PROGRAM FOR COUNTY-WIDE MEMORIAL DAY SERVICES TO BE HELD SUNDAY COMPLETED

County-wide Memorial Day Services, with American Legion Posts of Ranger, Eastland and Cisco participating, will be held at the American Legion Plot in Evergreen Cemetery, Ranger, Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The public is cordially invited to attend.

The program as outlined at a meeting held in Eastland Tuesday night, will be presented.

The flag will be at half-staff on the flagpole at the Legion Plot throughout the services.

Capt. Karl White of Eastland will be master of ceremonies and at the opening of the exercises he will be introduced by Joe Todd, acting post commander of the Carl Barnes Post of Ranger.

Rev. David Phillips, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Ranger, will pronounce the invocation, after which Mrs. Grace Taylor, president of the Ladies Auxiliary of the Carl Barnes Post will be introduced, and she will make a short talk, after which she will be assisted by members of other auxiliaries in decorating graves.

Music by the band will be followed by a reading, "In Flanders Field," by Miss Dana Sue Kerbow. The master of ceremonies will introduce L. H. Fleweller, who will deliver the principal address of the afternoon.

Mrs. Grady Pipkin of Eastland will be presented in a vocal solo "The Cliffs of Dover," with piano accompaniment.

Distinguished guests will then be introduced by the master of ceremonies, followed by one verse of "Star Spangled Banner" played by the band.

Company B, 15th Battalion, Texas Defense Guard, will furnish a bugler to blow taps, and a firing squad which will offer a salute to the dead.

The benediction will be pronounced by Rev. J. B. Blunk, pastor of the First Christian Church of Eastland.

Construction Men May Enlist In Navy By June 2

Construction men who have been considering enlisting in the Navy's construction regiments should make application within the next few days at the Navy recruiting station at the post office building in Abilene to be eligible to be interviewed for ratings on June 2, it was announced today.

Skilled men in various trades are construction regiments to use the tools of their trade in overseas work. Men receive ratings and pay according to their ability and experience as determined by Ensign A. T. Gaffney at the time of the interview.

Applicants must be between the ages of 17 and 50, have passed a preliminary physical examination and have letters of recommendation showing trade experience before being eligible to be interviewed.

This is the first visit of Ensign Gaffney to this district. Navy recruiters did not know if he would return at a later date.

Quezon, Buckeley Meet Again

EASTLAND TO BE HOST TO T-P SINGERS

The T-P Sunshine Singers, a state organization of singers organized in Eastland in 1926, is due to hold its annual convention in Eastland in June 13 and 14th.

Judge R. L. Rust of Eastland was the first president of the organization, which at first included only a limited number of West Texas counties, and served in that capacity for seven years. Retiring as president he was made honorary president for life, a position he still holds.

Judge Rust was succeeded in the presidency by T. H. Westbrook of Sweetwater, who served for two years. Dewey Niedeken of Snyder is the present head of the organization.

Since its organization in Eastland the T-P Sunshine Singers has become a state-wide organization and has conventions at Abilene, Sweetwater, Colorado City, Graham, Gorman, and possibly other places.

The Eastland Chamber of Commerce, under the direction of its secretary-manager, H. J. Tanner, is making ready to entertain a large crowd of singers and lovers of singing expected from over the state.

Commencement To Graduate Youths Almost Into Army

FORT WORTH, Tex., (UP)—Commencement at Texas Christian University as at hundreds of schools throughout the land, will sound an accolade for youths practically in fighting already.

Not all of them will be in the military service, but engaged in winning the war at some vital task.

Nine of the 73 boys who are candidates for degree June 1 have finished their work and are in the service—mostly aviation. Thirty-two will lay aside their diplomas for uniforms. Seven medical students will continue their study for eventual military service and eight ministerial seniors exempt from service, mostly will enter as chaplains.

Four science students will become specialists for Uncle Sam, and five others, rejected because of physical disabilities, have jobs in war plants. Only eight male seniors are not sure where they will start.

The class of '42 will be graduated at 8 p. m. on June 1 on the campus with the Rev. Harry G. Knowles, pastor of the First Christian church of Houston, the speaker.

Knowles and Amon G. Carter of Fort Worth will be given honorary doctor of laws degrees. The Rev. Patrick Henry, Sr., and Rev. J. B. Holmes, both of Fort Worth and executives in the church missionary society, will receive the honorary degrees of doctor of divinity.

The baccalaureate sermon will be given at the morning service May 31 at University Christian church by the Rev. Perry E. Gresham, Bill Boren, Memphis, Tex., is class president, Al Wagler, Hutchinson, Kans., is vice-president, and Ruth Priest, Fort Worth, secretary-treasurer.

C Of C Managers To Meet June 4-6

AUSTIN (UP)—Organization of war-time efforts will be the principal subject here June 4-6 at the annual convention-school of the Texas Chamber of Commerce Managers.

The program has been arranged by George S. Buchanan, manager of the Martin Chamber of Commerce. Speakers will include Paul Vickers of McAllen, president of the organization; Jerry Debenport, of Odessa; Gov. Coke Stevenson; Mark McGee, Texas rationing administrator; Roger Miller of Dallas; Russell S. Rhodes of Tulsa, Okla.; Maurice W. Acers, FBI agent at San Antonio and C. J. Crampton of Houston.

Prettiest Grandma Is To Be Honored

KERRVILLE, Tex.,—Grandma Mattie Jones, 91, returns to place of prominence at the Bandera County Old Settlers' Jubilee June 6. Back in 1926 she was voted the prettiest girl over 65 in the county. Now confined to a wheel chair with a broken hip, Grandma Jones will be honored this year as a reward for the many services she had performed for folks here in past years.

COUNTY FAR BEHIND ON WAR BOND QUOTA CHAIRMAN SAYS AS DEADLINE DRAWS NEARER

Cyrus B. Frost, Eastland County Chairman of the War Stamp and Bond drive for the county, pointed out in letters to local committeemen this week that the county as a whole was far behind on its quota of $62,800 maturity value.

In his letter, dated May 26, the county chairman pointed out that only $40,000 maturity value of the $62,800 quota had been purchased, and that only a very few days remain for the other $20,800 in War Stamps and Bonds to be made in order that the quota might be reached.

