Mammoth Ranger Junk Drive Starts Tomorrow

EVERYONE IS URGED TO AID FOR HALF DAY

Captains to Meet at Fire Station to Go to Every Part of Town to Supervise Collection

Ranger's big Salvage Drive will be underway tomorrow afternoon, when all stores and all schools will be closed for the entire afternoon in order that everyone may collect all junk possible to put on the salvage pile, now being accumulated at the intersection of Main Street and Highway 80.

Dr. G. C. Boswell today requested that all teachers supervise the children in collecting the much needed materials, and to have them take it to the school they attend. This salvage material will be hauled to the scrap heap by the trucks that have been donated for the afternoon.

All captains who have been appointed to serve in their respective neighborhoods, have been urged to meet at the fire station at 1:30, together with their lieutenants, the two Boy Scout troops and members of Company B, Texas Defense Guard.

These will then go, with trucks which will be assigned to them, to their neighborhood, and the salvage drive will begin.

Preparations have been made by Murphy to have all sections of the town thoroughly covered, so that no scrap metal that can be used in connection with the war effort will be overlooked.

Where one has enough junk on hand to sell to a dealer, they are urged to notify the dealers in order that it can be picked up. Junk must go through a dealer, whose buying and selling fees have been set, in order that it can be sorted into piles, each pile containing only one class of material.

Fire Chief G. A. Murphy, who is in charge of the drive, calls attention to the fact that Ranger's obligation is not complete with one-afternoon drive, but that anyone who finds any additional salvage material of any kind they can dispose of should bring it to the salvage station and leave it, or to dispose of it through a junk dealer.

Frills for Evening

Wilson Polmar designed this beautiful dinner gown, and it took the eyes of onlookers, particularly men, at the formal opening of the dressmaker's 1942 collection. Soft black velvet is draped loosely, which minimizes the figure more effectively than an all-over-tight fit—above and below the snug waist line. Square yoke with frill at round neck and the large frills at wrists are fine organza, edged with narrow lace.

Steel mills throughout the country are running at only about half their capacity because of the shortage of scrap material to be melted down and made into implements of war, an the rise is of vital concern to everyone, Murphy point out.

"Ranger has never failed on a drive of any kind," he reminded the citizens today, "and I am sure that they will not fall down on the drive tomorrow. If everyone will help a big showing can be made, and it cannot be said that the people of Ranger shirked their patriotic duty when called upon by our government to aid, when their help is so vitally needed."

First Rent Case In Dallas Area Is Decided In Court

DALLAS, Tex.—In the first civil suit of its kind in the Dallas Office of Price Administration region under the trouble damage clause of the Price Control Act of 1942, Judge Clair E. Robb of Wichita, Kansas, city court awarded a tenant $50 damages and attorney's fees this week when it was found by the court that the tenant had been charged rent in excess of the legal maximum, regional OPA rent control officials advised.

The tenant, R. C. Conner, brought a cross action when his landlord, Mrs. Alice Garrison, filed suit to evict him so she could remodel her house. Judge Robb held that eviction was legal under the federal rent regulations.

Conner brought the cross action charging that the maximum legal rent for his apartment was $4.50 per week and that since June 1, 1942, when the rent law went into effect in Wichita he had been required to pay $5 per week. For this overcharge he claimed damages as provided under the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942. Under the law, the tenant has the right to bring action against the landlord for trouble the amount of the overcharge, or $50, plus attorney's fees and costs, whichever is greater.

The rent control law's provisions are applicable only to those areas that have been placed under control and in which area rent offices have been opened and rent director have been appointed.

Although 78 areas have been designated as defense-rental areas in this six-state OPA region, the law thus far has been invoked in only 27 areas. On October 1, rents in nine more areas will be brought under control.

Joined Army In 1905, Now He's In Service Once More

TOLEDO, O. (UP)—Willis D. Helms just can't keep out of the Army.

In 1905 he entered the service and stayed until 1910. When discharged, he was a sergeant.

When 1915 rolled around he joined up again, this time being commissioned as a lieutenant. He was later promoted to an Air Corps captaincy and remained with the armed forces until 1922.

When Uncle Sam got into another war, it didn't take him long to sign up. He's 54 now, though and that prevented a commission being offered him. In February, he enlisted as a private. He's now "somewhere in the Pacific."

