RANGER DOCTOR

Dr. Kuykendall One of Trio To Take War Load

Along with 2 other medical doctors remaining after the drain for military service, Dr. P. M. Kuykendall is carrying on in behalf of the health of the community in Hanger, bearing a part of the load that was once borne by more than twice their number of doctors.

Dr. Kuykendall who has been practicing in Ranger for the past fourteen years, was born in Brady, Texas, where the old family residence is still maintained. His parents were the late Dr. P. Kuykendall and Ella Naylor Kuykendall. He was educated at Ferson Academy at Moody and in his last year of high school he attended the public schools of the town. The academy had closed. After graduation from high school, he attended A. & M. College and four years later graduated from that institution. He then entered Vanderbilt University where he studied for three years, and in another year completed his medical work at Baylor University in Dallas.

Upon graduation from Baylor he went into World War I, in 1917 and spent 17 months in the thick of the fight in France. He was discharged from the army with the rank of major in 1919. On leaving the army he went to Desdemona, then a thriving oil town, and practiced medicine there until 1930 when he came to Ranger, having purchased the interest of Dr. S. L. Barnett in the West Texas Hospital and Clinic. Here he was associated with the late Dr. T. L. Lauderdale until his death in 1940. Dr. Kuykendall is now the sole owner and operator of the Hospital and Clinic.

During the years that he has been practicing he has done post graduate work at Washington University in St. Louis, Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore and Tulane in New Orleans.

Early in his career he was married to Miss Alla Ray Elliott, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Elliott of Muskogee, Oklahoma. Their one daughter, Mrs. James P. Morris, who makes her home in Ranger.

A sister of Dr. Kuykendall's, the late Laura Kuykendall was dean of women at Southwestern University and an only brother, Charles P. Kuykendall died of wounds received in World War I. He has a half sister, Mrs. Fred Acree who makes her home in Moody.

Aside from his very busy life with his profession, Dr. Kuykendall has always been active in civic and church affairs, having served as president of the Chamber of Commerce from 1931 to 1934. He served as president of the Rotary club in 1935 and that year attended the International meeting of Rotary in Seattle, Washington. He is a past president and also secretary of the Eastland and Callahan Counties Medical Society and is currently serving as president of the Chamber of Commerce. For a number of years he served as a steward of the First Methodist church.

With reference to his work and plans for the future Dr. Kuykendall stated that plans are under-

NAZI EXPECT INVASION IN NEXT 120 DAYS

By Henry P. McNulty
United Press Staff Correspondent
LISBON, Jan. 29. (UP)—Neutral diplomatic sources reported from Vichy today that the German high command expected the Allies to invade France within 120 days and was massing troops, guns and tanks accordingly.

One Vichy source was quoted as reporting that the Germans seeing April as the most likely invasion month, were concentrating large reserve forces near Paris and Lyons and were building new rail lines fanning out from those cities to vital coastal points.

A third large reserve force was reported being held in the Hainland, from where it can be rushed to the point of greatest need in trains commandeered for the purpose.

In order to assure the greatest possible mobility, the Germans at present are keeping only enough troops actually on the invasion coast to man the guns, one source reported.

German military experts were quoted as claiming the Nazis were keeping only enough men on the Russian and Italian fronts to maintain present lines. The Germans were reported planning "to deal first with the invasion or invasions and next turn their full attention to Russia."

Ranger Boys Lose Bouts In Golden Gloves Contests

Eugene Wright and Jack Townzen who entered the district Golden Gloves tournament held at Abilene, Friday and Saturday, both took it on the chin, but not until they had put up a good fight and won the admiration of the fans by their spunk.

The following comment on the bouts in which the Ranger boys fought, was made by an Abilene sports writer:

The youthful zeal of Eugene Wright, Ranger high school boy, was no match for superior skill and experience of Pfc. Frankie Al-bright, 12th division open lightweight titlist and Albright finished off his plucky little opponent in short order with a technical knockout in minutes, 10 seconds of the first round. Wright hadn't gone to the canvas but was obviously near out on his feet when Referee Sully Montgomery halted the show.

A second Ranger boy, Jack Townzen, was outclassed by Cpl. James Mahan, 12th division, in the welter division and Mahan took the fight away in 50 seconds of the second round with a TKO. Townzen managed to stay with Mahan to the end of the first round but the punishment he had taken showed up in a hurry in the second.

