ALLIED AIR POWER BEGINS TO BE FELT BY ENEMY IN ALL SECTORS OF WORLD

By HARRISON SALISBURY
United Press Staff Correspondent
Allied Air Power struck hard at the Axis today with the Royal Air Force carrying out another heavy night attack on Germany and American planes spearheading the tactical offensive in the south west Pacific.

The RAF attack was another mass bombardment, apparently involving a force of 600 or more bombing planes. The chief targets were Nurnberg, second city of Bavaria, and an important war production center, and Saarbrucken, big coal-iron center.

The Germans made the unusual admission that 230 to 250 British planes were involved—the first time Berlin ever had admitted that the RAF was employing large numbers of bombers in such attacks.

London reported that the attack cost Britain 30 bombers—the same price which was paid for a similar hard-hitting raid the night before.

The RAF night attack followed the seventh successful daylight assault carried out by American Flying Fortresses. Latest U. S. target was Meaulte, near Amiens, where a French plane factory engaged in servicing Nazi planes was attacked.

In the Far East American bombers were carrying the brunt of the attack.

The American air force in China smashed a three-mile section of the important Hanoi-Lao-Lai railroad in French Indo-China in a move to disrupt possible Japanese plans for a fall attack up on the important Yunnan center of Kunming, China terminus of the now disused Burma Road.

Allied bombers under the command of Gen. Douglas MacArthur smashed in with low level attacks on the Japanese landing force at Milne Bay on the southern tip of New Guinea while Australian and American troops engaged the Japanese in land fighting.

In China the drive of the troops of Gen. Chiang Kai-Shek to free the "bomb-to-kyo" bases of Chekiang Province was proceeding smoothly. The Chinese were reported in control of Chushan, one of the most important of these bases.

On the long Russian front the war raged with unabated ferocity. Soviet dispatches indicated that stiff battling by Red Army troops, aided by civilian volunteers from Stalingrad, had halted the Germans at a number of points on the approaches to that key Volga city.

However, the battle was by no means over. At one point northwest of Stalingrad the Germans were reported thrown back. At others they were only checked.

There was no new gain reported from the Rabev offensive where the Russians were said still to be fighting in the suburbs of the town. The Germans reported that a Russian diversionary attack was developing in the Schlussemburg area, 25 miles east of Leningrad, but the Russians had no report on this action.

London took a somewhat optimistic view of war developments.

U. S. TROOPS IN MILNE SECTOR ATTACK JAPS

By DON CASWELL
United Press Staff Correspondent
GEN. MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Australia, Aug. 29. (UP)—Australian troops supported by a small number of United States Army Service troops have attacked the Japanese in the Milne Bay area of southeastern New Guinea and heavy fighting is in progress, it was announced today.

It was believed to be the first time American ground forces had been in action in the Australian zone.

The Australians, seasoned men under their own commander, were doing the real fighting and there seemed an air of expectation at headquarters that the Japanese, isolated after the retirement of their invasion convoy, might suffer a defeat within the next few days.

Veterans of the Australian Imperial attack meant that Allied reconnaissance planes had shown signs that when the summer rains stopped the enemy might make a

Nelson To Take Over Powers Of Armed Services

WASHINGTON, D. C. Aug. 29. (UP)—War production chief Donald M. Nelson today said he planned to take over much of the production scheduling powers which have been exercised exclusively by the armed forces as the second step in his recently announced "get tough" policy.

The action, which may be taken within the next week or 10 days, would go beyond the withdrawal of the services' priority powers which Nelson had announced effective Sept. 7. It would provide what officials called "finger-tip" control by WPB over the flow of materials.

Officials said the projected move might be the first step in a general revision, or even junking of the entire present priorities system.

Possible transfer of several thousand field representatives of the army and navy to supervision by the War Production Board or some joint WPB-Armed services group is under study, WPB officials believed that such transfer would have to be taken to insure output of guns, ships, planes, tanks and munitions.

Dr. Boswell Is To Speak Here Sunday

During the absence of Rev. H. B. Johnson, pastor of the First Christian Church of Ranger, who is on a vacation, Dr. G. C. Boswell, president of Ranger Junior College, will speak to the congregation of the church today.

Last Sunday the congregation was addressed by L. H. Flewellen.

Texas Boy Left Stranded By Death Is On Way Home

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 29. (UP)—An unidentified tow-haired boy about five-year-old was en route back to Texas today bewildered by the death of his traveling companion, Mrs. Mary Kaminsky of Rosenberg, Tex.

