COULD THIS BE THE ONE? This ominous-looking cloud was spotted heading toward Nazareth last Thursday night. After storm clouds cleared out, residents a mile north, a mile south and up to three miles west of Nazareth reported damage from either high winds or possible funnels. The county was placed in a tornado warning at about 9 p.m. after spotters reported a possible tornado on the ground between Dimmitt and Nazareth.

Severe weather attacks area

Severe weather pelted the county during the past week, spawning heavy rains, small hail and even a report of a possible tornado.

During the past week, KDHN Radio, National Weather Service observer for Dimmitt, recorded 3.05 inches of rain, with most of that coming late Saturday night and early Sunday morning when more than two inches fell around Dimmitt and Nazareth. Small hail accompanied the storm, but little damage was reported.

Heavy rains also fell last Thursday night around Nazareth, and that storm, kept local spotters busy.

The National Weather Service issued a severe thunderstorm warning for Castro County at approximately 8:45 p.m., and followed that with a tornado warning at 9 after spotters reported a tornado on the ground between Dimmitt and Nazareth. Light damage from the funnel was reported from residents a mile south and one to three miles west of Nazareth.

"We thought it was one (tornado). We spotted a swirling cloud and dirt was rising toward it from the ground," said Susie Jones, who lives just west of Nazareth. "I don't think it touched down, but we didn't stay around to see. We hid in the basement. Later we found a stock trailer which had been blown through an electric fence and a lot of our corn was on the ground."

Vincent Gerber, who lives two miles west of Nazareth, said a tree branch had been "forced through" the back and front windshields of his pickup.

Duane Maurer, who lives 1-3/4 miles west of the city, said winds turned over one horse shed and a swing set which were in his yard.

Other damage was reported by Clyde Schulte, who said he had a

Valadez files election lawsuit

A lawsuit has been filed by Frank Valadez of Hart in US District Court in Amarillo asking that the March 10 primary elections held in Castro County be declared "unenforceable."

The suit claims that the present "voting scheme" (redistricting plan) of Castro County has been implemented without preclearance from the Attorney General of the United States, and therefore the "voting scheme" and elections under it should be declared null.

Valadez is listed as the plaintiff, and is declared a US citizen of Mexican descent, a resident and taxpayer of Castro County, and a qualified voter, according to the complaint in the case.

The suit further claims that the present "election scheme" for electing members of the commissioners' court was intentionally created "with a discriminatory purpose and violates the civil rights of Plaintiffs by diluting their votes."

"The present election scheme of electing members of the commissioners' court results in a denial or abridgement of the right to vote of the Plaintiff on account of his race or color in that the political processes leading to nomination or election of members of the commissioners' court are not equally open to participation by Plaintiff in that he has less opportunity than other members of the electorate to participate in the political processes and to elect representatives of his choice," the suit stated.

Facts stated in the case are that Castro County adopted a voting change and submitted the change under Section 5 of the Voting Rights Act to the Dept. of Justice. On March 30, the Dept. of Justice objected to the new election scheme. Castro County had already implemented such voting change by conducting the election for March 10.

The suit says the Plaintiff will be "irreparably harmed by the continuing violation of his statutory and constitutional rights" if the county is not stopped from using the rejected redistricting plan.

San Antonio attorney Rolando L. Rios and Dallas attorney William L. Garrett of Garrett & Thompson filed the suit on behalf of Valadez.

Rios was listed as the attorney in suits filed against redistricting plans in Deaf Smith, Terry and Hale counties.

The suit has been served on the commissioners' court, but it has not been discussed yet.

County Judge Polly Simpson said she is waiting to hear from Bob Bass, the county's attorney in the redistricting process.

County Attorney Jimmy Davis and Bass had advised the court to proceed with the March 10 election as though the new lines had been approved, since the Justice Dept. had been so slow in notifying the county about the status of the redistricting plan. (It was not rejected until 20 days after the primary elections.)

Rhynes resigns

Castro County Sheriff Lonny Rhynes tendered his resignation, effective July 6, at the Monday meeting of the Commissioners' Court.

