Lamar Bridge Marks Site On Which A Famous Texan Stood To Pick Site Now Occupied By The State Capitol

By GORDON K. SHEARER

United Press Staff Correspondent AUSTIN, Tex. —President Mirabeau B. Lamar of the Republic of Texas stood almost on the site of Lamar Bridge crossing the Colorado River when he recommended Austin for capital of the Republic.

Lamar Bridge was opened July 15, with many of the descendants and relatives of Mirabeau B. Lamar attending. The bridge connects Shoal Creek Boulevard (renamed Lamar Boulevard) with the Fredericksburg Road, and it was recalled at the bridge opening that President Lamar had spent the night at the cabin of Jake Harrell at the mouth of Shoal Creek before designating Austin as the "seat of future empire."

Lamar at the time was on a buffalo hunt with his secretary and a party of Texas Rangers. After the night with Harrell, they found Buffalo all about them in the morning. On horseback they chased the buffaloes, following them into a trail that now is Congress Avenue, Austin.

Herbert Pickens Gambrell in his life of Mirabeau Buonaparte Lamar, whom he calls "troubled and a crusader," relates that after the hunt, Lamar walked to the top of the hill, gazed at the valley below, the mountains up the river, and the charming view to the south and exclaimed: "Gentlemen, this should be the seat of future empire."

When Lamar became president shortly after, a commission was appointed to select a capital site. Lamar suggested they go to Jake Harrell's cabin and look carefully at that area. They did and Austin was selected. It then was known as Waterloo.

Lamar, apparently, had a penchant for hills. A lithograph of 1840 shows the first capital building erected on a hill west of Congress Avenue, approximately where Austin's Municipal Building now stands.

Lamar's residence was on another hill, east of Congress Avenue, now occupied by St. Mary's School. Another attractive hill site was selected for the French Embassy.

The French influence then was strong in Texas. Lamar, however, was not French. He was in the sixth generation of the family to live in America, as settlers in Virginia and residents of Maryland and Georgia.

Gambrell says that Lamar's given names were picked by an uncle, Zachariah, who had named other boy members of the family, Muecus, Quintus Cincinnatus, Jefferson Jackson, Thomas Randolph, and Lavoisier Legrand.

Lamar was probably the most scholarly of the men who established the Republic of Texas and his first message to Congress recommended land grants for the University of Texas.

Part of the message is printed on University publication as a frontpiece: "Cultivated mind is the guardian genius of Democracy and while guided and controlled by virtue, the noblest attribute of security which freemen desire."

Lamar County, of course, takes its name from President Lamar. Quite a number of his descendants and relatives live in Texas today. Among those invited by the Daughters of the Republic of Texas to the bridge opening were: Mrs. E. H. J. Andrews, of League City; Mrs. Mary Estes, San Antonio; Mrs. Tom Nelson, Round Rock; A. F. Lamar and A. Osborne, Austin; Lavoisier Lamar and Lucius Lamar, San Antonio.

All Wages Should Be Recorded On Quarterly SS Report

ABILENE, Tex. —All wages paid for services rendered, regardless of the length of time involved should be reported on the regular quarterly Social Security tax returns, Mr. W. O. King, manager of the Abilene office of the Social Security Board, announced today.

The announcement was made to correct the false impression of many employers that work of a short duration need not be reported.

"Temporary, part-time, intermittent, or casual labor, which is in the course of an employer's trade or business should be reported, even though the amount of wages involved is small," King said. "Employers should record the name and Social Security account number of such worker, and the required information should be reported the same as that for regular employees who work steadily for one employer."

Mr. King added that night watchmen, janitors, and others who may be employed by several firms at the same time are entitled to the old-age and survivors insurance benefits which are provided by the Social Security Act. The benefits are computed on the basis of the total wages received from all employers who are covered by the Social Security Act.

Music Building At University To Be Opened Nov. 8

AUSTIN, Tex. —Dedication ceremonies for the University of Texas' new $475,000 music building—scheduled for the week of November 8-15—will be the occasion for a seven-day "concert season," Dr. E. W. Doty, dean of the College of Fine Arts, has announced.

Musicians of the entire state and directors of music from ten or 12 Midwestern colleges will be invited to attend. One of the outstanding attractions will be several concerts by the Roth String Quartette, Dean Doty said.

