Mrs. Nannie Walker Pioneer Resident Dies

FUNERAL TO BE AT BAPTIST CHURCH SUN.

Roll Of Guard Is Depleted By Call To Service

Mrs. Nannie Walker, 81, and a resident of Ranger and vicinity since about 1884, died this morning at 1 o'clock at the City County Hospital following a short illness.

Funeral arrangements will be conducted at the First Baptist Church in Ranger Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock with Rev. David M. Phillips in charge. Interment in the Evergreen Cemetery. Arrangements will be by Killingsworth's.

Mrs. Walker was born Nannie Ray, May 18, 1862 in Mississippi and came to Texas when eight years of age. The family first settled in Leon County where her father was a Baptist minister. The trip to Texas was made by way of the Mississippi River and the Gulf of Mexico to Galveston and from there by rail to Crockett. The remainder of the trip was by wagon.

After the death of her father, Mrs. Walker returned to Mississippi to live with her grand parents and be educated in that state. She attended and graduated from Blue Mountain College at Blue Mountain, Mississippi, and after graduation came to Texas to teach school.

She came to this section and taught school in several schools in Eastland and Stephens Counties, including the school at Bullock and the Vedic school.

In 1885 she was married to Lyman Newnam, then a building contractor and rancher near Caddo. Two children both of whom survive were born to the couple, M. R. Newnam of Longview and Mrs. Gladys Reed of California. Mr. Newnam died in 1890 and Mrs. Newnam died in 1895. Mrs. Walker operated the ranch alone.

Prior to her marriage to Mr. Newnam, she married J. W. Walker at Breckenridge and in 1898 the couple moved to their ranch about two miles north of Ranger. Two children were born to Mr. and Mrs. Walker. They are Hall Walker, of Ranger and a former mayor, and Mrs. Leon Caruthers of San Antonio, both surviving. Mr. Walker died in 1911 and from then on and until the time she became ill, Mrs. Walker managed her properties alone.

In October 1917, just before the start of the oil boom here, a well was drilled on Mrs. Walker's property north of town and made a gas well, later turning into an oil well. This has been termed by some as opening up of activities which developed the world famous boom. She was an early member of the Macedonia Baptist church and for many years had been an outstanding leader in the First Baptist church in Ranger. Just a few days before her illness she was present at a banquet at the church and took part in the program. No finer tribute can be paid Mrs. Walker than the high regard held for her by everyone who knew her, both young and old. She possessed all the fine qualities of character required to meet the trials of life and never met a difficulty with fear. She was strong in her convictions and courageous in living by them.

Survivors besides the children listed, the deceased is survived by one brother, J. E. Ray of Lawton, Oklahoma, and six grandchildren as follows: Mrs. J. E. Algie of Greenville, Miss Dorothy Jean Keefe of San Antonio, Mrs. John McMillan, Jr., of San Antonio, Morris Newnam with the Navy stationed at Houston, and Wesley Walker and Miss Amelia Walker of Ranger. Three great grandchildren also survive. They are John

Every effort is being made by members of Company B of the Texas State Guard to enlist the service of more men in Ranger, and as Texas State Guard Week comes to a close the officials of the local company have issued a roll of the guard one year ago, showing how many men have been taken from the ranks to service with the armed forces.

In the following roll men whose names are marked by the star are now in the service of the armed forces and where there are two stars beside a name, that indicates that the person is a commissioned officer.

TIME HERE FOR ATTACK ON JAPS SAYS NIMITZ

FEARL HARPOR, Territory of Hawaii, Nov. 11 (UP)—Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, commander in chief of the United States Pacific fleet, said Thursday night the time has come to attack and that the Pacific fleet will give the Japs no rest.

"While we are again at grips in both hemispheres, we see the beginnings of a new victory," Nimitz said during an American Legion broadcast commemorating Armistice Day.

"Speaking for the Pacific fleet, we feel that victory is sure. But we also know that bitter and bloody fighting lies ahead."