Costs $15,000 To Train An Aviator

AUSTIN, Tex. (UP)—Texas athletic coaches who attended a U. S. Navy physical fitness school here got a dollars-and-cents evaluation of proper training.

It costs the government $15,000 to train a Navy aviator, Lt. Wesley Brown explained. If a flier is forced down in enemy territory or away from immediate rescue, his physical fitness probably will determine whether he returns to fight again.

Speakers Are Scheduled For An Oil Meeting

DALLAS, Tex. — Among the prominent speakers scheduled to address oilmen at the annual convention of the Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association, to be held in Dallas, October 9 and 10 are Donald R. Knowlton, director of production, office of Petroleum Coordinator, Washington, D. C. and D. E. Buchanan, director of District 3, office of Petroleum Coordinator, Houston, according to an announcement just made by George C. Gibbons, executive vice president of the Association.

Donald Knowlton, who will present some vitally important phases of the part oil is playing in the nation's war effort, is an outstanding authority on oil production practices and is widely recognized as an able petroleum engineer. Prior to his appointment by petroleum coordinator Harold I. Ickes to the post he now holds in Washington as director of production, Knowlton resided in Bartlesville, Oklahoma, where he was production manager for the Phillips Petroleum Company. He is a graduate of the petroleum engineering department of Leland Stanford University and also holds a degree in geology from the University of Colorado.

D. E. Buchanan will have a timely message for oilmen attending the convention on drilling and production practices as they are related to the war program in the State of Texas. Buchanan was recently appointed to his present post by Petroleum Coordinator Ickes to succeed Grady Vaughn, of Dallas, who was called to Washington to assume a new post with the O. P. C. Buchanan is widely known throughout the oil industry and has for many years lived in Tulsa, Oklahoma. He is president of the Hanlon-Buchanan Company, one of the nation's largest manufacturers of natural gasoline.

Texas oilmen are particularly anxious to hear these men because each speaker will devote time following his scheduled addresses to answering questions from the floor. Mr. Gibbons states that the questions and answers developed during the business sessions on Friday, October 9, will bring out some highly important phases of the war program and the vital place of the Texas oil industry in the war effort.

Several other prominent speakers are scheduled to appear on the Texas Mid-Continent oil convention program and leading Texas oilmen will be honored with distinguished service awards. These events are now being planned and will be announced shortly, according to Mr. Gibbons.

Veneral Disease Is No Respector Of Class Or People

AUSTIN—Because of the fact that a veneral disease is no respecter of persons, people of every class and color, rich and poor, educated and ignorant are numbered among the victims, asserts Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

"Veneral diseases, of which syphilis and gonorrhea are the more common-place, are among the most vital health problems in the State of Texas today," Dr. Cox said. "This state has been chosen as the location for dozens of army camps, naval bases, training fields, shipbuilding yards, airplane construction plants, and other major defense industries. The resulting influx of workers and armed forces has emphasized the need for exerting every known means in the control of veneral diseases."

The State Health officer pointed out that self-diagnosis and self-treatment are extremely dangerous and advised consulting a physician for determining definitely whether one has a veneral disease.

"Only a reputable physician can properly diagnose such a disease. The presence of gonorrhea is not disclosed by a routine blood test, and the diagnosis of syphilis requires more than a blood examination," declared Dr. Cox. "Both syphilis and gonorrhea are almost 100 per cent curable if discovered and treated in their earliest stages. Thousands of deaths annually could be prevented," Dr. Cox said, "if sufficient attention were given to the early diagnosis and through treatment of syphilis. Delay reduces the chance of cure and in many cases is the direct cause of death."

Shipbuilder To Interview Workers

That there is a real shortage of skilled labor to carry on the war effort is shown by the fact that employers are scouring the country with a fine tooth comb for eligible men and are not confining their efforts to the immediate territory about the plant where the labor is performed.

Wednesday and Thursday of this week Frank Maynard, personnel director for the Kaiser Ship Building Plant of California, will be in Eastland at the office of the State Employment Department, where he will interview applicants for jobs as skilled mechanics, especially welders.

All interested may call at the office of L. W. Kellers in the Sinclair Prairie Building.