At a meeting of the local committee, held Wednesday afternoon, it was decided that immediate action would be needed and work was to start immediately upon raising Ranger's share of the quota.

The letter from Frost reads as follows:

"We must reach our quota of Bonds and Stamps for the month of May by Saturday night, May 30th, 1942. This quota is $62,800 maturity value and up to this time we have only bought about $40,000.00 maturity value. If you have not bought your Bond and/or Stamps for the May quota, please rush to your Post Offices and banks and do the same before Saturday night.

"Our boys are not failing us in the Army, Navy and Air Corps. Our farmers are not failing to produce food to feed our boys and we must not fail them in buying our quota each month to pay for their food, supplies and the tremendous total expenditure necessary in this war.

"Be a patriotic citizen and do your duty at once. Your neighbor has done his duty.

AXIS ONSLAUGHTS ARE STALLED ON ALL MAJOR FRONTS OF WAR THEATRE

Fiddlers Contest For East Texas Is Drawing Near

By Clayton Hickerson
 Written for the United Press
 Athens, Tex., — It's getting near the day for East Texans to throw their hoos into fence corners, wrap the reins around the plow handles and bring ma and the kids to town.

The day is June 5 and the reason for the trek in the East Texas Fiddlers' Contest, which is expected to pack about 35,000 persons into the city for nearly 24 hours of colorful and merry entertainment.

But the farmer folks of the piney woods and the Trinity river bottoms are not the only customers the fiddlers draw to Athens. Dallas and Houston millionaires, many of them former citizens of this region who have made their fortunes in oil, cotton and allied fields, show up in their big cars to take part in the fun.

Oil Man Clint Murchison of Dallas, Congress Baron Arch S. Underwood of Lubbock, and Judge Royall Watkins of Dallas hardly ever miss a fiddlers' contest here. Last year Gov. Coke Stevenson was on hand.

Everybody lets go when the "git-fiddlers" start their plaintive melodies. The whole affair starts mildly just before dawn when the first fiddlers registers in the dim corridor of the courthouse.

From that moment, the tempo increases with each minute until the wee hours of Sunday morning. Candy stores, hamburger stands and soft drink peddlers do a land office business but other business houses to Athens close for the day.

No entry fees are charged but large cash prizes are given by the merchants and former Athens citizens. So far attempts to commercialize on the affair have always been halted by aroused and angry citizens.

A prominent Texas politician was ejected forcibly from the town a few years ago when he attempted to speak to the crowd.

"We like him all right," one Athenian said, "but we don't want our party ruined with politics."

Just as colorful as the day is short for fiddle devotees are the names of some of the bands. Example are the Texas Romeo Gook Creek Ramblers, East Texas Serenaders, Patriotic Harmony Hounds, Irene's Fiddle Band, E-don Play Boys, Cherokee County Club Boys, McGill's One Man Family and the Lone Star String Band.

"Yes," Athenians say, "it's corny but sweet. The boys around here kinda go for this cotton-pickin' music. And it does a lot of good."

"Why, folks in East Texas ain't ready to make a crop, war or no war, until they've been to a good fiddlin' contest."

Fort Worth Man Is Stabbed Seriously

H. B. Green of Fort Worth was stabbed seriously above the heart at a cafe in Mingo Tuesday night. He was taken to the West Texas hospital in Ranger, where he was given treatment for his wounds.

According to witnesses Green and a companion had stopped in a cafe in Mingo for a sandwich. As they left the cafe a stranger suddenly slashed him with a knife, inflicting severe wounds.

Witnesses of the affair, or the proprietor of the cafe, stated they did not know the assailant, it was reported here today.

Gen. Somerwell Announces Agreement on Standardization of American and British War Materials In Coming Invasion of the European Continent.

Axis onslaughts were stalled against stubborn Allied counter blows in Libya, Russia and China today and American officials disclosed a gigantic program for standardization of United Nations arms in the coming invasion of Europe.

Gen. Somerwell, discussing preparations with British leaders in London, said that arrangements were being pressed for standardization of airplanes, tanks, and munitions so that American and British forces massing strength to strike at Germany, would be able to exchange implements of war to great advantage.

The program would be effective, too, in other theaters of war, such as the North African desert, where are playing an important role. American-built planes, and tanks

Dispatches from the other main fronts showed:

Libya—Gen. Rommel, using up to 450 tanks, advanced more than 100 miles across the Libyan desert to an area south of Tobruk, where his armored was repelled by British forces. Fighting on the ground and in the air continues in the Tobruk area, with the German push meeting with stiff resistance.

Diplomate negotiations are ended and prompt decisions are necessary," President Camacho said in addressing the congress.

It was expected that if Mexico voted to declare war on the Axis powers, no troops would be sent out of the country to engage in the war, but all axis officials in Mexico would be seized and all Mexican merchant vessels might be armed so they could protect themselves in case of renewed attacks.

Harry Bridges To Be Deported Soon

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 28—Attorney General Arnold Biddle today ordered immediate deportation of Harry Bridges, Australian-born West Coast Congress Industrial Organization leader, because of his communist affiliation.

The attorney general ruled that Bridges had been affiliated with the communist party in the United States, and that that party had advocated overthrowing this government by force and violence.

Rayburn Opposes Rationing Of Gas

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 28—Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn said today he had heard many reasons for rationing gasoline in areas where the supply is plentiful and "none of them appeals to me."

This was the second time in many weeks that the house speaker has expressed opposition to the proposed nation-wide gasoline rationing program.

Bank To Be Closed All Day Saturday

The Commercial State Bank of Ranger will be closed all day Saturday, May 30, in observance of Memorial Day. It was announced today by W. F. Creager, cashier.

Those who have business to do with the bank have been urged to transact it on Friday, if possible, and to make sure that they have enough change to carry them through the week end.

BEEVILLE, Tex., (UP)—There probably aren't many men who are U. S. Marines and don't know it but Bryan Adair of Beeville was in that category.

Adair registered for the draft. Then he learned he had never been served with the Devidges in the discharged from the Marines. He last war, was admitted to a hospital after his return to this country and the formality of a discharge was overlooked after his period of re-appointing to the hospital ended.

