COUNTY-WIDE WAR ON RATS OPENS MAY 15

Plans are going forward for the County-Wide Rat campaign for the night of May 15. This campaign is being conducted by W. S. Heit, Senior District Field Assistant of the Fish and Wild Life Service co-operating with the county agent and home demonstration agent of the County.

It is estimated that rats destroy $350,000,000 worth of food each year in the United States, and the campaign being sponsored for the County is one of the methods of achieving the goal of the Food For Victory program in the country.

Following is the statement given out by those in charge of the campaign.

We have declared "War on Rats in Eastland County" and we need the full cooperation of every family to do a thorough job of getting rid of these pests. So if you have any rats on your premises you should make application immediately for the poison. You can make application the same time and place that you sign up for your Sugar Rationing Book. Some one on the Rat Committee will be there to take your application and collect the small amount for the cost of the poison.

If you fail to make application at the time you sign up for your sugar then you can make application any time between now and 5 p. m. Monday, May 11 at one of the following places: Chamber of Commerce, Eastland, Chamber of Commerce, Cisco, Chamber of Commerce, Ranger, Chamber of Commerce, Rising Star, County Home Demonstration Agent office and County Agent's office, Eastland.

You will call for your rat bait Friday, May 15th between 1 and 7 p. m. at one of the following bait stations, the one which you designate at the time you make application for your poison.

The bait will be prepared by the U. S. Fish and Wild Life Service. It will be delivered to all bait stations by 1 p. m. Friday, May 15th.

There will be three kinds of (fish, hamburger, and fruit) mixed with barium carbonate. One pound makes fifty baits and the average farm should use about 2 pounds. Instructions will be with each package of bait.

Barium Carbonate is fatal to other animals, if taken in sufficient quantities. It must be kept away from chickens and pets.

There is little danger of harmful effect to cats and dogs from eating the poisoned rats, however, they should be picked up for sanitary reasons. Spoiled meat if eaten by poultry will cause timberneck and castor oil should be administered promptly.

There will only be sufficient bait mixed to fill orders that are made at proper places before 5 p. m. Monday, May 11th.

Two Vocational Teachers, Superintendents in the Schools, School Teachers, Chambers of Commerce, Community Organizations, County Land Use Planning Committee, U. S. Fish and Wild Life Service and Extension Service are all sponsoring the "Rat Banquet" May 15.

The rat bait order reads: I wish to place my order for... pounds of rat bait at 25 cents per pound. I will call for his bait Friday, May 15 at... Rat Bait Station before 7:00 p. m. I assume all responsibility for the proper use of this poison rat bait. Signed... Address... All orders must be paid in advance and must be in the hands of the Rat Campaign Committee, County Agent, Eastland, Texas, by Tuesday, May 12.

RAF Continues To Hit At Nazis And Their Supply Line

LONDON, Eng., May 5—British bombers today attacked Germany's main sea supply route along the 750 mile front, damaging four or five Nazi ships, while other raiders crossed the channel for daylight sweeps of the French invasion coast.

The attacks today were a continuation of the round-the-clock bombing parties inaugurated this spring by the Royal Air Force, and which have been carried for the past two weeks, with slight interruptions because of bad flying weather.

Chinese Halt The Japanese Forces At Yunnan Border

CHUNGKING, China, May 5—Japanese mechanized columns, striking at China from Burma, have been halted by the Chinese in heavy fighting that "continued with unabated ferocity," a Chinese communique said tonight.

Japanese forces from Lashio had been advanced to the Wanting Sector of the Yunnan frontier of China and some enemy forces had penetrated two miles into Chinese territory.

The communique said that Japanese forces were advancing on Chukok, which is across the border river from Wanting, but had been halted by Chinese troops stationed there.

WPA Lunchrooms May Be Called For War Emergency

SAN ANTONIO—Simultaneous mass feeding of as many as 500,000 Texans by WPA-operated lunch kitchens will be possible if necessitated by war emergencies when consolidation of those cooking units, now under way, is completed, it was reported today by Mrs. M. K. Taylor, state service program director.

Under a broadened Presidential authorization, adults as well as children can be fed in case of emergency from kitchens operated by WPA personnel, Mrs. Taylor stated.

WPA-operated cooking units are providing hot lunches for approximately 250,000 Texas children in 2,520 school lunch rooms.