Rhynes said he is moving to Sherman in Grayson County, where he will serve as a 15th District Court Deputy. He had declined to run for re-election in the March primary.

In a special session Tuesday, the commissioners voted to advertise for candidates for the appointment to fill the remainder of Rhynes's term, which will expire Dec. 31.

In the primary election, C.D. Fitzgearld won the Democratic nomination for the office. He faced a field of two other candidates, but no Republican candidate filed. Unless a qualified write-in candidate files in the proper time, Fitzgearld

Charges of racism, lying erupt over redistricting

Amid accusations of racism and lying, the Castro County Commissioners heard a plea from Larry Gonzales to stop spending taxpayers' money and to "start spending your own personal funds" to fight the redistricting suit for the county.

Gonzales, a spokesman for the Hispanic community in Dimmitt, asked the commissioners at their Monday meeting why they were continuing with the suit instead of accepting the US Justice Dept. ruling that the county's redistricting plan was illegal.

The commissioners said it was not ruled "illegal."

"It was not approved, but they did not say we couldn't ask for reconsideration," said Pct. 2 Commissioner Dale Winders.

"Why couldn't you do it by yourselves? You had to hire an attorney to do this? Who's going to pay for this?" Gonzales asked.

The commissioners said the county is paying for it, because it is the county's redistricting plan.

"We're not wasting county money," Winders said in response to a statement by Gonzales.

"Yes, you are. You're wasting county money and time," Gonzales replied. "You're doing something that you yourselves are not happy with."

"We worked on the plan. You were on the committee, the county advisory committee, that worked on the plan. You were there one time," County Judge Polly Simpson said.

"I was gone the other times. I was here the last time also and I was not allowed to say anything. You said I was not on the agenda," Gonzales charged.

"Let me finish talking. The county advisory committee met. Those people agreed on this plan," Simpson stated.

"Judge, ask any of them. They don't know what they agreed on. Ask any of them on that board. They don't know what you were showing them," Gonzales said.

"We think we have a plan that is fair to everyone involved," Pct. 3 Commissioner Jeff Robertson said.

"Fair to who?" Gonzales asked.

"Everybody in Castro County," Robertson said. "We had the meetings in Hart and Dimmitt. We think it's a fair plan, and that's the one we want to stick with. We don't think drawing up a plan like you want is fair to everybody."

"I didn't draw no plan up," Gonzales said.

The commissioners countered that the county's redistricting attorney Bob Bass had attributed an alternate redistricting plan to Gonzales.

Gonzales said that Bass was a liar and he would call him that to his face.

Robertson produced a statement from Bass detailing the plans.

"Plan B—Larry Gonzales Plan: This alternative was devised to accommodate Mr. Gonzales' demand that the predominate minority precinct be centered in Dimmitt," the statement said.

"There is no way I have drawn any plan. I don't have the figures that y'all have," Gonzales said, but added, "Now, there is a plan right now for consideration."

"Who drew it up?" Simpson asked.

"The attorney general gave it to y'all," Gonzales said. "Somebody has. I don't have that."

How does a toad
Get in a commode
Without hopping up
from the floor?
Emily is wondering,
And Nona is pondering,
And James doesn't know
for shore.

So what if the weather and the election rhetoric get hotter by the day?

Put the Brazilian rain forest, the spotted owl and the ozone layer on the back burner.

Here, we've got something more pressing to attend to.

We want to know, by gosh, how those toads are getting into our commodes.

And we won't rest easy, so to speak, until we find out.

Our first report came from Emily Ramey a couple of weeks ago, after she had discovered a toad using her commode for a swimming pool.

When she reported her find to the newspaper, I thought the frog simply had gotten into a break somewhere in her sewer service line and worked its way up to the commode. After all, haven't there been stories in the past about baby smoke and heat damage totalled the rest of the home. Firefighters were unsure of the cause. Those wishing to help defray expenses may contribute to a fire fund for John and Janie Schumacher that has been established at the Hereford State Bank.

American Field Service

It's almost "transition time" for American Field Service exchange students around the world, including Sine Christensen of Denmark and Dimmitt, and Marion Lorber of Germany and Nazareth.