First Armored Lake Ship Is Scrapped

ERIE, Pa., (UP)—The 98-year-old U. S. S. Michigan, better known on the Great Lakes as the "Wolverine," is going to war—but not in one piece.

It has been decided to scrap the old vessel—the first armored ship to sail the lakes—and divert the metal to the current war effort.

Some quarters had fought the move on the grounds that the on-time pride of the navy should be preserved as a historic relic. But it was pointed out that the "Wolverine" had been permitted to disintegrate in the mud of Misery Bay in Lake Erie for the past several years.

Self-Appointed Monitors

Herbert Hoover's plea for freedom of criticism, in this war effort, can not be brushed aside cavalierly with the retort that such freedom is under less restraint in this country than in any other.

That is true, of course. It is equally true that, except for a few instances where sedition appeared to exist, the Roosevelt administration has leaned over backward not to act against persons or publications which were bitterly hostile to almost everything that is done in Washington nowadays.

But to dismiss Mr. Hoover's discussion on these grounds is to miss his entire point.

Nowhere did the ex-president suggest, by remotest implication, that he felt that the federal government was using its power to squelch critics.

He did attack that "war intolerance at the hands of self-appointed persons and organizations" which "has already, in five months, risen to great heights." He denounced name calling and "the sadistic and higher art of abuse—that is, smearing."

There is an enormous diversity of opinion, among our 130 millions, as to what we ought to do and how we ought to do it. That is democracy. Its suppression would be totalitarianism.

There are those who thought, very sincerely, that we should not get into this war. Some felt our very venture into Europe's quarrels had resulted disastrously for us and, in the long run, had done no good for anybody. Others felt we could defend ourselves, if attacked, but could not turn the tide of battle against the axis.

Once the die was cast, almost without exception those isolationists united with the rest of us in willingness to venture all to win the war.

But certain elements on the other side refuse to forget, and mind their own businesses. They are determined to ruin everybody who differed with them before Pearl Harbor.

These believe, or pretend to believe, that in addition to the few actual traitors and crackpots in our midst, there is "a great group of Americans somewhere in some dark corner who want defeat."

Like Herbert Hoover, we have not heard of a single American who wants defeat. We all want victory.

So the next time somebody differs with you on anything about this war except as to the one vital issue—victory at any cost—why not pause, before you brand him as an appeaser, compromiser, defeatist, fifth columnist, sixth columnist or pro-Nazi, and ask yourself two things:

First, could it be possible he is right? Second, since he is wrong, could it be that he is merely the victim of an honest error of judgment?

The Old Man Of The Sea

The Payoff

BY HARRY GRAYSON NEA Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK—Thirty years ago Honus Wagner, then the No. 1 star of the National League, visited a little boy who was suffering in a hospital from infantile paralysis. The little boy's name was Jimmy McGill. The greatest all-around ball player of all time autographed a baseball for him.

The little boy recovered, grew up, became a professor at the University of Rochester, then president of the city's Board of Education. He passed away about a month ago, aged 42.

The friendship that started in 1912 between the famous Honus Wagner and the little boy in the hospital was a lasting one. There's going to be a memorial to Dr. McGill.

Honus Wagner's autograph on a baseball helped the boy get well.

His autograph on a check has helped the fund being collected to immortalize Dr. McGill's useful life and public service as an educator.

BILL McKECHNIE again walked the streets and set up late in the park following the Giants' 10-run outburst—eight runs after two were out against the Reds the other afternoon.

"You go crazy trying to figure this game," says the veteran manager of the Cincinnati Reds.

Here's a word of advice, Murtagh of the Phillies leading the "twos and follows" like Dugan, Camlin and Arky Vaughan of the Dodgers' hitting around 200.

Some trace Elmer Hiddle's difficulties to second year trouble. The swing man who won 19 last season and had an earned run average of 2.24 has been knocked five times already. The one decisive moment was a 6-3 squeeze against the post Pius.

"There have been a lot of pitchers like that," points out Johnny Allen of the Brooklyn Dodgers. "Everything goes along smoothly for a while. They get everything out without knowing how they did it. Then the bottom comes and when they get caught they go to pieces."

Those walls of English you're now hearing from one-third of the American motorists who are having to get along under gas rationing are just a whisper. Extension of gas rationing to other areas is not necessary from a petroleum point of view, according to Petroleum Co-ordinator Harold L. Ickes, though from the rubber conservation point of view it may be necessary to limit gas consumption all over the country. Just listen if that should ever happen.

But gasoline and tires and automobiles and sugar and bicycles aren't the only things that can be rationed, and typewriters, kitchen stoves, washing machines, radios, refrigerators, new houses and such items are not the only ones on which production can be frozen with rationing the eventual result.

It would be a fallacy to say that the back-room boys of the Office of Price Administration have a lot of R-days marked on the calendars, with new plans all drawn up and ready to issue for rationing half the commodities in the store, or even a quarter of them or 1 per cent. Officially, OPA won't even admit that it knows the date for the second sugar rationing. Nor is the form of the next rationing book decided on. Nor the quantity of gasoline to be allowed in the rationing areas after July 1. The policy now is to see how gasoline and sugar rationing work out, learn whatever lessons there are in be learned from this experience and by thus feeling the way, go on from there.

To announce now a list of items that might be rationed would simply be to start a lot of runs on the stores, and that is just what you must be avoided. Almost every shortage that has been specifically mentioned thus far has brought on one of these buying sprees, as, for example, the silk stocking and razor blade stampedes. It would be naive indeed, however, to think for a minute that the United States could get through the war with no more rationing.

YOU can therefore expect to stand in line every so often for another registration. If the next rationing book were to be issued immediately, standing in line might not be necessary, for the names and addresses of all sugar consumers were taken on that first registration and new books could be mailed out. But if the next registration isn't called for six months or so, there will have been so many shifts in the population that the first sugar registration will be worthless.

One idea is that the next ration book might contain a lot of varicolored coupons, issued in blank.