STASSEN PLANS AID TO SOLDIER AFTER THE WAR

By JOHN KELLY

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — The state of Minnesota is preparing to provide financial aid for its soldiers when they return from the war.

To be eligible for this advanced training, applicants must have at least a private pilot's certificate with approximately 100 hours flying time and be technically qualified to take either the civilian cross country course or instructor's course. Applicants should have at least a high school education. Preference will be given those under 32 years old, it was pointed out by Lieutenant-Commander L. C. Priestman, senior member of the Naval Aviation Cadet Selection Board, where application should be made.

Qualified applicants are originally commissioned on a probationary status and immediately assigned to an advanced Civilian Pilot Training course. Upon completion of the subsequent instruction they are commissioned with appropriate rank in Class A-V (T) of the Naval Reserve.

Applicants who do not successfully complete the training may apply for any other commissioned branch or enlisted grade for which they may be qualified.

While taking civilian training, applicants are furnished subsistence, quarters and transportation to and from the airport and are required to devote their full time to the training.

It was pointed out that applicants for a A-V(T) commission who already have the necessary flying qualifications do not take civilian training but are commissioned from civilian life and assigned to "refresher" training at one of the principal Naval air stations.

Stassen predicted that some form of Federal grant, probably a bonus, eventually would be made to soldiers after the war, but he said there probably would be a time lag between the soldier's return and the time the Federal grant would be made available.

The state fund, he said, would be used to provide an educational training program through which training in the respective branches of the service could be adapted to civilian pursuits while provision likewise would be made to grant special farm loans, special re-employment bureaus, and to provide transportation to employment areas.

"Disbursement of funds, if the program is approved by the legislature," Stassen said, "would rest largely at the discretion of the administrative commission."

Hand Made Nails Become Souvenirs

AUSTIN, Tex. —Many people for the first time saw a hand hammered square nail when wood floors in the fourth floor of the state capitol were torn up as a part of plans to make the old capitol less likely to go up in fire some day.

The nails, in common use a half century ago when the capitol was built, were taken as souvenirs by many visitors to the souvenir.

Civilian Pilots Can Take Up New Training Program

NEW ORLEANS, La. —Civilian airplane pilots who are not eligible for Naval Aviation Cadet Training because of age or marital status may now take advanced civilian pilot training to qualify for commissions in Class A-V (T) of the Naval Reserve, the Navy announced today.

To be eligible for this advanced training, applicants must have at least a private pilot's certificate with approximately 100 hours flying time and be technically qualified to take either the civilian cross country course or instructor's course. Applicants should have at least a high school education. Preference will be given those under 32 years old, it was pointed out by Lieutenant-Commander L. C. Age Limit For V-1 Program Is Being Increased

NEW ORLEANS, La. —The maximum age limit for students enrolling in the Navy's V-1 program has been raised to 26 years, it was announced today by the Eighth Naval District Public Relations Office. The top age limit previously was 20 years. This means that many college sophomores and freshmen will have the opportunity of becoming Naval officers whereas in the past they were unable to qualify because of being over the age limitation. The minimum age limit is 17.

The V-1 program of the Office of Naval Officer Procurement, offers college sophomores and freshmen the opportunity to serve their country by enlisting in the Naval Reserve provided they meet the qualifications.

The student is allowed to continue his course in college at least through his sophomore year and if he desires, through the entire four years of college when he will then receive training leading to a commission as an Ensign with deck engineering duties provided he is in good standing. To qualify for commissions in Class A-V actual training after his sophomore year.

Corinth Man Is Making Money On Leghorn Flocks

According to Wyman Blair of the Corinth Community his flock of White Leghorn hens paid him during the month of June $159.27 income for his labor and investment.

Blair vaccinates his flock against fowl pox. This costs him very little and not only controls the sore head of chickens but builds up their resistant against some of the other common diseases such as roup according to County Agent Floyd Lynch.

Lynch advises all poultrymen who have had trouble in the past with an outbreak of fowl pox to vaccinate their pullets and old hens if they have not been vaccinated previously, as soon as the cockles are disposed of.

Adolph Schickelgruber, the lance corporal, is a "figurehead" in a "diabolical plot," said Bercevic.

"At the proper time they are prepared to do away with him and elevate Goering to power. Goering—the great organizer, the real power behind Hitler."