Employed on the school lunch program in the state are more than 6,000 WPA workers. Currently in cultivation are 2,700 acres of school gardens to provide food for use in 1942-43 school lunch programs in Texas.

WPA school lunch units are authorized to operate mass feeding kitchens only when an emergency exists and their facilities are requested by army, navy, or local civilian defense authorities Mrs. Taylor stated.

Old Combine Now A Spinach Picker

COWETA, Okla., (UP)—Farmer T. R. Stone and his son, Ralph, have perfected a spinach picker that is doing the job well at a marked decrease in labor costs.

The Stones took a second-hand combine, overhauled the machine and added a 10-foot conveyor belt plus a few other parts and developed a machine that cuts spinach expertly. As far as they know it's the only machine of its kind in the country.

Inability to hire common laborers for the spinach picking caused Stone and his son to try building a machine that would do the work. They decided last fall that a harvester they were using for other vegetable crops might be used also for spinach.

The finished machine, already in use, cost the Stones but $425 for the equipment needed. It will harvest four tons of spinach an hour. A nearby cannery at Haskell, Okla., is buying all the spinach.

The U. S. Navy changed from a navy of wood to a navy of steel between 1878 and 1895.

BRITISH FORCES FIGHT TO GAIN CONTROL OVER STRATEGIC MADAGASCAR

Box-Car Scores Not Unusual In Texas-Aggie Game

COLLEGE STATION—Anytime a "box-car" score shows up in any kind of sports event it always raises the question about whether or not that particular score is a record.

Last week the Texas Aggie baseball team slaughtered the Rice Owls by the score of 26-0 but the outcome did not set a new record runs scored by an Aggie baseball team. Defeat of S. M. U. 32-7 in 1936 is the mark.

There are no more games recorded until 1904 and then the first Texas-Loughorn Texas-Aggie game showed up with a score of 8-4 for Texas. Spencer was the coach and H. E. Hanna, captain. In 1905, says the record book, the Aggies won the State Championship. Hanna again was captain.

It was not until 1912 that the first "worst" score showed up in the book, which relates that the Aggies defeated Trinity University, 23-0. Charley Moran was coach and Dutch the captain.

In 1920 the Aggies defeated Texas, 20-8 for the next score in the book. In 1924 the Aggies downed Rice, 25-9 for another lopsided and just that same year to Texas, 1-18 for the first big losing score up to that time. Texas also took them 15-1, 3-1 and 4-3 that same year.

Vichy French General Resists British In Attempt To Wrest Control Of Huge Island From Impending Jap Thrust

VICHY, France, May 5—Pierre Laval's Vichy government, angered by what it called Great Britain's "odious aggression" against Madagascar, announced tonight it had ordered the strongest possible defense of the strategic island.

British air and naval forces assisted the famed British Commando forces today in attempting to wrest control of the Island of Madagascar from Vichy French forces, in an attempt to keep Japanese from dominating the supply lines which run near the African coast near the island.

The British forces fought toward the big French naval base of Diego Suarez on the northern tip for Madagascar Island in a showdown with Vichy France over control of the vital Indian Ocean supply route.

British forces landed on Courrier Bay and struck across the 10-mile-wide isthmus toward Diego Suarez Bay, which lies below the arrowhead shaped tip of Madagascar.

Vichy French forces under Gen. Guillemet, who probably have two cruisers and a number of submarines available, resisted the occupation under standing orders announced at Vichy by Marshal Henri Philippe Petain and Admiral Francois Darlan, as commander of all French armed forces.

Pieces together from British and Vichy dispatches broadcast by German radio while the government of Pierre Laval was holding an emergency meeting, the operations went this way:

British naval forces, carrying commando trained troops, including South Africans, but no Americans, or Free French, arrived off Courrier Bay during the night. An ultimatum was delivered to the French governor general, who rejected it and the attack was started at dawn.

The British, according to London met light opposition, which might or might not have been merely a "token resistance."

Reliable reports indicated that the occupation of Madagascar had the approval of the United States government at Washington, as a note was delivered to Vichy today, along the same lines of a note delivered to the French Ambassador in Washington last night.

Lowers Pitch of National Anthem For Average Voice

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., (UP)—Patriotic citizens who gag on those high notes when they sing "The Star Spangled Banner" may now ease the strain by trying the lower key of A-flat.

