WAR PRICE AND RATION BOARD WILL REGISTER INDUSTRIAL CONSUMERS

Sugar Registration for Months of July and August Will Be Held on June 29 and 30 in Eastland; No Canning Sugar Registration Will Be Allowed Those Days.

Sugar registration for the months of July and August will be held on June 29 and 30 at the office of Eastland County War Price and Rationing Board, Prairie Building, Eastland.

Those establishments whose first registration was for the months of May and June only will be registered at that time. The following establishments come within the class: bakeries, ice cream manufacturers, drug stores, cafes, boarding houses, hospitals, churches, lodges, clubs.

Each of the establishments must be prepared to give a full report on use during the month of May and June of the sugar allowance it received on the first registration. Also each must be able to report on the amount of sugar it has on hand at the time of the registration of June 29 and 30.

Establishments for marketing sugar, such as retail and wholesale groceries, which maintain their original allotment by exchange of consumer stamps and certificates, will not be required to register. Those establishments of this class which require revision in their allotments, and may be entitled to such revisions under the rationing rules, may file application with the Board after July 1.

The following periods will be set aside for registration, according to alphabetical listing:

Monday a. m., letters a, b, c, d, e, f;
Monday p. m., letters g, h, i, j, k, l;
Tuesday a. m., letters m, n, o, p, q, r;
Tuesday p. m., letters s, t, u, v, w, x, y, z.

All registrants are urged to make every effort to be present at that time, in order to make the registration as convenient as possible to themselves and the registrars.

No certificate for canning sugar will be issued on Monday, June 29, or on Tuesday, June 30.

Larger Junior College Trend Is Predicted

AUSTIN — Trends toward larger junior college enrollments and toward vocationalization of junior college education are predicted by Dr. Walter C. Eells, executive secretary of the American Association of Junior Colleges, and visiting professor at the University of Texas.

Dr. Eells is teaching a course in junior college education and supervising a junior college conference-laboratory course at the University this summer.

"State aid for junior colleges was a great step forward for Texas," Dr. Eells commented, "and will probably have the effect of increasing the number of publicly owned junior colleges."

Texas already ranks third in the nation in the number of students enrolled in junior colleges, and second in the number of institutions, he commented. California heads the list.

Three-fourths of the students in junior colleges are taking terminal courses; that is, courses complete within two years," Dr. Eells explained. "The remaining students are taking academic courses in preparation for university study."

The greatest opportunity for junior colleges lies in the field of vocational education, particularly at the present time, Dr. Eells believes. A great many courses which will qualify students for jobs in defense industry are already being given, and the trend toward technical training will probably continue after the war.

"Combined with vocational training, the junior colleges offer a general education which fits the student to be a better citizen as well as a better wage-earner," Dr. Eells declared.

Four hundred jalopies found rusting in a Wisconsin "graveyard" yielded enough scrap to make 240 75-mm. hypoziters and 450 one-ton aerial bombs.

Russian Envoy Is Included In Talks On War Strategy

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 26 — President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Winston Churchill of Great Britain have conducted "extended and most important conferences" with the Soviet Ambassador, Maxim Litvinov, in their current formulation of grand strategy designed to win the war, the White House disclosed here today.

He Sets Record But Loses A Fish

AUSTIN (UP) — A. F. Pierce is a landubber from the South Plains of Texas, where the redwing blackbird in swift flight cuts the blue horizon with bullet points of crimson wing shadows.

But he also probably holds a record for playing a big salt water fish longer than any man who ever cast tackle into the Gulf of Mexico, according to the Harlingen Valley Star.

Using a light rod and line, he hooked a large fish at 7:30 in the morning and skillfully played him until shortly before midnight, when his line finally snapped.

He didn't have a fish to show for his 16-hour battle, but he did have a record—and what a record! He lives in Lubbock.

Elevating State Health Record Is A War Goal

AUSTIN — In a vigorous war time campaign to elevate the State health level by preventing the spread of communicable diseases which might be transmitted by foods, the State Department of Health is conducting training schools for food handlers in many sections of Texas, Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, announced today.