Grandchildren Go To School In Bus Used By Granny

JEFFERSON, O. (UP)—Although women cab drivers are not legal in Ohio, a 55-year-old grandmother has been skipping a school bus for 22 years.

Mrs. Millie May Hodge of New Lyme Road, has never been involved in an accident while transporting children to or from school. She drives the New Lyme Township school bus and has now straddled her 23rd year with opening of school.

In the meantime, she has found time to raise and mother a family of five children. The three daughters and two sons are all married and the always popular woman bus driver is the happy grandmother of nine grandchildren.

Three of the grandchildren now ride in "granny's" bus. She once drove two of her own children.

In the neighborhood where Mrs. Hodge and her six-constructing husband reside she is known simply as "Millie Accommodation." Her neighbors say that she is willing at all times to help a neighbor.

On top of her jobs as wife, mother, grandmother and bus driver, she takes an active interest in school affairs and was recently re-elected to her second term as president of the local Parent-Teachers Association.

Her record as a driver is marred by one mishap with an empty truck smashed into her bus, causing her injuries that kept her bedfast for five weeks. Her first thought was gratefulness that no children were aboard the vehicle.

She says that she tries to act as a "second mother" to her loads a school children, which shouldn't be hard for Mrs. Hodge, considering the size of her own family and grand-family.

Farm Bloc May Force Increase In Parity Price

WASHINGTON, D. C. (UP)—An administration poll revealed today that farm interests have enough votes in the senate to override President Roosevelt and write into the anti-inflation bill an amendment increasing by 12 per cent the parity price ceiling, which may be imposed upon farm products.

Democratic leader, Allen Barkley, Democrat, Kentucky, conceded the contest between the administration and the farm bloc looked "pretty close."

SOVIETS SAY STALINGRAD CAN AND WILL BE HELD BY STALWART DEFENDERS

Flatwood Club Met Sept. 17th

The Flatwood Home Demonstration club met September 17 at the home of Mrs. T. E. Robertson. Roll call was answered by giving the number of eggwegs got the day before.

Mrs. Turner gave the council report, Mrs. T. E. Robertson and Mrs. D. E. Webb gave a report on their trip to Fort Worth.

The members voted to have the club meetings twice monthly. Part of the afternoon was spent making curtains for the school lunch room.

There will be an all day meeting September 30, at the church for the purpose of sewing for the Red Cross. All women of the community are invited.

Trained Women In Big Demand For Navy Tasks

PHILADELPHIA (UP)—Note to college-trained women:

Government, business and industry have good jobs for you and the salaries are not so bad either.

There is a definite trend toward the payment of higher salaries than women workers formerly received, especially college graduates, according to Dr. Clarence E. Clewell, Placement Service Director of the University of Pennsylvania.

"Various fields which were almost completely closed to women workers before the war have been opened to them," said Clewell, "and many employers now realize for the first time that there are a number of jobs which women can fill as well as men."

The greatest demand is for women trained in such subjects as mathematics, chemistry, physics and accounting. Some firms are providing additional training for women who have had the essential basic preparation and who display aptitude for the work involved.

Civilians Learn How To Fight In Guerrilla Style

CLEVELAND (UP)—A battalion of guerrilla fighters—trained to commando like sharpness—is being molded here from an awkward, puffing collection of factory workers, sportsmen and business men.

Fifty candidates already have begun a series of courses designed to make first-class fighters out of men who've never shot a thing deadlier than rabbit.

The organizer is Fred D. Orzen, of a Republic Steel plant's protection department, and Orzen has obtained the approval of Army ordnance officials for his guerrilla training.

What will eventually be a full-size battalion will be composed of men in I-A draft classification. Most of them will be supplying their own guns unless they are financially unable to secure any.

Drilling is to be held on two or three Sunday mornings a month, and it consists of a military curriculum that would make a commando glib.

Here's what the boys will be learning:

Juften, manual arms, drill formation, marksmanship, rifle, pistol, shotgun and automatic rifle use, knives, rope ties, wood lore, reconnaissance combat principles, camouflage, military strategy and tactics, disruption of enemy communications, incendiary bombs, grenades, first aid, trench and fox hole warfare.

The entire idea, said Orzen, is simply to form the nucleus of a civilian army—as Russia has done on a larger scale—"just in case."