You Should Not Register Any Surprise When You Have to Register for More Rationing

BY PETER EDSON NEA Service Washington Correspondent

Big Demand For Texas Tomatoes Seen For The Fall

COLLEGE STATION—Civilians will have difficulty in buying processed tomatoes over the grocery counters this fall and winter, forecasts Jennie Camp, specialist in home production planning of the A. and M. College Extension Service. An abundant crop in Texas is indicated, but advance orders from Quartermaster General's department of the United States Army will absorb practically all of the 100 million cases of tomatoes processed in the nation this season.

In view of this, Miss Camp says, "every patriotic housewife, institutional manager and dietitian, every school lunch room supervisor, and restaurant and hotel dining room manager should collect and get in readiness immediately every available glass and second-hand tin container, and see that sealing supplies for these are on hand. They should obtain the latest approved recipes, improvise bath containers for processing tomato products, and supply themselves with some kind of efficient juicer and puree-making equipment so that as many persons as possible may have tomatoes 'some way every day,' unless citrus, melon, raw cabbage or strawberries are available as substitutes."

Miss Camp suggests that farm households and other buyers should pool their needs under the neighborhood, community and county agricultural Victory leaders, interview local wholesale and retail vegetable distributors and contract with them to supply the high quality tomatoes they will need in addition to what their own gardens will produce.

Ripe or green tomatoes are a rich and cheap source of vitamin C which prevents bleeding gums, loose teeth, sore joints, and loss of appetite and weight. Ripe tomatoes have abundant vitamin A which guards against "dry eye" and night blindness.

Game Department Gets Out Pamphlet For Texas Anglers

AUSTIN—(UP)—The Texas Game, Fish and Oyster Commission has published a handy guide for fishermen, a tackle box manual with words and pictures to identify common varieties of fish and the law that govern the taking of them.

It reveals that there are more than 130 varieties of freshwater fish in Texas. "The angler catches about 5 of these," the booklet adds, "disregarding completely the experience of most fishermen. All who would settle for 25 fish, let alone 25 varieties, please raise their right hands."

There is considerable interesting information in the publication.

It says, for instance, that the more a spot is fished, the bigger the fish (that are not caught) will grow. An average acre of water supports about 500 pounds of fish, which may either be in the form of many small fishes or a few big fellows.

You can tell the age of a fish by looking at his scales, if you know how.

The large-mouthed black bass can tell green color from red and yellow from blue, but most fish—like applicants for army and navy commissions—are color blind.

When you catch a fish, if any, dress it, put seasoned breading in a paper bag, then put the fish in the bag and shake it around until it is covered with breading. This is supposed to be better than using meal or flour.

A tablespoon makes an excellent scraper for fish scales, if you catch any fish.

Anti-Inflation Battle Goes Into Every Farm Home

COLLEGE STATION—The government's new program to keep the cost of living from spiraling upward with mobilization of man power and physical resources and the current transportation bottleneck as one of the three current major programs to win the war according to Director H. H. Williamson of the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service.

He announced that the Texas Extension Service is giving leadership to the general educational work to acquaint rural people with the General Maximum Price Regulation, especially as it will affect farm and ranch families. The Office of Price Administration will administer the order and State and County USDA War Boards will cooperate.

"No Texas farmer or farm woman can be left in the dark about the necessity of our fighting battle of inflation and how we can win it," he said. The information will be sent to every farm and ranch family in the state by means of the new human chain which County Agricultural Victory Councils and the Extension Service have set up in every county. Thousands of community and neighborhood leaders designated in the past three weeks will help spread the facts about the inflation menace.

This new educational job is right in line with extension's streamlined war-time job, the Victory Demonstration, Director Williamson pointed out. One objective of the Victory program is to assist in winning the war by helping farm and ranch families understand the "why" and "how" of adjustments rural people must make to the war-time situation.

Field workers of the various agricultural agencies will hear details of the program at some one-day sectional conferences scheduled in Dallas, June 1; Houston, June 2; San Antonio, June 3; and Big Spring, June 5.

Selling Equipment Of State A Tedious Task, Survey Shows

AUSTIN (UP) — The procedure for selling used equipment belonging to the state is tedious. The merchandise must be listed, and the state department notified. The department head then asks the board of control to call a sale. Notices are posted, and on the given day the material is sold at auction.

During the Legislature's 1941 session, it was discovered that the highway department had at many of its section warehouses heavy mesh wire that had been used for highway curve guards. A better type of guard was developed and much of the mesh wire taken up.

The legislators learned that their local schools could use the guard wire for fencing athletic fields and for other purposes, so they began passing "guard wire resolutions" by the dozen.

to show the folks back home visible results of their work at Austin. Much of the guard-wire was kept by the highway department, however, when the war program a year ago began to show a shortage of steel for highway building materials.

