O'DANIEL LEADS IN COUNTY IN FIRST PRIMARY

RUNOFF IS LIKELY IN SENATORIAL RACE FOR ALLRED AND O'DANIEL

Returns At Midnight Show
Allred In Third Place

Returns from 154 of the state's 254 counties, tabulated at midnight Saturday night, indicated that a run-off appeared likely in the senatorial race between W. Lee O'Daniel and James V. Allred.

At that hour O'Daniel was in the lead with 44.4 per cent of the votes, while Allred had 34.4 per cent with Dan Moody trailing with 19.1 per cent.

Gov. Coke Stevenson had a huge majority over Hal Collins and the other lesser candidates for the office and no run-off could be necessary in this race.

John Lee Smith of Throckmorton was in the lead for lieutenant governor, with Harold S. Beck of Texarkana in second place, with Bog House running third. A run-off appeared to be likely between Smith and Beck.

Pierce Brooks had a big lead in the race for the unexpired term of railroad commissioner, with Beauford Jester in second place, and like to go into the run-off election August.

In the railroad commission race Col. Ernest O. Thompson had a big lead, and no run-off was indicated.

George H. Sheppard, controller of public accounts; Bascom Giles, state land commissioner; L. A. Woods, state superintendent of public instruction and J. E. McDonald, agricultural commissioner also appeared almost certain winners.

Dr. Boswell Goes To College Meet In Dallas Friday

G. C. Boswell attended the college meeting in Dallas Friday which was conducted by the United States Army and Navy, Coastal Guard Aviation and other phases of National Defense. Accepted colleges and these different agencies of the Government were present from Arkansas, Louisiana, New Mexico, Oklahoma, and Texas. It was an arousing meeting and the ERC was fully explained which has to do with young men who are under graduates in college.

There was no specific curriculum demanded from these agencies but they presented suggested curriculum of Mathematics, Physics and certainly the young men should be able to read and write and have a good background of American life. Special emphasis should also be given to students right examinations would be conducted at the end of the year of the sophomore year and from these examinations students may pass into the Navy V-5 program or the Navy V-7 program and into the different programs of the other agencies as well. It was pointed out that the Marines need 10,000 trained officers each year and that the Navy needs 90,000 trained officers each year and that this period of training under ERC plan would be from 19 to 27 years but students must be in college making a passing grade otherwise they would be thrown back into the different services of the nation.

It was pointed out that no representative would appear on college campus for enrollment and that students desiring to engage in this type of work would be requested to report at the nearest recruiting station and designate which college he desires to attend.

Dr. Boswell pointed out that this, according to the leading educators in Dallas Friday, was a great opportunity for young men to pursue their educational careers while at the same time be entered in the ERC of the United States. This method will afford every young man who desires to seek a college education and become trained and skilled in different activities and pursue a college education provided he is physically alert and can pass the psychological test.

Tankersley Leads For Constable In Election Saturday

At the last report received on the race for constable of precinct number two it appeared that there was a possible chance for a run-off with the contest appearing to be between Lon Tankersley and Luke Hardin.

G. J. Moore appeared to be third in the race with Shelton scoring fourth place in the race; the actual number of votes had not been returned at press time but as near as could be determined there will be a run off in the race.

Bobo Is Elected As Justice Of Peace

In the race for the justice of the peace of precinct number 2 little doubt as to the outcome of the race was held from the first report on voting.

Charles Bobo took an early lead over his opponents, Bob Hansford, and piled up a substantial majority of the votes early in the tabulation. Only two entered the race and election of Bobo was conceded before the final reports were given.

Allied Airmen Hit At Axis In Desert Fighting

By LEON KAY
United Press Staff Correspondent
By United Press

CAIRO, Egypt, July 25.—Allied air and artillery forces were reported renewing attacks on enemy front and rear lines today after a week of intense aerial operations in which the United States bombers made seven damaging raids against Axis targets in Crete and on the North African coast. Ground activity was comparatively slight yesterday, and front dispatches today indicated little important action on the line west of El Alamein. (Reports from London said the British had withdrawn from one or two secondary points gained in offensive thrusts this week because of intense Axis artillery fire, but the reports were not elaborated.)