"Civilians saved Moscow, helped keep up the resistance at Sevastopol and Stalingrad, and are still raising havoc behind German lines in occupied Russia," he pointed out. "We ought to have civilian guerrilla squads here, too."

URGES PROTEIN FOODS TO TAKE PLACE OF MEAT

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Sept. 22 (UP)—Meat rationing, which administration leaders are believed to be planning within the next few months, offers no threat to the American public's health if the right substitutes are used in the diet, according to a food study released today by the Northwestern National Life Insurance Co.

"Commonest and therefore most dangerous error is to try to replace meats by eating more starches and sweets because they satisfy hunger and cost but a small fraction as much as meat," the report said.

"Both adults and children can remain plump on such a diet, but in a few months become ailing, 'peppish' and an easy prey for many diseases."

Urging the proper amount of protein foods to replace meat in the diet, the report lists cheeses, made either from whole milk or skim milk; whole milk; dark or enriched bread and cooked whole cereal as substitutes for meat.

The American housewife can assure healthful yet economical protein replacements on meatless days, the report said, by observing these simple rules:

"Over half of an adult's protein requirements can be secured from the daily consumption of one pint of milk, half a pound of dark or enriched bread, and one cup of cooked whole cereal—either cracked wheat, oatmeal, brown rice, or barley."

The remaining protein, equal in amount to that furnished by a liberal serving of lean meat, can be secured from any two of such dishes as a half-cup of cottage cheese; one cup cooked beans—navy, lima or kidney; two eggs; a two-ounce slice of cheese; four tablespoons of peanut butter; a small serving of fish, or a cup of custard or bread pudding.

"Vitamin and mineral needs of the body are then completed by a liberal daily serving of fresh yellow or green vegetables with fruit or fruit juice also."

The report pointed out that teenage youths need the childhood ration of a quart of milk a day, in addition to adult proportions of other foods.

The study suggested that bakers can help ease the meat shortage by making part-soybean flour bread, cakes and cookies available.

"The housewife who knows her food values will thicken gravies, soups and stews with soy bean flour or soy grits, with sharp improvement of 'meat substitute' values," the report said.

Soy is one of the few vegetable values of meat proteins."

The report urged the American housewife to get better acquainted with the values of soy flour and grits.

"The United States is now second only to Manchukuo as a producer of soy beans, and American families should get acquainted with this valuable 'naturalized citizen' and learn how to use it," the report said.

Is Drafted Again Upon Same Date

TROY, N. Y. (UP)—A veteran of the first World War, Charles D. Guerin walked into the office of his draft board waving a piece of paper.

"Look what I brought along with me, my induction notice for the first World War."

Sure enough, the paper showed that Guerin was called up for induction in the first World War on Sept. 9—the same day and month the board called him for induction in the second war.

Red Star, the official Soviet Army organ, today proclaimed conviction that Stalingrad "can and will be held" as German and Russian troops traded blows in street battles.

Moscow reports indicated that at some points in battered Stalingrad streets the Soviet forces had advanced, notably in the northwest sector, where they had pierced the German lines and recaptured an important height.

But at other points the Russians were as many as 2,000 planes in house-to-house fighting which raged under unprecedented Nazi air attacks, where it was said there were as many as 2,000 planes sorties per day.

In Cairo it was reported that desert raiders had thrust 550 miles behind the Alamein lines to attack Benghazi and Barca simultaneously with the previously announced British commando raid upon Tobruk.

Another coast column surprised Gado, Axis-held oasis only 125 miles from the Gulf of Sirte and held the port for nearly a week, wrecking supplies and installations.

Cairo believed that aggressive tactics of the Imperials had dealt a heavy blow to Marshal Erwin Rommel's attempts to reorganize his forces after his failure in the attack upon Alamein.

Prime Minister Winston Churchill, in a message to the British shipbuilders, reported the Allied shipping position has recently improved, but is still grave.

Tananrive Held Now By British Broadcast Says

LONDON, Eng. (UP)—A broadcast from Tananrive, capital of Madagascar, was interrupted today by the voice, in English, announcing the city had been captured by Empire Forces.

Although there was no official confirmation of the capture a spokesman in London said that it "probably was true."