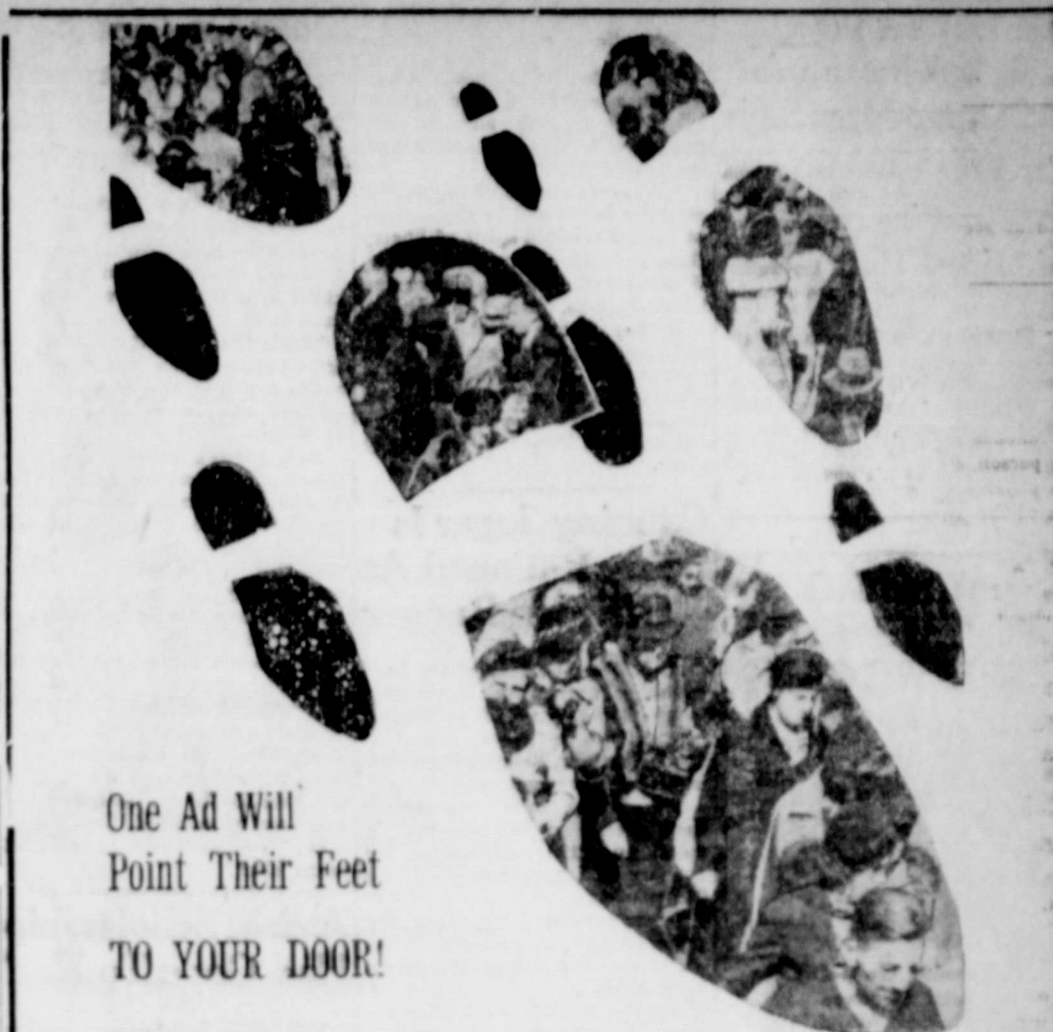

Grasshopper Are Threatening Crops

LUBBOCK, Tex.—An infestation of Rocky Mountain grasshoppers, in the largest numbers since the 1890's, is threatening crops in an area extending from Lubbock County north to Goodwell, Okla.

The insects, which are the have been estimated at a thick, smallest migratory grasshoppers, nest of 25 to 100 square years in the infested region.

voated the spreading of poison before June 1 in order to reduce the number of eggs laid. Poison bran bait is being furnished farmers by the government, cutting eradication expense to the cost of the mixing and spreading. Oil bait, made with oil instead of water, is more expensive but not dry out for three to five days.

After Graduation WHAT? TRAIN for VICTORY. Eastland and adjacent counties can now patronize a home business college, thus saving rubber, gasoline and transportation costs. "Victory Business College" is now open at Eastland and day and night classes are being conducted. The school is in charge of a successful, experienced business college man. Instruction is offered in STENOGRAPHIC, SECRETARIAL and ACCOUNTING courses. Gregg SHORTHAND, TOUCH TYPEWRITING and COLLEGE ACCOUNTING are offered. The head teacher has developed a plan all his own for streamlining the shorthand course during the war emergency. He can develop a stenographer in six months day school course. Special stress is placed on training for civil service examinations. The management now has pupils in Civil Service employment in Washington, D. C., Austin, Texas, and Waco, Texas as well as other points, to say nothing of many ex-students commercially employed in various cities. Please do not write, but visit school in person for full information as to courses of study and tuition fees. VICTORY BUSINESS COLLEGE. Over Corner Drug Store Eastland, Texas

FRANTIC WEEKEND

BY EDMUND FANCOTT

HAPPY LANDING CHAPTER XXIII

BALDY stirred in his sleep, brushed the handkerchief from his mouth, and sat up with all the alertness of an amemic hippopotamus. The sun was warm, his nap had been pleasant, and he felt lazily prepared to cope with any and all conspiracies against him. As for Peggy, now—

He looked around for her. No Peggy. No canoe. No one, a shambling search revealed, on the island. The lake was annoyingly calm under a noon sun, with no sign of life on any of its shores, no one on the wharf.

Not pleasant to Baldy the crafty, Baldy the shrewd, was the teasing thought that Peggy had double-crossed him. All the while she had been pretending to work with him. And all the while she had been plotting with that bunch of deadbeats. The little so-and-so! I'll give her a chance, he thought viciously. I'll give her a chance to break her nasty little neck, and that's all.

Fay . . . ah! he thought sorrowfully. She'd never have done this to him. No, it was the others. After all he had done for Fay, she'd never have the nerve to do this to him. But by the saints, he'd get even with those others if he had to take that little so-and-so to New York and break her spirit!

As time wore on and he got hungrier, his thoughts became progressively blacker. Eventually they reached the murderous stage as he paced hungrily around the confined island. He was hotter and hotter as the afternoon grew heavy with humidity and little trickles of perspiration glistened on his forehead. He began to speak his thoughts aloud. Fortunately, only the trees were within range of his mutterings.

At last he saw a lone figure on the wharf and then a canoe wobbling dangerously as someone paddled toward the island. Baldy stopped his muttering and stared. It was the sister! He groaned as he thought of Myra's skill with a canoe and shuddered at the thought of the waterfall they had nearly died on.

As the canoe came nearer, Myra steered it with dangerous incompetence toward the island. Baldy stopped his muttering and stared. It was the sister! He groaned as he thought of Myra's skill with a canoe and shuddered at the thought of the waterfall they had nearly died on.

A LITTLE later Baldy emerged in a suit and loose jacket in a pale rose shade, beautifully pressed, with a shirt of deeper hue, almost maroon, as a final in-

"Hey!" yelled Myra, "Don't do that!" She was too late. She was in the water, so was Baldy, so was the food and the beer, the beer at the bottom of the lake and the sandwiches disintegrating slowly. Baldy groaned and floundered ashore with Myra who dragged the canoe with her and emptied the water with difficulty.

Baldy sat down and held his head in his hands, his sports suit dripping around him shapelessly.

"Now," said Myra, "step in carefully this time."

