GERMAN RADIO SAYS RUSSIAN PUSH IS NEAR

Attacks On Fronts Point To Opening of Campaign Nazi Radir Reports

LONDON, June 15.—Reports from Radio Berlin heard in London indicated that the Germans feel that the awaited summer campaign by the Russians is about to break and that attacks by the Reds on some fronts might be the initial assaults.

Earlier the Russians had reported that attempts by the Germans to cross the Donets River in the south had been repulsed and had proved very expensive to the Nazis.

The Germans, armed with tommy guns, attempted to cross to the west bank of the river in the Lischansk area, where the German line cuts east across the river. Several dozen of the party were mowed down by Soviet fire and many more were driven in the river, said the communique.

In the Orel sector, northwest of Mtsensk, the Soviet troops engaged in operations which the communique said were of local importance. Three German artillery and two mortar batteries were reported destroyed and more than one hundred Germans wiped out.

Three German planes were reported brought down by ground fire and two German airmen captured.

The Russian air force continued its activity and on various sectors of the front, the communique said, air units destroyed or damaged at least twenty trucks carrying troops and supplies, blew up an ammunition dump and silenced three artillery batteries. Several trains were also reported hit by Soviet attacks.

The Moscow radio reported in a separate broadcast that the Soviets had blasted troop trains with bombs at Orel during daylight June 13.

The broadcast recorded in London, said the Germans made air stabs at Saratov, about midway between Stalingrad and Gubyshev on the Volga, on the nights of June 12 and 13, but the Nazis were driven off by anti aircraft fire.

Several enemy aircraft smashed through over the city, the broadcast said, and haphazardly dropped bombs. Fires that broke out in residences were promptly extinguished. Some civilians were wounded. Six German aircraft were shot down.

The communique, which noted there were no important changes on the front, said that on the western front Russian troops wiped out about a company of German infantry and destroyed an artillery battery and six machine guns.

Thrusts by the Red Troops in the Orel sector was reported in the noon communique, which said four populated places were captured, counterattacks beaten off and German fortifications shell.

Soviet scouts attacked west of Mtsensk, dislodging Germans in four places and holding out despite enemy counterattacks. About 500 Germans were killed, eight tanks knocked out and artillery and mortar batteries silenced.

Soviet guns also laid a barrage upon enemy fortification in the Besek area southwest of Orel, while scouts scoured into the German positions and seized documents, killing twenty-five Germans.

New Edition Of Texas Almanac Now Available

Great economic and social changes are revealed in data presented by the 1943-1944 edition of the Texas Almanac, which has just been published by the Dallas Morning News. Approximately 400,000 rural Texans have shifted to urban residence and vocation since the census of 1940. For the first time in the history of the state, the majority of population is now urban, according to information in the new volume. More remarkable, relatively, has been the industrial expansion due to the founding of munitions, rubber, shipbuilding, aviation, and other war industries. Texas' manufacturing output has expanded as much during the last three years as in all preceding history.

Mineral production has also been greatly stimulated. Last official figure on value of all minerals produced was $954,211,150 in 1941, placing Texas far ahead of any other state. On basis of partial reports, the Texas Almanac estimates total value of minerals produced in 1942 was more than one billion dollars. While petroleum, natural gas and natural gasoline counted for most of the production, Texas would rank high among the states without the oil group. During the last two years, there has been rapid increase in the number of minerals produced in Texas, and in 1942 there was commercial output of more than sixty different kinds.

Next to the greatly increased manufacturing and mining production, military activity has had the most notable effect on recent Texas developments. While reasons of military secrecy prevent release of some information the new Texas Almanac lists twenty-two major Army camps, in addition to which there are more than fifty Army aviation fields. At San Antonio and Corpus Christi, the Army and Navy have, respectively, their greatest air training centers.

While the chapters on military activities and industrial expansion are the principal items of current interest, the new Texas Almanac is essentially the all-around reference book that it has been, ranging through the whole field of Texas' historical, civic and economic data. The date of the battle of the Alamo, the cotton production of Jones County, the name of the State Comptroller, the number of deer killed in Texas in 1942 and thousands of other classes of information in as widely diversified fields can be found on its pages.