"Sunk" Convoy Is In Russian Ports

LONDON, Eng. (UP)—The First Lord of the Admiralty reported today that the "great majority" of British and American ships in a Russian-bound convoy, which was attacked by Nazi forces, had arrived at the North Russian ports.

Proper authorities said the Nazi claims that many of the ships had been sunk were "exaggerated as usual."

The Will To Win

President Roosevelt, Donald Nelson, Leon Henderson, Joseph Grew and others have told us, over the past little while, that the United States is falling down on its job as the arsenal of democracy.

The fact is beyond dispute. Like Messrs. Roosevelt, Nelson, Henderson and Grew, this column also has tried to needle the public into greater activity by finding fault with its attitude, pointing out how much more each one could do than he has yet taken the trouble to do.

For this we offer no apologies. Of what we have said we retract no word. But perhaps the time has come to say something on behalf of us men in the street, us mechanics and artisans and clerks and taxpayers and bond buyers.

We are at fault, but we're not alone. We want to win, but we do not have the aggressive will to win; and one reason is that the men at the top do not display that will to win.

From Washington, starting with the President and working down, we hear a lot of talk about getting tough, and sacrificing willingly, and giving everything that we possess to beat totalitarianism.

All right, we're ready to get tough. We're prepared to sacrifice without a whimper. We will give our all.

Shall we sit around some more while the politicians decide whether they dare risk votes by antagonizing a few labor middlemen who misrepresents the rank and file of workers?

Must we continue to wait until politicians weigh the dangers of ignoring a few professional "farm spokesmen" who mis speak for the patriotic farmers?

Who is it that hangs onto the 40-hour week complex, at a time when the President says we are only at half production and when Donald Nelson says we are losing the war?

We're not very good at organizing scrap drives, to keep the steel mills going. We pay a lot of men a lot of money to do such things for us—to take the lead, tell us individuals what and how to do it. Are we solely at fault because our hired men in Washington have not done the job of organization that is needed?

We've been careless about rubber. Why? Because we heard so many conflicting stories we couldn't believe anything we heard. Because Mr. Roosevelt himself, in the best factious mood, stuck pins into several efforts to impress the public with the seriousness of the situation.

Now the Baruch Committee has made official what any good newspaper reporter could have discovered, given access to sources, and has verified what most of us did know and did say.

Must we have another Baruch Committee to verify that we are losing the war, before Washington will go to work and lead us to victory?

Sure. Pan us civilian laymen. Needle us to the limit. Tell us the truth, that we can't win the way we are going.

But give us leadership—courageous, self-sacrificing, non-political inspiration and direction and instruction—and we'll show the will to win.

Twenty-four-Hour Service In Office of Governor Pays Off During Hurricane

By Gordon K. Shearer United Press Staff Correspondent Austin, Tex., Sept. (UP)—Around the clock staffing of Gov. Coke K. Stevenson's office, which began after Pearl Harbor attack had its payoff when the Gulf struck the Texas Coast.

Long before the storm hit the office was gathering information on its progress and was in communication with the American Red Cross and state agencies to have all in readiness for emergency action.

Governor's secretary Ernest Boyett, assisted by William McGill, James Laverty and William Taylor remained on duty all through Saturday night, Sunday and Sunday night until the storm was reported playing out.

Manning a battery of telephones they used the office as a clearing house for information and direction.

Governor Stevenson, spending the week-end at Junction was kept in touch and when it appeared that patrol work would be helpful, authorized calling out the Texas Defense Guard.

ment was instructed to converge on the coast area. As patrol cars moved in from Central Texas, other equipment from Dallas and Fort Worth and other west Texas cities was concentrated at Austin and at Fredericksburg to await orders. The health department was kept advised of where sanitation engineers and other state department's were informed of road conditions and any storm development that might affect their operations or require their assistance.

Three general bulletins summarizing the conditions were issued Sunday from the Governor's office.

Secretary Boyett said the test of the 24-hour a day service from the Governor's office proved satisfactory. It had been planned originally as a part of the civilian defense operations in case of war emergency but found equally effective in disaster.

Gives His Car For Salvage and Enlists

AINSVILLE, O. (UP)—Nathan Hurvitz, 27, of Cleveland, expecting to be called into the army, drove his 13-year-old automobile to the garage of Fred Merrick, Painesville salvage committee chairman, and donated it for scrap metal.