Both girls are scheduled to leave July 2 to return to their native lands and families after experiencing America for a year in an environment of family, school and community.

But if past experience is an indicator, we haven't seen the last of Sine and Marion. They may return in future years, as have other AFS students before them, to renew acquaintances and visit their American families.

Sine is the "daughter" of Richard and Colletta Young, and the sister of Molly Young.

Georgiann Klemann of Nazareth is Marion's "American mother," with Nicole her "sister" and Kerry her "brother."

Later this summer, another one or two wide-eyed teenagers will arrive here from other lands to begin a year's adventure of living in America. They, too, will forever become a part of their American families.

This international drama has been repeated dozens of times here during the past 32 years.

It was in the summer of 1960 that Pia Nasman of Finland came to Dimmitt to live with the G. I. Clingingsmith family as the county's first AFS exchange student. (Pia, now an international fashion marketer, came to love Dimmitt so much that 20 years later she sent her daughter, Nina Moberg, to live with former classmate Dickie Reinhardt Holcomb during her senior year.)

The experiment in international understanding became an instant hit here, and since 1960-61, students from Australia, Japan, France, Belgium, Italy, Greece, Brazil, Germany, Ecuador, Cyprus, New Zealand, Sweden, Canada, Yugoslavia, Ireland, Norway, Switzerland, South Africa, Iceland and Denmark have made Dimmitt their "American hometown" for a year.

The Nazareth community has been active in the AFS host program since 1985.

Also, many Dimmitt students have lived in other countries as AFS exchange students through the years.

Officers of the local AFS chapter are Martha Jo Hyman, president; Bobbie Bruegel, treasurer; and Sue Boozer, family-student coordinator. Martie Benton is the AFS area representative.

It's a great program, and we're glad it's a part of our local tradition!

Sunnyside By Teeny Bowden, 647-5703

Gay Sadler took David back to the doctor in Amarillo Monday for a checkup on his leg. He has another appointment Monday.

Don Ott came Friday and Saturday to help out with the store. Elton Gulley is keeping things going.

Rev. John and Ginger Hazle took Teeny Bowden to Amarillo for an injection, but the doctor advised putting it off.

Teeny Bowden received a telephone call from Lillian (Mudd) Griffin of Heame on Tuesday evening. She was excited about the Sunnyside school reunion July 18-19. She had received a letter from her brother, Steve, who we called Salvester. She and her husband, Grady, are coming, and hope to bring Julia Mae and Mary with them. They plan to take them to see "Texas" at Palo Duro Canyon on a Monday night.

Teeny also received a letter from Ruth McCrary saying she had received the invitation to the Sunnyside school reunion, but she said she couldn't come. She would love to, and said to tell everyone hello for her. She is having to enter the hospital soon for surgery. Woodie McCrary of Lockhart is just out of the hospital following back surgery, so he may not be able to attend either.

Rev. John and Ginger Hazle had an outing at Lake Mackenzie Tuesday and Wednesday. They borrowed a tent from his dad and spent the night Tuesday. They took the tent back to Pampa Saturday, and got caught in the "flood" at Dimmitt. His car drowned out north of the curve and he had to be towed out. Then they hit the water near Paxton's Tire Shop and floated for a while.

Ezell and Verba Sadler left Wednesday for Breckenridge Lake to prepare for the McWilliams reunion over the weekend. Larry and Sharon and Jeremy and Joshua Norman may have gone, too, since they were scheduled for a meeting in Dallas this week. Stacy and Jim may go down later.

Cheryl Logan of Fort Stockton and Brett and Teresa Sirmans, Ken, Amber and Tiffany of Canadian spent the weekend here. Norman Logan came Sunday morning and visited with David.

Dr. Myles Sadler and daughter, Amy, were in the church services Sunday. Myles was on crutches from a broken ankle. Amy sang a special, accompanied by Betty Rose Loudder.

Thursday night .30-inch of rain was recorded, with 2.10 inches Saturday night and Sunday morning, and .40-inch Sunday night, for a total of 2.80 inches. Teeny said a lot more was reported than that and speculated that her gauge may be leaking.