"It is a most diabolical plot, and if they pull the wool over our eyes, our freedom and everything we possess, including our lives, will be gone. If you want to know what will happen to us then notice what has happened to the people in all of the conquered countries."

Bercevic believes that five years or more will be required to win the war for the Allies.

Sob Sisters Are Called A Weakness Of The Country

BROWNWOOD, Tex. —Konrad Bercevic, teller of Gypsy tales, believes that "sob sisters" constitute America's "greatest weakness." Here for a series of lectures on European conditions to soldiers of Camp Bowie, Bercevic bitterly denounced "sob sisters" and said they will block a lasting peace for the world unless they can be silenced at the close of the war.

Bercevic recalled an interview he had with Joseph Goebbels, Nazi propaganda minister, in 1928 in which Goebbels predicted that Germany's "superior race" would conquer the United States by arraying all the various races against each other in America and letting the superior German race come out on top.

"This coup," the writer predicted, "will be attempted through a 'blitz-speech.'"

"For twenty years the Prussians have prepared their blitzkrieg, and for 20 years they have prepared for a blitz-speech."

Adolph Schickelgruber, the lance corporal, is a "figurehead" in a "diabolical plot," said Bercevic.

STASSEN PLANS AID TO SOLDIER AFTER THE WAR

By JOHN KELLY
United Press Staff Correspondent

ST. PAUL, Minn., (AP) — The state of Minnesota is preparing to provide financial aid for its soldiers when they return from the war.

State officials are considering the creation of a $10,000,000 soldier rehabilitation fund, which Gov. Harold E. Stassen said would "refit returning service men for civilian life."

The program still is in a formative stage, and it requires legislative approval. The rehabilitation proposal was outlined by Stassen as part of a 10-point program designed to prepare the state for readjustments which will be necessary in the post-war period.

"Minnesota recognizes its debt to those of its men now serving in the far corners of the world," Stassen said.

"It is the responsibility of the state to formulate a program which will aid returning soldiers to start again in civilian life with the minimum of disruption."

Under terms of the governor's proposal, the fund would be financed from the state's general revenue reserves and administered by a special commission authorized to make loans or outright grants in aid of individual cases.

"It is essential that the administration of the fund be flexible, and that the type and amount of aid granted vary with the individual need," Stassen said.

"And it is especially important that such aid be immediately available upon the soldier's return in order that there be no extended period of dislocation."

Stassen predicted that some form of Federal grant, probably a bonus, eventually would be made to soldiers after the war, but he said there probably would be a time lag between the soldier's return and the time the Federal grant would be made available.

The state fund, he said, would be a bridge between the time the soldier leaves the army and the time Federal funds will be available.

Resources of the state fund, he said, would be used to provide an educational training program through which training in the respective branches of the service could be adapted to civilian pursuits while provision likewise would be made to grant special farm loans, special re-employment bureaus, and to provide transportation to employment areas.

"Disbursement of funds, if the program is approved by the legislature," Stassen said, "would rest largely at the discretion of the administrative commission."

Their Own Petard

The story of occupied Europe's gallant resistance to Nazi oppression, pieced together by the Office of Facts and Figures in "The Unconquered People," emphasizes anew how deeply the love of liberty has engraved itself in the human heart.

Truly, there are things they can't do to us who have known what it was to be free.

Under the iron heel of the most sadistic military power of modern times, with death for self and loved ones the price of any mistake, the people of France and Holland, Norway and Greece, Serbia and Belgium, Czechoslovakia and Poland achieve telling sabotage against their Nazi conquerors.

Even the few highlights which trickle through rigid censorship demonstrate that the Liberty Front is acquiring more than a token nuisance value.

The ever more drastic measures which Hitler and Himmler are taking against such underground activities proves that these experts in fifth columning recognize the importance of the Liberty Front.

When Lieut.-Col. Holtz was killed last October by patriots in Nantes, the Gestapo shot 50 Frenchmen in reprisal.

When an S. S. (police) official was killed at Waer in December, every fifth Polish male in the village was shot—a total of 167.

When Reinhard Heydrich, the butcher, was killed in Prague last month, more than 800 Czechs were slain in vengeance.

These were not punitive executions of murderers, actual or alleged. They were frankly preventive orgies, designed to stomp patriotic resistance by making the price unbearably high—by assuring brave Frenchmen, Poles, Czechs, who might place no value upon their own lives, that any act against the Nazis would bring death to hundreds of innocents.