The Texas Almanac is a biennial publication, and the new volume is for two years, 1943, and 1944. It is bound in paper at 60c on newsstands, 75c by mail; also in cloth at $1 on newsstands, and $1.15 by mail.

Husks For Hot Tamales Come From Illinois

JONESBORO, Ill. (UP)—The hot tamale may be an esteemed Mexican titbit, but it is dependent upon Illinois cornfields for much of its piquetness.

Sam Allen of Jonesboro has a $10,000 yearly business selling corn husks to tamale manufacturers. A one-man business most of the year, Allen hires experienced cutters during the autumn rush season when the corn husks must be harvested.

When the corn is at the right stage of ripeness, Allen and his men carefully remove the outer wrapping of "shucks". Care must be taken not to get dirt into the husk—it is almost antiseptic when first opened. Corn silks must be cleaned out and smutty or diseased husks thrown away.

It takes about 5,000 husks to make a 50 pound bale. The bales are then shipped to tamale manufacturers in St. Louis, Chicago, Texas and Georgia.

Allen has been in the business for several years and says it is now at its brisk pace. The demand far outruns the supply.

Mediterranean Mystery: Is Italy the Invasion Aim?

Invasion is brewing in the Mediterranean, but it's still anybody's guess where the initial attack will come. Mounting Italy is the obvious objective, and her flat beaches, long coastline, broad river valleys and good rail communications are inviting to invasion. Allied bombings of Italy and the strategic islands seem certain prelude to attack, but strategy here may be to deceive the enemy. Map shows the terrain of this invasion arena.

Home Accidents Take As Many Lives As Disease

AUSTIN, Tex. —The general opinion prevails in America that home is about the safest place there is. However, the facts prove that, far from being the safest, it is often quite the opposite.

In commenting on the urgent need for the protection of life and limb in the American home, Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, today declared that accidents in the home are the cause of more deaths than diphtheria, scarlet fever, whooping cough, and measles combined, or more than appendicitis; of nearly as many as diabetes; of over two thirds as many as automobile accidents; and of over a third as many deaths as tuberculosis.

"Slippery floor surfaces, lack of handrails on cellar steps, absence of protective gates at the tops of stairs in homes where there are small children, toys left on polished floors, poisons in medicine cabinets accessible to children, and the careless storage of sharp tools and firearms are some of the more prominent hazards resulting in home accidents," Dr. Cox said.

"However," he added, "in the last analysis, the problem boils down to one of reasonable individual caution. We cannot view complacently the more than 50,000 deaths annually due to home accidents. These deaths, chargeable to remediable carelessness, can and should be reduced."

Dr. Cox declared that such a needless and pitiless loss of life should be deplored at any time, but to permit such a condition to persist in 1943, in view of our national crisis, is a neglect that cannot be condoned and one which can seriously cripple our war effort.

Mexican Volcano Again Sending Out Lava Flow

MEXICO CITY, June 14 (UP)—A large lava flow has burst through the side of Paricutin volcano and is pouring down the mountainside at the rate of 22 meters an hour—nearly a third of a mile a day—the Mayor of Paricutin village telegraphed the newspaper El Universal Monday night.

The Mayor indicated that unless the flow was diverted several small farming communities were in danger of being engulfed. The volcano, variously called Paricutin and Tancitaro, was born four months ago in a level corn field 200 miles west of Mexico City in Michoacan State near the city of Uruapan. In a spectacular, unceasing eruption it has built itself up to a steaming cone several thousand feet high.

The Mayor's message was not detailed but indicated the flow had broken through the northwest side of the volcano and was heading toward the hamlets of Paricutin and San Juan Parangaricutiro, a few kilometers away. The region is sparsely populated and many peasant families were evacuated when the volcano first appeared so inhabitants were not considered in immediate danger. However the property loss will be considerable if the eruption develops into a major flow.

Auto Use Stamps On Sale At All U. S. Postoffices

Collector of Internal Revenue W. A. Thomas announced today that the auto use tax stamps in the denomination of $5.00 were placed on sale in all post offices and offices of Collectors of Internal Revenue on Thursday, June 10. The stamps will evidence payment of the tax for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1943, and must be purchased on or before that date. The stamps will be serially numbered, will be gummed on the face, and will have provision on the back for entry of the make, model, serial number and State license number of the vehicle.