STORM DAMAGE—This tree at the home of Maria Diaz, 125 NW 12th in Dimmitt, was severed when it was struck by lightning during a thunderstorm last Thursday. Diaz said she "was looking outside and all of a sudden I saw bright lights and colors. I also was blinded for a minute (as a result of the lightning)." Last Thursday's storm dropped heavy rains, and small hail in the county, and one tornado was sighted just west of Nazareth, but no serious damage was reported. Photo by Cindy Albracht

Social Security

If you continue to work full-time past age 65, you may increase your basic Social Security retirement benefit in two ways.

First, for each month that you do not receive a benefit—until the month in which you reach age 70—your benefit amount will automatically increase.

Second, you will be adding years of high earnings to your Social Security record, and these earnings may result in higher benefits.

Under the delayed retirement credit provisions, if you will be 65 this year or in 1993 and you continue to work, your benefit amount will increase 4% per year. By age 70, your Social Security benefit will be 20% higher than it would have been if you began receiving monthly benefits at age 65.

If you're like many people who continue to work after age 65, your most recent earnings are highest earnings and continuing to work adds them to your Social Security record. Because benefits are based on earnings averaged over most of your working career, higher lifetime earnings result in higher benefits.

One important point to remember is that if you decide to delay retirement, you should be sure to sign up for Medicare at age 65. You need to contact Social Security about three months before your 65th birthday to sign up for Medicare hospital insurance (Part A).

And, you also need to let Social Security know if you want to apply for medical insurance (Part B). Medical insurance may cost more if you delay applying for it. If you or your spouse are covered under an employer health plan, check with Social Security to discuss your options for Medicare enrollment. You do not need to be retired to enroll for either part of Medicare, but you do need to let Social Security know if you want to enroll.

For more information about your retirement benefit options, call Social Security's toll-free telephone number, 1-800-772-1213, any business day from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. Or visit the local Social Security office.

Public Awareness Announcement

Are you aware of a blind or visually impaired child from birth to age 22? If so, do you know that such people with disabilities can benefit from educational programs provided by your local school district? Call your director of special education in your school district.

Rhoads Memorial Library

"Discover the New World of Reading" is this year's theme for summer reading.

One "new" aspect of summer reading is the principal challenge. Principals at Richardson Elementary, Hart Grade School and Nazareth Grade School have pledged to sit on the school roofs for two minutes for each student who participates in summer reading.

So... the more kids who participate in summer reading, the longer each principal has to sit on the roof. Roof-sitting is scheduled for the first week of school.

Summer reading will begin June 30 and end August 1. A party for summer readers is scheduled for July 31.

Here's how it will work. This year we are asking children to keep track of how long they read each day. If a child reads 15 minutes a day or 105 minutes a week, we will give them a prize. If the child reads over 105 minutes during the week, we will give them a coupon for a sundae good at Dairy Queen in Dimmitt.

What if the child is too young to read by himself? No problem! He can participate in the Read-To-Me-Club. If someone reads to the child for 5 minutes a day or 35 minutes a week, the child can get a prize. Any extra time reading to the child will qualify him for a sundae coupon, too!

Don't overlook the smaller children. Our youngest Read-To-Me participant last summer was two years old.

Anyone who has questions about summer reading should contact the library.

In addition, the bookmark contest is winding down. Final entries must be in by June 25. Two winners will be chosen and their bookmarks will be printed. Last year, Daniel Proffitt and Amanda Contreras won. Pick up and return contest forms to the library.

Quilt appraisals will be available

Quilt owners who want to insure the artistic coverings may have their quilts appraised during the Castro County Fair Aug. 14.

Sharon Newman of Lubbock will be at the Expo building from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. to perform appraisals for insurance purposes. The fee will be $25 per quilt, and appointments are required.

The appraisals are being sponsored by the Friendship Quilters' Guild, and appointments may be made by calling Yvonna Hays at 647-5214, Joyce Davis at 647-5362, Doris Lust at 647-5637 or Cenci Hardee at 647-5493.

Due to time limitations, appointments will be limited to 25 quilts.

