

TRIAL OF SABOTEURS TO GO INTO NEXT WEEK SECRECY IS MAINTAINED

By FRED MULLEN United Press Staff Correspondent WASHINGTON, July 11. (UP)—The trial of eight German saboteurs—still highly secret despite three "communiques" from the presiding seven-general military commission—entered its fourth day today and there were indications that it would continue at least another week.

Admiral Nimitz Sustains Injuries In A Plane Crash

PEARL HARBOR, July 10 (Delayed)—Adm. Chester W. Nimitz is back at his headquarters here, none the worse for a plane crash in which he suffered slight injuries, a spokesman said today. Other members of his staff also suffered minor cuts and bruises but are now back on duty.

The following suits have been filed in Eastland county district courts: Bobbie Williams and next friend, vs. W. M. Farbee, damages; Letha Peacock vs. J. B. Peacock, divorce; Elura Glenn vs. James A. Glenn, divorce, division of property and custody of minors.

Glider Pilots Are In Demand Now

The Army is in need of a large number of glider pilots immediately. The Government is offering training free to eligible young men through its Civilian Pilot Training program.

Climbing King

For the more venturesome, assignments as "Commandos of the Air" might be possible. It is not difficult to visualize small towns along established air routes being served by gliders carrying mail, express, passengers, and capable of landing on airports entirely too small to be used by the towing plane.

Bewildered

The scrap rubber collection drive was, speaking charitably, a flop. Less than 220,000 tons were collected during the period originally given to the campaign.

What does that mean? That there weren't half a million tons of scrap rubber lying around—or that the public didn't co-operate in so vital a war effort?

Perhaps some of both. But neither, fundamentally. The scrap rubber drive was doomed from the beginning.

It's inspiration came from the petroleum industry, which hoped by a good showing to avert or at least postpone nationwide gasoline rationing.

It found the public bewildered, resentful, wanting to help but very uncertain about the whole affair.

From a typical midwestern farming trade center comes a bitter summary, written by the local editor-publisher, of why the people, patriotic and willing, have become apathetic.

The citizenry of that village "scampered around and gathered aluminum," and the metal lay around until a junk dealer consented to take it for virtually nothing.

Government agents junketed through the area telling of the urgent need for scrap metal. "We went to bat for that," and for two months the concern which gave storage space has tried vainly to find somebody who would take the scrap to the steel mills—or somewhere.

Uncle Sam demanded that old paper be saved. The Boy Scouts collected tons and tons—and then received word from the government to please burn it, because it is a fire hazard and there is no market.

"I was sort of surprised, after all of that, to see how folks went to work to gather up old tires, and I am watching to see when, if ever, they are moved," writes this editor, and concludes with the observation—which might be of interest to Washington departments—

"I guess we have heard 'Wolf, wolf' long enough." That letter was written to explain why nation-wide gasoline rationing is going to provoke a storm in that area.

Also Forced Back In Russia

BY PETER EDSON NEA Service Washington Correspondent

THE idea of building up stockpiles of sugar and scattering them in various places around the country, so as to be handy no matter what happens, is running into complications.

Originally it looked like a brilliant conception. Instead of keeping the stocks of raw sugar at the refinery, it was planned to process it as fast as it came in, then ship out this refined sugar to principal marketing area cities for storage.

Edson

THE best answer thought up for this one, so far, is to grant a subsidy to the people who store the sugar. Under this plan, the government would pay up to around 50 or 60 cents per 100 pounds for sugar damaged in storage.

Sugar industry men have another suggestion which the government men, who throw cold water on the beautiful plans of business men, don't seem inclined to give in on.

Under normal sugar business conditions, raw sugar is stored at the refineries. As white sugar orders come in, this raw is refined and shipped out to meet the demand.

road network leading to Rostov. These towns, however, are on the Kharkov-Rostov lines rather than on the Voronezh-Rostov line.

By capture of Kantemirovka, the farthest point of advance, the Germans were within 120 miles of Rostov, had straightened out their offensive front to the southeast and made unmistakably clear that their main drive is designed to flank Rostov and push on across the vast, level countryside toward Astrakhan on the Caspian sea, in an effort to cut off the entire Caucasus.

This purpose was also illustrated by today's special communique from Hitler's headquarters, saying that the Red army except for isolated groups had been broken in a huge area extending from Kharkov and Kursk on the west to the Don river on the east. This area, it was added, gave the Germans a new 217-mile front extending southward from Voronezh.