The U. S. Air Force, under Maj. Gen. Lewis H. Brereton, announced the following operations this week: "Units of the American Air Forces carried out seven operations against Tobruke, Benghazi Harbor, Suda Bay and Crete. Observations indicated that the operations caused heavy damage to enemy docks, and port installations. Several medium sized merchant ships were left in flames. At Benghazi one large merchant vessel was set afire by a direct hit."

Soldier Injured When Army Truck Overturns On Hill

A truck in a convoy of soldiers, enroute from Camp Barkley, Abilene, to Louisiana, overturned on Thurber Hill, eight miles east of Ranger Saturday morning, and one of the 18 soldiers in the truck sustained a broken hip. None of the others in the vehicle was injured.

Edward J. Guynney, the injured soldier, was given medical treatment by Dr. P. M. Kaykendall, and then removed to the West Texas Hospital in Ranger, awaiting transportation to Camp Walters. He was later removed to the camp at Mineral Wells.

No details of how the accident happened were given. Two months to offer such courses and much publicity has been given in newspapers of the part Ranger College could play in this program.

Iranian Street Scene—U. S. Tire Shortage

Army truck tires unloaded in far-off Tehran, capital of Iran, where horse and buggy are accepted forms of transportation, help explain tire shortage in U. S. Iranian oil fields are the one goal of German drive in Soviet Russia.

REDS FIGHT BACK IN THE ROSTOV AREA

The Red Army fought back powerfully today against Axis attacks by mechanized columns, infantry and parachute troops at Rostov and along the Don River barrier guarding the Caucasus and the road to Stalingrad.

German official reports claimed that both Rostov and Novocheerkassk, 22 miles northeastward, had been captured in heavy street fighting and that a big battle was in progress for bridgeheads on the Don as the Axis armies attempted to encircle the gateway city.

The Russians said, however, that a tremendous struggle still was in progress at Rostov as the enemy reinforcements charged over "a carpet of dead" and that one German bridgehead over the lower Don had already been wiped out by a counter attack. Moscow described the entire Don front, however, as extremely grave and said that the enemy had achieved a break through in one sector against Rostov.

Dispatches from both sides seemed to make it clear that the German high command was determined to take Rostov, either by direct assault or encirclement if the Don can be forced, and to clear out the great bend of the Don River, stretching eastward to within 25 miles of Stalingrad, before launching the next major offensive phase toward the Volga or southward toward the Caucasus oil fields.

Berlin broadcasts asserted that the Don had been crossed on a broad front, apparently east of the Donets about 60 or 70 miles from Rostov, and that a furious battle was being fought to make a crossing close to Rostov in order to encircle the city.

Fighting near Rostov "is developing on a broad front," the Nazi communique said, while Axis troops to the east are near the farthest bend of the Don toward the Volga industrial center.

Russian dispatches said that the Red army was determined to "die but not retreat" in defending the Don river line, but it was still indicated that Soviet Marshal Semyon Timoshenko would avoid making an all-out battle for Rostov, which is on the north bank of the river. He was expected to force the Germans to fighting their way from street to street and from house to house, in an effort to make them pay the greatest possible price for the city, which the Russians seem to regard as untenable against a long siege.

Authorities Probe Kansas Air Crash

LEVENWORTH, Kan., July 25.—By United Press

Army authorities today investigated an airplane crash which dangerously injured a student pilot of the Netherlands Royal Air Force in training at Fort Leavenworth yesterday.

Maj. James A. Elliott, post public relations officer, said the pilot, H. E. L. Lange, was on solo flight and crashed near Tracy, Mo., about eight miles east of here. Lange was taken to the station hospital where physicians said he suffered a skull fracture, and other injuries.

Soldier Convicted Of Nazi Sympathy

CHICAGO, Ill.—In what is believed to be the first conviction for subversion within the armed forces, the Sixth Service Command announced today that a first class private in the U. S. Army had been sentenced by court martial to five years in prison for sympathy with German and Japan.

He was convicted of battle against the German offensive on the south front, smashing at enemy tank columns, supply bases and bridge heads with devastating results.

On the Egyptian front, the British forces holding a line west of El Alamein were forced to withdraw from one or two points they had taken in offensive operations this week. Dispatches said that the withdrawals were due primarily to intense enemy artillery fire.