That's the comforting word from Capt. Howard Bronson, in charge of music for the morale division of the U. S. Army, and Dr. George Sallade Howard, associate professor of music in extension at Pennsylvania State College.

Besides making the anthem easier to sing, the new arrangement also aims at achieving a uniform version, remaining faithful to the harmony and score of the original.

"At times like these the inspired words of our anthem takes on a new meaning," Dr. Howard said. "It is a song which every American wants to sing and in this new form we believe every American will be able to sing it."

Army's New Stove Cooks On The Run

CAMP SHELBY, Mass. (UP)—The army has a new 175 pound gasoline range that'll cook steak and potatoes like mother used to make—and do it on the run.

It can be handled by two men and transported on a light pickup truck, while in transit in the field a complete meal may cook or simmer in the smokeless range pots.

They are used to cook meals in the baggage care of troop trains and in long truck convoys. A unit can cook a complete meal for 100 men.

It heats faster than coal or wood and temperatures are subject to accurate control. The soldiers like it—it fills in fine style that upon which an army travels.

DRAFT LAW TO GET MARRIED MEN OFFERED

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 5—Sen. Robert A. Taft, Republican Ohio, today introduced legislation providing men with dependents would be inducted into the army in classes based upon their family status.

"There is hardly a man today under 45 who is able to make any plans for the future," he said.

His measure would establish the following order of dependent classes to be called up for military service in the United States Army.

1. Men under 35 years of age who are unmarried and who are childless, or who were married after Sept. 16, 1941, date of the Selective Service Act.

2. Men between 35 and 45 years of age who are unmarried, and childless or who married since Dec. 20, 1941, when the draft was extended to include men above 35 years of age.

3. Married men under 35 years of age without children.

4. Married men over 35 without children.

5. Men under 28 years of age, married prior to the draft, who have children.

Boys Turn Down Paroles for Study In Welding Class

WAUKESHA, Wis. (U. P.)—Inmates of the Wisconsin Industrial School for Boys are so enthusiastic over a newly instituted class in welding that two of its members have refused paroles, choosing to remain at the reform school until they have completed the 12-week welding course.

An old barn, reconducted, houses the welding school, decorated by a sign, "Positively no horse-play or lounging around."

The boys attending this recent introduction of a new regime at the school average about 17 years of age, and all have hopes of fitting into the defense program in about three months. Completion of the course qualifies them for work in any welding shop and for examination for the U. S. navy.

Boost '42 Egg Goal 235,000,000 Dozen

KANSAS CITY, Mo., (UP)—The egg production goal for the United States this year is 3,822,417,000 dozen eggs, according to Dewey Termohlen, chief of the poultry buying section of the government surplus marketing administration.

Last year the country produced about 3,239,000 dozen eggs Termohlen said. Thus the increased production is expected to total about 532,000,000 dozen.

However this does not mean there will be a surplus. Termohlen said, as the government expects to buy more than 532,000,000 dozen eggs in the form of dried eggs and additional millions of dozens for the army and navy.

Baseball's slickest double play combination was broken up temporarily when Gordon was forced out of Yankee lineup with wrenched back.

Older Workers Are Being Urged By President Now

SAN ANTONIO. —President Roosevelt, by urging the hiring of older workers in his National Employment Week proclamation, has pointed the way to absorbing many of those in the only untapped reservoir of employable men and women on WPA projects in Texas, State Administrator H. P. Droughn declared today.

Thousands of younger men and women already have gone from WPA rolls to war production jobs through the administration's extensive war training program, he said.

Although more than 5,300 Texas WPA workers have received vocational training and have gone to war industry jobs and 2,000 such trainees are now in vocational schools in the state, Droughn declared that a relatively small percentage of the older workers have yet received such opportunities.

"There are many capable middle-aged men and women on WPA rolls in Texas who can be of service in private industry," he emphasized.

Currently at work on WPA projects in Texas are 50,000 men and women and an additional 32,000 persons are eligible for such employment.

Salute And Pledge Ruled Unofficial

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (U. P.)—There is no "official" flag salute and no "official" pledge to the flag in this country, J. G. Bryan, director of secondary education in the public schools here, recently discovered.

Bryan observed that in the public school system here there were several versions of the pledge to the flag and several different methods of saluting the flag.

So he wrote to Washington officials asking them for the "official" pledge and salute.