Hurvitz, in charge of a summer camp here, told Merrick the car wasn't worth saving until after the war was won. "We're both joining up," he declared.

Army Separates Twins First Time

BRYN MAWR, Pa. (UP)—Even the Army had a hard job separating the Gallagher twins.

One, Francis J., was called for physical examination by his draft board. When Patrick J. heard about it, he volunteered with the same board.

Both went to the induction center but Francis was accepted and Patrick rejected by Army doctors.

The twins, both 21, are graduates of St. Thomas Moore High School, where they played on the basketball team. Both are members of the Union Fire Company.

BRING IN YOUR SCRAP FOR AMERICA'S FIGHTING WEAPONS!

What to bring...

Scrap iron and steel
Other metals • Old rubber
Rags • Manila rope • Burlap bags

Where to find it...

Search your attic... comb your cellar... rout it out of your garage and yard.

Where to bring it...

1. Sell it to a Junk dealer.
2. Give it to a charity.
3. Turn it over to your Local Salvage Committee, or wherever you see the Red-White-and-Blue Official Salvage Depot sign.

JUNK MAKES FIGHTING WEAPONS

- One old radiator will provide scrap steel needed for seventeen .30-calibre rifles.
- One old lawn mower will help make six 3-inch shells.
- One useless old tire will provide as much rubber as is used in 12 gas masks.
- One old shovel will help make 4 hand grenades.

Cost Of Living Still Climbing Despite Control

Dallas — Price control is proving effective but the cost of living is still rising in the Southwest, Regional OPA Administrator Max McCullough said today after reviewing survey data compiled by the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

In Houston, the cost of living climbed .8 per cent from July 15, 1942, to August 15. This is 11.2 per cent higher than it was a year ago, BLS figures showed. During the same period the cost of living rose 1 per cent in Kansas city.

In what BLS termed one of the largest increases among the major cities of that country, the cost of living in Wichita, Kansas, has 2.6 per cent within the last year. Food prices in New Orleans have jumped 18.2 per cent increase for since August 18, 1941. The survey in Dallas showed 18.2 per cent increase for foods within the past year, BLS reported.

The cost of living in St. Louis increased .9 per cent from July 15 to August 15, pushing the overall increase up to 11.6 per cent from the past year.

"Once more the increase in food prices can be blamed very largely upon those foods not subject to price control," Mr. McCullough said. "Price increases for foods not subject to OPA regulation amounted on the average to 2.2 per cent from July to August and nearly 10 per cent during the three-month period since mid-May.

"Of foods controlled by OPA, there was an average of .5 per cent from July 14 to August 18, but since May, controlled foods have declined 3 per cent. Total cost of all controlled foods and services were unchanged, while costs not under control rose by 1.3 per cent during the past month.

"With but few exceptions all foods not controlled rose more than usual at this time of the year. Among the greatest increases over the month were those of 18 per cent for lettuce, 14 per cent for sweet potatoes and 8 per cent for butter."

In his report to Mr. McCullough, Dr. Smith said, "such as white and eye loined, macaroni, canned salmon, and milk showed no increase. For a few other products, particularly beef and pork, there were price increases of 1 or 2 per cent, which, however, were relative small compared with advances for uncontrolled foodstuffs."

SERIAL STORY LUCKY PENNY BY GLORIA KAYE

CASTRO AGAIN
CHAPTER VIII

FOR her visit to the Kirk mills, Penny borrowed a slask suit from Midge. With a dinner pail under her arm and a pass clutched tightly in her fingers, she joined the men who passed the gate watchman on their way to start the 8 o'clock turn.

The mills stretched in an endless maze along the river. Penny was fascinated as she watched the processes of steel making. When the noon whistle blew, she was already tired, her feet protesting against the extended hike.

Men poured out of the mills, seated themselves on piles of lumber, and opened their lunch kits. Penny was due for a pleasant surprise. As she scurried across a railroad siding, she literally bumped into Bud Walsh.

"What in heaven's name are you doing here?" Bud demanded, when the first shock of meeting her had ended.

"It's lonesome at the Courier office," she told him, "so I thought I'd come over here to have lunch with some of the boys."

"Glad to have you with us," Bud said, warmly. "Come on over and meet the gang." Delighted, she shook hands with his friends.