"No," said Baldy. "Not if I have to live here the rest of my life! I ain't going to risk going over those falls again . . . or drowning in the middle of this lake. I can't swim."

"Too bad," said Myra. "What are you going to do?"

"You try and get back and send someone who can work one of those things."

"All right," Myra spoke quite cheerfully, but with a lurking smile in her eyes. "It might take some time."

An hour later the bedraggled Baldy climbed up the path to the house with Fay. They passed the rocky and Baldy's neck went red with a sudden desire to commit murder when he caught a view of Peggy suddenly releasing herself from the arms of Nigel.

She ran to meet him. "Oh, Baldy," she cried. "Did they only just get you? They said they'd go right after lunch."

Baldy eyed her with a glittering hatred. "You little . . ." Then he paused as he saw Nigel's fist close significantly.

probable touch. Baldy took a deep draught at one of the four glasses in front of him and bit deep into a sandwich. His eyes did not meet those of Peggy, who sat deep in a chair swinging one leg over the arm.

"It's this way," said Peggy. "You've got to handle families gently. So I thought if I became engaged to Nigel . . ."

"That mutt!" muttered Baldy, his mouth full. He felt he was beyond caring.

"He is not a mutt! He's terribly strong too," said Peggy. "But that isn't the point. If I became engaged to Nigel the family would think I was settled and then when he went overseas I could come down to New York . . ."

Baldy took a long drink and tackled another sandwich.

"Then I thought," continued Peggy, "that if Mike proposed to Fay and they were engaged she would be in the family and I could persuade her when he went overseas to come with me back to New York."

Baldy sneered at the thought of a topline like Fay Ransom mixing it with a mere lieutenant.

"So I suggested to Mike that he should drive her into Montreal by himself and at least try . . ."

Baldy sat up as if shot.

"She's gone? Where's she gone?" Peggy soothed him by pushing the third drink invitingly nearer. "They drove away about an hour ago, just the two of them . . ." She paused while a hint of apologetic crimson darkened Baldy's neck and then spread over his domehead. He gulped the third drink and grabbed the fourth.

Education Has A Spiritual Job College Man Says

NORMAN, Okla. (UP)—Joseph A. Brandt, red-haired, pipe-smoking, president of the University of Oklahoma, believes the little red schoolhouse and the ivy-walled university hold the future of democracy.

While the armed forces are engaged in overcoming enemies of democracy it is the task of education to give "the spirit of independence to man, to make him an individual and to make him a stronger link in his government," Brandt says.

"But it must be the right kind of education."

Brandt decries the recent trend of educating for economic gain. Education, he says, must be concerned with "keeping our nation spiritually alive."

"The common aim of people and of education should be the same—to keep a resolute spirit of liberty flaming in every American heart. Without such a spirit, democracy becomes meaningless," he adds.

Brandt is one of the nation's younger university presidents. He returned to his native Oklahoma last year to assume the university presidency after serving as director of the Princeton university press.

Story Of Alamo Is Still Garbled

AUSTIN — Despite its fame, the Alamo must be one of the most misunderstood shrines in the world. A national magazine recently related how one of the Bowie boys (evidently James, who invented the Bowie knife) was killed in a fight with a bunch of Indians.

Bowie fought in the Alamo despite severe illness and after the battle a pile of enemy (Mexican) soldiers was found dead around his body.

Now comes a national news feature service, relating how in the Mexican war "many pioneers gave their lives for Texan Independence at places like the Alamo before the U. S. sent soldiers to their aid. After American forces smashed into Mexico by land and sea the tide turned."

One Texan commented that the writer of the latter information was "slightly off the beam." The Alamo's battle was in 1836, when Texas fought its war of independence. There were no U. S. soldiers sent to aid the defenders, all of whom were killed. The United States' war with Mexico came 12 years later.

Canning Sugar Is Being Rationed At Office In Ranger

A. E. Ringold, head of the local rationing committee, announced today that to date 59 certificates of purchase have been issued to family units in Ranger, for securing sugar for canning.

The family units represented have a total of 183 persons in them, and their certificates for canning and preserving call for 915 pounds.

Sugar rations for canning and preserving are being issued in the office of the Retail Merchants Association.

Anyone making application for sugar to be used for this purpose must bring their ration books with them, and must certify that the sugar is to be used in canning.

Ringold said.

OKLAHOMA CITY (UP)—Safety Commissioner Walter B. Johnson, who directed rescue work at 18 tornado-struck Oklahoma towns during the spring storm period, found the strangest quirk at Pryor, Oklahoma.

The roof, three walls and all of the furniture except a kitchen table were blown away from one Pryor residence. Resting on the kitchen table was a small basket full of eggs. None was broken.

A & M Scholarship Has 'Gone To War'

COLLEGE STATION — A graduate fellowship in Landscape Art at Texas A. & M. College established this year honoring Fritz W. Hensel, head of the department is unclaimed because the principal and both alternates have entered military service.

The fund itself also has "gone to war" in the form of $500 in War Bonds, and will be awaiting O. E. Schirz of San Angelo, second lieutenant in the Field Artillery, First alternate J. A. Johnson of Ranger is in the U. S. Navy and the second alternate, K. E. Schmidt of San Antonio is in the Field Artillery.

The Fritz W. Hensel Fellowship is financed by profits from the course conceding for college dances throughout the year. Students make and sell the corsages, paying part of their school expenses in this manner, and the profits go to the Hensel Fellowship fund.

Adequate Warning System Is Solved In Southwest

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (Special) — The problem of an adequate warning device for notifying the civilian population of towns and cities when enemy aircraft approaches has apparently been solved by the National Defense Research Committee, and several cities in the Eight Region, embracing Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Louisiana and New Mexico, will be given an opportunity to see the warning device in action, according to an announcement today by R. E. Smith, Eight Regional Director of Civilian Defense.

The new siren, mounted on a two-ton truck and powered with a 100 h. p. gasoline motor, is called the "Victory Siren". It is to be manufactured by several manufacturing concerns who are now tooling up, and it is expected that sufficient quantities to supply all communities which wish to purchase one of the new sirens, will be available in the near future, Smith said. It can be heard throughout the area to three to four square miles in a business section, and over an area of approximately twice as large in a residential area.