Such horrible repressive measures have proven futile. Resistance continues and increases. Having conquered most of the European continent, Herr Hitler has a deadly bear by the tail, and it has become equally disastrous for him to hang on or to let go.

The Nazis know how fatal an active fifth column can be. They used such to win almost bloodlessly over most of their neighbors. Now the shoe is on the other foot. They are becoming victims of their own methods.

When Nazism falls, the Liberty Front will deserve a big share of credit.

Saying a person is one of your oldest friends may not be a compliment.

Sitting In On The Second-Front Talks

Says Children Are Dependable In War Emergency

By CORINNE HARDESTY
New York Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK—Irene Wicker, who as radio's singing lady has entertained thousands of children in peace time, said today the best way to handle youngsters in the excitement of war is to give them something to do.

Miss Wicker, who has been amusing children and grown-ups since she was 12 when she played in summer stock, recently augmented her experience in dealing with the young with courses in child psychology and day nursery routine.

"It has been shown through studies made on children in war areas," Miss Wicker said, as she sat in her sunny apartment relating her experience in settlement house work where she put her talents to wartime uses, "that children rapidly mature in wartime.

"The best thing to do, to keep them from going to pieces from emotional strain, so many children did in England under the early bombings, is to give them small tasks to work at."

Miss Wicker said the smallest child in the settlement was given some chore, even if it was nothing more than bringing a candle to blackout drill.

"One five year old boy was delighted to be a salvage worker."

Miss Wicker related "He collected twice as much rubber as some of the adults, and he insisted on being paid his penny for every pound of it."

"Children in wartime tire of their usual games. They don't want to play blind man's bluff. They want to learn elementary first aid. The older ones enjoy learning how to help the younger ones."

Miss Wicker said she belongs to the school of thought that believes in explaining war dangers to children, but not frightening them.

"Children can be given courage and taught to take care of themselves," she said "if adults explain the dangers of war emergencies without frightening the wits out of the little ones.

"Many times the young are more dependable in an emergency than older people. They are nearly always clear thinkers because they are not inhibited by a lot of old thought patterns."

Miss Wicker taught a settlement house group a number of songs and stories to use in amusing younger children during raids or blackouts.

"The children like best the familiar stories," she said, "such as Jack and the Beanstalk, Sleeping Beauty and Snow White. We also taught them many singing games."

Miss Wicker pointed out that "blackout made in England, of separating children from parents, should be avoided. She said day nurseries which keep children near their parents, working in war industries, was the course being followed in England now and the one to be used here.

Teaching Called Primary Duty Of Junior Colleges

AUSTIN, Tex.—Teaching, not research, is the primary duty of junior colleges, believe members of a conference course in junior college education at the University of Texas.

The conference group recently completed its work, and announced the result of its study in a "Junior College Credo for the Southwest." Among the recommendations in this report were suggested improvements in training of junior college instructors and administrators, continued state financial aid for junior colleges, and an expanded curriculum.

The junior college, the conferees declared, should offer general education to meet the problems of democratic education, vocational training for students who will not carry their education beyond the sophomore years, and adult education for the betterment of the community.

There were 34 participants in the conference, which was led by Walter C. Eells, executive secretary of the American Association of Junior colleges.

Among the participants in the course was Miss Gladys Louise Maddocks, instructor in commercial subjects at Ranger Junior College.

STORK FOOLS SERGEANT SANTA ANA, Cal. (UP)—Technical Sergeant John Weber exhausted a three-day leave of absence while waiting for the stork to report at the San Jose hospital, where his wife was confined. He returned to his post, only to receive a telephone call upon arrival from San Jose that the overdue stork had arrived with a six-pound bundle. He was granted a new leave.

To the Voters of Eastland County:

It is with much pleasure that I again thank you for the past favors and the many kind words spoken in my behalf during my campaign for County Superintendent.
If I am selected I promise you that I shall strive with all my power to establish in this county a system of affiliated high schools unexcelled. I believe such system can and will be established conveniently and economically located where every child can be given the maximum instruction at the least expense. Every school should be given its own freedom of action where our children can be taught how to live and how to make a living.
Vote for me for County Superintendent and I'll do my best to make you glad.
Thanks a lot, folks.

Vote For W. S. ADAMSON For County Judge

In offering myself as a candidate for re-election to the Office of County Judge I want to thank each and every voter for the support they have given me in the past, for which I am deeply grateful.