Newman said that a homeowner's insurance policy usually will not cover the artistic value of a quilt without a floater policy. The appraisal is required to place an accurate insurance value on a textile.

Fire Department receives fire safety tips recently

Mahlon Hammett of the Texas Forest Service gave fire safety tips at a workshop he conducted recently at the Dimmitt Fire Station.

The workshop, which was open to the public, offered precautions that home owners should take to protect their homes.

He stressed using fire resistant materials on the exterior of homes and protecting the interior of homes by not using fiberglass screening.

He urged homeowners to keep roofs free of debris, to safely dispose of stove, fireplace, and grill ashes, and to never store flammable material such as firewood and lumber under or near the home.

To insure quick access to your house by the fire department he said to make sure the entrance to your home is easy to identify and to avoid narrow, steep, or winding roads and driveways that can obstruct the movement of firefighting equipment.

For personal safety he said to plan an alternate escape route in case the primary access is blocked by fire or smoke.

He also gave tips on how to protect homes from wildfire and how to make your yard serve as a firebreak.

When you turn on the tap, it's not "just" water filling your glass. Water contains dissolved solids, usually minerals. It may also contain organic compounds, live organisms or heavy materials. If you are using a municipal water supply, it may contain chlorine added for purification purposes and fluoride for dental benefits.

Many of the gases and solids dissolved in water are harmless at low levels and even may be desirable because they give water its flavor. At higher levels they may be harmful. Some metals, chemicals and bacteria may affect health even at low levels.

The US Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) limits the concentrations of certain contaminants in public water supplies. The Texas Department of Health is responsible for enforcing the standards. Neither the EPA nor the Department of Health regulate drinking water from private wells. It is the responsibility of the well owner to have the water tested and treated, if necessary, to make it safe to drink.

The Federal Safe Drinking Water Act (SDWA) was signed into law in 1974. The act authorizes the EPA to establish a cooperative program among local, state and federal agencies for drinking water. Under the SDWA, the primary role of the federal government is to develop national drinking water regulations that will protect public health and welfare. The states have the responsibility for carrying out the regulations and monitoring public water systems. The local public water systems are responsible for treating and testing drinking water to ensure that its quality consistently meets the standards set by the regulations.

Congress amended the SDWA in 1986 to require EPA to set new standards for 83 contaminants by 1989. The EPA is behind schedule, but several of the new standards have gone into effect.

Be sure to attend the Water Management Conference Workshop at the Expo. Building on June 26. Conference starts at 8:30 a.m. and will be over at 4 p.m. Call the Extension Office for more information, 647-4115.

Swifts to face new gridiron foes

Nazareth Coach Rick Price has scheduled several new teams to go up against his Swifts during the 1992-93 football season. The new teams Nazareth will play during the regular season are Highland Park, Texico, N.M. and Sudan. Although Nazareth has played Sudan in regular season in the past, the teams haven't met in the past several years. While Hart is still on Nazareth's roster, the annual cross-county matchup will be a district game, as Hart drops to Class A for the 1992-93 season. Other teams on the Swifts' district schedule include Vega, Bovina, Farwell, Kress and Sudan.

Here's the Swifts' 1992-93 schedule:

Sept. 7	LCHS	8 p.m.
Sept. 11	Happy	8 p.m.
Sept. 18	at H'land Park	8 p.m.
Sept. 25	Texico	8 p.m.

Southwest Outdoors

with Mel Phillips

A month of rain and cold nights has devastated our cotton crops but local lakes have finally caught some water. Lake White River is up five feet. After both Conchas and Ute were running over the spillways, even Meredith gained three feet. Lake MacKenzie and Lake Greenbelt benefited some two feet. That's good news because the gamefish have finished their spawn. All the newly flooded brush should provide perfect cover and some great fishing in years to come.

Flooding rivers mean that the catfish anglers are smiling. Catfishing is easy. Just find where the water is running into your favorite lake, put the bait on the bottom in about the seven foot level, and wait for the fun to begin.