"Food handlers are being instructed in sanitary methods of preparing, handling, and serving food for public consumption," Dr. Cox said. "Actual experience has shown that an insanitary eating establishment is one of the surest sources of spreading infection. Public health is menaced by the lack of proper sanitation in food handling and our goal is the education of cooks, waiters, butchers, bakers, fountain men, and all other food handlers to such a level as will insure an elimination of this health hazard."

The training schools consist of elementary courses in bacteriology, communicable diseases, medical sociology, foods, disinfection, sterilization, personal hygiene, and sanitation.

Special attention has been paid to requests for schools in defense areas, and classes have already been held in Mineral Wells, Weatherford, Anahua, Liberty, Victoria, El Campo, Wharton, Bay City, Brownsville, Hrlingen, Corpus Christi, Midland, Odessa, Gainesville, Georgetown and Taylor.

FRESH FRUITS, POTATOES ON BLUE LISTS

Three fresh fruits and Irish potatoes have been added to the list of Blue stamp foods available during July under the Food Stamp program in Eastland County according to Charles L. Howell, Area supervisor, Agricultural Marketing Administration.

Fresh peaches, fresh plums, and fresh apples are the fruits added. These together with oranges, all fresh vegetables, including Irish and sweet potatoes, and the staple foods continued on the list, will give participants a wide variety from which to select the foods they require.

Dried prunes and fresh grapefruit are the only two commodities removed from the July list. Dried prunes are being acquired for use largely by our armed forces and the season of heavy marketing of grapefruit is drawing to a close.

With these changes, the complete list of Blue stamp foods issued by the Agricultural Marketing Administration for July 1 through July 31 in all stamp program areas is as follows: fresh peaches, plums, apples, and oranges, all fresh vegetables including Irish and sweet potatoes, shell eggs, butter, corn meal, hominy (corn) grits, dry edible beans, wheat flour, enriched wheat flour, self rising flour, enriched self rising flour, and whole wheat (Graham) flour.

"Farmers," Mr. Howell said, "are working to produce abundant quantities of all the food needed by the United States. The food stamp program helps to assure them, particularly in seasons of heavy marketing, of a fair return for the efforts they are making. At the same time the program adds many nutritious foods to the diets of families in need."

Expansion Of USO Field Work Is Announced

HOUSTON — An emergency appropriation for expansion of mobile field service and for initiating services to troops on maneuvers was announced today by Harry A. Wiess, State USO Chairman. A total of $100,000 was made available for immediate needs.

"More than triple our present number of mobile field units," Mr. Wiess stated, "are made possible on the Pacific Coast alone by $70,000 of this amount. We are now adding 15 units to the existing six in that locality, and they will cover the entire coast from Canada to Mexico."

"The present military situation on the West Coast has brought restriction, and often complete cancellation, of Army and Navy leaves. This means outpost detachments cannot go to towns having USO clubhouses, so we must bring our services to them."

A $30,000 advance for USO work at maneuvers, it was explained, will enable services to start immediately upon request of officers commanding troops involved in various war-games, and needed supplies purchased and facilities for the soldiers' personal comforts and entertainment arranged beforehand.

Preliminary estimates for the new fiscal year were set at $250,000 for maneuvers and $684,636 for mobile field services, and are included in the $32,000,000 goal of the USO War Fund campaign, of which Texas is being asked to contribute $1,110,000.

Registration Cards For June 30 Here

Registration cards for the next registration, on June 30, have been received and are now being distributed to the various registration places in the county.

The registration, which is for 18 and 19 year old boys, including those born on or after Jan. 1, 1922 or on or before June 30, 1924, is expected to account for between 800 or 900 youths in Eastland County. This number may be decreased some because of previous enlistments.

The three major towns of the county, Cisco, Eastland and Ranger, are expected to register about 150 to 180, or approximately half the registration number, because comparatively few registration places will be open.

Victory First On Fourth, Slogan of Safety Campaign

CHICAGO — Put victory first on the Fourth!

The National Safety Council made that appeal to patriotic Americans today in launching a nationwide campaign against Fourth of July accidents that waste manpower, material and time needed for victory.

One hundred and thirty national organizations are joining with the Council in the greatest mass attack on holiday accidents ever made in this country.

Public officials, safety leaders and citizens throughout the country are being asked to enlist in the campaign in a united effort to prevent accidents that last year took 9,400 lives in July alone.