A reply from the U. S. office of education gave the following, as the pledge to the flag as adopted at a national flag conference in 1924, but acknowledged that there were several variations in wide use.

"I pledge allegiance to the flag of the United States of America, and to the republic for which it stands, one nation, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all."

The office of education also said that most schools were now using the military salute, but also acknowledged the use of two other salutes: the right arm extended toward the flag, and the right hand over the heart.

The Federation of Women's clubs in 1928 adopted the following rule for saluting the flag during the pledge:

"Stand erect, facing the flag, with the right hand placed over the heart. When the word 'flag' is reached in the pledge, extend the right hand forward, palm upward with thumb and fingers together. Hold this position until the pledge is completed then drop the arm to the side."

Bryan said there was some objection to this form because of similarity to the Nazi salute.

A CHALLENGE TO HITLER

It is with deep regret that most Americans consider the possibility of facing the French in a shooting war.

The military aspect—the strengthening of Hitler's naval resources—has been stressed. It is important. But today, as Pierre Laval's resurgency makes armed conflict between Frenchmen and Americans appear imminent, we should like to indulge in a final splurge of sentimentality.

Of all the earth's peoples, until recently one would have said that the French were the last we should have to shoot, bomb and attempt to destroy in defense of fundamental democracy.

Nowhere, we believed, did the love of liberty, equality and fraternity flourish more vigorously and even belligerently than in France.

Millions of young Americans, now in the prime of life, fought in and for France less than quarter of a century ago, and came home convinced that in all future world alignments we and France would stand side by side.

Those who realized the essential offensiveness of Germany thought of France as democracy's Maginot Line, which would hold until her democratic allies could come to the rescue.

That, of course, is the key to the sad situation we face today. We counted too much upon that Maginot Line, literally and figuratively. When it broke—when the actual fortifications proved incapable of making up for the moral strength and national unity France had lost—the rest of us were caught unprepared.

So now we see our traditional friend and ally beaten, dismembered, ravished, forced at gun's point to become the military ally of her and our bitterest enemy.

When and if Laval completes the sale of his country, even to the extent of turning the French navy over to German crews and permitting the use of French naval bases by the Nazis, we shall have to lay aside this sentimentality and treat all of France as a part of the Reich.

But first, there can be no harm in remembering that for most Frenchmen, this alliance with Hitler is not even a matter of expediency. It rests upon bitter compulsion.

There is reason to believe that the French public, as a whole, desires an Anglo-American victory so wholeheartedly that our bombing of even their beloved Paris does not arouse resentment, since it is an act of initiative against the Nazis.

The French, as a race, have not changed in their love for democracy. The senescent Pétain, the anglophobe Darlan, the fascist Laval may let them down, and place them nominally on the side of Hitler. Their fleet and their bases may be used against us.

But here's a challenge for Der Fuehrer: Does he dare today to raise a French army, equip it with tanks, artillery and planes, and take his chance on which side it would fight?

NO SCHOOL WEDNESDAY FOR RANGER KIDS DUE TO SUGAR REGISTERING

The first day of registration for sugar went quietly in Ranger, with 2,500 white people and 93 negroes receiving their rationing books, it was stated today by Dr. G. C. Boswell, chairman of the local registration committee.

The first day there was some confusion because the teachers, who are doing the registration, were nervous for fear they would make some minor mistakes, Dr. Boswell stated, but everything went off smoothly and the people cooperated wonderfully, with only one complaint of a minor character being made by any of the nearly 3,000 who registered.

There will be no school again Wednesday, Dr. Boswell stated today in order that registration may be continued on that day. Everyone has been urged to register by Wednesday, as there will be but one or two available Thursday, the last day of registration, to work, and more time will be taken in securing the rationing books.

Tuesday at 11 a. m. a total of 800 had been registered for the day, with no time being lost standing in line, while at noon Monday approximately 900 had registered, and everyone had to stand in line about 30 minutes. This, Dr. Boswell pointed out, was because everyone working on the sugar rationing registration was more familiar with the work, and a better system had been perfected.

Estimates are that between 6,000 and 7,000 will be registered in the four days.

The largest amount of sugar reported was 87 pounds, Dr. Boswell stated today, although one man stated he had 200 pounds of sugar which he said he had had for 30 years. It developed that he was referring to his wife.

Stamp No. 1 in the rationing book will be good for one pound of sugar, any time between now and May 19, it was stated today, and stamp No. 2 will not be valid until that date.

