up in 1934-35. The question can fairly be asked: has his story been told before? If not, why not? The Infantry Journal might have rendered a service to the Army and to the nation by carrying this story in every issue of the past seven or eight years.

The bigger they come the harder they fall.

Judge Landis earns his salary for dignifying baseball. If the war continues very long the game will get all the dignity it needs from the venerable gents out there pitching.

Ceiling Is Set On Scrap Iron Price

AUSTIN.—Ceiling prices have been set on scrap iron and steel and there is no point in holding accumulations of these on the farm or around a city household in the hope of obtaining a higher price, George Butler, executive secretary of the Texas Salvage Committee, pointed out today.

Health Service Is Commissioning Doctors, Dentists

AUSTIN.—Supplying the need for an immediate program of expansion in the medical personnel available for the Health and Emergency Medical Service, Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, today announced that the United States Public Health Service is offering reserve commissions to physicians and dentists whose services may be used to care for evacuees in the event of enemy action.

Recruitment of those reserve commissions will be largely from older age groups, from those of minor physical disability, making them ineligible for military service, and from women physicians.

Doctor Cox, who serves as state chairman on Health and Emergency Medical Service, pointed out that it is essential that staffs for operating base hospitals in safe areas be adequately planned to go into immediate effect, in event of disaster. "Caring for the sick and injured in the event of enemy action is a grave responsibility, and no one has the right to assume that we are immune from attack," Dr. Cox said. "Emergency base hospitals in safe areas to which casualties may be evacuated, together with lines of evacuation, and means of transport have been established in all most all sections of this state."

Doctor Cox said that applications for reserve commissions will be served by his office, and pointed out that while the commission covers a reserve, inactive basis so that the physician may continue service in his community, nevertheless those commissioned will be subject to immediate service in case of actual emergency.

others choose to sell. The important thing, though, is to get in that scrap."

The Office of Price Administration, he said, has established a maximum price schedule for steel and iron scrap, and Leon Henderson, the Price Administrator, has made it plain that OPA has no intention of increasing these maximum prices. It took into consideration the fact that much material collected would be varied and would be unprepared for use by the mills. Also, much of this scrap is located in sections remote from the usual scrap collection areas and from scrap centers.

"I can't conceive of anyone's withholding this vital war material for the selfish purpose of speculating on the possibility of higher prices in the future," Butler said. "That can bring only a loss of self-respect by anyone who gambles for personal profit, at the expense of our common effort to whip our enemies."

Butler pointed out also that where instances of hoarding of scrap steel and iron are found, the War Production Board's Bureau of Industrial Conservation has requisitioning powers, and it already has not hesitated to use those powers when anyone possessing scrap has refused to sell it to mills offering the ceiling price.

Farm Work Will Be Plentiful And Pay To Be Higher

AUSTIN.—Asserting farm jobs will be plentiful and pay higher this year in Texas, Commissioner of Agriculture J. E. McDonald today warned laborers in Texas against migrating to other states in response to calls not sanctioned by agencies of the state and federal governments in charge of labor movement.

With the federal government calling for 150,000 more acres of long staple cotton, almost doubled peanut acreage, more milk, eggs, and vegetables for the army and navy, there will be plenty of employment for all available laborers wanting farm work, McDonald asserted.

State Leaders Team Up For U. S. Navy Relief Campaign

Governor Coke Stevenson has proclaimed the week of Sunday, April 19th, as Navy Appreciation Week for Texas. The week will be devoted to an intensive drive in every county in the state to raise funds for the Navy Relief Society to care for the dependents of men serving on the firing line with the U. S. Navy, Marine Corps and Coast Guard. Texas is asked to give $210,000 as its share of the $5,000,000 national quota. Attorney General Gerald C. Mann (center) is state chairman for the campaign. Seated beside the governor as he signs the proclamation is Capt. H. W. Underwood, commandant Naval R.O.T.C. at the University of Texas. Navy men standing with Chairman Gerald C. Mann are (left) Petty Officer Lloyd Bahr and Chief Petty Officer E. H. Grill of Austin.

Peanuts Planted In Treated Field In Comanche Co.

Whit Sides of DeLeon planted the first peanuts in Texas' No. 1 peanut-growing county last week and he seeded them in a conservation treated field because he has learned by experience that conservation measures increase the yield of peanuts needed for their oil.