On account of urgent county business in my office and the rationing of tires and campaign to conserve rubber, it has been impossible for me to see each voter personally and I hope you will take this message as a personal solicitation for your vote.

Our nation is in a horrible war, the next two years will probably be the most critical in county affairs that Eastland County has ever experienced, you should have a county judge of experience and mature judgment to meet the difficult and perplexing problems that will arise, one who has proven himself qualified in the handling of county affairs.

As your county judge I have reduced the tax rate .20 on the $100.00 valuation, saving the tax payers of Eastland County $40,000.00 a year. I have assisted in securing W. P. A. projects that have brought into Eastland County approximately $400,000.00 a year. I was instrumental in securing the Food Stamp Plan for Eastland County and since its installation $225,117.00 in free blue stamps have been issued to the needy citizens of Eastland County and has increased the business of the merchants of Eastland County this amount.

Eastland County has never had a county judge who has been more faithful or diligent in looking after the county's business than your present county judge.

No one will appreciate your vote more than I, and if re-elected I promise you that same faithful, honest and dependable service that I have given you in the past.

Very sincerely,

State-Wide Model Plane Contest Is Planned On Aug. 9

By United Press
CORPUS CHRISTI —The sixth annual Corpus Christi state-wide model airplane contest, sanctioned by the Academy of Model Aeronautics, model division of the National Aeronautical Association, and the Southwest Gas Model Association, will be held at Naval Air Station Field No. 21, approximately 13 miles southwest of Corpus Christi.

The contest, which has attracted 125 contestants in previous years, is tentatively scheduled for August 19.

President Buck Guion of the Corpus Christi Gulls Club said that the navy had granted permission for the model contest to be held at the NAS outlying field.

Possibility that the U. S. Navy will present an aerial show was also divulged by Guion at a meeting of the Gulls Club. Navy officials also gave assurance that the Naval Air Station will be represented by personnel to handle the crowd and to exhibit Navy equipment.

The club already has posted the $25 surety bond with the SWGMA to permit holding the contest on the date scheduled.

Charles Bobo Has Statement About Making His Race

Charles Bobo, candidate for Justice of the Peace, has issued the following statement to the voters of Justice Precinct No. 2:

"In seeking the nomination to the office of Justice of the Peace, Precinct No. 2, Eastland County, it has not been possible for me to leave my business and make personal contact with all the voters, much as I would have enjoyed meeting each of you.

I feel that most of you know me, since Ranger has been my home for more years than I should like to say. Having been in business at the same location for the past twenty five years.

If you have any desire to know of my qualifications, ask your neighbor. For I am content to rest my candidacy in the hands of your neighbor and mine.

My desire is that all who may read this, will take it as a personal solicitation of your vote.

I promise only, to serve you to the best of my ability; with fairness and justice to all, and partiality to none.

CHARLES BOBO.

Fire Department Is Called Out When A Vacant House Burns

The Ranger Fire Department answered an alarm Wednesday evening, when fire was discovered in a burned vacant house in Hodges Oak Park.

Patrolman Johnny Boyd turned in the alarm, and but one truck responded to the call. The fire was quickly extinguished.

It was believed that boys, playing in the shell of the burned house, had accidentally set it afire. No additional damage to the house was reported.

Beauford Jester Closes Campaign In His Home Town

CORSICANA, Tex. July 23.—Confident that he will be far in the lead of the ticket in the race for the unexpired term of Railroad Commissioner, Beauford Jester will close his campaign in his home town of Corsicana Friday night. His address will be broadcast on a state wide radio hook-up at 8:45 o'clock.

"I am grateful for the loyal support of my thousands of friends throughout Texas in my first campaign for public office," Mr. Jester told a Fort Worth meeting today. "I have traveled all over Texas in the last few weeks and the people of this state are fully in support of my program for the administration of the railroad commissioner's office, which includes the protection of the interests of the consumers of oil and gasoline and the patrons of public utilities and transportation facilities in Texas. I am pledged to look out for the consumer's interests as a member of the railroad commission, and by the consumers I mean every single person in the State of Texas."