The woman, believed to be the boy's grandmother, died here yesterday on a train enroute to Baltimore, Md., where she expected to meet two sons and return to Texas with them. The sobbing boy, consoled only by a bag of popcorn, was unable to identify himself. He was cared for by the Traveler's Aid Society for several hours until the identity of his companion could be established.

He left for Houston with Miss Angelina Caravella of New Orleans who promised she would see that he reached his home safely.

ALLIED PLANES SHOWER BOMBS ON JAPANESE

By GEORGE WANG
CHUNGKING, Aug. 29. (UP)—Allied bomber planes, continuing an offensive against Japanese preparing for a fall drive on Kunming, Allied base in Southwestern China, attacked the Hanoi-Laokai railroad in French Indo-China yesterday and showered bombs on Japanese ammunition and fuel dumps along the line.

The day before, the United States Army Bomber Command, under Col. Caleb V. Haynes had made a smashing attack on Lashio, southern terminus of the Burma Road which extends to Kunming.

Smithy Doe Not Shoe Horses But Has Big Business

RENSSELAER, N. Y. (UP)—The smithy in this city hasn't shod a horse in six years, but he's one of the busiest men in town.

Fred Meloy, who operates probably the oldest blacksmith shop in the State, proves he's making the business by pulling out his bankbook.

Shortages in the metal line are proving a boon for Meloy. He repairs and welds just about everything you can mention.

Meloy's shop is an historic museum piece. It was erected slightly less than 30 years ago, but having been built without a foundation, it's sinking at an alarming rate.

But Meloy doesn't mind how much it sags and sinks. He says he will continue doing business at the same old stand so long as he can keep the bank balance in black ink.

R A F DROPS MORE BOMBS UPON NAZIS

By SIDNEY J. WILLIAMS
United Press Staff Correspondent
LONDON, Aug. 29. (UP)—The air ministry reported today that the Royal Air Force set Nurnberg and Saarbrucken a base at night in another estimated 600-bomber attack while R A F fighters and fighter-bombers carried forward the round-the-clock offensive with huge daylight sweeps over northern France.

The ministry reported that the chief objective of the RAF night assault was Nurnberg, the second city of Bavaria and seat of important war industries. Saarbrucken is a major coal-iron-steel center.

Many large fires were left burning, in both cities, the communique reported.

The ministry placed British losses at 30 bombers missing, indicating that a huge force estimated at about 600 planes took part.

'He Wears A Pair Of Silver Wings'

Hugh Earl McCall, son of Mr. and Mrs. William E. McCall of Carbon, has successfully completed the Air Force Advanced Flying school training at Luke Field, Phoenix, Ariz., and received his coveted Silver Wings and a rating as Staff Sgt. Pilot in the Air Corps August 27th.

McCall is a graduate of Carbon High school. His athletic interests were baseball and basketball.

Fences on Coasted Roads Aid Dim Out

HAMPTON BEACH, N. H. (UP)—New England's familiar snow fences have been drafted; Dim-out officials have erected double rows of fencing on the ocean side of highways where the road is exposed directly to the sea. When rain paper is placed between the fences, automobile lights are cut off completely from the ocean.

Jap Destroyers Are Damaged By U. S. Navy Planes

WASHINGTON, D. C. (UP)—Land-based United States Naval planes in the Solomon Islands have sunk one Japanese destroyer, probably sank another and have left a third crippled and burning the Navy Department announced Saturday.

Operating from Guadalcanal Island, which the Allied forces have seized from the Japanese, the planes attacked a squadron of destroyers.

This brought to at least 18 the number of Japanese ships reported hit by United States forces in the Solomon Island area, 15 being mentioned definitely, plus "several cruisers" reported to have been hit.

Three's a crowd. Alfred Embro, 3 months, left, is contented but Annette Cangelosi, 13 months, and Tommy, the cat, seem to be in each other's way at the Tenement Children's Wartime Festival, New York.

Cowgirl's Musical Chair Contest, Bullfighting Clown, Match Roping Contest, Square Dance on Horseback and Junior Calf Belling Will Be Added To Regular Events.

Again this year Ranger is welcoming visitors and contestants to the annual Labor Day Rodeo, which is the fifth in the series of annual events.