"I have already heard reports of instances where people are trying to take advantage of the situation," Dr. Boswell stated. "One grocer telephoned me this morning and said someone was trying to purchase sugar on ration ticket No. 2, and that ticket No. 1 had been clipped from the book."

"The grocer was informed not to let anyone have sugar on coupon No. 2 until the proper date," Dr. Boswell stated.

Breckenridge Is Winner In Golf Matches Sunday

When the Ranger golfers went to Breckenridge Sunday to play in matches there, they ran into a unique scoring system, and lost, not because of the system, but because of the golf.

In scoring the matches the winner on the first nine holes was given one point, regardless of how close the match was, or how badly he beat his opponent. The winner of the second nine also got one point, and the winner of the complete 18 holes was given one point. By this method of scoring the highest score would be 2 to 0, while in many instances half points were given.

Breckenridge golfers won by a score of 4 1/2 to 1 1/2, for Ranger.

Individual results were as follows:

Bill Busolee 2 1/2; Roy Trower

FIRST AID TO BE TAUGHT AT CLASS TONIGHT

First aid classes in Ranger for all air raid wardens, foremen, policemen and others appointed to aid in civilian defense in Ranger, will be started at the Ranger Fire Station tonight, beginning at 7:30.

The class, which is under the sponsorship of the American Red Cross, with certified instructors, for everyone interested in taking the course will be taught by Les Taylor and J. D. Johnson, Jr.

The class periods will be two hours each, starting each Tuesday and Friday at 7:30 and being dismissed at 9:30.

War Song Brings aNey Thanks
 PORTLAND, Ore. — Floyd W. Osgood, who back in 1905 wrote a poem condemning the Japs, has just received a "letter of thanks" from the U. S. Navy for a war song entitled "Triumph of Right."

The U. S. Navy delays "official sunset" in order that regulation daytime honors may be rendered important personages.

The title "Admiral" may be traced to the Arabic "Amir-al-Bahr," meaning Commander of the Seas.

"Ahoy" was the dreaded war cry of the Vikings and is, therefore a distinct nautical hail.

3 simple ways TO GET THE MOST LIGHT FROM YOUR LAMPS ... and help your eyesight, too!

Here are three simple and economical ways to get more light from your electric table and floor lamps. Follow these suggestions, and you'll help your eyesight, too.

1. Keep lamps clean... dustfree. Reflector bowls and lamp bulbs gather more dust than you think. The dust collected on them in from one to three months can deprive you of much of the light your eyes need. Cleaning them with a damp rag, or washing will give you from 25 to 50% more light. Remove bulbs and reflector bowls before washing or cleaning with damp rag.
2. Replace dark shades. If your lamps have dark shades or shades now turned yellow inside, you are losing light that your eyes need for easier seeing, less eyestrain. You may be losing as much as 50%. Clean them regularly, or if they're too bad, replace them with fresh shades and you'll get a lot more light. (Even light-colored silk shades will give you more light if brushed weekly.)
3. Place lamps to make light more useful. Put them where they give eyes most help. Often, two or more of the family can use the same lamp when furniture is properly arranged. (One suggestion is shown above.) And don't get too far away from the lamp, a difference of twelve inches can cut your light as much as 50%.

Save Metal by Having Appliances Repaired. Lamps and other electric appliances should be made to last for the duration of the war, if possible, so that vital metals can be conserved. Make your electric appliances as good as new. Take them to an Electric Shop today for repairs.

SERIAL STORY

FRANTIC WEEKEND

BY EDMUND FANCOTT

COPYRIGHT, 1942, NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: Freddy Lorton, an artist, and his aunt are awaiting weekend guests at Freddy's country place near Montreal. The guests are Myra Mack, strong-willed, her soldier brother Michael, her young sister Peggy, and Lieutenant Nigel Monkhouse, who is bringing beautiful Fay Ransom, stockbroker's daughter.

SECOND MEETING

CHAPTER V

FREDY'S aunt, contemplating the weekend ahead, let a twinkle play around her eyes, the laugh lines in her corners reflecting her perpetual good humor. "I don't know what you'll do when you get married," she teased. "It will have to be a woman either of great generosity or no spirit whatever to tolerate one houseful of strange people after another."