It was Nimitz's second warning in twenty-four hours to the Japanese that they would soon feel the expanded might of the American forces. Addressing the Marines here Wednesday on their 16th anniversary, Nimitz declared that the United States now had the means to take the offensive, and that "we propose to do this in the most direct manner."

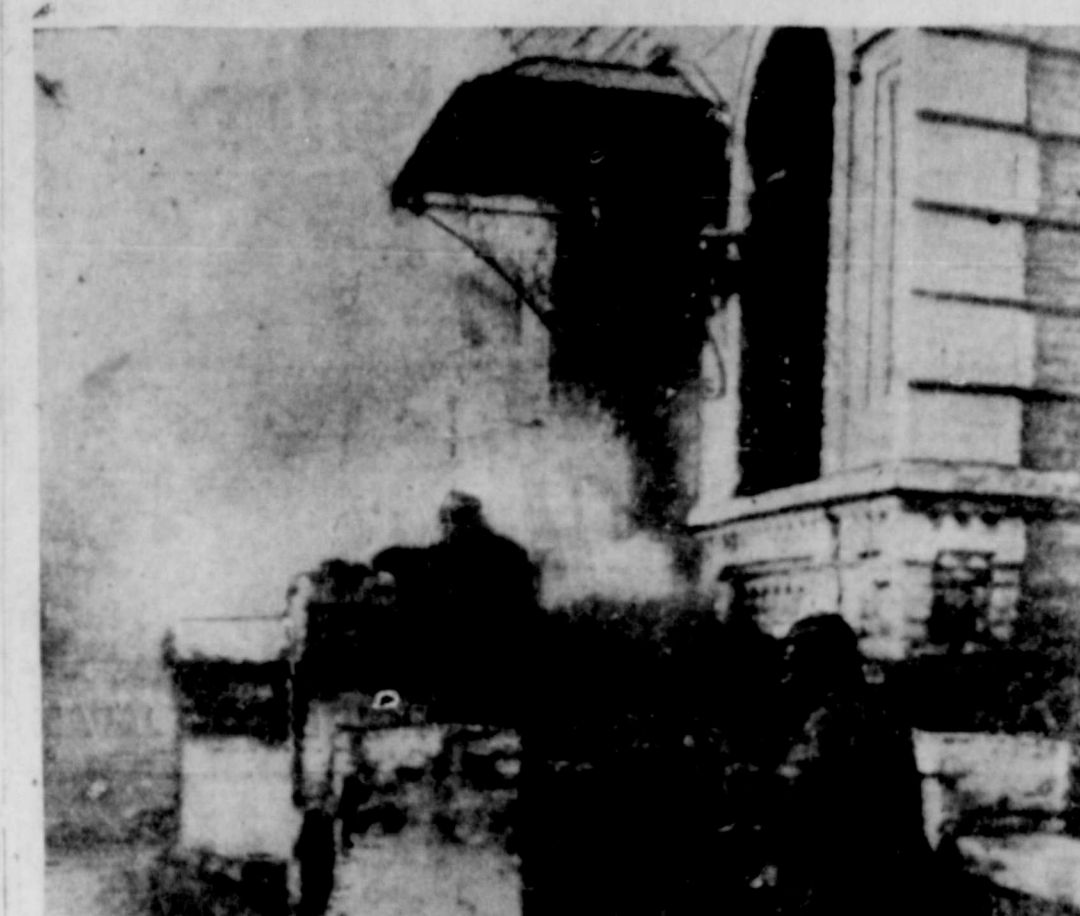

The Pacific fleet commander noted that for two years the United States faced the necessity of containing the enemy while gathering strength necessary to drive through to the vital of his defensive system.

"Now," he emphasized, "we are getting ships, men and planes."

Reviewing the Allied accomplishments in the Pacific, Nimitz said: "Our north flank in the Aleutians has been secured. In the south and southwest Pacific, intensified attacks by all forces have placed the Japs in a precarious position. In other areas he has been relatively unmolested, but henceforth we propose to give him no rest anywhere. Our time has come to attack."

Nimitz warned that the Japs could be expected to continue their fanatic opposition and that a substantial price would have to be paid in the coming offensive.