The Germans claimed that they had taken 89,000 prisoners, destroyed or captured 1007 tanks and 1688 guns and 540 Russian planes in this area, in addition to 390 Russian tanks knocked out in repulsing Red army counter-attacks in the Orel sector.

The result of these operations was that the Germans were in control of most of the eastern end of the Ukraine and were pushing close to its western borders in their new advance toward the Russian war centers of Voroshilovgrad and Rostov. At the same time they were in a position to attempt to clear up the easternmost bend of the Don River, which swings westward almost to the industrial city of Stalingrad and the Volga River if they can still muster superior mechanized forces on the plains.

In event Adolf Hitler sends any more of his sabotage school graduates to this country by submarine, their chances of getting through will be slimmer.

One official concerned with the trial said that defense against such an incursion had been strengthened since the arrest of Haupt and his confederates. Not only has the coast guard patrol of the coasts been doubled, but civilian defense workers are establishing patrols, particularly in New England.

Hoover said there had been recurring reports of saboteurs landing on the Gulf coast from submarines. Investigators rushed to the scenes of the reported darkations failed to substantiate the reports however.

Manufacture of essential consumers' goods has been concentrated in Great Britain to effect full time operations in a few plants, says the Department of Commerce.

State yield of revenue from motor-fuel taxation totalled $915 million in 1941, 25 per cent of all State tax collections, according to the Department of Commerce.

Small merchants should seek out and eliminate avoidable expenses to cushion the shock of difficult war time trading, says the Department of Commerce.

Mrs. Agnes McLaughlin Elected Secretary Of Retail Merchants

At a meeting of the board of directors of the Ranger Retail Merchants Association, held Friday, Mrs. Agnes McLaughlin was elected secretary, replacing Mrs. Christine Mills, who has resigned. Mrs. Mills, who has been secretary for several years, tendered her resignation as secretary recently, to accept a position with the local National Youth Administration office.

Mrs. McLaughlin, who became secretary immediately after her election by the board, has been working in the office for the past few months on her own time, learning the business, and has already proved to be efficient and reliable. Her election was expected to have been unanimous.

Mrs. McLaughlin is well known throughout Ranger, and her election has already met with hearty approval by many of the members of the association, as well as with the board of directors, the merchants Saturday who expressed an opinion on the election were well pleased with the board's selection.

Canadian Overseas Ready for Offensive

12,000,000 are now engaged in producing munitions in Canada. At this point it is expected that the Dominion is approaching its visible limit of material and management. An outstanding productive achievement is the delivery so far of more than 200,000 army vehicles, which have gone service in several theaters of war. Hundreds of Canadian-made tanks have been shipped to Russia, with more coming off the production lines every day earmarked for the fighting fronts.

Youth Can Get Training For Work In War Industry

As a part of the national program for training young men and women for work in war industries, training courses, offered in shops connected with the War Work Center are now available to local boys and girls who are interested in working but who wish to remain at home. Training is offered in radio, airplane, sheet metal machine shop, welding and wood working.

A. V. Bullock, youth personnel officer on the Ranger project, stated that work experience and training in any of the above units would greatly increase youth's employment opportunities in the various war industries in Texas. Any young man or woman who is between the ages of 17 and 24 years, in good health, out of school and willing to accept full-time employment in defense industry on completion of training period is eligible to make application for assignment to the project.

In addition to the training, each youth assigned will receive $24.00 per month for the work done in the shop. At present there are a few vacancies for both boys and girls and any youth interested in taking the training should write to the National Youth Administration, P. O. Box 168, Ranger.

Newspaper Views On Campaign In Disagreement Now

AUSTIN, Tex. —Bill Roper, former San Angelo newspaper man who is handling publicity for Dan Moody's campaign for U. S. Senator, has been gathering editorial comments upon the race of the three governors of Texas for the senatorship.

Naturally he likes the comments that favor Moody but Roper is too good a newspaperman not to collect some on the other side as well.

Editors' predictions on the outcome of the race vary from the Weslaco News' expectations that "O'Daniel will do the usual stunt and win the first primary" to Carrillon Chronicle's view that Former Governor's James V. Allred and Dan Moody are "running neck and neck for first place with O'Daniel lagging a considerable distance behind."