Fredy, stretched on the settee before the stone fireplace, contemplated his cuff links and yawned. "I shall marry a well-to-do mole," he said. "A particularly myopic one. She will be content to burrow about under the lawn until I've a mind to feed her."

"It isn't," his aunt continued unheeding. "As though you valued your guests judiciously! ... as maybe even a gentle fish. One with a Vassar diploma and a cold disposition."

"You seem to me to do it deliberately," Fredy sat up. "Marry a fish? What do I do deliberately?" "You know perfectly well what I'm talking about. Look at the people you've asked up here this weekend. Two sisters: Myra Mack and Peggy Mack. Sisters always mean trouble, especially when one is plain and a matchmaker and the other just is. Then there's their brother, probably not very well off. A fine one to set against another young officer, quite well off, whom he has never met. Your fourth guest—beautiful, and a stranger to the others. So what do you have?"

Fredy cradled his head in his hands and moaned in mock distress. "Disaster! Chaos!" "One impressive young girl. One nice, young, rich man. A charmer who will pocket him and the impressive brother as well. Really Freddy?" he sighed, "sometimes I wonder which of us is crazy—you for inviting dynamite mixtures up here, or me for putting up with it."

Fredy laughed out loud. "You love it," he said, massaging her ears. "Can't fool me. You're every bit as bad as I am. I want new faces to paint, new personalities to explore, and you like having young people around you, especially when their antics are unpredictable."

"The rest of the party came in two sections, arriving on the afternoon of Friday. Second Lieutenant Michael Mack drove up with his two sisters in her father's somewhat battered jalopy. The drive was uneventful except for the efforts of Myra and her brother to instill into Peggy the need for a certain restraint in her behavior during the weekend.

"The trouble with you two," said Peggy darkly, "is that you still think I am a kid in pigtail plaits. You older people get me down." She addressed her sister of twenty-five and her brother of twenty-three from across the vast, intolerant distance of six or seven years. "Why, Joan Baker was married this week and she's only a year older than I am!"

Michael Mack looked questioningly at Myra out of the corner of his eye.

"Shall we throw it out by the wayside?" he asked. "Just try," said Peggy. There was a glint in her greenish blue eyes and a tight little line about her lips. But the next moment was forgotten. They were passing a road sign.

"Hey!" she cried to her brother. "Let's stop and pick up some cones." He stopped patiently while Peggy tumbled out and came back in a moment with an ice-cream cone and a bottle with a couple of straws sticking from its neck. "Don't you people want anything?" she asked.

Myra shook her head sadly. Michael shook his and looked at his younger sister with an amused air.

"Trouble with you folks," said critical Peggy, her voice muffled with ice-cream. "You let your age get you down. O. K. Sergeant—I mean Look—let her go! Boy, is this ice-cream good!"

The general tenor of the drive up was that of an undersprung car with an oversprung freight. Myra was feeling the strain long before the end was in sight. Luckily her brother was the least valuable member of the family. He had the quiet, capable qualities of his mother and had missed the garrulous strain that stemmed from his father, Danny, through to Peggy.

He took his build, too, from his mother's side of the family. While his father was under five and a half feet, Michael was an inch or so over six feet, and with a physique that justified his height.

His dark Irish handsomeness would have been too perfect a touch if it had not been tempered with a toughness of fiber underneath it in his relations with men and a hitherto incurable shyness in the company of women other than those of his own family.

Myra's frequent and good-natured complaint about her parents was that they had given her most of the brains of the family, but none of the good looks.

"The other car that was speeding up to the Laurentians over the new highway presented a very different picture. Nigel Monkhouse had picked up Fay Ransom at Fredy's request and was driving in a state of acute mental discomfort. He had in the meantime met Mr. Ransom, and had discovered that his own father had gone to school with him.

Nigel could not understand why, in a place so comparatively small as Montreal, he had missed meeting a girl so strikingly attractive as Fay Ransom. He was unaware that she had spent very little of her life in that city, that after her father's divorce and until her mother's death she had spent most of her time in the States.

His second meeting with Fay Ransom had knocked him completely off his emotional balance. He had anticipated it for two days and had let his imagination play with that first vision he had seen on the small wooden station platform on the lake shore that Monday of the same week.

But he had found the reality more disturbing than the vision, and though normally he was quite at ease with girls, he set off on the drive to the hills feeling as awkward as a schoolboy smitten with first califfish love.