The event this year, as in the years past, is being directed by George Glasscock of Cresson, but because of a wholehearted desire on the part of the citizens of Ranger and the producer, an even better performance is expected at each of the four shows this year than ever before.

Four big shows will be staged, the first on Saturday night, Sept. 5, at 8:30, the second on Sunday afternoon at 2:30, the third on Labor Day, Monday, Sept. 7, at 2:30 in the afternoon and the fourth and last performance being staged Monday night, at 8:30 o'clock.

Hundreds of dollars in added money and in prizes will be awarded to winners in various events, with special features being added.

One of the outstanding features of the rodeo will be a match calf roping contest between Roy Mathews of Fort Worth and George Witherspin of Fort Worth, competing with Phelton Herrington, Ranger, and Zelma Herrington, Ranger. This will be an eight-calf average match between the two teams of two men each. All four are famous as calf ropers, as each one has won the calf roping events in many rodeos.

Other added attractions will be the cowgirls musical chair contest, the famous Cresson Square Dance Team, performing on horseback, a cutting horse contest and Witherspin of Fort Worth, both good rodeo judges who a bull-fighting clown.

Judges will be Sig Faircloth of Ranger and George have had lots of experience, both as judges and as performers.

In the rodeo events entrance fees will be divided among the winners, with added money being placed on many of the events.

In the calf roping contest an entrance fee of $10 will be charged and a purse of $100 will be added to the prize money.

Bronc riding entrance fees will be $5 with a purse of $100 added.

Bull riding entrance fees will be $5 with a purse of $100 added.

Bareback bronc riding will also be featured during each performance, as will the junior calf belling contest.

A big time awaits everyone who attends, as the Ranger Rodeos have been growing each year, and more and more special attractions, that have proved big hits, have been added, until now it boasts more real spectator interest than any other rodeo its size in Texas.

Stabilizing Wages

After months of puzzling and much reading of speeches and consultation with authorities, perhaps we have found the legitimate line of demarcation between two approaches to the problem of wartime wages.

There has been a great deal of talk about wage freezing, on the other hand, and wage stabilization on the other. So far as most of the definition went, these seemed to be different names for the same thing—though proponents of stabilization expressed intense dislike for "freezing" and the freezers were cold toward the "stabilization".

Now it appears that the freezers would have every wage high or low, pegged right where it is until the danger of inflation is past. The stabilizers, on the other hand, would have the adequate wages pegged, but would permit the raising of substandard wages to the level of adequacy.

On that basis, few could argue successfully against the advocates of stabilization. One could, however, easily throw the convention into turmoil by inquiring where substandard wages end and adequate wages begin.

President Roosevelt appears to be in the stabilization camp. The President appointed the War Labor Board, and that body is responsible to him. In a sort of vague, formless way, the WLB appears to be under a mandate to stabilize wages.

So what does the board do? It gathers roots and herbs and fragrant grasses, steeps them in a copper kettle in the light of a quarter-eclipsed moon, and brings forth a potion guaranteed to cure everything from static to inflation.

We are handed, with "explanatory" text, a formula for wage "stabilization" which pegs wages at the Jan. 1, 1941, level plus a percentage determined by the intervening rise in the cost of living.

LITTLE STEEL'S employees, among the highest paid, get the raise. Big Steel's can not be denied their just due, neither can General Motors' or Ford's or Chrysler's—all among our highest paid workmen.

On the other hand a notoriously substandard wage scale employer, who shall be nameless, is asked for raises. Checking his payrolls, he finds that by giving a few men and women a few cents more a day he will have satisfied the WLB's cost of living formula. He raises, and that is all.

The cost of living has risen 15 per cent. So the prosperous craftsmen, receiving sometimes as much as $125 a week with overtime, is entitled to 15 per cent raise. The poor unorganized worker, getting $18 a week, also is entitled to a 15 per cent raise—if he can get it.

Washings may not be all wool, but they're usually a yard wide.