GIRAUD WILL DIRECT FRENCH AGAINST NAZI

ALGIERS, French North Africa, Nov. 12. (UP)—Gen. Henri Giraud, whose role in French affairs was cast in question by the reshuffle of the French committee of National Liberation Tuesday, asserted Thursday night that he will lead the French expeditionary corps against the Nazis.

Spurring charges by some followers of Gen. Charles de Gaulle, now undisputed chief of the French government at Algiers, that he had not properly renounced affiliation with Vichy, Giraud said bitterly: "I have no further comment to make. When one has done what I have done, acts are sufficient."

"I have lost everything; my wife and my children are in prison. They should let me win the war."

Giraud made his statements in response to writing to eleven questions propounded to him before Tuesday cabinet meeting. His replies, coming Thursday after the reshuffle, gain added significance.

Liaison exists, he explained, between the French army and resistance movements in France, particularly the Council of Resistance, but it needs to be perfected.

"The best element as regards ardor and desire for revenge," he said, "is the officers and men who have escaped from France during the past year."

Ranger Students Prominent In Music At College

Special to Ranger Times.

DENTON, Tex.—Seven musical organizations at Texas State College for Women are giving approximately 275 girls a variety of training in future leadership as music teachers and band directors as well as furnishing them with a means of furthering their particular interests in music.

The 70-piece Symphony Orchestra and Modern Choir of 60 voices will give two formal joint concerts during the year on the College Concert and Drama Series, the first of which will be Dec. 7. Informal concerts also are planned.

Organized last spring, the 80-piece band gives students training in actual band work, a field now open to women more than ever since the war. The first concert will be Nov. 1 and assembly programs and twilight open air concerts will be scheduled through the year. Band director is Frederick Westphal.

In demand for Army camp shows and other off-campus engagements are the Serenaders and Collegettes, dance bands, with student directors and a faculty sponsor. Specialty groups are the Vocalaires, ensemble of nine voices, and the Violin Trio.

Three students from Ranger participate in these musical activities at the college. They are Mary Ann Jones, 326 East Main, who plays drums in the Symphony Band, and Collegettes; Francine Hatley, 441 Pine, string bass in the Symphony and the Collegettes; and Merl Dean Hancock, 295 Homer, violinist in the Symphony.

Misses Jones and Hatley are music majors, while Miss Hancock is majoring in home economics.

BULLDOGS WIN FROM CISCO IN THURS. GAME

Spurred by the spirit of rivalry between the Cisco and Ranger football teams, the Ranger Bulldogs in one of their best games of the season defeated their old football foes, the Cisco Lobos, by a score of 13 to 6 in a game played at Cisco Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock, thus making Ranger fifth in the district.

From the start the Bulldogs proved their superiority and plowed down the field for consistent gains which led to the first touchdown which was made when Larson carried the ball through the line and over the goal. Fans also had a thrill when Larson received a punt in the second quarter and returned the ball 50 yards before a Lobo reached out from behind and pulled him down.

The Cisco team's six point-came in the second quarter when Harrelson intercepted a Ranger pass and sped down the field for the touchdown.

Ranger's second touchdown came in the third quarter, when Larson again carried over, after the ball had been taken to within a few yards of the goal line by a penalty on Cisco. The Bulldogs scored the extra point on this play and made the score 13 to 6.

Though the Cisco team was able to complete passes, one after another, the Bulldogs held them almost without gains on the line plays.

Starting lineup: LE—Arthurburn. LT—Walker. LG—Pruet. C—Browning. RG—Warner. RT—Oyler. RB—Gordon. QB—Dabbs. LH—Townsend. RH—Wickey. FB—Larson. Others who played in the game: Warner, Williamson, Smith, Buddick, Woods, English, Franklin, Ford.

STILL SEEKING 1918 SOLDIER CAMP ADAIR, Ore. (UP)—Soldiers stationed here were asked recently if any of their buddies happened to be named Frank Roe. They were informed that postal officials at Wichita, Kan., have been looking for Roe—looking for him ever since the last war. They want to give him his Army discharge papers issued Dec. 21, 1918.