Mr. Thomas said that, to guard against loss or theft, it has been suggested that, when affixing the stamps, the vehicle owner should damp the windshield rather than the adhesive side of the stamp. This method has been recommended to keep the stamp intact upon the windshield. As an additional precaution, it has also been suggested that each motor vehicle owner should make a record of the serial number which appears on the use tax stamp; the event the stamp should become lost.

Every owner of a motor vehicle which is used upon the highways should call at his local post office or at the office of the Internal Revenue Collector and secure a $5.00 use tax stamp and affix it to his vehicle on or before July 1, 1943, the Collector said.

ALLIED AIR FORCES HIT RUHR VALLEY AND SICILY IN TERRIFIC POUNDING

SICILY ALONE IN BATTLE OF SEA ISLANDS

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS in North Africa, June 14 (UP)

Lampione, last of the Axis outpost islands, fell to Allied naval forces Sunday and with the Sicilian channel thus cleared American bombers intensified a pre-invasion offensive against air-dromes on Sicily itself, it was disclosed Monday.

A dispatch from a United Press correspondent aboard the British flagship indicated Lampione, a bare chunk of rock sticking up from the sea eight miles west of Lampedusa, was taken without a shot. Its sister island in the Isle Pelagie group, Linosa, had hoisted the white flag a few hours earlier.

The only structure on Lampione was a single boxlike building containing lighthouse equipment, and the island was unhabited, indicating the enemy evacuated before the British naval forces went ashore.

Airmen Pound Sicily
Lampione joined Pantelleria, Lampedusa and Linosa of the list of Allied island conquests—all achieved by bombardment or blockade without a soldier being landed—and the Axis now did not have even a lookout post between Africa and Sicily.

Powerful fleets of American Liberator bombers from the Middle East command carried the softening up process to Sicily Sunday, ripping the Catania and Gerbini airfields while the Northwest African air force took a well earned rest.

The daylight attacks rounded out twenty-five hours of concerted smashes against airfields on the sprawling island next to the toe of Italy, and the Liberators destroyed at least eight more planes—probably a great many others—while losing only one of their own.

Flying Fortresses and Marauders from French Africa had blasted upward of 150 planes on Sicilian airfields Saturday and that night RAF bombers of the Middle East command raided Catania, setting fires which could be seen a considerable distance on the return flight.

Attacking the same Sicilian coast target Sunday, the Liberators planted explosives across hangars on the north side of the field and scored hits on the main runway, Carlo dispatches said.

Bombs Hit Enemy Planes
Fifteen miles to the west another big Liberator formation attacked dispersal areas at Gerbini and crew members reported their objectives were well covered by bombs, resulting in big fires and explosions.

Three enemy planes which attempted to take off during the raid ran into falling bombs and were demolished. Others that got into the air attacked the Liberators.5 Messerschmitt 109 fighters were sent weaving earthward by the bombers' blustering guns.

On Northwest African air-dromes meanwhile, the heavyweights of the Allied strategical air force were kept aground after making history last week when they forced the capitulation of Pantelleria and Lampedusa without help of invasion troops.

Only patrolling and reconnaissance was reported by an Allied communique, and no planes were lost in the day's operations.

Demand Spurs The Fish Industry In New Jersey State

WILDWOOD, N. J. (UP)—Added to the crop of Southern New Jersey Farms this year has been the silvery harvest yielded by the sea to meet the greatest demand in the history of the state's commercial fisheries.

A glittering stream of fish hauled from the Atlantic by the cramped fingers and backs of the workers of this newest war industry pours onto South Jersey fishing wharves at the rate of 250,000 pounds a week to replace rationed meats in the nation's diet.

Stories likely to raise an old timer's eyebrows are told of single boat catches running up to 50,000 and 60,000 pounds despite a serious labor shortage some fishermen hope to solve by hiring service men to work the nets.

"Our workers are making more money than they ever did in their lives," said Jesse Louderman of the Cold Springs Fisheries. "They are averaging $8 a day. If we could get the men, we could bring in even more fish. I've asked that soldiers and sailors on furlough be allowed to work on the fishing boats to get a crack at that $8 a day, and I am waiting for a government ruling."

Meeting of The Retail Merchants To Be Wednesday

A. J. Ratliff, president of the Retail Merchants Association, has called a meeting of that organization for Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Association's office in the City Hall building.