Surprise of the week is a new fishing lure called the flying lure. Unlike any other lure on the market, this modified gizzard actually swims away from the angler. When using this lure at Lake MacKenzie the results included twenty large-mouth bass between one and five pounds. The sad part of the story occurred at about 2 o'clock when "something big" (a striper?) devoured and broke off my last flying lure. Congratulations to Canyon angler JAY FRIEMEL for winning the Greenbelt Fun Tournament. Jay used both a rig and a split shot setup in order to catch a three-bass limit that weighed 5.21 lbs. His winnings included a trophy and $310—not bad for a three hour fishing tournament that only costs a $20 entry fee.

Second place went to DON MIDGET with 4.92 lbs. and third place winner was "Lucky" JACKY IVEY with 4.63 lbs. All anglers reported catching their fish in the newly flooded, shallow water. Forty-five anglers from nine towns braved the weather and 17 brought keeper bass to the scales.

Best news of 1992—The bass fishermen at Lake Greenbelt are starting to practice more "Catch and release." Hence, the fishing is rapidly improving. That is great news for all the anglers who are tired of driving out of state and downstate. Remember—a bass is too valuable to be caught just once.

Social Security earnings record should be checked

By MARTHA A. McSTEEN
Have you ever checked your Social Security earnings record?

If not, you may want to make a note to do so. It could mean more money in your pocket down the road.

Few people know that between 1978 and 1984 more than $58 billion in wages were not credited to the Social Security records of an estimated 9 million working Americans and beneficiaries. Additional errors between 1984 and 1988 raised the total to about $68 billion.

These errors are important, because how much workers earn and how long they work are key factors in determining the amount of Social Security benefits they receive. Inaccurate records mean a possible loss of benefits.

The findings came from a General Accounting Office report that prompted the National Committee to Preserve Social Security and Medicare to sue the Social Security Administration and the Internal Revenue Service to correct those records and implement proper procedures to make sure they don't recur.

Finally, after a four-year battle, the fight is over. The lawsuit has been settled. The Social Security Administration and IRS have agreed to implement procedures that will go a long way toward ensuring accurate and timely crediting of employee wages.

Equally important, the government also agreed to make it easier for present and past workers to correct incorrect records and apply for any retroactive payments.

For example, the agency also will accept a claim if the government has a record of a person's earnings in the year immediately before or after the year in question, and the claimed earnings are consistent with the worker's earnings history.

Currently, correcting an earnings error can be difficult because it requires all kinds of paperwork and records that may be difficult or impossible to obtain.

All working Americans and Social Security beneficiaries are strongly urged to call or visit their Social Security office every few years to request a Personal Earnings and Benefits Estimate Statement and check their earnings record.

A little effort now could save you a lot of unnecessary headaches in the future.

(McSteen spent 39 years with the Social Security Administration and served as acting commissioner of the agency from 1983 to 1986. She has been president of the National Committee to Preserve Social Security and Medicare since 1989.)

EDITOR'S NOTE: The personal earnings and benefits estimate statement may be obtained from the Social Security office nearest you by filling out an information request. There is no charge for obtaining this information.

CONCENTRATING ON THE BATTER are T-Ball coach Mark Welch and player Alicia Heard on the Dimmitt Cubs team. First baseman is Adam Ortiz of the Mariners. The Mariners were victorious in the Monday night game, with a score of 32 to 24.

Dumping used oil now illegal

Producers on the Texas High Plains who utilize internal combustion engines to power their irrigation pumps should note that it is now illegal to discard used motor oil from these engines onto the land surface.

According to the Texas Water Commission (TWC), it is estimated that about 18 million gallons of used motor oil is dumped on the ground or into storm sewers or discarded with household garbage within the state.

New regulations passed by the 72nd Texas Legislature took effect April 1, 1992, requiring that used motor oil must be taken to a waste oil collection center, such as a quick lube operation, service station or retailer, for disposal.

The Texas Legislature charged the Texas Water Commission with the responsibility of enforcing these regulations.

Anyone who continues to drain used oil upon the land surface can face fines of up to $2,000 per violation.