As a practical means of reducing usual heavy holiday traffic toll, the Council suggested that everyone spend this Fourth of July close to home. This not only will help prevent accidents, but will conserve cars, tires and gasoline.

But whether you stay at home or not, the Council warned, the danger of accidents is still with you. There still remain the perennial Fourth of July risks of drowning, fireworks, falls, over-exertion, over-exposure to sun — and, of course, traffic accidents on even the shortest trips. Extra care is needed, no matter where or how you spend the holiday.

West Texas—Little temperature change tonight. Fresh, occasionally strong, gusty winds over the north-west portion today.

Road, Bridge Funds To Be Big Problem For Counties Now

LONGVIEW — Biggest problem in making the new county budgets for 1943, now getting underway, will be in handling the Road and Bridge Fund, the tax department of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce points out.

Receipts for the county Road and Bridge Fund are derived for the most part from two principal sources: their respective shares of the automobile registration fees and from ad valorem taxes.

Some East Texas County Auditors are estimating their automobile registration receipts for 1943 at 60 per cent of those for 1942. County Auditor Compton White of Fairfield was the first to report this basis of estimate.

County Road and Bridge spending in 1943 may be expected to drop. Budget appropriations will have to be less because of less revenue.

Road machinery and repair parts will be difficult to get—a large item of county road spending. Construction and maintenance material likewise will be hard to get. Some shortage of county road labor crews is expected by 1943.

Anticipated declines in the use of county highways as car and tire shortages make themselves felt likely will lessen construction and maintenance demands for the duration.

Attention is swinging around to the possibility of pooling and operating equipment and road crews on a county-wide basis because of war time conditions, the East Texas Chamber reports.

President States 2,000 Planes Were Built During May

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 26 — President Roosevelt, giving the Axis partners some bad news, announced today that the United States had produced nearly 4,000 planes in May, together with 1,500 tanks, 2,000 artillery pieces and anti-tank guns.

President Roosevelt's figures were contained in a brief formula statement in which he cautioned the American people not to become over-confident despite the fact that the production rate would "give the Axis the opposite of 'aid and comfort'."

The president's bare statement on production figures was the first official announcement of production in several months.

RAF MAKES 1,300 PLANE RAID ON BREMEN, WHILE NAZI GROUND PUSH GROWS

The Royal Air Force renewed a mighty aerial offensive with a raid by possibly 1,300 planes on the German war center of Bremen, but Axis offensives gained ground today in Egypt and Russia on the main roads to the Near East.

In Egypt Nazi Field Marshal Erwin Rommel drove three columns about 110 miles across the desert from Libya to within 30 miles of the main British base at Matruh on the Mediterranean Coast, where advance units were reported to be in action.

United States army four-motored bombers again joined the Royal Air Force in striking at the enemy rear lines and the main supply bases of Tobruk and Benghazi, but German planes also were reported hammering the railroad east of Matruh.

The Axis armies are trying to hammer their way into the Near East oil fields and to cut Allied communications lines that are of the utmost importance, and heavy fighting on the Kharkov Front in the Russian Ukraine indicated that the enemy was attempting to reach his goal by way of the Caucasus as well as through Egypt.

Moscow dispatches said that German reinforcements were striking behind powerful tank and airplane formations on several sectors of the Kharkov Front, where the Russians were driven from the railroad junction of Kupiansk and another town and were forced to give ground elsewhere.

Operations also were intensified on other Russian fronts.

In China a Chungking communique stated that 2,000 Japanese were killed in a Chinese attack in the Tachang Mountains and that heavy fighting was in progress in the suburbs of Lichai, an important airbase which the Japanese attempting to seize in Chekiang Province. Loss of the town of Kinki, in Kiangsi, was acknowledged.

Overdue Reorganization

There are reports that President Roosevelt plans to overhaul Washington's publicity machinery. He is said to agree with those who complain that too much information is being bottled up, to which the public in a democracy is entitled and which could not be of value to our enemies.

This is good news. The situation is bad, and apparently nothing but White House intervention can correct it adequately.

Something more is at stake than the gratification of curiosity and the desire of newspapers to print interesting stories. Something less important, but more pressing, is involved with the vital right of a free press to print anything which will not contribute specifically to the axis' benefit.