Beauford Jester, who fought in France with the 90th Division during the first world war, stressed the fact that the railroad commission of Texas has a most important part to play in this nation's united war effort, since production and proper transportation of war munitions and supplies—vital to winning the war—are regulated by the commission. Mr. Jester also promises that when he is a member of the railroad commission that there will be no secret or closed sessions—all meetings will be open to the public. He also favors the immediate consideration of plans for the post war adjustments which will come to the oil business, the public utilities and transportation in Texas when peace is declared, and this includes taking care of the fighting men of Texas when they return from the battle front and seeing to it that they are restored to the jobs which they left to serve their country. Mr. Jester, well-known attorney and former member of the Board of Regents, is well acquainted with business problems of the state railroad commission and transportation and oil problem.

Remember to vote for Omar Burkett For State Representative, 107th District.

Due to the rubber shortage it will be impossible for me to see each and every one of you to solicit your vote.

I will greatly appreciate your vote and influence in Saturday's election.

G. J. MOORE

Candidate
CONSTABLE
Precinct No. 2

To The Voters of Precinct No. 2

There have been rumors started in Ranger that I have quit the race for constable of this precinct, and even that I have secured a position in California, and that I am leaving Ranger soon.

These rumors are both unfounded, and I am staying in the race to let the voters decide who will be their next constable, and am also staying right here in Ranger.

Since the time is too short for me to see all the voters in the precinct I am taking this method of letting them know the truth about my race for constable.

I have conducted a clean campaign since my announcement for the office first appeared, and am willing to let the decision rest with the voters. I earnestly solicit your support and your vote in the election Saturday, and will do everything in my power, if elected, to make the best constable Ranger has ever had.

LUKE HARDIN.

HEROES ARE MADE--NOT BORN

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Service Washington Correspondent

THERE'S an amazing, knock-down, show-down fight being waged behind the scenes in Congress these days. Its outcome will determine for the time-being who has the most influence in shaping the wartime farm policies of this country--the U. S. Department of Agriculture or the American Farm Bureau Federation, most potent of the big farmer organizations.

Edson

The issue over which the battle is being fought is whether the U. S. government, through its Commodity Credit Corporation, shall be permitted to sell some of its grain at less than parity prices. The idea behind wanting to sell the grain at less than parity, which is backed by Secretary Wickard and the Department of Agriculture, is that this surplus grain should be used to feed poultry and livestock, thus increasing the production of meats, dairy and poultry products needed in wartime not only for U. S. troops, but for the armies and civilian populations of the United Nations as well. If this surplus grain has to be sold at parity, or above, it means that meat, dairy and poultry prices, most of which are already well above parity, will go even higher. The Department of Agriculture, anxious to hold down the cost of these foods, seriously concerned over how the big crops of grain to be harvested this year are to be stored on top of the surpluses already bursting the seams of every elevator and corn crib in the land, thinks some of this surplus grain should be sold below parity.

TO find the Department of Agriculture new backing the Farm Bureau Federation is therefore significant. As far as the Farm Bureau is concerned, it has to keep on fighting for parity, or pass out of the picture. The Washington lobbyists and the leaders of the Federation simply couldn't hold their jobs if they tried to sell the membership on a "look-see-hat-we-did-for-you-last-year" basis.

But the question arises as to whether the Farm Bureau leaders, President Ed O'Neal of Alabama and Vice President Karl G. Smith of Illinois, and real boss of the Federation, may not be foundering themselves on this issue. Assurance is supposed to have been given that a presidential veto would be forthcoming if Congress should pass a bill preventing sale of surplus grain at below-parity prices for feed or the production of grain alcohol. Either way--whether Congress or the President takes the responsibility for permitting below-parity sales--the Farm Bureau chieftains stand to be discredited before their membership. But don't sell 'em short, Ed O'Neal, who is the backslapping fier with the cotton bloc, and Karl Smith, who represents the corn and wheat men and is the brains of the team, both pack more weight in Washington than John L. Lewis ever did.

Just what is this American Farm Bureau Federation and how does it get that way? Conservatively speaking, it is the most powerful lobby in Washington and likes to think it calls the signals for the legislative end of the government and that it is in a position to dictate policy to the Department of Agriculture. This isn't so surprising. Secretary Wickard, Clifford Townsend, director of agricultural defense relations, and other big shots in the Department were members of the Federation even before they came to Washington. The Department and the Federation have fought and slayed side by side for establishment of the parity principle. In about 15 mid-western farm states, the Federation actively contributes to the support of the county agent system and has semi-official standing under the laws of these states, going back to the days when the county agents were first being established. And as far as Congress is concerned, this is an election year.