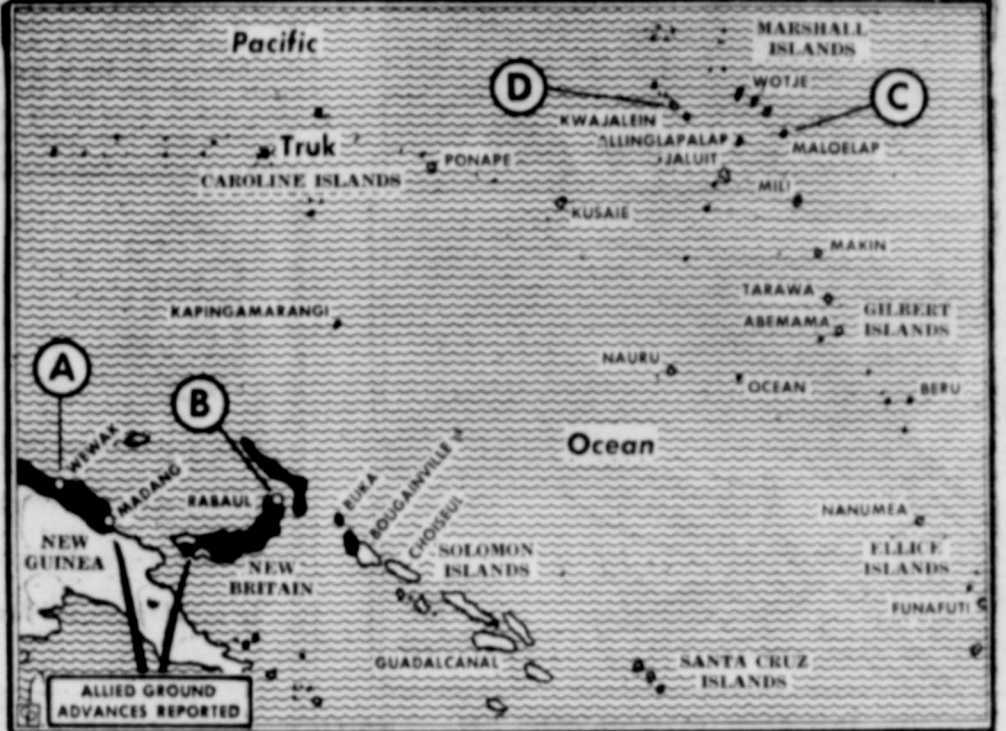

Clyde Garrett To Be Speaker At Baptist Meeting

Rev. David M. Phillips pastor of the First Baptist church, announced today that Clyde Garrett, Baptist layman and former Congressman from Eastland, will be the guest speaker at a meeting of the Brotherhood of the church to be held Tuesday evening.

The meeting will be open promptly at 7:45 o'clock at the church and the members are promised plenty of "food, fun and fellowship."

Plans for renovating and partially remodeling the West Texas Hospital and that as soon as materials are to be had, he expects to add a wing to it.

AS ALLIES STEP UP AIR OFFENSIVE IN PACIFIC

ALLIED PLANES HAVE STEPPED UP the air offensive in the Pacific with lethal blows being aimed at the Japs' mid-Pacific Marshall islands. A total of 23 Jap fighters were shot down and 12 others probably downed in a dog fight over Wewak (A), strong northeast New Guinea base. Then, at Rabaul (B), 15 Jap interceptors were destroyed out of a flight of 70 trying to protect Lakulani airbase from an attack by medium bombers. At Maloelap in the Marshalls (C), five Jap Zeroes were shot down during Allied attacks. At Roi airfield on Kwajalein atoll (D), one and perhaps four more Zeroes were downed as a formation of a dozen interceptors by Allied fighters. (International)

Philadelphia Woman Is Hostess To Ranger Boys

Typical of the American spirit is a letter just received by Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Arterburn from Mrs. Miles W. Stewart of Philadelphia, a woman they have never met but who has been hostess to their son, D. C. Arterburn, who is stationed with the Coast Guards in that area.

Mrs. Smith stated that Charles Hargrave, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Hargrave, has also been their guest and that both boys were in the best of health and spirits.

Mrs. Smith has a son in the service stationed in Oregon and a son-in-law stationed in Wales, and with a thorough understanding of how boys so far from home may feel she has taken these two Ranger boys to her home on a number of occasions.

Captured Enemy Material Shows Quality Decline

NEW YORK. (UP)—A study of captured enemy material by the U. S. Ordnance Department shows that German equipment is now far inferior in quality to that used six months ago and occasionally some of it shows signs of workers' sabotage, an article in the current "American Machinist" discloses.