Unnecessary news suppression could become one of this nation's most malignant fifth columnists. It plays directly into the hands of those who seek to deceive us, befuddle us, discourage us. We have become so accustomed to unfettered newspaper discussion of everything that we read exaggerated significance into that which is withheld.

Moreover, as the result of the suppression of so much, we are confused by the conflicting statements of presumably informed, reliable experts.

Specific illustrations are plentiful. One which can be discussed without utilizing any forbidden facts is the silly embroglio which arose over gasoline rationing.

On April 22 the Office of Price Administration announced that motor fuel would be rationed beginning May 15. An unnamed spokesman suggested that the bulk of civilians would be limited to from two to five gallons a week.

The next day Administrator Ickes and OPA Director Henderson decried this estimate. But when registrars were instructed on which type of ration card to give to motorists, the gauge was based two-to-six gallons limitation per car.

Menwhile reports reached the press on April 24 that, as of May 1, deliveries to filling stations would be cut from two-thirds of normal to half of normal.

Ralph K. Davies, Mr. Ickes' assistant, denied such a step was contemplated. On May 5 the War Production Board, at Mr. Ickes' request, ordered the reduction at which Davies had scoffed.

This is no isolated incident. It happens to be one suitable for discussion because it stands on its own feet without use of data presumed to be of either use or comfort to Hitler.

It is the type of misunderstanding which, if Washington publicity is adequately overhauled, can be cleared up by competent newspaper reporters overnight.

The Payoff

BY HARRY GRAYSON NEA Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK—Tired of being in civvies, with so many young men in service uniforms around him wherever he goes, George Tebbetts will quit the Detroit Tigers following their series closing in Boston, July 11, and enlist in the Army Air Corps.

Following basic training, Birdie Tebbetts, 24, and a graduate of Providence College, will seek a commission.

Tebbetts was prevailed upon to remain until July 11 only because he resides at Nashua, N. H., hard on Boston, and hopes to get in the All-Star game at the Polo Grounds, July 6.

His departure leaves the club without a capable backstop. The management has given up on Dixie Persone, who was brought in from Buffalo. Persone does nothing well enough and is brittle.

War Manpower Commission's Directives Fail To Solve Important Problem of Farm Labor

BY PETER EDSON NEA Service Washington Correspondent

THE old song of "How You Goin' to Keep 'em Down On the Farm?" is now complicated further by the old saw, "What Will You Use for Money?"

On the one hand, Paul V. McNutt's War Manpower Commission issues a couple of fancy directives, one to the Farm Security Administration telling FSA to increase the number of mobile labor camps in order to make available enough farm labor to achieve the "Food for Victory" objective; the second directive to FSA and the Office of Defense Transportation to assure adequate transportation facilities to move migrant agricultural workers.

On the other hand, FSA comes back with the word that it has no money to increase its mobile labor camps, and ODT makes it unanimous by saying that it has no money to move the workers, even if FSA had camps to put them in.

So, if anything gets done in the immediate future, it seems the money will have to come out of that good old reliable kitty, the President's emergency fund. The policy committee of the War Manpower Commission has passed a resolution to improve on Congress and the Bureau of the Budget the necessity for allocating funds for these migratory farm laborers, but resolutions aren't exactly folding money, yet.

Today, FSA has 95 migratory labor camps on its books—45 permanent, 48 mobile, and six being set up. It has made surveys to indicate where 150 additional camps might be located.

THE Bureau of the Budget recommended that for the year beginning July 1, $3.3 million be given to FSA for migratory labor camps. The House of Representatives, in revolt against FSA, completely eliminated the item. The Senate restored it, but put a limit of $1.4 million on the amount to be spent for camps, if the ceiling stays at that level, FSA will not only be unable to open additional camps, but it will have to close down, over half of the 95 camps now running. If that happens, listen to the farmers yell and watch Congress do a magnificent about-face to set up these maligned Okie camps once more.

The situation, in event, more binding for the Office of Defense Transportation. Although it got this directive from the Manpower Commission on May 21, ODT hasn't done anything about the situation for the simple reason that it couldn't. ODT also has no money to spend on transporting migrant workers. ODT furthermore is not in the transportation business. It owns no buses, no tires, no gasoline. When a transportation crisis arises, all it can do is clamp down on some unnecessary transportation in some locality and direct that the equipment thus made available be used in some other service. But to expect ODT to step into every rural community where there is a farm labor shortage and mobilize transportation to haul farm labor around is too much.