The Mcargel Times looks at the contest as a "hoss race" with Allred on the inside track. Others, like the editor of the Kootenay News, says Allred will be a "sadder-and wiser guy" after the election, while the San Angelo Standard-Times predicts that Texas is going to have another great senator "like Tom Connally" in Dan Moody.

The Bryan Eagle says: "We are waiting to see if our friend Dan Moody, the fiery red-head from Williamson County, can't hit the bull's-eye and bring home the crowns."

The Lamar County Echo predicts that "somebody is going to have 'flour in his eyes,' and the Lewisville Times also touches on one of the candidates urging free laundry for soldiers the campaign issue seems to be "clean sex or biscuits."

The hot weather inspired some of the comment. The State Observer observes: "It's going to be hot this summer. Particularly for O'Daniel."

The Fort Worth Press finds Senator O'Daniel's reported references to his colleagues at Washington as "inmates of an insane asylum" the sort of a blow at our national confidence and unity "that would please Dr. Goebbels and his cunning pals. The El Paso Herald-Post thinks, "Dan Moody would amount to something in Washington as O'Daniel does not."

DeMille's "Reap The Wild Wind" Climaxes His 30 - Year Career At The Arcadia Theatre Today

NEW FILM IN COLOR TO BE AT LOCAL THEATRE TWO DAYS

Take a lusty yarn of the roaring, roistering days when America was fighting for freedom of the seas and give Cecil B. DeMille the starting gun to make a super epic of it and what have you got? "Reap the Wild Wind" no less, and it's due at 7 a. m. at the Arcadia Theatre.

This broad and sweeping tale, told in Technicolor, of Charleston and Key West in the 1840's of the relentless hurricanes of the Caribbean and lawless captains who wrecked all ships for gold, has Paulette Goddard as its spitfire heroine. Ray Milland is the hero and John Wayne is the seafaring man who loves and loses.

Given stars like this, plus such supporting players as Raymond Massey, Lynne Overman, Robert Preston, Susan Hayward, Charles Bickford, Martha O'Driscoll, Louise Beavers, Janet Beecher and Walter Hampden, all under the inspired direction of DeMille, the picture cannot help being the best event of the cinema season.

Triumph for DeMille
"Reap the Wild Wind" was by way of being a challenge to DeMille. It's his 66th picture since he first directed "The Squaw Man" thirty years ago in a Hollywood barn. That was the first Paramount film. Between then and now DeMille has become the undisputed master of movie magic, the greatest producer-director in the business. Such pictures as "King of Kings," "Cleopatra," "Union Pacific," "North West Mounted Police" have made him a legend. The "DeMille touch" is a synonym for prodigious canvases splashed with a prodigal brush.

With "Reap the Wild Wind" Paramount and DeMille jointly celebrate their 30th anniversary. DeMille feels he has met the challenge and made the greatest picture of his career. This would seem to be amply attested by the film itself, and by its record-smashing showings in many of the nation's leading theatres.

"Reap the Wild Wind" tells its gaudy story against a broad and gaudy background. It's all the same to DeMille whether he's directing high jinks in an 1840 Charleston salon or a climactic fatality deep battle between Milland, Wayne and a 60-foot giant squid. He leads every scene with theatrical qualities.

Squid Is Terrific
Incidentally, those who have seen the famous underwater fight sequences pronounce them the most unusual ever seen in a motion picture. DeMille himself donned a diver's garb and descended into a million-gallon tank to direct the players.

Spectacular scenes of storms and wrecks on the sharp and jagged shoals of Key West, thrilling fist fights, high adventure and romance fill this big production.

Thelma Strabel Story
"Reap the Wild Wind" was made from a Saturday Evening Post story by Thelma Strabel, adapted for the screen by Alan Le May, Charles Bennett and Jesse Lasky, Jr. DeMille describes his treatment of the Strabel yarn as a "free adaptation" and that shouldn't worry any one. When the Old Master tampers with a fire it's only to make it burn the brighter.

Incidentally, Miss Goddard's performance as Loxi Claiborne, the fire-eating Southern belle who darts dungarees to fight the raging sea, has been acclaimed as by far her greatest characterization. Milland and Wayne excel in their roles and their battle with the giant squid is a sight to behold. Raymond Massey, as the dispossessed villain ever created by DeMille, plays King Cutler, cynical, cold-blooded boss of the pirates. There's not a single redeeming feature about him. He even kills his own brother with a derringer.