The purpose of the meeting is for the election of officers and all members of the association have been asked to turn in their choice of officers before the time of the meeting. It is especially important that all members attend the meeting.

A demonstration on canning berries was given by Helen Childress, Asst. Home Demonstration Agent. The following club members were promoted to Second Lieutenant in the Girls 4-H Victory Army: Betty Moore, Dianne Sanders, Dorothy Kathryn George, and Wanda Sue Rose.

ROME, BERLIN BAFFLED AS TO NEXT ATTACK

By United Press
Possible signs of invasion were seen today at scattered points all the way around the coastal rim of Axis Europe from Norway to the Turkish border.

Allied air forces slugged heavily at the Axis from two directions. The Royal Air Force sent a powerful raiding fleet against the Nazi army city of Oberhausen and other targets in the Ruhr. From Africa and Malta other planes hammered Sicily, the invasion outpost of Italy.

British authorities sealed the frontier between Syria and Turkey to guard Allied invasion plans. Yugoslav guerrillas were reported uniting in a solid front against the Axis. The Germans were evacuating civilians from outlying Greek and Norwegian islands.

Concern over where the next Allied blow might fall was evident in broadcasts from Rome and Berlin, where the propagandists sought to whip up the spirit of their peoples.

Allied Headquarters, North Africa—RAF speedy Mosquito bombers pestered Italian and Sicilian targets again last night following a two-ton block buster raid by Wellington bombers on the Messina Harbor and railroad terminal Sunday night.

The Mosquitoes strafed the island and the toe of the Italian boot, hitting railroad stations, freight yards and sidings at Licata in Southern Sicily, and scoring hits on a factory, a power plant and a railroad station in the toe of the Italian boot.

Japs Bombs Fall On Guadalcanal

WASHINGTON, (UP)—Jap planes succeeded in dropping a small number of bombs on Guadalcanal in a night raid but no damage was done to American troops or material, the Navy announced today.

Gibraltar, at the Mediterranean gateway, continues to play a key war role as the harbor through which pass allied convoys. From nearby La Linea, Spain, axis spyglass outposts, have come reports of warships and transports gathering "the Rock."

Yet a paratrooper's confidence in his equipment makes his jump easier. His chute has been checked and rechecked. His green cover-all uniform is briar-proof. His special boots are reinforced to protect his ankles from the shock of landing.

This is another example of how the Army designs special uniforms for special jobs. Down to the underwear—where styles and fabrics match the climate.

You can also have good styling and easy-fitting comfort in your underwear. For, during the past 40 years, the makers of HANES Underwear have kept up to the minute in knitting and tailoring underwear for comfort and long wear.

As one example, HANES Crotch-Guard Shorts (shown at right) provide gentle athletic support. For warm-weather comfort, wear them with a HANES Undershirt. Knit to exact chest size. ### Kentuckians Are Trained For Farm Jobs In The East

DOYLESTOWN, Pa. (UP)—The group of men in blue ducagrees and wide-brimmed hats stared in amazement at a tractor chugging down a plowed field towing a mechanical potato planter.

"That contraption has planted more potatoes in the last 15 minutes than I could plant in a whole day on my farm in Kentucky," said one lanky individual when he recovered from the surprise at his first day at the National Farm School, Doylestown.

The men, all former farmers in the hills of Kentucky and West Virginia, were among hundreds undergoing training methods before they are assigned to farms in the northeastern United States to relieve a shortage of skilled farm labor.

These descendants of American pioneers, retracing the steps of their forefathers, are overwhelmed at the benefits of working in the East. Where they formerly carried water a quarter-mile from a spring, they now turn on a faucet, electricity replaced oil lamps and wages are many times higher than those earned in their former homes.

Hardworking and deeply religious, they make willing and able workers. One Pennsylvania farmer summed it up:

"Kermit is the most satisfactory worker we ever had," he said. "We like him and he likes us. He has made a new home for his wife and three children. They arrived from Kentucky last Saturday night and it was like bringing them into a new world, into surroundings better than any they had ever known."

The farm school which acts as a clearing house for workers brought north by the Farm Security Administration, already has placed approximately 300 on Pennsylvania and New Jersey farms. Once placed, they settle down quickly to the job of producing food for victory.