FSA Administrator C. B. Baldwin has testified that there are thousands and thousands of farm laborers available if they can be moved where they are needed.

RECRUITING of farm labor has been haphazard, Baldwin asserts, and the resulting waste of manpower on the agricultural front has been costly.

Digging Plow Is One That Lifts Out Peanuts From Soil

By Floyd Lynch, County Agent

A good digging plow is one that will lift the peanuts out of the soil as much as possible and that will not break nuts loose from the vine.

An ordinary heavy wide-angle sweep, in probably the best tool, among several that are used, to plow up peanuts. The sweep point loosens the soil around the nut before the root is cut off, so that a minimum of nuts is broken off the vine. The width of sweep ordinarily used is 14", 18", or 20".

For a one-row digger, the sweep may be used on a one-row, horse drawn riding planter or a one-row tractor planter. The opener and cover standards are removed from the planter. Some growers report that when soil conditions are such that a sweep will not take the ground that a lister bottom is used, after removing the lister moldboards. In at least one peanut area, the huster point is preferred for any soil condition, reports Mr. M. R. Bentley, Agricultural Engineer of the Extension Service of Texas A. & M. College to county agent Floyd Lynch.

BUNDLES FOR BOCHES

THESE 7.2-inch monsters are one of 30 types of shells produced in Canada's munitions factories. Slowly revolving on the endless trolley these are nearing the end of the production line where they will be crated and sent on their way to strike another blow in the crusade against Hitlerism. The workman in this photograph is assembling each shell with an identifying mark. The coating of anti-rust varnish which covers each shell brings it precisely to the dimensions required by the gun. Perfected in Canadian laboratories to eliminate a Great War problem, the varnish is a special compound which does not clog the breach of the gun. Canada and the United States have coordinated munitions output under the Joint War Production Board, which since November, 1941, has directed a plan under which both countries divide the responsibility for maximum production, sharing costs, material and labor. Scarce raw materials are being allocated between the two countries, each providing articles it is best able to produce for the most efficient prosecution of the war.

ESCAPE AND MURDER

CHAPTER XX

TALCOTT paced the length of the deserted boat deck again and turned in anger. "MacDowell!" he called harshly. From the depths of gloom by the dayside beyond the funnel came a scrape of sound, and a hollow voice answered "Here!"

"Still hanging your head! What's so infernally important that you couldn't tell me in the cabin, that you had to send that steward just when I—" He was in the darkness then, groping "MacDowell! Where the devil—"

A dipping shudder came into the ship's movement; a forward pitch into a deep trough of waves. And with it his answer, a crushing blow sweeping in a wide arc from behind. It glanced from the side of his head with enough force to hurt but not enough to cripple. Had his assailant been less slyly poised when the vessel's sudden dip came, Talcott's skull would have been smashed like a paper carton.

He gasped with pain and turned, groping blindly. Another blow dropped him to his knees. Strong, wiry arms wound about him and he felt a solid, straining chest against his face. He held himself limp and the other dragged him to the rail. And when the attacker's arms slackened to lift him up, Talcott suddenly straightened his legs, driving the other back and against a davit.

The counter attack had been a complete surprise. Pressing for the advantage of time, Talcott moved in too hurriedly and another smacking blow from the leaded leather sent needles of pain through his shoulder. Grimly he grasped at a wrist, caught it firmly, moved in and quickly pivoted. A choking arm wound about his neck. He balanced, extended his right leg, and with all his strength heaved at the wrist.

With a cry of rage and frustration the other sailed over his head. Another dipping shudder, akin to the one that had saved him first, sent Talcott sprawling face downwards and rolled him under a lifeboat. The unprotected deck edge was perilously near; his groping right hand found no support but air. His left arm was doubled beneath him and thus he lay, struggling to hold fast. Had his assailant followed in then, Talcott would have been lost; the merest shove from a foot would have sent him overboard. But the other had had enough; his running feet sounded a telegraph on the steel plates of the deck.

THE boat deck was empty. Forward the lights of the wireless shack and the tiny glow of the binnacle on the bridge; they couldn't have heard because of the wind. The assailant had run forward, but he would scarcely run up there; officers didn't take too kindly to interruptions in their work. He must have gone down the stairs.