MUENSTER IS BLASTED BY YANK FLIERS

LONDON, Nov. 12 (UP)—American Flying Fortresses flying through thick clouds, blasted the German rail and waterway center of Muenster with good results Thursday following up a two-way aerial onslaught from Britain and Africa Wednesday that cut Italy's main links with both France and Austria.

The powerful Deutschlandsend, a long-wave station in Berlin flicked off its transmitter Thursday night indicating the RAF was taking up the offensive over Reich territory and the Vichy radio reported earlier that Allied planes had attacked new targets in southeastern France.

Faced by the fourth Fortress attack on Germany in eight days Allied planes of all types and believed numbering more than 1,000 flew back and forth across the channel in uninterrupted waves from dawn to dusk in operations against targets on the Continent.

Although some Fortresses were recalled because of the bad weather, large formations completed the 330-mile journey to Muenster and hammered the city for the third time by American planes and the twenty-fourth time of the war. The last was on Nov. 6 by American Liberators.

Four Fortresses lost. Four Fortresses were lost when the American formation dropped their Thunderbolt a 24 lightening escorts 30 miles from the coast on the return trip after being accompanied all the way to the target, but fighter pilots and bomber gunners shot down ten enemy planes.

The Fortress raid featured a day of widespread activity over the Continent, including raids by American and RAF medium and light bombers and fighter-offensive sweeps in France.

The Warsaw radio went off the air Thursday night as the Nazi Governor, Hans Frank, was making a speech. The Bremen station and several transmitters in France and the Low Countries ceased sending at the same time.

Station Built In 1907 Being Demolished

One of Ranger's most familiar landmarks, the Texas and Pacific railway freight depot on Main and Commerce, is being torn down and new loading platforms and a warehouse will be constructed in its place.

Offices of the freight depot have been moved into the passenger station and all operation of the railroad for Ranger will be conducted at that building. T. O. Rawls stated that men will be on duty at the passenger station 24 hours a day.

The station was built in 1907 and served as passenger station until the new station was built in 1932. Constructed of Peccos sandstone, the building that is being torn down replaced a frame structure which was built when the railroad was brought into Ranger about 1887.

T. O. Rawls, agent for the railroad in Ranger, stated that as a little boy, he watched the construction of the old sandstone building. Rawls has been with the railroad since 1911. For a short time after this he was away from Ranger for a while, but returned here in 1916 and has been with the company since. He stated that his company felt that all work could be consolidated in the one building and that it was no longer necessary to maintain both buildings. He also stated that the building known as the "new station" was large enough to handle current business and could handle a much larger volume of business.

BOMBING ONE OF MANY MADE AGAINST NAZI IN 24 HOURS

LONDON.—Allied bombers tightening an aerial stranglehold on Germany's battered communication with Italy have cut the coastal railroad through the French Riviera in attacks from Britain and the Mediterranean theater, communicans announced today.

Lt. Gen. Carl A. Spatt Z-S Liberators smashed by daylight yesterday at the coastal line in the Antheor area near Cannes, the third rail bottleneck to Italy to be bombed in 24 hours.

The Royal Air Force sent its bombers down from Britain last night to in-are the rupture of the line with a bombardment of the Cannes yards and other key railroad targets.

The tri-axner aerial blows followed crippling assaults by American and British heavy bombers on the Lyon-Turin line at the Mont Cenis tunnel and the Brenner Pass road at Bolzano.

The two-way offensive against the coastal railroads was rounded out by Royal Air Force Mosquito bombers which attacked Berlin, Hannover and the Ruhr.

While one flight of Liberators from the Mediterranean area hit Antheor, another bounded over the Alps to attack Anney, the deepest point in France yet attacked from the theater.

COMPANY B IS MOBILIZED ON THURSDAY AT 9

Members of Company B of the Texas State Guard, by order of the commanding officer at Austin, were mobilized at 9 o'clock Thursday morning at headquarters and from there went to Eastland where they participated in the Armistice Day Services.