"If an irrigator has 12 wells on his property and continues to drain oil from these internal combustion engines onto the land surface, the potential fines for this violation could easily reach $24,000. Most producers could not afford this expensive fine, so it is a good idea to carry the oil to a local reclamation center," said A. Wayne Wyatt, High Plains Underground Water Conservation District manager.

Many rural communities on the Texas High Plains do not have public waste oil collection centers. In this case, the Texas Water Commission recommends accumulating used oil until it is feasible to transport it to a recycling center.

"The used motor oil may be accumulated for a short period of time in plastic gallon jugs. If the farmer is going to be accumulating the waste oil for an extended period, then a more substantial container like a metal drum is recommended," said D. E. Balusek of the TWC's Recycling and Waste Minimization Section.

The Texas Water Commission now registers all collectors, transporters, marketers and recyclers of used motor oil. These collectors must report annually on the amount of oil they receive from the public. They also must use registered transporters to remove collected oil. The transporters must maintain careful records of the source and destination of each used oil shipment.

For more information about the used motor oil disposal regulations, contact the Texas Water Commission's Recycling and Waste Minimization Section at (512) 834-6682 or write the Commission at P. O. Box 13087, Austin, 78711-3087.

ASCS News

By SCOTTY M. ABBOTT
County Executive Director

The 12th Conservation Reserve Program (CRP) sign-up will end Friday.

This sign-up period offers farmers the only opportunity to put in a 1993 CRP bid.

Before a producer is able to submit a bid for the 12th CRP sign-up, the following determination must be made:

◆ The Soil Conservation Service must determine the eligibility of acres offered.

◆ The Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) must measure all land offered for CRP prior to bid submission.

◆ ASCS also must determine ownership, cropping history and landlord/tenant eligibility.

Producers who are interested in placing a bid must do so by Friday. All persons having an ownership interest in the land, including spouses, will be required to sign the contract.

Eligible cropland includes cropland planted to an agricultural commodity in two of the five crop years from 1986 through 1990. Eligible producers must have owned the land at least three years before the close of sign-up or operated the land for three consecutive crop years before the close of the sign-up period.

All bids submitted will compete in a national pool with only 1,100,000 acres being accepted. All bids will be submitted to Washington and will be evaluated at the national level. Bids will be evaluated for environmental benefits per dollar expended by the Commodity Credit Corporation when compared to all other bids submitted for evaluation. They also will be evaluated for reasonableness when compared to cash rental rates for comparable land. Factors used in ranking are surface water quality, ground water quality, soil productivity, conservation compliance assistance, tree planting, assistance to hydrologic unit areas and conservation priority areas.

ACP approval period

We still have funds available for cost-share assistance for underground pipe, terraces, waterways and livestock waterwells and pipelines.

The County Committee has set Wednesday as an approval period for cost-share assistance requests, and anyone interested in assistance should make a request before that day.

Rebates issued

Sales tax rebates issued to Hart and Nazareth showed an increase while Dimmitt's rebate fell compared to the same period in 1991.

Nazareth's rebate check in the amount of $871.91 was 19.51% higher than last year's check for $729.59. Nazareth's 1992 year-to-date payment total is $7,713.45.

A 4.28% increase was reflected in Hart's check of $1,068.68 compared to last year's check of $1,024.81. For 1992 Hart has received $7,308.34 up 2.82% from 1991's total of $7,108.05.

The city of Dimmitt received $24,268.76, down .83% comparable to the $24,470.82 it received for the prior year's payment. However, the yearly total of $149,810.80 is up 1.20% from last year's total of $148,027.20.

The county total of $26,209.35 is down .06% from the last year's quarterly payment of $26,225.22.

measurement service for grain on their wheat must certify this acreage prior to harvest. If you are ready to harvest your wheat, please contact the ASCS office as soon as possible so that your request can be completed and so you can certify the acreage prior to harvest.

Final certification

July 15 is the final date to certify corn, grain sorghum, cotton, soybeans, sugarbeets, sudan, hegari, Acreage Conservation Reserve (ACR), Conservation Use (CU) and more.

An accurate acreage report is very important, and ASCS officials urge producers not to guess at it. Producers also are urged to be sure and measure turnrows so they can be used to protect crop acreage bases. You also need to report intended uses of corn and grain sorghum (grain, seed, ensilage).