Talcott was at the foot of the stairs when the shocked scrutiny of a pair of old ladies brought him to an abrupt halt. Struggling, he brushed himself and smoothed his rumpled clothing.

Inside the cocktail lounge he saw Halsey and June Peterson playing bridge with Martha Swenson and the ship's doctor. He avoided the door and moved around to the other side, passing the huddled figure of Professor Constantine, asleep in a chair.

Passengers were there, leaning against the rail, conversing or looking at the water. A steward came past, bearing a blanket. Talcott stopped him. "Did you see a man run by here?" he asked.

Conversation at the rail was suddenly hushed. "No, sir, can't say as I did," the steward answered.

Talcott became suddenly aware of the fixed stares. "Must've been mistaken," he grunted and hurriedly walked by the gauntlet of eyes.

He was in C deck corridor when abrupt suspicion caused him to stop before the door of the ugly bald-head who called himself Webster. Pressing his ear against the polished wood he was rewarded with a deep, regular snore.

No man who had been through what the attacker had been through could snore like that. Huffed, he entered his own cabin. He switched on the light. MacDowell was apparently asleep; a blanket covered him to his chin and his face was turned to the wall. Talcott glared in the mirror. A nasty red welt showed in front of his ear; his face was smudged with soot, his collar was torn, and his once-immaculate jacket was wrinkled and grimy.

A towel end and powder repaired the damage to his face; the collar he removed, and with it the jacket. The shirt, too, was beyond hope and he peeled it off, and thus far disrobed decided to complete the job and take a shower.

Strange, how soundly MacDowell slept. Lucky for MacDowell; in his condition, sleep was the only thing that could help him.

Talcott had found his robe and was at the door when footsteps sounded in the corridor. Moved by and stopped before Webster's door. A loud, double knock. The pitch of the snoring changed imperceptibly. The double knock was repeated and the snoring ceased. "Yes?" in Webster's voice.

"A wireless message for you, sir."

"Oh. It's my wife I guess. About the business— Just a moment—" The click of a light switch; faint scrape of the door, and footsteps sounded again in the corridor.

Talcott opened his door and peered out. The room steward was walking away. Strange, he could have sworn that Webster's voice sounded from outside the door. It had sounded as if the steward was on the inside. But there was the steward, turning into the companionway at the end of the corridor. He could have been mistaken.

In the exhilarating needles of the shower his body relaxed, but his mind leaped to double speed. Things had been happening fast, almost too fast. First, Webster the hairless, caught flat-footed eavesdropping. Was he just curious about his neighbors or did he fit in the picture somewhere? Talcott wished he could remember that vaguely familiar face. Too ugly to be forgotten; yet it remained in a haze, defying recognition and remembrance.

Then there was the business of the blank paper. Had Halsey played egypt, substituting the rest report and turning it over to the purser for safekeeping? It didn't seem likely, not in the new light thrown on Halsey by June Peterson. What, then, was Struthers up to?

And the attack. He had gone to the boat deck supposedly in response to a summons from MacDowell. Well, MacDowell would have to answer that one. Grimly he towelled himself, drew on his robe and crossed to his stateroom.

MacDowell hadn't moved. With swiftly indrawn breath, Talcott leaped to the bunk and snatched away the blanket.

A spreading brown-red stain was creeping away from a sticky slot in the detective's back.

Ranger Girl To Attend Class At Saltillo, Mex.

DENTON, June 26—Miss Fannie Dell Swaney of Ranger will attend the Texas State College for Women summer school at Saltillo, Mexico, beginning July 16 for five weeks. Twenty-seven cities in four states are represented in the registration list.

The school, established last July is a fully accredited branch of TSCW, and is sponsored by the department of foreign languages of the college, with Dr. Rebecca Switzer as director and Dr. Jerome Moore as assistant director and business manager. Extra accommodations have been made to care for the late registrations, as more are enrolled than at this time last year.

Mexican teachers will accompany the students and staff members on shopping and sight-seeing expeditions, and Mexican specialists in the field of economics, history, art, music, social studies, and architecture will give lectures and programs regularly.