"It feels good to sit down," she said. "I've been wandering around for hours." Happily, she opened the lunch box. The sandwiches Midge had made tasted good. She gave Bud one of the pears packed neatly into the kit.

"You're not going to go wrong on Midge," Penny assured Bud. "She sure can make good sandwiches." All the men laughed. The whistle signalling their return to work blew all too soon.

"Don't worry, Penny," Jim answered, grimly. "I've met his type before. In Paris they were a lot smarter, a lot tougher, and a lot more dangerous. He's right when he said there isn't room enough in this town for both of us. I don't like rats."

Penny would never forget the Thursday afternoon when her first story was published. She would always remember the thrill of watching the press roll slowly into action. Then Joe, the pressman, lifted a page still wet with ink. She saw her feature emblazoned on the front page.

There, too, was Jim's editorial alongside his story of the fatal bridge accident. He hadn't pulled any punches. Involuntarily, Penny shivered as she thought of the reaction his words would provoke among Kirktown's politicians.

That first issue, together with her first pay check, Penny put aside as carefully as though they were her most treasured possessions. She would always cherish them.

Now Penny learned the joys that every creative artist must feel. Her mill story had caught the attention of many eyes in Kirktown. People went out of their way to meet her. She was, as much at home now as though she had lived in Kirktown all her life.

The days ahead were busy ones. Penny was happy in her work. Her first mill story began a series of new adventures for her. Every department in the mills had a wealth of story material. She visited the teaming, busy little shops often that she was soon a familiar figure to the hard-working steelmakers.

She wrote about their hobbies. Many of the men were inventors. Some had traveled extensively, and they reported interesting experiences.

Every week, she learned more, too, about the grievances that disturbed the men's morale. They were petty things, mostly. Ideas, she found, were sarcastically rejected. Men were discouraged from trying new methods and new techniques.

Deep in the modern facilities installed in most departments in the mills, there were still a few places where safety devices had been neglected. There had been nasty accidents.

Many of the foremen and superintendents were hardbitten, arrogant. They aroused resentment rather than loyalty. Then, too, Kirktown offered little recreational outlet, and the workers had little incentive for self-improvement.

All these things and more Penny discovered in her conversations. She found out, too, that in the men who worked in the Kirk mills there was the foundation for progress and growth. Steel making coursed through their blood as much as printer's ink had begun to run through her veins.

The time was coming, soon, when Penny must make her decision. Should she take an active part in management of the mills? Should she shoulder the problems she knew existed? How would the Kirk executives react? And how would tough, independent, scrappy steelmen feel about working for a frail girl who was a tiny little, by comparison with them?

"Hm," she said to herself, laughing inwardly, "it might be fun at that."

Castro isn't the kind who throws money around promiscuously," Penny cautioned. "He means business. You're a real threat to him. I'd watch out if I were you."

"You're not going to go wrong on Midge," Penny assured Bud. "She sure can make good sandwiches." All the men laughed. The whistle signalling their return to work blew all too soon.

"Don't worry, Penny," Jim answered, grimly. "I've met his type before. In Paris they were a lot smarter, a lot tougher, and a lot more dangerous. He's right when he said there isn't room enough in this town for both of us. I don't like rats."

Ranger Man Is Appointed Upon Rationing Board

W. S. Adanson, county judge of Eastland County, has appointed Pleas E. Moore of Ranger as a member of the three-man County War Price and Rationing Board. Judge Adanson's letter announcing the appointment reads as follows:

"The Hon. Hall Walker, Mayor of Ranger, has nominated you to fill the vacancy on the Eastland County War Price and Rationing Board, caused by the resignation of E. A. Ringold.

"I have forwarded your name to the Hon. Mark McGee, state Director of the Office of Price Administration for his approval.

"I am herewith enclosing blank oath for you to take and return to me."

Old Juke Boxes, Coin Machines Given To Drive

A former Ranger resident has donated a quantity of scrap, left here when he moved away, to the Carl Barnes Post of the American Legion, to be donated or sold to go into the local salvage drive.

Joe Thompson, former linotype operator for the Ranger Times, has written as follows:

"The American Legion Post, Ranger, Texas.

"Gentleman:

"Knowing that you are surely working hard on our scrap metal drive, I thought you would possibly accept some of the old coin machines I left in Ranger when I left there.