Pension Lists Still Growing

AUSTIN, Tex. — (Sp1) — Old Age Assistance rolls continued their steady climb with announcement today by the State Department of Public Welfare that 176,413 aged persons would receive a total of $3,509,163,900 in July. This is a gain of 1,495 over the June rolls. While grants range from $5 to $30, the July average grant is $19.78. Total disbursements in July will be an increase of $56,643.00 over that distributed in June.

This month a total of 17,442 families with 36,240 children will receive $358,225.00 payments averaging $20.54 per family. This is an increase of 2,292 recipients and $45,681.00 in cost of the program over the previous month. The maximum grant for a family with one child is $16.00; for a family with two or more children it is $24. These low maxima, set by the Texas constitution, account for the fact that 95 per cent of all grants to dependent children families are for the maximum amounts.

A total of $75,703.00 will be distributed to 3,293 blind persons in average grants of $22.98 this month. This is a net increase of 149 blind recipients over June.

Comforts Are To Become Easier With A "Ceiling"

Necessary wartime conservation of those many "creature comforts" on which American households have come to depend, has become an easier task since the placing of ceiling prices on the services rendered by those whose business it is to keep such things in usable condition.

Since July 1, repairs on a squealing radio, a burned out electric iron, or a bent fender can cost no more than they did in March. Alterations to make last year's fur coat fit like this year's mending of a knee-to-ankle runner in a silk stocking... Dyeing that faded suit—such conservation jobs can be planned with the knowledge that the price for the work is controlled by this newest phase of the price control regulation.

Already wartime restrictions have put some commodities out of existence and have made others scarce and hard to get. More of these things which Americans have long considered indispensable are due to join the list.

Since replacements are out of the question, every day it becomes more and more essential for families to keep in good condition and in running order those things which they already own; and placing of price ceilings on services makes it possible to preserve and conserve commodities now in use at prices which cannot rise higher for the duration of the war.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD

By William Ferguson

THE ANCIENTS HAD DEFINITE IDEAS OF THE DISTANCE FROM HEAVEN TO THE EARTH! THE LEARNED HESIOD, IN ORDER TO GIVE PEOPLE A MORE CLEAR CONCEPTION OF THE DISTANCE, FIGURED OUT THAT AN ANVIL DROPPED FROM THE SKY, ON HEAVEN, WOULD REQUIRE AVERAGE 44 1/2 DAYS TO REACH THE EARTH.

Next: The world's most numerous fish. out of the clothing picture, all on or renovate the clothes of those these services, which alter, fresh fabrics now hanging in the closet are of vital importance. Dry cleaning, dyeing, pressing, hand-striking, re-weaving and mending—these are the services which are going to help prevent clothing loss, and on those services price ceilings now prevail.

Shoe repairing and shining, hat cleaning and blocking, glove cleaning and mending, jewelry repair—The price control regulation also covers these services, making it easy to keep accessories in apple pie order and keep the budget in order, too.

Iron, steel, copper, brass, lead, chrome—they are all vital to the production of war material. That's why preservation of toasters, vacuum cleaners, washing machines, sewing machines, lawn mowers, automobiles, bicycles, and scores of other family essentials is so important. And with price ceilings on repairs in effect, these things can be preserved at reasonable cost, and the household routine kept intact despite wartime restrictions.

Bringing commodity services under the regulation of price control is just one more step in stabilizing war time living costs. Already a drop in these costs has been felt as a result of that phase of price control which on May 18 brought under ceilings most of the food we eat, the clothes we wear, the commodities we use in our homes. It is now possible for the family treasurer to budget the family income with a far greater degree of accuracy than formerly and with assurance that this budget will not have to be re-made periodically because of radically rising prices.

Although prices on commodity services cannot rise above the ceilings established on rail 1, it is possible for some of these new ceiling prices to be higher than the prices charged for the same work before July 1st. Ceiling prices are determined by the highest price charged by each repair shop for the same similar work in March, 1942. If prices dropped after March, it is perfectly legal for a service establishment to quote a ceiling price higher than the price charged just prior to the placing of the ceilings. It is quite legal, too, for different ceiling prices to be in effect in shops for the same work, as it is the March price in each individual establishment which determines the ceiling for that establishment.