British and American planes, meanwhile, continued their heavy attacks on the enemy front and rear, knocking out 2 Axis aircraft at El Daba airdrome alone and torpedoing an enemy supply ship enroute across the Mediterranean.

In the Far East, American Douglas B-24-A dive bombers played a prominent role in one of the most concentrated aerial attacks of the Pacific war—an all-out attack on the newly-seized Japanese base at Gona on the northeast coast of New Guinea. The Allied planes sank one transport, disabled two others, started tremendous fires at the port and forced the main Japanese convoy to flee without landing its men and supplies.

In occupied Europe, dispatches disclosed that about 15,000 to 18,000 persons had been arrested in occupied France for deportation to Eastern Siberia.

Those arrested were aliens, both Jews and Aryans, from Germany and Central European countries who had fled to France as refugees as the Nazis gained power.

In Jugoslavia and Poland, it was reported that the Germans had ordered deliberate destruction of villages in an effort to halt guerrilla warfare and that four villages in each country had been destroyed.

JAP INVASION FORCE STRUCK BY AIR ARM

United Press Staff Correspondent
Gen. MacArthur's Headquarters in Australia, July 25.—(UP)—The new Japanese invasion forces in the Buna-Gona area of New Guinea, with one transport sunk, two disabled and the others withdrawing under constant Allied air attack, nearly are cut off from retreat, an army spokesman said today.

Forty-five thousand pounds of high explosives and fire bombs—the biggest Allied operation in the entire New Guinea air war—were dropped on the Buna-Gona area yesterday in five raids. Bombers, dive-bombers and fighter planes participated. Direct hits were scored, big fires started and one anti-aircraft battery silenced.

So fierce were the attacks, according to a communique from Gen. MacArthur's headquarters, that Japanese cargo vessels were unable to unload and were forced to withdraw north, under protection of naval forces.

The sinking of the transport and the disablement of two apparently occurred on Wednesday, when the Japanese landed. It was not indicated that few, if any, Japanese ships were left in the vicinity of the new invasion, thus the invaders ashore would have to be supplied quickly or face eventual annihilation.

It may now be revealed that the dive-bombers were A-24's manufactured by Douglas, which the army adopted from the original navy design. It was the first public announcement that the Allies were using regular dive-bombers in this area.

Some 2,500 Japanese landed in the Buna-Gona area from an invasion fleet Wednesday. Port Moresby, the Major Allied base in New Guinea, is 110 miles to the south, across the Owen Stanley mountains.

The land is flat in that area and the Japanese quickly can set up airplane landing fields. Eighteen Japanese bombers, guarded by 16 fighters, attacked Port Moresby airdrome yesterday, but it was not determined whether they came from the new base, or from other Japanese-held areas. "Minor results" came of their attack, the communique said, and there were no casualties.

"Uncle" John Norton Is Critically Ill

"Uncle" John Norton, pioneer Eastland citizen who has been ill at his home for some weeks, was reported Saturday as being little improved.

"Uncle" John, who has been janitor at the County courthouse for the past thirty years or more, got sick on the job a week or so ago and was taken home. He was out only a few days and returned to work, but became ill again.

VETO IS SEEN FOR A RUBBER PLANT AGENCY

By HILLIER KRUEHBAUM
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, July 25.—

Some congressional circles believed today that president Roosevelt will veto legislation creating a separate agency to direct the manufacture of synthetic rubber from agricultural commodities.

The house completed congressional action on the bill yesterday after the protest of war production director Donald M. Nelson and sent it to the White House.

Nelson denounced the measure as "extremely dangerous" and said its provision that WEB allocate material for construction of alcohol-process synthetic plants at the direction of a $10,000-a-year director would divide authority over use of raw materials in the war effort.

During the house debate, supporters said Mr. Roosevelt would not "dare" to veto the bill, because the public agreed with the farm bloc that the alcohol process for making synthetic rubber should be used instead of WTB support of petroleum techniques.

Until today, congressional leaders said they were not at all certain what the president's attitude to the measure would be. But now, they said, indications point toward a veto, which probably could not be overridden by both houses.