Comanche county farmers have been asked by the Texas USDA War Board to grow 95,000 acres of peanuts in 1942, more than any other Texas county, as the United States hopes to offset in part with peanut oil the loss of oil imports from the Far East. This county has never had more than 56,000 acres in peanuts before. The Texas peanut goal for this year is 1,056,000 acres, three times as great as the 353,000 acres planted in the state last year. "I put peanuts on this farm in 1913 and made 50 bushels an acre," Sides said as he adjusted his tractor-pulled planter. "But I did not use any conservation measures, and in less than 10 years I couldn't get more than 10 bushels of peanuts per acre. So I figured I'd been growing peanuts the wrong way. By using a good crop rotation, strip crops, cover crops, contour cultivation, and other practices, I've brought the yield back up to 25 bushels per acre."

Sides is active in every land conservation undertaking in his county. He's carrying out a complete conservation farming program developed in cooperation with Soil Conservation Service technicians and the supervisors of the Upper Leon Soil Conservation District, and he's a member of the three-member Comanche county Triple-A committee.

"Peanut acreage on Sides' 160-acre farm is being increased this year from 45 to 75 acres. "I didn't want to increase the peanut land so much, but I didn't like to see our boys go across the seas, either," Sides said. "But they had to go, and we've got to grow the food and feed and oil to back them up. My farm can grow peanuts, and so I'm putting more land in peanuts. I want to get all the peanuts I can from every acre without ruining my land. That's why I'm using conservation practices."

There may be difficulty in getting labor to harvest the crop, Sides conceded, but he said he believed that he and his neighbors will "swap" labor and thresh peanuts as they always have. Sides owns a peanut thresher, and the custom of his community has been for the farmers to go in crews from farm to farm with threshing equipment until the peanut crop is threshed.

T. A. Lee, whose 160-acre farm is eight miles southwest of DeLeon, likewise was one of the first growers to begin peanut planting. He also is a cooperater with the Upper Leon Soil Conservation District and is using conservation farming methods. Lee is growing 90 acres of peanuts this year as compared with 70 acres last year, on the farm he bought recently through the Farm Security Administration tenant purchase program.

Lee feeds the peanut hay to his 14 dairy cattle and thus uses this by-product of peanut growing to produce another important Food-for-Freedom milk. Peanut hay compares favorably in feeding value with alfalfa hay.

As a means of aiding Comanche County farmers to step up peanut production without damage to the land, the Comanche County USDA War Board has developed a list of recommended conservation measures that can be established by an experienced farmer without detailed technical assistance. Farmers are asked to grow peanuts on the contour or level, to use strip cropping by alternating bands of four to eight rows of a tall-growing crop like sorghum with eight rows of peanuts, to use 100 pounds of complete fertilizer per acre, to follow a good crop rotation, to plant winter cover crops, and to use other simple measures.

Arch Boyd, Sidney farmer who is chairman of the Comanche County USDA War Board, reported that sufficient seed peanuts had been kept by growers to plant 88,000 acres in the county. Additional seed are being obtained through the Southwestern Peanut Growers association which has headquarters at Gorman and a warehouse in Comanche county. Approximately 920 Comanche

Great Plains Gets Started on Soil Conservation Plan

By United Press

AMARILLO, Tex.—The Southern Great Plains this spring is witnessing the start of a widespread campaign for a more universal use of simple soil and water conservation practices that can be applied by farmers and ranchers without technical assistance.

H. H. Finnerl, regional conservator of the Soil Conservation Service, said that even though great advances have been made in the general use of soil and water conservation measures in recent years, the soil conservation program should be expanded now, not only as a safeguard to the land but because conservation farming is the most dependable means of attaining the Food for Freedom production goals needed for the nation's war effort.

"Numerous experiments and county farmers already have purchased sufficient seed from the association to plant 24,000 acres.

demonstrations throughout the Southern Great Plains have shown that conservation farming methods in this section increase crop yields during the first year they are applied, and greatly increase yields and insure a more dependable production over a period of years," Finnerl said.

"The shortages of labor and equipment confronting the Plains farmers and war demands for increased food production make it imperative that farmers and ranchers of this region adopt the most efficient farming methods."

"Total war demands total production of war goods. Total production on the farms and ranches of the Southern Plains requires farming methods that conserve fertility, that make the best use of every drop of moisture, that maintain good range and insure good crops in spite of dry weather and increased demands."

"Conservation farming is not only the best guarantee of successful agriculture on the Plains, it is the best guarantee that the war production goals will be met."

Contour tillage on gentle or moderate slopes; simple strip cropping; a more extensive use of cover crops; contour furrowing of range and pasture lands on gentle or moderate slopes; the adoption of a more diversified system of cropping and the use of crop rotation; the conservation and use of crop residues; the use of more suitable and timely tillage methods; controlled grazing on range and pasture lands; and simple gully control measures.

Reclaimed Rubber To Go Into Treads On Recapped Tires

WASHINGTON. — The extremely serious rubber situation has made it necessary to allocate the recapping material made almost wholly of reclaimed rubber for use on List B passenger cars during April, John R. Hamm, acting administrator of the Office of Price Administration, explained yesterday.