What made it worse was that Fay Ransom noticed it and a slow smile flickered on her lips. She had seen the same symptoms in other men and recognized them. Strangely enough, it did not fatter her. She felt a little sorry for Nigel Monkhouse. She had looked forward to a weekend free from emotional entanglements. They only complicated one's pleasure.

But she admitted to herself that at least he was quite attractive in several ways. First, he was not too handsome, and he was not aggressively confident—two of the main qualities that she had found admirable in any man.

She made an effort to enliven their conversation by asking him questions about the army, but it wasn't a great success. Something had happened to Nigel Monkhouse which had tied his tongue as well as his heart in knots.

War material shortage limits telephone service

You probably have heard about certain government restrictions on telephone service and equipment now in effect. We should like to tell you a little more about these restrictions—why they are necessary, and what they will mean to you.

The reason for them is simple and complete. They are to save materials which are needed to fight the war.

What will they mean to you, the telephone user? If you have a telephone now, they mean no change except that in many Texas cities effected by war growth you may have to have other parties on your line. And, in all cases, you can't get an extension telephone in your home if you haven't one already.

For people who have no telephones and want them, or for present users who move to new locations, we shall supply at least party-line service wherever there are now enough lines and switchboards. But in general, where new construction of this type would be necessary, we shall not be able to provide service.

This will mean inconvenience and perhaps hardship to a few people now. As time goes on it will probably mean inconvenience and hardship to more people, but we need your help and sympathetic understanding in this important step to save the maximum of materials for the war.

Beside the great savings in materials already made by substitution and wartime engineering, the new restrictions will mean that more lead, iron, steel, zinc, copper, and rubber used in telephone equipment will now go into arms.

In spite of all this, and while telephone service may not be available to all who want it, we believe we can keep the service up to a high standard. At any rate, we shall do our level best. These difficulties are something that neither the government nor the telephone companies can help. They are part of the price of protecting liberty.

Except for those cases where the FCC for telephone service has been recognized by the War Production Board as necessary for defense or public health, welfare or security.

WAR BOND SALES HERE WILL BE PROMOTED AT MEETING ON WEDNESDAY

A meeting to start the War Bond and Stamp program for May in Ranger will be held at the Arcadia Theatre Wednesday morning at 9:30, by W. F. Creager, chairman for Ranger. Everyone who can work toward securing pledges to purchase War Bonds is urged to attend in order that the work might be completed locally as rapidly as possible.

A large committee, including the heads of all organizations in town, including clubs, churches and lodges, has been appointed, and each has been sent a letter urging his or her presence at the meeting.

The letters mailed to each member of the committee, reads as follows: "Dear Fellow Citizen: As you very well know, the defense program is well under way and costing enormous sums of money, which of course is being financed through the sale of government bonds to the citizens of the United States. Both you and I, as Patriotic American Citizens, must do our part to see that this defense program is financed, as we must produce more guns, more planes, and more equipment of every nature than any nation on earth to whip the Axis and we will never rest until we do.

"Our County Chairman of the Defense and War Bond sales Committee, Bill Brown has returned from a visit in Washington, D. C. He was accompanied home by his cousin, Horace C. Nichols and Ray Daniels who left this morning for Mather Field, Sacramento, California.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Rigby had as their guest for the week-end, Mrs. A. J. Baum of Abilene.

Mr. and Mrs. Lud McGowan and son, Bobby, recently of Texarkana are the guests of Mr. McGowan's parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. C. McGowan. The visitors will leave soon to make their home in Amarillo.

Macbeth Will Be Presented Here Wednesday Night Tickets for the Baylor Theater Touring Company's production of Macbeth, to be presented at the Recreation Building on the night of Wednesday, May 6, are now on sale and advance sales indicate that a large attendance will be present.

A number of tickets have already been sold in Eastland, Breckenridge, Morton Valley and at other schools in this vicinity, while Cisco is expected to have a large delegation present, as 80 tickets have been sold there.

The touring version of the same play has attracted audiences to Waco from all over the Southwest, and this same performance will be presented in the Recreation Building here Wednesday night, beginning at 8:30. Student tickets are on sale at 25 cents with adult tickets selling for 50 cents.

Shakespeare's classic tragedy has been interpreted in a modern vein, giving free rein to its driving power and modern significance. The story of Macbeth parallels the rise of many of the modern dictators who have killed to gain their power and have been forced to kill to maintain it.