"They are stored, or were a year or so ago, in the building beneath the telephone exchange, and in crud rubber, aluminum, old phonograph records, many of them, in fact a lot of the stuff was left that you could add to

NYA Boys And Girls Donate To Blood Bank

Boys and Girls of the Ranger NYA war production training center proved today that they are not satisfied with their contribution to the War effort of just training for a War industry—sixty-one of those health young Texans each voluntarily donated a pint of blood to the Texas blood plasma bank.

The blood given today at the Ranger center brings the "bank" being held in readiness at the state health laboratory in Austin, to more than 200,000 cubic centimeters all of which has been donated by youth training at NYA war work centers at Houston, Inks Dam, Waco, Cuero, and San Marcos.

State health department officials collaborated in making plans for the blood bank immediately following the attack on Pearl Harbor and was set up primarily to be administered to civilians in the event Texas cities and towns are over-bombed—its most effective use would be in connection with bomb-shock or burn victims.

Assisting Dr. P. M. Kuykendall and Joe Holt in conducting the blood bank here were Miss Ida L. Beatty, Ranger, and Miss Mary Maness, NYA regional health representative, Mrs. Helen McKee, NYA nurse, L. J. Rode and Miss Miriam Hollander, state health laboratory technicians, all of Austin.

County Enlists Almost Half Of Quota For Navy

The two-week "Lexington Volunteers" recruiting drive, launched by the Navy Department last Monday, is expected to lend stimulus to Naval enlistments for the North Texas district during September and serve to boost the month's total past the goal of 3,600 recruits, Lieut. L. H. Rideout, Jr., officer-in-charge, announced today.

Latest figures show that nearly 2,500 enlistments have been handled at the main station in Dallas, and Lieutenant Rideout pointed out that a whirlwind campaign during the final days of September will bring in the recruits necessary to round out the month's quota of 3,600 men.

To date, total figures for the month include 13 recruits from Eastland County, where the September quota is 34.

Every man recruited during the two-week "Lexington Volunteers" campaign, prompted by the launching Sept. 26 of a new aircraft carrier bearing that name, will receive certificates which they may keep as mementoes. Lieutenant Rideout explained that 10,000 more blue-jackets than are ordinarily enlisted nationally during a two-week period are anticipated.

A recruiting officer will be in Dallas Sept. 29 - 30 and Oct. 1 to interview applicants for the Seabees, popular overseas construction regiment. Applicants should remember that physical examinations must be passed and two letters of recommendation must be presented to the Dallas recruiting station anytime before Sept. 29. This must be done before inter-

Dr. Kuykendall said that plans are underway for a return trip by the laboratory technicians at which time the blood bank will be open to the public. He added that adequate notice would be given later in order that local citizens who wish to donate may place their name in line.

Important Notice

To Our Gas Customer

We Respectfully Request your cooperation in making application for gas connection immediately if you will need gas service this Fall.

This may save you delay and inconvenience later on. In the past, we have received a flood of reconnect orders when the first "norther" hit. We have been accustomed to rushing these reconnects through rapidly but this year we shall not be able to do this. We are complying with a government order to reduce our tire mileage on all company trucks 25 per cent, and in order to do this, we must group our service calls in such a way that a number of calls can be made on one trip, instead of making a separate trip to take care of each call as it comes in.

It is our sincere desire to serve you the very best we can and we shall make every effort to do so, but we earnestly request you to save yourself possible delay and discomfort by requesting your reconnects immediately, so we can take care of these orders before cold weather actually strikes.

You are also requested to get out your gas room heaters, clean them, connect and test them. If they need adjustment, notify us now, so you will not be caused inconvenience if it takes us several days to get around to you.

Your cooperation in this matter will be deeply appreciated by us, because it will help us in keeping up our standards of service, which we shall make every effort to maintain in the face of wartime conditions.

Ask For This Free Booklet

Today conservation is the keynote. Keep your gas appliances clean and in repair and take every precaution to preserve them. They may have to last you "for the duration"! To assist homemakers in the proper care of gas appliances and in their efficient and economical use, we have a booklet called "Home Volunteer's Defense Manual." A copy of this manual will be given to customers FREE upon request at our local office.