A veto message, they believed, might provide an opportunity for Mr. Roosevelt to disclose his expected survey of the rubber situation by a special inquiry group or individual.

Among the matters which undoubtedly would be studied would be the necessity for establishing nationwide gasoline rationing, a program which has had wide support among officials of war agencies.

WTB officials disclosed that they had approved a 70,000-ton increase in the butyl process for making synthetic rubber which is being used by Standard Oil of New Jersey. The increase, which will involve little additional equipment beyond that originally planned for making 50,000 tons of the material, is based on a newly perfected process.

There was no indication as to what would be done with the additional 70,000 tons which was in excess of the 800,000-ton program previously approved by the WTB. It could be used, however, driving.

It might go into tires for essential by the military if needed or it might be used to produce synthetic rubber for the OPA was studying possible "drastic reduction" in the trucks eligible to obtain new tires. No final action has yet been taken, OPA officials said, but they indicated that additional groups would have to be eliminated from the present eligibles to pare down semi-luxury commercial driving and conserve tires for those trucks participating in the war effort.

Goat and Sheep Raisers To Meet Friday August 21

The Eastland County Sheep and Goat Raisers Association will hold their sheep and goat field day on Friday, August 21, at a place yet to be designated, when Dr. I. B. Broughton of the Conors Experiment Station will be one of the main speakers on the program.

Dr. Broughton will talk on Parasite Control for sheep and goats.

BATTLE CRY OF REDS SAYS NO RETREAT

By United Press
Russian troops are shouting a new battle cry: "We Shall Die, But Not Retreat."

They were getting support from their own air arm which with a small squadron of dive bombers and assault planes, had, in two sorties knocked out 30 German tanks and 190 munition and troop transports. The red air fighters the same day downed 32 Messerschmitt fighters. Ten days ago the Russians permitted disclosure that American bombing and Douglas bombers were aiding the fighting in the south. More are arriving daily.

The Luftwaffe was said to be operating in combat groups in their effort to disrupt the Soviet rear by raids on large populated points where the Red army forces might be massing such as equipment. At least one Messerschmitt fighter was accompanying each tank column or transport.

In counter attacks, the Soviet Air Force pounded the front line German Air fields where the Nazis have concentrated large units of transports and bombers before Voronezh has stiffened with the arrival of infantry, tank and artillery reinforcements, the newspaper Red Star's correspondent reported.

The enemy, thus strengthened, counterattacked behind inter-diffused artillery and mortar fire and aerial bombing, but were beaten off, Red Star said.

An especially fierce struggle progressed on the Don Crossing as the Nazis erected bridge after bridge only to have them destroyed by the accurate bombing of Soviet airmen and fire of Soviet artillery.

Their own counterattacks having failed, the Germans were reported digging in with reinforcements of anti-tank artillery in the hope of stemming the Soviet counteroffensive at the Don, the reports said.

The defenders of Rostov were said to be laying a carpet of dead Germans and wrecked tanks across the road to the Caucasus.

They Should Get Together

On the 27th day of June Capt. C. C. Poole, British army officer and M. P., was quoted by the Galveston, Tex., News as saying that enough supplies were lying idle on U. S. wharves, for lack of shipping space, to turn the tide of battle in the Middle East.

Captain Poole was on a tour of shipyards under the sponsorship of the National Maritime Commission. It is supposed that he spoke with authority.

On the 6th of July W. Averell Harriman, U. S. lease-lend administrator, was quoted in the Chicago Journal of Commerce as saying that "there is no lack of ships presently to supply our needs on all allied fronts."

Admiral Vickery of the Maritime Commission has said officially that the United Nations, as a whole, still are losing ships faster than they are being replaced.

Obviously somebody is wrong. Who is it?

The preponderance of evidence is on the side of Captain Poole and Admiral Vickery. Yet Mr. Harriman certainly occupies a position to know the truth, and there is no apparent reason for him to gloss over unpleasant facts.

Is it any wonder that the public is bewildered by such completely different stories, coming from presumably reliable experts?

We have a similar situation in connection with rubber. Elliot E. Simpson, counsel to a congressional committee, claims vehemently there is no rubber shortage—that if not a pound of natural rubber were imported and no pound of synthetic were manufactured, we could supply both military and civilian needs for five years from recapturable scrap.