If you see fit to elect me as your sheriff next Saturday, I promise to cause you no reason to regret it, and I shall be grateful for your confidence thus expressed. Cordially Yours, JOHN C. BARBER.

RESCUE AND REUNION
CHAPTER XIV

A FAINT hope, or perhaps only a sorrowful curiosity, prompted Clyde Dawson to telephone the port commander who had told him of Carole Fiske's disappearance aboard the torpedoed steamer Fort Glengarry.

barely escaped it himself with only the fatalistic second thought that it was part of his job. But Carole Fiske . . . pert, keen-witted, smartly dressed . . . her moments of quiet concern about Darwin Lemoy . . . Carole Fiske, out there in the blizzard-blown Atlantic graveyard in the dark of night. . . And all because he had played the cagey, cocksure investigator too long. A word from him and she would have still been here.

eyes met her burning stare frankly--"dead. But he was a very brave man and, whatever his past connections, he did your country and mine a great service. There are heroes who die in unglamorous settings, but they are heroes nonetheless. You see, Carole, I, too, liked Darwin very much. . . ."

"Captain," he said, "I recall that the girl I'm hunting was given accommodation in a cabin with an officer's wife. Can you tell me where I could find this rescued woman?"

Dawson's aimless steps had led him back to the Newfoundland Hotel. Wearily he mounted the circular stairway to the main lobby. As he passed the desk the clerk halted him.

There is a kindness about you story of bringing this awful news that has taken away a lot of its sting. I always felt guilty about the night in Chicago when you were almost shot . . . they overheard my phone call to you on the extension and forced me to go with them."

"She was brought to the St. John's General Hospital," the naval officer replies. "Let me call the hospital and find out if she is able to see you. I'll ring you back."

"The girl?" Dawson's voice was tense.

"You are so different now. There is a kindness about you story of bringing this awful news that has taken away a lot of its sting. I always felt guilty about the night in Chicago when you were almost shot . . . they overheard my phone call to you on the extension and forced me to go with them."

With permission of the head doctor, the commander arranged a short interview with the surviving woman passenger. Dawson found her waiting for him in the sun porch. Waiting only to congratulate her on being saved, he asked if she knew Carole Fiske.

"Yes, she shared the cabin with me . . . in fact--the woman's voice lowered to a whisper--"I wouldn't be alive if it wasn't for Carole Fiske. When the torpedo hit I was asleep in my bunk . . . the horrible crash woke me, and the next moment the ship listed heavily to starboard. It was terrible . . . the lighting system was destroyed and the portholes were sealed for blackout, so we were in utter darkness. I heard people screaming, then I must have fainted . . . I have a bad heart anyway."

"What shall I do now? Will they let me go back . . . should I see . . ."

Ten Per Cent Of Nation Makes A Living On Cotton

AUSTIN, Tex. Almost 10 per cent of the nation's entire employed population owes its livelihood to the cotton industry--its production, processing and distribution--declares a University of Texas cotton expert.

Dr. A. B. Cox, director of the University's Bureau of Business Research, estimates that approximately 5,000,000 persons are employed in agriculture or industry or commerce dealing with cotton. Approximately 2,500,000 are employed in cotton production or in various kinds of cotton or cottonseed manufacture, with perhaps another 1,500,000 engaged in service and manufacturing industries dependent upon the cotton industry, he said.

He listed a few of these employment figures as follows: ginning--more than 80,000 workers; compressing and warehousing--16,000; merchandising of cotton to mills--10,000; manufacture of yarn and cloth from cotton--525,000; knitting of goods from cotton yarn--95,000; cotton dress goods industries--450,000; miscellaneous cotton goods industries--50,000; cottonseed crushing mills--19,000; processing of products from crushing mills--25,000; mattress factories--25,000; financing, insuring and transportation of cotton and its products--50,000.