The school gives students the opportunity to know Mexican people, their customs and culture, and its gives the inhabitants of Saltillo an opportunity to know a group of representative young women of the United States and to realize the keen interest of Anglo-Americans in Mexican culture and civilization.

The Saltillo school was opened last year through the assistance of Dr. L. H. Hubbard, president of TSCW, who likewise has a strong love for Latin-America, its culture and its ideals.

P. L. Crossley Is A Candidate For County Judgeship

On May 23rd P. L. (Lewis) Crossley made his formal announcement for the office of County Judge, and herewith submits his statement to the citizens of Ranger, surrounding territory and Eastland County.

TO THE VOTERS AND CITIZENS OF EASTLAND COUNTY. I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of County Judge of Eastland County, subject to the action of the Democratic Primary in July.

In the beginning may I say that I would be very ungrateful if I should not, again, express to the people of Eastland County my sincere appreciation and everlasting gratitude for the many public favors and confidences that you have entrusted me with in the past.

I will be 47 years old on August 4th, and am, therefore in the prime of life. I served my country in 1917 and 1918, during the first World War, and I am ready, able, and willing and anxious to serve my county again when and if my services are needed in this terrible war. I am married, and have four children.

I am a licensed Attorney and I feel that my experience I gained in the Courts as District Clerk, my service for two terms in the Legislature, and the valuable experience I have had in the office of State Comptroller of Public Accounts, qualifies me to render a valuable service to the people of Eastland County, as County Judge. For the past seven months I have audited many tax rolls for various counties throughout Texas which has given me an insight to the perplexing, varied and much abused ad valorem tax situation in Texas, and I know that the knowledge gained will enable me to render a valuable service to my country in this respect. The tax situation, local, State and National is growing extremely burdensome for everyone. It will continue to be burdensome in the future and if elected, I shall approach this vexing problem, as all others, with a heart attune to the needs of the county and the people as a whole, keeping in mind at all times the fact that the more we spend the greater and more burdensome will be the taxes and I shall consider this problem, not only in the respect to the present crisis and emergency, but to the future also when post war conditions always call for trenching and tremendous sacrifices which everyone will be called upon and forced to share, and I shall endeavor, in every way possible to eliminate useless spending in County Government and will strive to hold the tax burden to a minimum.

I have during the past four months audited many Motor Fuel Tax Refund Claims, an important item for the farmer (Texas refunds annually about and, if elected, I shall maintain this service for the Farmers of Eastland County, and those entitled to such refunds, on my own initiative and free of cost to anyone.

Throughout my business and public life, I have done office work and, being able to use a typewriter, as well as other office equipment, I shall, myself do as much of the work of this office as is possible without needless expense to the County, thereby saving the money for the taxpayers, and I will use my influence to eliminate all jobs, not needed, and excessive spending in every place possible.

The duties and functions of this office are largely administrative. I assure you that I shall conduct its affairs with dispatch, being fair and courteous to everyone alike, staying on the job and rendering every personal service and courtesy possible, as well as official. I shall, at regular intervals and at such times as I deem proper, visit with the Commissioners in their Precincts in an effort to help determine the needs of the people and assist, in every way possible in attending to such needs at minimum costs to the taxpayer.

By reason of my Courtroom experience and knowledge of the law, I shall conduct the duties of this office in the Courtroom with equal dispatch, being fair to all alike and seeing that all cases are tried or disposed of with reasonable promptness.

In my service in the Legislature, I was instrumental in helping to pass the County and District Road Bond Indebtedness law, which has meant many thousands of dollars in cash to Eastland County; Your Representatives, were the first to advocate State participation for Junior Colleges and I was instrumental in finally passing the law which permits $50.00 State participation for each student attending, and which, I sincerely believe, will, in the years to come, be considered one of the best pieces of Legislation ever passed by any Legislature. Its far reaching beneficial results to those who cannot attend other more expensive schools, must be recognized by all.

Eastland County in the only County in Texas that has two of these colleges, and by reason of our interest the Ranger schools have obtained during the past school year approximately $6,000.00 additional money for their schools, and it will continue in the future to be a valuable help to the Ranger schools what better or more valuable service could one render to the people generally than make it possible for the rich and poor alike to obtain two years additional schooling at a very low cost and at home?

There are many things of interest to the people of Eastland County which I will discuss as the campaign progresses, and I shall make just as active a campaign