The Office of Civilian Defense and the local Civilian Defense Councils will sponsor demonstrations of the new "Victory Siren" in New Orleans, May 27; Dallas, May 30; Houston, June 1; San Antonio, June 2; and El Paso, June 4, Smith announced. Civilian defense officials throughout the region are invited to attend any of these demonstrations.

Boss Paid Triple For Stork's Visit

FORT WORTH, Tex. (UP) — Soapmaker Horace Ogle walked straight to the office of his boss, E. O. Gillam. He had just returned from the hospital.

"You recall, Boss," he said grinning, "how you promised me $100 when my baby arrived?"

"Yes," said Gillam, the soap factory owner.

"And, Boss, remember I asked about twins, and you said that would be $200."

"Yes."

"Well," and Ogle drew a deep breath. "Well, it's triplets."

Gillam wrote a check for $300 and went over himself to see the three girls at All Saints hospital. They weighed from four pounds, 11 ounces to five pounds, two ounces.

PULASKI SHRINE IS CLOSED FOR THE WAR

SAVANAH, Ga. (UP) — The Fort Pulaski national monument, historic shrine visited by 60,000 persons each year, has been closed to the public for the duration.

The strategic location of Fort Pulaski, fortification used during the Civil War and engineered by Robert E. Lee shortly after his graduation from West Point, caused officials to close it.

Built during the 1820's, Fort Pulaski had been under improvement for seven years. It was dedicated as a national park in the fall of 1938. Naval officials said the fort and grounds would be maintained and turned back to the Department of Interior following the war.

Long Distance Chess Played By Air Mail

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (UP) — Two Alaskans hope to finish their chess game in a couple of months. They are playing by air mail between Fairbanks and Juneau, several hundred miles apart.

L. E. Hough, instructor at the University of Alaska here, and Orin Stratton, special bridge designer for the Alaska Road Commission in Juneau, are the contestants.

JUNIOR COLLEGE TEACHERS TO MEET

AUSTIN (UP) — Junior college teachers and administrators of Texas will gather at the University of Texas for a "workshop course" in junior college problems, beginning June 4.

The "conference laboratory" course is planned to emphasize the problems of junior colleges in wartime.

THE PAYOFF

BY HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK — At the outset, William Malcolm Dickey at six feet two generally was considered too tall for a catcher. Some pitchers thought he stood too high to be a good target. Five feet 10 is regarded as the ideal height for a backstop. It was suspected that the catching souf would be tough — wear out a receiver lowering into the air as high as Bill Dickey.

Yet Trainer Earl Painter traces the Little Rock Larruper's athletic longevity to his long, supple muscles.

The Yankee home bender points out that the leg muscles of many stocky catchers knot up after a few years.

(OUTSIDE of the better heavyweights, the late Tex Rickard didn't know one fighter from another. The great promoter bumped into Bud Taylor on a train the day after the Terre Haute Terror had turned in a phenomenal performance at Madison Square Garden.

"Hello, Mr. Rickard!" beamed Taylor, thrilled to meet the master showman.

"Hello, kid," replied Rickard, not recognizing the finest bantamweight in the land who had just filled the house he built on Eighth Avenue.

Larry MacPhail, who so quickly took the Brooklyn club out of the red, is that way to a certain extent, according to Jimmy Wasdell.

"Although I was with the Dodgers two years, I don't believe MacPhail knew me without my number," explains the Pittsburgh outfielder. "Once I was in a hotel lobby talking with Hugh Casey, when MacPhail greeted by said: 'Hello, kid.'

"He didn't know me."

Hints on the Use and Care of Your GAS Water Heater

Your gas water heater is essential to health and sanitation in the home. Take good care of it... so that it will continue to serve you faithfully for a long time to come. Here are some hints that will prove helpful in making your water heater last longer and operate more efficiently:

To prevent sediment from accumulating in bottom of tank, drain about a gallon of water from drain cock at bottom of heater about once a month. If water is hard, do this about twice a month.

Keep water temperature thermostat set for 130 or 140 degrees Fahrenheit. Higher temperatures waste gas and cause heater to burn out sooner. Keep burners and coils clean and free from soot. A paint brush is handy for this purpose.

Give your heater plenty of "breathing space." The burner flame requires air for proper combustion. If heater is installed in closet, keep door open unless door has ventilator openings. Do not hang clothes or mops over ventilator openings.

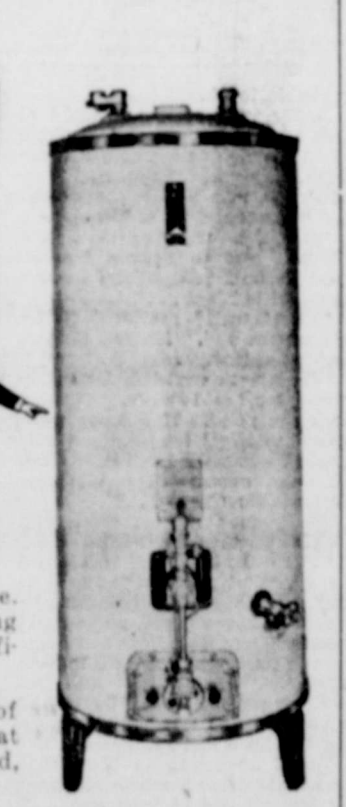

See that gas flame burns with clear purplish-blue flame. If it burns with a yellow flame, it is a sign of incomplete combustion. A gas serviceman should be called to regulate the burner.

Repair leaky hot water faucets as they waste both water and gas. A faucet that leaks 90 drops per minute will waste 310 gallons of water per month—and the gas needed to heat that much water.

Don't wash hands or dishes under running hot water. Use basin or sink. If you have mixing faucets, adjust the hot and cold faucets to get water at desired temperature without waste.

If you have occasion to turn off your hot water while away from home for an extended period, follow manufacturer's instructions for starting and relighting heater. If you plan to be gone during severe cold in winter, be sure to drain all water from heater and water lines to prevent burst pipes. If you have mislaid instructions for turning off and relighting your heater, call a gas serviceman for instructions.