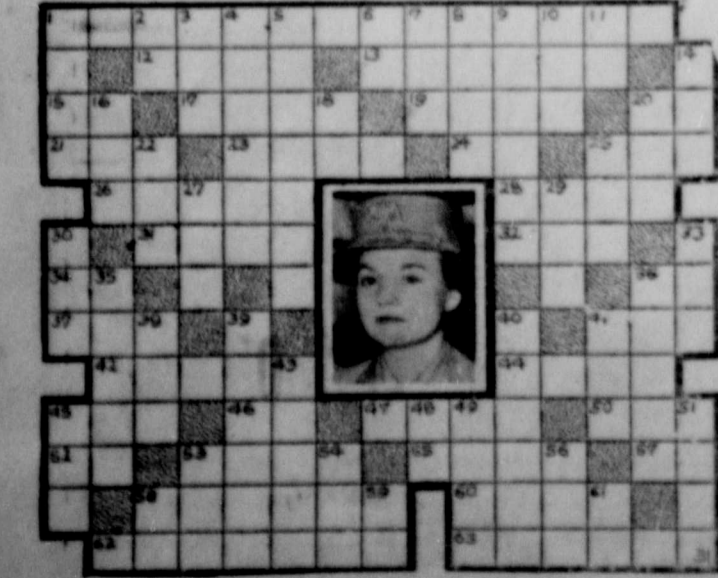

It's all right for a fellow to propose to a girl on his knees, if she happens to be sitting there.

One use for culture is that it makes people perspire instead of sweat.

The American standard of living has gone into ships, planes, tanks, guns, shells, bombs, invasion barges. There won't be any such things again, until we have won this war.

U. S. Troops—

The railroad which the bombers attacked extends from the Gulf of Tonking through Hanoi and Laokai on the frontier to Kunming. It would be the supply line for the Japanese in a drive through Yunnan Province to Kunming.

Official Chinese dispatches described a dramatic fight when the Chinese army recaptured Chubai, 30 miles southwest of Nanchang in Kiangsi Province.

Three Chinese shock forces stormed the city in the early hours of yesterday morning.

One column scaled the city wall and wiped out a Japanese battalion defending the west gate. The others broke in from the south and southeast and spread through the town on the run, killing about 1,000 Japanese with their bayonets by the light of the full moon.

Dispatches said the Japanese main force, having a rear guard to defend the city, had abandoned all their heavy equipment, including artillery and tanks, and large quantities of munitions.

Chinese troops started out in pursuit of the retreating forces.

Chinese were jubilant over the victory and called it one of the biggest in the five years of the Chinese-Japanese war.

Allied Planes—

(Continued from page 1) perial Force who had fought for months in the thickest battles in the Middle East, formed the backbone of the Allied forces and they were reinforced with men of the main Australian army trained in jungle warfare.

Fighting was developing along the north shore of the bay, on a peninsula 35 miles long where the Japanese made their landing in an isolated, undefended area.

United States Army Air Force medium bombers attacked the enemy positions in force from low altitude yesterday, put all bombs in the target area and started numerous fires.

The mediums were backed by army heavy bombers and by a crack corps of Australian pilots.

So heavy had been the attack of the Allied planes that the enemy invasion convoy seemed to have withdrawn entirely, leaving the landing force without naval protection.

A spokesman for Gen. Douglas MacArthur revealed today that the convoy had been made up of three medium transports with a naval convoy including one cruiser.

The cruiser was heavily damaged by bombs and it was believed to have sunk.

The main difficulty of the Allied troops seemed now to find the Japanese who had scattered into the muddy jungle of the peninsula, firing from cover at the advancing Australian patrols.

There is a good anchorage at Milne Bay, an excellent, well-sheltered harbor, but there are no wharves. There is no landing ground for planes but seaplanes could be based there. Because of the nature of the landing and the departure of the convoy, reformants here suggested that the Japanese desired to put their men ashore to prepare for more ambitious operations in future.

Milestones

Undocumented Vessels Will Be Registered Soon

NEW ORLEANS —Registration and numbering of all undocumented vessels in the United States and its territories will be started by the U. S. Coast Guard September 1, 1942, Coast Guard Headquarters announced here today.

In addition to handling these activities, all reported violations of navigation laws and regulations will be taken care of by this organization.

These functions previously were exercised by the Collectors of Customs, the Bureau of Marine Inspection and Navigation and the Secretary of Commerce but are being centralized under the Coast Guard to synchronize the war effort.

The headquarters having jurisdiction over Alabama, Mississippi and Arkansas below the thirty-fourth degree of latitude and over the states of Louisiana, Texas and New Mexico is the District Coast Guard office, Eighth Naval District 328 Customhouse Building, New Orleans, Louisiana.

The entire network of the Coast Guard facilities covering the above area is headed by the New Orleans office, but proper forms necessary for registering undocumented vessels are being made available at any Coast Guard unit or station throughout the district. Preparation of these forms will also be explained at these branches.