The camelback which will go to retreading shops for use in meeting requirements under certificates issued to List B passenger car operators in April is made of reclaimed rubber with only about 2 per cent of new crude used in the mixture for cohesion. It was pointed out, however, that some retreading establishments still have in stock limited supplies of the better qualities formerly in use, which may be applied to tire carcasses under certificates issued in April.

"Tires recapped with this lower grade camelback should be driven at speeds no greater than 35 miles an hour," Mr. Hamm said. "Even at low speeds, these tires are not likely to run more than 5,000 miles. Unless the driver is careful, he cannot expect even that much mileage."

Applications for recapped tires or recapping service may be filed with local rationing boards by eligible List B passenger car operators beginning April 1, and the boards may issue certificates upon proof of need under the terms of the Revised Tire Rationing Regulations any time during the month.

Dipping Will Be Demonstrated On Joe Tow's Ranch

There will be a dipping demonstration Wednesday, April 15, at Joe Tow's Ranch (on old Stewart Farm) located 6 miles North West of Eastland, beginning at 2 P. M.

Wettable Sulphur and Rotenone mixture will be used to charge the vat. This dip will kill the three species of lice that are found on livestock. There is no danger of burning the animal as was the method of arsenical dip used. The vat does not need to be recharged for the follow up dipping which is about 17 days later.

Everybody engaged in the livestock business whether it be one animal or a large herd should attend this demonstration. The same mixture either wet or dry can be applied in cases where there is only one animal and a vat is not practical. The old saying that the first rain in May will get rid of the lice is true only to the extent that when the animal sheds, some of the lice, not all of them, will fall off with the hair that is shed. There is plenty of seed stock left however to get a reinfestation. During this War program where maximum production is expected we cannot afford to under estimate the damage done by parasites both external and internal according to Floyd Lynch, County Agent and Joe Glover Assistant County Agent.

Plans are being made now to give some sheep and goat drenching demonstrations for the control of the stomach worm. According to Dr. I. B. Boughton of the Sonora Experiment Station, Ranchers should watch their sheep and goats closely for worms during the months of June to September.

Trucks, however, must file before the 20th day of the month and no certificates may be issued to them before the 25th. This is to make sure that eligible trucks on List A get recapped tires before any are made available to trucks on List B.

Ranger Delegates Attend A Meeting Of IOOF, Gorman

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Rainwater, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Stallings and Mrs. Rodgers are attending the Odd Fellows Oil Belt Convention, being held today at Gorman.

A cake from the Ranger lodge was made by Bill Rainwater, in the shape of a heart, and in patriotic colors of red, white and blue. The letters I.O.O.F. were placed at the top, with the letters F.L.T., representing faith, love and truth, in the center, with the Ranger lodge number 350 at the bottom.

War Changes Are Numerous In Cities

By United Press

CHICAGO.—"Ham" radio operators with "walkie-talkie" transmitters and receiver sets, red fiber wax tokens, and wooden traffic signs, are among innovations introduced throughout the country as a result of the war emergency.

Providence, R. I., has made its amateur radio operators full-fledged, but unpaid, members of the police setting up an emergency communication system for air-raid work, the American Municipal Association reports.

The emergency network is composed of eight short-wave stations, each of which will have a portable radio set that can be carried by a staff member.

Should telephone communications be bombed, a staff member on air-raid patrol could report damage to the district station, which would relay the message to the report center.

Colorado is now collecting its state sales tax in red fiber tokens instead of aluminum discs. Cut, dyed, embossed and packaged at the state penitentiary, the tokens cost about $1.25 a thousand.

Because of a shortage of other materials for "stop" and "slow" signals, Richmond, Va., is one of

Train Women For Wartime Positions

By United Press

PITTSBURGH.—Anticipating a great need for women workers in war industries, the Pittsburgh public schools are preparing to set up a training program to instruct girls in machine shop work. A pronounced shortage of men for work in the district's huge industrial plants is expected this year as the result of the drafting of male workers and increased production schedules. It has been estimated that about 13,000 new workers will be needed in local mills this year.

Fred W. Boland, director of the department of trade training of the Board of Education, said tentative plans for the course call for instructing girls in lathe work, filing, drilling, soldering, wire splicing and blue print reading.

"We have found that girls are very capable in handling light lathe work and simple machine tool operations such as slab milling," Boland said. "We'll start in a small way, but at least we'll be ready when the demand from industry arrives."