Members of the Guard with other participants formed for a parade which marched to the courthouse. At this point a firing squad from the Guard headed by Capt. Paul MacDonald fired a three volley salute to soldiers who died in World War I.

Following the parade Memorial services were held at the First Methodist church with Chaplain David M. Phillips of the Texas State Guard in charge.

Jenkins Funeral To Be At Caddo Saturday At 2

Funeral services for M. B. Jenkins, a former resident of the Macedonia Community near Caddo, will be held at the Church of Christ at Caddo, Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock with interment in the Macedonia Cemetery.

Mr. Jenkins was killed in an accident in Long Beach, California, and upon arrival in Ranger the body will be in charge of Killingsworth's.

Injured Soldier Is Removed From West Bound Train

Pvt. George W. Leonard of Ft. Bliss who suffered injuries when he fell from a west bound passenger train about a mile east of Ranger Thursday, was removed from the train at the Ranger station and taken to the West Texas Hospital where it was determined he had sustained a broken arm in the fall.

Cause of the accident was not determined and crew men of the train stated that they did not know how Pvt. Leonard came to fall from the train. When informed that he had fallen from the train, the crew backed the train up and picked up the passenger. He was placed on a stretcher in the baggage coach from which he was removed at the station.

Pvt. Reese Now In Ireland With The Armed Forces

Mrs. Eugene Baker has received word that her son, Pvt. Buster G. Reese, is now serving with the United States Army somewhere in Northern Ireland. Pvt. Reese has been in the service since November 1939 and trained at Ft. Sam Houston and just before embarking for foreign duty had been stationed in Wisconsin. His wife is making her home in Austin while her husband is in service.

Two other sons of Mrs. Baker are in the service. They are First Sgt. Tom F. Reese with the Coast Artillery in Greenland and Master Sgt. W. R. Reese, now on maneuvers somewhere in Louisiana.

Clark Makes An Armistice Day Pledge To Dead

WITH THE U. S. FIFTY ARMY, Nov. 12 (UP)—Standing dramatically amid the freshly turned graves of his American troops who fell in the battle of Italy, Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark, commander in chief of the United States Fifth Army, pledged Thursday that their living comrades would continue the fight against the German mad dogs until not only Rome has fallen but Berlin.

His vow that the dead would be avenged was made at a World War I armistice anniversary ceremony held in the latest American ceremony in Italy, where 11,295 Yanks and sixty-one of their foe.

Another story that could not even be rumored except in the truly democratic United States has to do with another White House telephone call. A suburban wife got annoyed with a goat that kept wandering onto her lawn and nibbling her Victory garden sprouts. Again and again she asked the police and the owner of the goat to call off said animal. But the goat kept coming back.

The afternoon the goat ate four tomato plants, a pumpkin vine and a Japanese beetle sprayer, she called the White House. They will know what to do with goats, she reasoned. They used to have sheep on the White House lawn. Besides, the White House knows what to do about everything. While she was holding the White House phone waiting to be transferred to—let's say—the White House Goat Expert—an unexpected voice sounded in her ear. It was the voice that has launched a thousand new enterprises in the past 11 years. The same golden voice, "Good gracious, Mr. President!" the matron said. "I—I—I certainly didn't think I'd get you. I mean, isn't this wonderful! I—er—er was only wanting to talk to somebody about the goat that keeps eating my Victory garden. And I—er please excuse me! There must have been some mistake!"

The president allowed there must have been some mistake. But declared he was interested in Victory gardens and he'd always liked goats even though they were a little trouble now and then. He'd like to reconcile the goat and the garden, if he could. Matter of fact, maybe he really could.

The end of the story—the neighbor locked up the goat. And the suburban matron will always believe it was because the president of the United States told her to.

America is wonderful! Aren't you glad you live here?