Seek An Increase Of Children In Garden Service

The Office of Education will launch a drive to enroll millions of school children in its school garden program this September, Dr. Walter H. Gaumnitz, director of the school garden service of the Office of Education, has announced.

"We are making a survey now to learn how many school children we have now enrolled," said Dr. Gaumnitz. "There were 2,000,000 children gardening during the World War. There will many times that number this time."

The garden service started last February to provide basic foods for the nationwide school lunch program. At the suggestion of Mrs. Roosevelt, garden partnerships were worked out between urban and rural children with the farm children furnishing the land and tools, and those from the towns seeds and money.

In Fayette county, Kentucky, this plan proved successful. Dr. Gaumnitz said, with 25 rural-urban partnerships in operation. In Newberry county, South Carolina, there are 20 acres of school gardens under cultivation and a community cannery to preserve the vegetables for the school lunches.

A full time supervisor directs the 75-acre school garden program in Greenville county, South Carolina, where there are 3,000 successful backyard gardens.

The home garden service is an unusual government service because it has no special fund allocated for its program and works with local groups, such as teachers, the P. T. A., 4-H clubs, and other youth groups.

cause it has no special fund allocated for its program and works with local groups, such as teachers, the P. T. A., 4-H clubs, and other youth groups. Dr. Gaumnitz believes the school garden program should continue after the war. "Such a program," he said, "greatly reduces the shock of depression. People are not immediately destitute when they have community gardens, and they don't go to pieces so easily."

First of Women Army Officers Given Ratings

FT. DES MOINES, Ia. Aug. 29. (UP)—The U. S. Army today commissioned the first women officers in its 166-year-old history. On the dim-shaded old polo field at the former cavalry post, 436 Women's Army Auxiliary Corps officer candidates lined up to receive plain white diplomas and to take an oath of office making them third officers, the women's rank corresponding to second lieutenant.

Col. Don C. Faith, their commandant, praised the first khaki-skirted class of officer candidates to graduate after its 11-day training course. "They are as good soldiers as I have seen in 25 years of training," he said. The class was only eight short of the original number inducted on July 20 as officer candidates.

Four of the group failed to meet academic requirements. Three were placed in the class by mistake and was disqualified physically. All but the last became auxiliary officers. The first WAAC officers march in review before Rep. Edith Nourse Rogers, R., Mass., who sponsored the bill creating the corps; Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby, WAAC director; Maj. Gen. Frederick E. Uhl, commander of the Seventh Command at Omaha, Neb.; Faith and other high army and civilian officials. Mrs. Hobby said that several members of the first class will be ordered to overseas duty, probably England or Northern Ireland while 52 others will go into recruiting service around the country. Faith said company officers will leave the fort with their own outfits which will be composed of about 150 members.

City Workers are Making Good as Farm Operators

DANE, Wis. (UP)—The country lad who made good in the big city has furnished story tellers with a plot many times, but few ever have told of the city lad who made good in the country. A success story of that type is left to fact instead of fiction in the tale of Ralph Mathiesen and his wife, who left the big city and successfully undertook the operation of a 200-acre farm. Mathiesen, former University of Wisconsin student and graduate of Yankton, College, Yankton, S. D., worked in a Chicago Bank from 1932 to 1942. He saved his money so that he might one day put to work some of his theories in farming.

Last year Mr. and Mrs. Mathiesen bought an old estate, renamed it "Danroven", remodeled and modernized the house and proceeded to prove to the local gentry that "city fellows" can become farmers and profit by streamlined ideas. Danroven, under Mathiesen's ministrations, boasts a modern dairy barn with accommodations for 56 milch cows; a combination barn and machine shed; a large hog-house; a large modern corn crib and granary; two huge cement silos; and a water reservoir of 10,000 gallons capacity.

"Dud of the Day" Wears a Bomb at A Training School

MIDLAND ARMY FLYING SCHOOL Tex. (UP)—You don't tie a string around your finger at this bombardier college; you wear a bomb around your neck—that is, if you are the "Dud of the Day." By bombardier custom, the bomb around the neck signifies repentance. A small bomb, lettered "D-U-D—" is awarded daily to the cadet adjudged guilty of committing the day's outstanding bombing blunder. The recipient wears it for 24 hours.

then publicly passes it along to his successor. The award carries no stigma. It is merely a phrase of "critique," the bombardier practice of open self-criticism aimed at getting those bombs where they belong.