John Haydock, managing editor of the magazine and author of the article, said that the major deterioration was to be found in the use of "ersatz of ersatz" materials. He used steel cartridges as an example and said that while first brass-plated steel was used, now welded low quality steel was used, with a resulting lack of violence in explosion.

Poor workmanship also was apparent in material captured from the Germans, Haydock said, and some weapons date back in design to 1900. Japanese weapons also betray ancient vintage and all foreign weapons show inferior armor plate, the article said, describing one Japanese tank captured at Kiska which was equipped with armor so light it dented under a hammer.

Victims of Japanese Atrocities

These four Americans who escaped from a Japanese prison camp in the Philippines tell a vivid story of Japanese atrocities perpetrated upon American and Philippine prisoners in the camp. They tell the story of their experiences in a story just released by the War Department. They are: Major Jack Hawkins, U. S. Marine Corps, of Roston, Texas. Corporal Reid Carlos Chamberlain, U. S. Marine Corps, of El Cajone, Calif. Major Michel Doherty, U. S. Marine Corps, of Ironton, Minn. Commander Melvin Mc Coy, U. S. Navy, of Indianapolis, Indiana. International Soundphotos

Word has been received from Mrs. Ida Hunt that her grandson, Roland Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. O'Neal Williams of Sebastian, is recovering from burns received in a fire which took the life of his sister, Janice.

Mrs. Williams, mother of the two children, will be remembered as Miss Vera Hank.

William Allen White Is Dead

EMPORIA, Kan. Jan. 29 (UP)—William Allen White, editor and publisher of the Emporia Gazette, died at 4:15 a. m. CWT today two weeks before his 74th birthday.

White underwent an abdominal operation at the Mayo-Clinic last October and failed to recover fully. He had been confined to his home for several weeks.

SCOUT TROOPS AID IN SALE OF WAR BONDS

Members of the Boy Scout Troops Numbers 12 and 53 proved themselves super salesmen, Saturday, when under the direction of the Rotary Club's Fourth War Loan Drive committee, they solicited the town for sale of bonds.

C. B. Pruet, chairman of the work, reported that a total of $3,400 in bonds was sold Saturday, and that Boy Scouts got the credit for the major portion of the sales.

Boy Scouts were literally everywhere Saturday and it was not easy to say "no" to the persistent little salesmen. Pruet said that the exact number sold by the scouts had not been tabulated but that they had sold dozens of the best.

The Rotary club has devoted the two Saturdays during the drive to the sale of bonds and to date the club has reported a total of $31,490 in bonds has been sold by the club and the Boy Scouts.

Nephew of Ranger Woman In Raid Over Germany

According to word received by relatives, Sgt. Billy Rust formerly of Ranger, and now with the Eighth Air Force based in England, participated in the raid over northwest Germany on January 11.

During the raid, all the landing gear was shot from Sgt. Rust's plane, but the crippled plane flew back to England, and made a "belly-landing". Sgt. Rust was thrown against the plane's gun, and received several gashes on his face.

He has been on 16 missions and has been awarded two oak leaf clusters and one air medal. He is the nephew of Mrs. Carl Heinen and the grandson of the late "Uncle Billy" Niver. His parents who lived in Ranger for many years, are now making their home in Hamlin.

LAST GERMAN HOLD ON RAIL LINE BROKEN

LONDON (UP)—The Red Army announced tonight that it had stormed and captured Novosokolnik, 70 miles east of L'viv, in a sudden attack above White-Russia, and to the north-east had occupied Chudow, breaking the last German hold on the Leningrad-Moscow Railway.

MOSCOW, Jan. 29. (UP)—Red Armies, closing a trap on upwards of 250,000 Germans, tore huge new chunks out of the integrating enemy bulge below Leningrad.

The Russians appeared closer to the encirclement of a huge German army at any time since Stalingrad.

Slashing into the Southern Flank of the Nazi salient, Gen. Kyril A. Meretskov's vanguards west of Novgorod swept across the Leningrad-Vitebsk railway, next to the last escape route out of the bulge, and pressed on toward the main Leningrad-Pskov line, 23 miles to the east.

The Germans were reported reeling back in disorder under the Soviet hammer blows. Thousands were cut off by the speed of the Russian advance and annihilated. Others surrendered.

On the northern flank of the bulge, Gen. Leonid A. Govorov's Leningrad armies swept up more than 50 towns and villages south and southwest of the former capital, pushing to within 34 miles of the Estonian border and narrowing the escape corridor to 65 miles.