Canadian Men in Canadian Ships Beat Storm

Canadian destroyers on convoy duty in the North Atlantic took a buffeting in recent spring gales. Huge seas lambasted these ships constantly for 48 hours. One sea swept through a destroyer's galley, instantly extinguishing fires. Engineers rigged a steam jet and bucket to provide hot soup for the

Fishing Permits Are Being Sold By Country Club

With the coming fishing season rapidly approaching, plans for the season at Lake Hagaman have been completed by the fishing committee of the Ranger Country Club, and many permits have been sold.

The number of permits to be sold, at $10 for the season, has been limited to 65 by the committee, and no day-by-day fishing rights will be sold.

Permits may be obtained from members of the committee, which is composed of Pleas E. Moore, chairman, C. L. Cross, E. L. Perkins, E. V. Galloway and L. W. Meador. Permits are also being sold by H. H. Vaughn and A. N. Larson, president of the club.

Regulations governing fishing in Lake Hagaman as printed on each permit, include:

"By Guest is meant anyone living more than 20 miles from Ranger. In the event a member brings such a guest he is to pay $100 per day for each guest's fishing privileges.

"Size limit: Crappie 7 inches, Bream 5 inches, Bass 11 inches. Bag Limit: 35 Bream, 15 Crappie, 10 Bass, and not more than 20 Crappie and Bass combined.

"No fishing will be allowed (other than by boat) South of the Pipe Line, Seines, Nets and Trawl fishing prohibited. It is unlawful to clean fish, leave bait or other contaminating substances near the shoreline.

"This permit must be kept on your person while fishing, for inspection of the patrolman."

Child Round-Up To Be Conducted Here This Spring

Instead of the annual Summer Roundup of children, the roundup will be held before the close of school this year, it was announced here today. The roundup is being conducted early before the schools close and the children are more scattered, it was stated.

The Summer Roundup of Children is a campaign to send to the entering grade of school or kindergarten a class of children as free as possible from remedial defects. The ultimate goal is to educate parents to the need for early periodic examination of their children. Since this is an educational movement, parents should be encouraged whenever possible to take their children to their family physician and dentist for examination. Where it is not possible for parents to do this, group examinations are to be held.

There will be no charge for the group examination of children, it was stated today by Mrs. Saule Perlestein, who is general chairman for the Hodges Oak Park section.

Committees to aid in the work are to be named throughout the city, it was stated today, and the work is to be started as soon as possible. Plans call for these examinations to be held before school is out this year and an effort is to be made to see that each pre-school child is examined, as well as many of the younger children now in school.

Women spent nearly a billion dollars for hosiery last year—and many got a run for their money.

tea towels, aprons, scarfs, pillow cases, luncheon sets, laundry bags, etc.

For our Christmas party we agreed not to present gifts, and contributed money to the Red Cross Emergency Fund. We also brought food from home and filled boxes for some needy families.

The girls have bought Defense Stamps regularly, and several of them have already saved enough to buy a bond.

Diet and proper kinds of food for sufficient vitamins for health and normal growth have been studied. Each girl has a scrapbook on "How to Improve Yourself" in which we illustrated food containing Vitamins A, B, C, D, E, and G, and showed proper clothing, shoes, exercise and posture for a school girl.

The most recent project is the Frame Garden. After Miss Wheatley demonstrated how it was constructed, many of the girls have sub-irrigated not only their frame garden, but also flower beds. We are growing our tomato plants in a box at school, and when danger of frost has passed, we shall each take plants and set out in our sub-irrigated frame garden.

We have had very interesting club programs throughout the year, and have made two trips which will long be remembered.

The trip to the Dallas Fair was made last fall in the school bus. Thirty-seven girls, seven mothers and our sponsor went on this pleasurable trip. After completing the required goals, we looked forward to the Fat Stock Show trip. This was an exciting and interesting trip because of the special Ice Show, which was the first that many of us had seen.

After accomplishing many interesting things we find that the 4-H Club pledge means more to

First Livestock Auction Draws A Big Crowd Here

The Anderson-Faircloth Sales Barn opened for business today, with the barn's capacity filled entirely, and many buyers and sellers standing in the aisles and outside the building, unable to find seats.

It was probably the largest crowd ever to attend an auction sale in Ranger, or in Eastland County, with buyers and livestock owners arriving early in the morning and remaining all day.

The cattle pens were filled with under the Class V-1 program.

Lt. Comdr. Ralph A. Sentman, U.S.N., retired, will represent the Bureau of Navigation at the meeting, which is being presided over by Dr. Humphrey Lee.

livestock before the auction started, and more continued to arrive from time to time during the day, to be sold under the hammer.

Vic King, auctioneer; Abe Anderson and Sig Faircloth, owners of the new sales barn, were all well pleased with the first day's turnout, and predicted large crowds each Thursday for the weekly auction.

Cattle constituted the majority of the stock received today, with some hogs and other livestock being brought in for sale.