Many fibrous materials have at one time and another been considered as potential sources of paper pulp, but the only ones of commercial importance are wood, hemp, linen, jute, cotton and straw, and of these wood is by far the most important.

Says War Work Causes A Rise In Delinquency

PORTLAND, Ore. (UP)—Juvenile delinquency is on the up-trend in Oregon and other parts of the nation as a result of parents working and youths leaving home for defense work, according to Judge Donald E. Long of the Multnomah county court of domestic relations.

Judge Long, who is noted for knowledge of the juvenile problem, believes that the wartime tension and resulting fast living is ruining many youthful lives. The noted youth counselor gave two definite reasons for the expected gain in delinquency. First, many parents are working and cannot care properly for their children, and secondly, many boys and girls from 15 to 18 years of age are getting the idea that their jobs are useless and consequently are leaving home for more money and excitement in the city.

Dr. Boswell had this to say about Ranger Junior College: "In all my experience in teaching in the Public Schools and colleges of Texas I find that Ranger Junior College is the best equipped for the teaching of Science, Business Administration and other academic courses of college rank. With the new equipment that has gone in to the department of Science and Business Administration and the great improvement done in the library, students who are eager to obtain an education should find their courses easily planned to carry on an excellent program."

"The College faculty is composed of men and women who have had special training and who are interested in developing young men and young women to their fullest capacities. HOUSTON, Tex. (UP)—The Harris county jail has outlawed Mulligan Stew. (Ed's note:—Mulligan Stew is composed of meat, potatoes, onions and what hate you.)

At least for the past 16 years MS generally has been the lunch time main dish at the county jail. But no more.

Sheriff Neal Folk explains that "there just wasn't any reason to have that stuff every day, so we have changed."

The sheriff explained that it doesn't cost a bit more to give the prisoners a varied diet.

Naturally, the prisoners liked the change.

Penny A Pint Milk Is Sold To School Children

COLLEGE STATION.—Thousands of Texans are familiar with the community school lunch program, and in time they may become equally familiar with the school milk program which is being expanded by the Agricultural Marketing Administration.

Details of the plan recently were explained to the home demonstration staff of the Texas A. & M. Extension Service by Grace I. Neely, nutritionist for AMA's southern region. Formerly Miss Neely was an extension specialist.

Milk used is purchased from local farmers and dairymen who receive the price prevailing locally for unprocessed milk which is sold for fluid consumption. The USDA Agricultural Marketing Administration pays the farmer's price for the milk to local schools, which in turn pay the dairymen. Schools participating in the program make arrangements with dairies for supplying, processing, and delivering the milk, and provide for serving milk to the children. In addition, schools must arrange for payment to the processor of the difference between the price of unprocessed milk paid by AMA and the cost of processed milk delivered to the school. Co-sponsors, such as Parent-Teacher Associations, may bear this expense.

All children in schools taking part in the new school milk program will be eligible to receive a half pint of milk each day. The school may charge up to one cent a half pint to defray the school's cost of the program. That's why the project often is called "the penny milk program."

Wealthy people don't get enough roughage in their food; the poor don't get enough food in their roughage.

Artist Adopts New Program For Men In Armed Service

NEW YORK, (UP)—Yehudi Menuhin, who has been playing volunteer engagements at military posts under the auspices of USO Camp Shows, has some emphatic ideas on the subject of how does a musician adapt his program for audiences of uniformed service men.

"I never play down to a military audience," declared the distinguished young violinist. "A group of sailors, soldiers or marines is certainly as intelligent as an audience of civilians and even more eager for good music."

Menuhin points out, however, that the great majority of men at a training post have never before heard a concert violinist or an operatic tenor in person. The performing artist, therefore, must be careful to avoid a program that is too heavy, too long or too crudite.

As a result, Menuhin has devised a novel technique for presenting one of his most successful numbers, the Second Paganini Violin Concerto, which he played for the first time in this country not so long ago.

At a service camp, Menuhin steps to the front of the stage to announce his own program. He tells the service men, "I will now play the first movement of the Paganini Violin Concerto."

At the conclusion of the movement, he waits for the applause to subside. "Did you enjoy that?" he asks. More applause. "Would you like me to play the next part?" Still more applause.

He plays the second movement and by repeating the query technique before beginning the final section, Menuhin plays the entire concerto for his enthusiastic audience.