To Citizens of Ranger and Eastland County
I will appreciate your VOTE and INFLUENCE for the office of County Judge, Saturday. You know my qualifications and my record of public service is an open book. I am sufficiently EXPERIENCED in County and state affairs to render a good service as County Judge, and I CAN and WILL save the taxpayers money in administering the affairs of this office and the County's business, and will make regular reports to the people, through the press and otherwise of such savings.
Sincerely,

TO THE VOTERS OF EASTLAND COUNTY
Next Saturday the voters of Eastland County will be called upon to express their preference as to who will serve them as their sheriff during the coming two years beginning January the first. As a candidate in this race, I desire to express my deep appreciation for the words of encouragement and confidence that many of you have expressed when I met you personally. Some of you were not at home when I called so all I could do was leave my card. Our government's curb on the purchase of tires has been a big factor as candidates for offices are no exception to the rule, when it comes to buying these necessities, therefore if I have not seen you personally do not hold this against me as I have tried my best. As I have stated, this is my first time to ask for any public office. I have been working among many of you for the past six years buying your cattle, mules, horses and other livestock.
I am a native Texan, 51 years of age, am married and have four children. I have tried to conduct my personal life and affairs in a manner that would not be a discredit to my family or my friends. I have had experience in dealing with the public to the extent that

Flashing Signal from Canadian Destroyer

Placed by Censor
HIGH on the "upper" bridge of a Canadian destroyer, the captain watches a signalman flash a message to another ship in the anchorage. In the Battle of the Atlantic Canadian fighting sailors and Canadian ships are taking part in every important engagement, side by side with their sister ships of the United Nations fleets. In addition, the Royal Canadian Navy is conveying food and material, patrolling vast shorelines stretching into the Arctic. The new Royal Canadian Naval College, opening in October will train hundreds of young officers for the swiftly growing navy. The shipbuilding industry, composed of 17 major yards and 58 smaller boatyards employs more than 40,000 men. More than 150 of 10,000-ton cruisers are on order. Smaller 5,000-ton vessels on order total 18. Keels for more than 50 merchant ships have been laid. These, of course, are in addition to the several hundred naval vessels built and in course of construction, which include corvettes, minesweepers, patrol boats, base ships and a number of heavy destroyers.

Mrs. H. T. Fleming of Abilene, Mrs. J. H. Sively of Shreveport, La., and Mrs. T. F. Roberts of Abilene are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Dalton.

Gerald Calvert of San Antonio, formerly of Ranger, visited here Wednesday.

HORSE SENSE

Eastland County is blessed with good schools and good colleges. Now Eastland County has, in addition to good high schools and good junior colleges, a good business college for a student to follow in a good business course, then attend an institution of higher learning or take a position.

They usually run out of money after one, two or three years in college and have to attend a business college at last or take a job on a level with the untrained. Some, after getting a college degree, work at menial tasks or take a business course in order to get a better job.

The logical thing to do is finish high school, follow that with one year in a good business college, then attend college or university. After a business course the college student can take notes of the college lectures, transcribe them on the typewriter, thereby saving time besides making a better grade from neat typed lessons submitted to the teacher.

Boy Scouts Are Back From Camp

Troop 12 of Ranger returned home Wednesday after staying a week at Camp Billy Gibbons, 70 miles west of Brownwood. The boys received seven advancements along with nine merit badges. The troop also won first place in Class B Campers.

Several Scouts of the troop received diplomas in rifle and pro-marksman and also marksman. To receive these advancements a boy must shoot 55 consecutive times at 11 targets. The score for pro-marksman must be at least 20 on each target. For marksman the score on each target must be at least 25 to be shot at a distance of 50 feet.

Ever Figure What Your Family Is Worth To You?

Who probably don't think the members of your family can be weighed like sugar or salt, but you must have a pretty high value for each and every one of them. Well, how much are you worth to them—alive, working, and as their provider? Should the unexpected happen, how much would you be worth to them? Now is a good time to discuss this matter.

Trouble Begins Back in the GAS TANK

A good percentage of all motor ailments can be traced to your gas tank. If you've been burning low-quality gas, it's no wonder you're not getting top performance. Why not try a tank full of Texaco Gas and find out what real performance is?

CAR CONSERVATION TIPS HIGH SPEEDS KILL . . . TIRES, MOTOR AND MAYBE YOU!

SO, Drive at 40 and under! High speeds not only risk your life, but also shorten tire life by half, decrease gasoline mileage and hasten the need for motor repairs that will further deplete the nation's dwindling stock of replacement parts. Observe this rule and bring your car to Western Auto Store regularly for inspection and maintenance work that keeps small disorders from becoming big repair bills. Keep your car rolling . . . efficiently, and you'll be serving the interests of your country as well as yourself.