We will gladly help you with advice on the care and use of all of your gas appliances. Please feel free to call upon us.

Chanute Field Has A Star Organist

CHICAGO (UP)—Chanute Field soldiers hear top-flight organ music at chapel service. It's played by one of their buddies, Pvt. Bob Shepfer, 22, of Defiance, O.

Private Shepfer became a church organist at 13 and last year gave a recital in Carnegie Hall, Pittsburgh. He was studying music at Wittenberg College when he enlisted in January.

U. OF T. BEGINS A WARTIME PROGRAM

AUSTIN, Texas, (UP)—The University of Texas is streamlining its program to meet the demands of war.

A special 20-months course to train physicists, for whom the war has brought the greatest demand, has been arranged. It will cram into 75 semester hours the amount of chemistry, mathematics and physics ordinarily taught in five years.

No degrees will be conferred on the 20-month physicists, although the courses will have full college credit.

Basic instruction in aeronautical engineering will be available to undergraduates. Such training formerly was open only to graduate students, but wartime demands are so great that more than one-half of the mechanical engineers graduated this month already have jobs in aircraft plants.

With the number of women in war industries increasing rapidly, courses in professional child care—girls who will conduct nurseries—have been opened to all students of sophomore standing or higher. Only home economics major formerly were eligible. The University summer school starting June 4 also will provide special courses in air and ground transportation, in governmental accounting, wartime business organization and management.

The 19th Hole

You're always reading about what some expert has written about different things, in this case golf, how to do this or that, but you never see where a rank amateur writes his side of anything, so being very amateurish (we will leave out the rank) we decided to tell you about the other side of this golf game. We aren't sure what the game is about yet or why, and when you have finished this article (if you do) you will be as mixed up as we are.

First the game practically has us along with "Ole Massa" or "John Browns' Body" or at least one foot there. Being new at the game and getting advice from everyone we get ourselves in some fine shapes. One instructor tells us that in order to hold the club properly, we must put this hand here and that one there. Just as we think we have the grip down right we miss the ball and someone else tells us we are standing with the wrong foot in the right place, which we probably are, or that we are to relax, or do an Irish jig before we hit the ball and grip the handle near the end or shake up on it and keep our eye on the ball. By that time we are in a knot looking cross-eyed and feeling thankful that we haven't a broken head or back, and that neither arm or leg is fractured.

Finally we keep our eye on the ball long enough to hit it over a fence or behind a tree. After looking for it for fifteen minutes we swing at it several times with the movements of a hard working grass cutter and end up on the green in 6 or 7 on a hole that should be parred in 4 or 5, then comes the object of the game, getting the ball in the cup. We do it easily in 4 or 5 putts.

We finally drag home with a badly abused body to struggle through a bath, wondering why we didn't take up acrobatic dancing for exercise, and thinking we should have asked for a blood transfusion to help us get up in the morning. But the next day we can hardly wait until we get to the golf course to see if we can't do better than we did the last time.

We are sure all these things are used in the game but we just have them slightly mixed and use them at the wrong time. One day we think we have the game licked and the next around we get slapped down with a score that would in comparison, make the national debt look like a Scotsman contribution to something. Then we decide that this golf talk is just a case of assorted nuts.

The coming tournament all ready has several intrants, including four from Breckenridge who bought tickets Friday. Entrance fees which will include golf, the barbecue and calcutta pool, will sell for $2 each, regardless of whether the purchaser engages in all phases of the tournament.

Incidentally, the fishing committee still has some permits for sale.

Interest in the tournament in the neighboring towns seems high in view of the fact that several out of towners have already entered, including F. D. Ford, Buster Walker, J. A. Bates and R. L. Elliott of Breckenridge; Bill Messersmith and Carl Hoera of Ft. Worth; Oney Black, Sam Gamble and Bobby Sikes of Eastland; M. L. King of Strawn and J. D. McClester of Texasiana. All entrants haven't qualified, however Hoera and Messersmith have qualified with an 80 and 77 respectively. Ford has an 87 and Walker has an 80. The caddy house that the club bought sometime ago has been moved to the club grounds and although it may not be completed by tournament time it should be soon.

Mr. Watts has been working very hard on the greens and fairways and they are in very good shape. If the weather man will just be good this week-end and let us have plenty of sunshine the tournament should be a big success.

The rains earlier in the week didn't keep a large crowd off the course over the week-end out of towners were: Dean Crawley, Neil Day, Bobby Sikes, J. W. Julian Capers Is Assistant Director Of Civilian Defense

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., (Special)—R. E. Smith, director of the Eighth Regional Office of Civilian Defense, with headquarters here, announced today, the appointment of Julian Capers, Jr., formerly of Longview and Dallas, as Assistant Regional Director in Charge of the Civilian Mobilization Branch. Capers has been a member of the Regional Staff, serving as Senior Civilian Defense Advisor, since last November 15.

In the new job, Capers will have supervision of a field staff which works with State and Local defense councils to organize and promote all classes of Civilian Defense work except the Protective services.

The Eighth Region now includes five states—Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Louisiana. The new Assistant Director is well known as a newspaperman for many years, and later as a Chamber of Commerce worker, having been a member of the staff of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce at Longview, until he entered war work with the Civilian Defense organization last fall. He has gone to Washington this week for a conference with executives in the national headquarters office on his new work.

New Sources Of Magnesium Found

WICHITA, Kan. (UP)—Two sources of magnesium have been discovered in Sedgwick county and it is believed that a plant may be established here to recover the metal which is needed in the war effort.

One source of magnesium in the county is the brine which comes from oil wells, and the other is from deposits of dolomite rock.

The dolomite is reported to contain about 20 per cent magnesium oxide which can be made to yield about 5 per cent metallic magnesium.

However, the dolomite deposits are far under the surface of the ground—about 3,500 feet—and

Authorities Register Homing Pigeons

SAN DIEGO, Cal. (UP)—Registration of all pigeon lofts in San Diego city and county under supervision of police and sheriff's offices is nearly complete.

Sheriff Bert Strand said registration of pigeon lofts was a defense measure to insure a large supply of homing pigeons for communication purposes in case the war should actually come to the Pacific Coast.

The registration also served as