Government officials subordinate experts, private rubber interests agree almost 100 per cent that the rubber shortage is so serious that we might even lose the war because of it, unless we act speedily and mercilessly against wastage.

Simpson reports that those who disagree with him are biased toward the big four companies of the rubber industry, who, he says, know there is no shortage and are seeking to preserve a monopoly by frightening the public.

The rest of the rubber fraternity dismisses Simpson as a victim of his own fancies.

Who is right? We must consider Simpson wrong. If we don't, and he really is wrong, the penalty would be too great.

But how can the public know?

Why can't the experts get together, agree on the truth, and tell it?

The latest thing in clothes is a wife keeping an appointment.

SERIAL STORY SPORTING BLOOD BY HARRY HARRISON KROLL

THE STORY: Stricken Ballard, pompous, paternalistic medicine king, has politely stolen a prize horse and a new strain of corn from young Hunter Dent, his farm manager. Hunter tells his next year's salary that before the year's end his wage-loving employer will restore his horse and corn, and apologize. He requests the bet before Ballard's daughter, Della, tells that night Hunter Dent's father's daughter, Della, Junior, lying on the floor of his room, dead in a snatched containing ATAT.

HUNTER DENT dazedly counted the sum of money again, and replaced the large denominations in the leather bag. A goddam monogram, almost obliterated by use, was of the First National Bank, Middleton. The Ballard Laboratories had their account in this bank. It was possible the money was Mr. Ballard's. Hunter went and looked down at the boy. He was breathing with a gargling noise and seemed dead drunk. "Poor brat. Well, this is the fruits of too much paternal indulgence. I'd better get him to his room and to bed." First, however, he must safeguard the money. He put it in the new steel safe, the combination to which only Hunter knew, as the safe was recently installed and Mr. Ballard had not got around to checking on the installation. Hunter then hoisted the limp young man across his powerful shoulders and carried him into the night. The party seemed to have broken. Hunter knew his way about. He toted Junior to his room and without taking off his clothes put him on the bed and came away. He made a round of the house. Odd about the party's breaking up. Usually those things lasted all night. The house was as deserted as a tomb. He searched for Junior's car, a powerful, costly roadster, but it would remember registered here she might have supposed milk run in bottles and was plucked from trees. Her gay parody on a working-girl's costume somehow outraged the young manager. She was just a little too lovely, her lips were just a bit too kissable. She hadn't any right to be so damned attractive. It would have been different if she still followed Mr. around as she did as a teen-kid. Now she was grown up. She would be married at Christmas to Oliver Tisdale. "No, no!" he cried. "No more betting for Hunter Dent, no, sir! You are now going upon the Mar Who Learned Life's Lessons the Hard Way." "I'll wager you that if I had a clew I could solve this deep dark mystery." "That's all a sleuth needs." "Let me ask you something." "Go ahead." "Did Junior come to your room last night at any time?" "Good lands!" Hunter said crossly. "Why should I always be keeping up with your brother's? Your daddy had better be doing it—or you." "I need a clew. You wagered. Lay your money on the barrel-head. Was Junior here?" Hunter grew bold. He was annoyed, guilty, and still vaguely angry at her for looking so much like a milkmaid in a peasant dress, and so kissable. Well, what if she was going to be married? There was still something of the trusting little girl about her. "This is your idea, remember, Red." Her eyes were half closed and peculiar. "Remember." "For a big kiss now, and a big hug and kiss later—I take mine on the installment plan—I'll give you the clew. I'll pose with you when your picture appears in the papers. Take it or leave it." "I'll take you." She held up her lips. Hunter kissed her. (To Be Continued)

CAR CONSERVATION TIPS HIGH SPEEDS KILL . . . TIRES, MOTOR AND MAYBE YOU!

80. Drive at 40 and under! High speeds not only risk your life, but also shorten tire life by half, decrease gasoline mileage and hasten the need for motor repairs that will further deplete the nation's dwindling stock of replacement parts. Observe this rule and bring your car to Western Auto Store regularly for inspection and maintenance work that keeps small disorders from becoming big repair bills. Keep your car rolling . . . efficiently, and you'll be serving the interests of your country as well as yourself.