RANGER JUNIOR COLLEGE PREPARES for LIVING

IN TIME OF War PREPARE FOR Peace CONTINUE YOUR EDUCATION!

Never before in the history of America has education . . . formal education . . . played so important a role in the lives of our children and ourselves. What opportunities are opening up for the educated! Not so long ago, folk were beginning to question the value of advanced education. They were able to get jobs without going on in school, and they were filling them while many of their better educated friends were doing no better, had risen no higher. The scene has changed, however, and the question of education is being answered by Uncle Sam . . . by industry . . . by the armed forces. Skilled educated men and women are in demand everywhere. They are filling bigger positions and earning higher salaries. Here are some of the fields in which higher education is either compulsory or preferred:

REC Program which consists of the Army, the Navy, the Coastal Guards and the Marine also CPT program . . . The United States is so interested in acquiring men of superior education that has inaugurated a plan whereby college men may enlist in the REC and remain in school with the idea of training to become officers. Students in their freshman or sophomore years who are interested in knowing the details of this plan are invited to contact their local Recruiting Station for further information.

TO PARENTS: There is a moral to the story! It's "business as usual" in the education of your children! The education they do not get at the proper time is seldom replaced in later life. Keep your boy of draft age in college until he is called! Give your girls training that will help them fill the fine, useful positions women are needed for. Educated minds will be builders of a new and better post-war America!

STUDY WHERE THERE IS PLEASURE, REFINEMENT AND CULTURE PLUS A FACULTY ACADEMICALLY TRAINED, ESPECIALLY FOR FIRST AND SECOND YEAR COLLEGE STUDENTS.

The only college between Fort Worth and Abilene that is listed in the coordinated Naval, Army and Marine program as shown in the government bulletin as dated June 27, 1942.

Experience has shown that the best qualified men are able to master technical difficulties and assume the responsibilities of an officer's commission are those who have had adequate schooling and discipline.

Government and Business

More jobs than ever are open these days, but the best jobs in both government and private offices are open to people with college degrees, with training in engineering, mechanics, business administration, etc. Competition is keen, as always, and the man or woman of education WINS!

COLLEGE COST—The total cost for attending Ranger Junior College is less than any college in Texas. This college has the highest possible classification. Excellent facilities for the teaching of natural sciences, business and other academic courses.

SERIAL STORY

SPECIAL INVESTIGATOR

BY BLANCHE ROBERTS

COPYRIGHT, 1942, NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: Judith Kingsley and Tom Burke, employees of an airplane factory, are en route to the factory's west coast branch—Judith to investigate a "leak" in the organization. Tom is to take the place of a new member. Tom and Judith are in love, but have quarreled. Aboard an airplane Judith sees two men watching Tom suspiciously. At a stop for supper she tells him to watch out for them. As they are about to take off again, Judith hears the hostess say they are changing co-pilots.

the man with the gun. He strode down the aisle and disappeared through the door.

Judith's eyes were fastened on the foreigner. He was the one she feared most, but so far he had made no move. He sat very straight in his seat, his eyes fixed on Tom. An electrified excitement that she had never felt before enveloped Judith.

She saw a light flare from the outside at a distance and drew nearer. While she watched it approach, she wondered how she could get off the plane and follow if the men only took Tom with them.

Judith drew on her courage and said brightly, "This is very exciting."

Heavy, the man behind the gun, grinned at her while the passengers turned and glared. When Tom Burke looked at her, there was a light of understanding in his glance.

The co-pilot put his head in at the door.

"All right, Karl."

Instantly, the foreigner came alive and stood up, an ugly gun in his hand covering Burke from the back.

"Come along," he ordered curtly, nudging Tom with the point of the pistol.

Burke stood up. As he moved down the narrow aisle he bumped Judith's seat. A packet of papers slid quickly and noiselessly from his right sleeve and dropped beside her. Swiftly she shifted her arm to cover the bundle and Burke walked on to the door with the foreigner behind him.

Little prickles stung at Judith's skin as she realized she had the plans of the bomber in her possession.

Heavy waved his gun and moved down toward the outside door. "Don't anybody move," he warned, pausing at the door. "I ain't minding to pull this trigger. And don't get off this plane until morning if you value your health."

In another moment, he dropped to the ground and slammed the door. A car roared off.