Seabees In New Guinea Salvage Japanese Barges

Somewhere in New Guinea—(UP)—Three days of hard work of salvage gave a group of Seabees a "fleet" of three Japanese barges.

The naval construction unit moved into a northern New Guinea base on the heels of retreating Japs, who scuttled several barges in a river before they left.

The boats had rested on the river bottom nearly two weeks, but were repairable. Qualified mechanics cleaned the engines, which were German and Japanese manufacture Diesels, repaired the water pumps and welded breaks.

Seabees now make several trips daily along the coast in the barges, saving long waits for land transportation. Cherry's outfit, by the way, also salvaged and is using a heavy truck left behind by the fleeing Japs.

Thousands Will Dance At Benefit Balls Tonight

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29. (UP)—Thousands of Americans will dance tonight for the benefit of the infantile paralysis fund on the occasion of President Roosevelt's birthday.

Mr. Roosevelt will be 62 years old tomorrow—and according to his personal physician, Navy Surgeon General Ross T. McIntyre, healthier than at any time since he came into office 11 years ago.

But the birthday balls—annual benefit celebrations since he has been president—will be held tonight.

Proceeds from the many balls, midnight shows and other events scheduled for last night and tonight will be presented to the infantile paralysis foundation by the President's Birthday Ball committee for distribution among various organizations.

Yule Tree Flows 6,000 Miles

SEATTLE, (UP)—A Christmas tree from Washington's vast fir forest was flown 6,000 miles, together with all the trimmings, to an island in the south Pacific to comfort Americans stationed there and to amaze the natives. The tree was shipped in a ski box to Commander Leif Melson of Seattle, by Robert LaBov, an old friend.

Servant Situation Is Called Another Post-War Problem Domestic Service Can Be Glamorized, Is Contention

By HELEN ESSARY Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON—The question is asked a hundred times a day—"What is to be done with the fighting men after the war is over?"

Not the regular Army and Navy men, but the men who have been drafted into the largest force of warriors this country has ever known.

What is to become of them after they are mustered out of uniform and into droopy civilian clothes?

I have another side of the same question to ask—What is to become of the women who have helped win the war? Not the women in the armed forces. They will have improved in ability and assurance.

It is the future of the women of the prettily-named "leisure class" who have been working well and faithfully in the uniforms of the Red Cross, the AWWA and other organizations that give me concern.

There is already informal talk around Washington among organized groups such as the Federation of Women's clubs that here is probably the biggest opportunity to prove their worth, that has come organized women's way.

I have had some pretty awful servants in my time. But then I have had some pretty fine ones, too. Loyal ones, kind, encouraging and likewise able to whisk up a pie crust or stir a sauce with the ease of Mr. Deimonson when he was young.

I can't say that the memory of a certain Evelyn, who served me grapefruit with a lumpy cream gravy when I was sick in bed convalescing from an attack of influenza, pleases me.

But then I gloat over the thought of Lulu and Alice who switched about in starched aprons, blipping up rooms and telling me how pretty I was mess-around. Lulu and Alice said they liked working for me because I made them feel important.

The first step in the settling of the problem is to raise the standard of domestic service. By this I mean make domestic work a profession. Don't tell me it cannot be done.

See how wise the Army and Navy is in glamorizing the tough work they ask of the armed forces. They use every trick to encourage the men to do the work needed to be done.

When you think of adult Hollywood and the way in which its experts have glamorized a group of people for the most part dull in the head and treckled of epidermis, then you have got to admit that domestic work can be made to seem desirable.

One of the first steps in this new occupation I offer post-war women organizations is to make frivolan domestic work a career worthy of respect and ambition. The only way in which to do this is to establish schools of training. In a small manner, pro-war England did this.

They had certain rules of behavior for themselves and rules to which their mistresses must conform.

The attitude of the mistresses—let us change the word now to employers—was an important part of the success of the English graduate nurses.

There will also have to be more attention to work, a greater feeling of responsibility, more skill, more pride in good work on the part of the Domestic Employee if the crusade is to work.

WHAT DO WE MEAN BY RESPECT

Upon looking up the definition of respect, we find that it means "to honor" or "to obey," and I write this little article so that each and every one of you will think about it and try to be more respectful to others.

The following are some good rules to follow if you wish to be respectful:

- 1. Obey God and God's word. 2. Obey your mother and father. 3. Obey your teachers and those who have rule over you, and learn to follow directions in a cheerful manner. 4. Lastly learn to speak only when spoken to; remember, the wisest person isn't the one who talks so much.