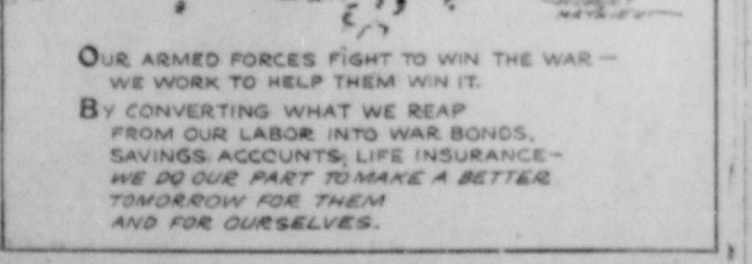

IT HAS SEEMED TO ME, as I have sat for several delightful hours in the gallery of the senate listening to the debates on the Connally foreign policy declaration, that what congress needs is a good grammarian. Improved Hours are wasted deciding on the meaning of certain words such as "an" and "the"—in themselves Over 1918 Innocuous.

My opinion, if you would have me go further, is that if the Mackinnon resolution, done by the alert Republicans at their recent Michigan convocation, the Fulbright resolution of the house of representatives and the Connally resolution were boiled down by some good grammarian, skimmed of their "whereas" and "heretofore" and "on the other hands" there would be just about nothing left but good intentions.

Still, those good intentions are intentions to save the post-war world from immediate disaster and from that World War III which people are already talking about. Heaven be praised for such intentions. Let the words of the resolutions take care of their own vapid selves.

A year ago the prospect was chaos. We are farther ahead in national mood than at a similar period in World War I.

1/2 tsp. pepper
1/2 cup shortening
Combine hamburger, potatoes, onion, salt and pepper, and mix well. Shape into 4 patties. Fry patties in hot shortening until brown (3 to 5 minutes). Turn and brown on other side. Eat and smack your lips.

American housewives are solving meat rationing problems in an ingenious manner. Many are extending meats by combining them with vegetables, cereals and other health-building foods. In this way, one pound of meat is stretched to take the place of three or four.
The recipe at left is one of these "extenders". You'll find many more in your newspapers, magazines and on food packages. Many of these recipes are good. Get the most out of them.
Get the most out of your gas range, too. It provides an ideal cooking service assuring perfect control of heat for every culinary task. "Low temperature" oven cooking, for example, reduces meat shrinkage as much as 1/3.

Use of Music In Factories Steps Up Production

AUSTIN, Tex. (UP)—Art is rapidly becoming a commodity as a result of the growing use of music in war factories, according to Dr. Archie N. Jones, professor of music education at the University of Texas.

"Music, as art, has been confined to a few people—the professional musicians—but as a commodity which can speed up factory production, it becomes useful and understandable to all," Dr. Jones explained in the current issue of "The Southwestern Musician."

Dr. Jones said that actual scientific experiments by physicians proved that music does have an effect on bodily processes.

According to the professor, some five thousand factories, ship yards, and armaments furnish musical programs from one to two hours daily. Production increases resulting from this program ranged from 1.3 per cent to 11.4 per cent.

Dr. Jones predicted that an increased interest in the entire field of music education at the University of Texas, followed by a corresponding increase in the number of musicians.

Museum Displays Chinese Painting

NEW YORK (UP)—"The Tribute Horse with Escort, Moving Through a Mountain Landscape," an ancient Chinese painting said to be the Metropolitan Museum of Art's most important acquisition of Chinese painting in two decades, has been placed on public view at the museum for the first time.

E. L. MARTIN CO.

ern Art, says it appears to be a "sport" among extant Chinese painting.

The scene is that of a glittering company passing in procession through an impressive landscape. Priest points out that most Chinese paintings depict individuals and groups of persons small in comparison with surrounding mountains, a characteristic attributed to the Chinese realization of man's place in the universe. Though the "Tribute Horse" is set in majestic mountains, the resplendent procession demands primary attention. Priest suggests that the painter may have been—paying courtly compliment to one of the famous tribute horses of his emperor—in this rare instance weighing "imperial glory against immortal hills."

Defendant Has A Perfect Alibi

ST LOUIS, (UP)—Frank Motherway, assistant circuit attorney, got the surprise of his career recently by asking a defendant where he had been hiding while police searched for him to make the arrest.

"I wasn't hiding from anyone," the defendant answered, "and just to prove it, I was at your house that day."