The hostess was the first to come alive. She jumped up, ran to the pilot's compartment and pulled back the door. There was a horrified gasp from her as she dropped to her knees. Two men rushed up behind her.

One of them said, "Here—let me in. I'm a doctor."

The door closed after them. But almost immediately it opened again and the hostess came out. "The pilot has been hurt. We are trying to use the radio. I am afraid we will have to make the best of the situation. I'll try to make you comfortable."

BUT for the moment, Judith was far from comfortable. Her calmness had deserted her now. She kept thinking of the papers her fingers grasped in the seat beside her. When the spies discovered the plans were missing, they would return and make a thorough search for Tom's accomplice.

She stuffed the papers into her purse and stood up. She made her way to the cabin up front and edged in.

"How long before he will come around?" she asked the doctor.

He shook his head slowly. "Can't say. It looks like a bad concussion. He was hit over the head—a nasty blow."

"They may come back," said Judith, and for the first time in her life her voice trembled with fright. The plans made her pulse bulge, and reminded her constantly of the real danger she was facing.

The man spoke again. "I wonder what those fellows wanted? What they were after?" Judith pretended not to hear. "I think I'll go outside and have a look. I really don't believe anyone is around now."

"I'm coming with you," Judith told him and followed quickly. Others, seeing their intentions, came too.

"You'll have to jump for it," said the man with a grin. He leaped to the ground and reached to help her down. "My name is Harry Hornsby."

The stars twinkled overhead, but there was no moon. Someone playing a flashlight over the ground discovered the car tracks on the hard sand, winding in and out among the sage brush. Judith followed the tire marks with no definite purpose in mind.

Then in the distance, a light suddenly appeared. Her heart stood still but she did not cry out. At a moment one of the others saw the glow and exclaimed:

"They're coming back! Get back to the plane everyone. Don't give them an excuse to shoot."

When Judith did not follow, Hornsby turned back for her. She pulled away from his hand.

"No. I can't. Please return with the others and just forget where you saw me last. I will be much safer that way. Please!"

At first Hornsby refused to leave her, but she insisted frantically, on the verge of desperate tears. He turned and hurried back to the ship, almost running.

For a second Judith stood undecided. Then she found a large bunch of sage near the wheel tracks and crouched behind it.

It Was Tough for Them, Too!

It was tough for the Pilgrim Fathers who came to a strange land to find freedom to worship God.

It was tough for the pioneers who blazed new trails through the wilderness.

It was tough for Washington and his men in the snow and cold of Valley Forge. It was tough for those who built railroads through mountain and forest to make our Nation one.

The inspiring thing is that things have never been too tough for us! America is an epic story of triumph over trials and tribulations.

Now, we of this generation are being tested. The time has come when we must square our shoulders, hold up our heads, and face our problems unafraid.

We will gain strength and courage by looking back at the great procession of American heroes who took tough going in their stride.

We have the same stuff in us that they had in them. They won out. So shall we. America needs all of us.

Most of the executive positions in business and industry are filled by young men and young women—and they are filling them better than they were ever filled before. Act now!

We must be prepared to fill these places and help fight our fight.

America needs more and more young men and young women.

Now, fellows, I have written a few resolutions here that I want you to read:

1. I intend to stay in school as long as I can, because I think Uncle Sam wants me to have as much developed ability as possible when he needs me.
2. I intend to look ahead, because after this war is over I'll have most of my life to live—I hope.
3. And I am sure, from my observations, that there will be more important things to do in twenty years than there are now, and I intend to be ready to do my share—and a little more.

Your Chance to Succeed is better than that of any man or woman who ever lived in a previous generation.

Stamina of Men To Decide Trend Of Present War

NEW ORLEANS, La.—The ultimate success of this war will depend upon the stamina of our man power, which makes the physical fitness program of the Navy extremely essential in the war effort, where they will seek to enroll additional physical training and drill instructors for enlistment as Chief Specialists in the Navy.

At the same time it was announced that under a change in the requirements men between the ages of 21 and 40 may qualify for these appointments provided they have had at least two years of college and previous military training or experience as coaches or physical instructors. Heretofore the upper age limit has been 35 years.

Commander Tunney said that applicants selected for enlistment will be given chief petty officer ratings and sent to the Naval Training Station at Norfolk, Va., for an intensive eight week course of indoctrination and training.

Following this, they will be transferred for active duty ashore and afloat, and given further instruction to qualify them for duty at battle stations with the fleet at sea.