Measurement service

The final date to request measurement service for corn, cotton, grain, sorghum, ACR, CU and others is July 15. If you are not sure of your acreages, you should request measurement service.

Failed acres

Producers should never replant, plow, graze or otherwise destroy a crop that has failed without first measuring the crop, reporting the acreage to this office and filing an application for disaster credit.

Approved failed acreage can be replanted to the original crop or planted to any other crop. Any crop planted after failed row crops will be considered as "ghost" acres and will be ineligible for program benefits.

Haying, grazing of ACR and CU for Pay

Castro County has not been approved for emergency haying and grazing of ACR and CU for Pay acres for 1992.

This means that acreage reported as ACR and/or CU for Pay is not eligible to be hayed or grazed between June 1 and Oct. 31.

Weed control

With the recent rainfall, now is the time to check CRP, ACR and CU for Pay acreages for weeds, and to take necessary measures to control these weeds.

ASCS personnel will be making field visits to every CRP farm in the county and will check for weed control. Penalties will be assessed to those who let weeds go uncontrolled to the point that they interfere with the approved cover or create a problem on other farms. You could jeopardize your program benefits for failing to maintain these acres.

Mixtures of grain sorghum or hegari

Hegari is considered grain sorghum and will count against your corn and grain sorghum permitted acres. Any combination of hegari with sudan, cane, haygrazer, etc., will be considered as grain sorghum for program purposes.

Tolerances on corn and grain sorghum

Acreages of corn and grain sorghum will be determined separately.

Tolerances will be computed on the total reported acreage of corn and grain sorghum compared to the total determined acreage of corn and grain sorghum. The tolerance for the combined acreage will be the smaller of one acre or 5%, not to exceed 10 acres.

Loan interest rate

The loan interest rate for loans disbursed during June is 4.25%.

Crop loan rates

1992 crop loan rates for Castro County are $2.20 per bushel for wheat, $1.65 per bushel for barley, 91 cents per bushel for oats and $1.45 per bushel for rye.

1993 wheat program provisions

The following provisions have been announced for the 1993 wheat program:

- ◆ 0% required layout (ACR).
- ◆ Target price of $4 per bushel.
- ◆ Loan rate of $2.45 per bushel.
- ◆ No paid land diversion.

Other provisions will be announced at a later date.

FmHA emergency loan

Deaf Smith County has been designated as a natural disaster area and has been authorized to make Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) emergency loans.

Since Castro County is contiguous to Deaf Smith County, eligible family farmers may qualify for FmHA emergency loan assistance pursuant to the provisions of the Emergency Agricultural Credit Act of 1984.

Holiday

The ASCS office will be closed Friday, July 3, in observance of Independence Day.

EIDL loans available to help businesses

Businesses in Castro County depending on farmers and ranchers can now apply for low interest Economic Injury Disaster Loans (EIDL) from the US Small Business Administration (SBA).

The EIDL loans are available to help businesses meet normal operating expenses that cannot be met due to the effects of a disaster. An early freeze, low water temperature and heavy and continuous rainfall which occurred between Oct. 1, 1991 and Dec. 31, 1991 caused farmers and ranchers in the declared counties to experience reduced incomes.

Businesses that are dependent upon these producers may have experienced decreased sales, reduced gross profit margins, increased accounts receivable or difficulty in moving inventories at normal levels.

Businesses have until Feb. 2, 1993 to file an application.

To obtain an application or receive additional information, interested business owners may call the SBA toll-free at 1-800-473-0477 or TDD 817-267-4688 for the hearing impaired.

Loans may be approved for up to $500,000 for actual disaster-related financial needs of the business. Interest rates are 4% and terms may extend to 30 years depending upon the repayment ability of the individual applicant.

To qualify, businesses must be small by SBA's size standards and must be unable to secure financing from other sources.

Multi-county conference to aid water management

On Friday, agricultural producers from Castro and surrounding counties will have an opportunity to gain information on water management.

Sponsored by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the conference will be held at the county Expo building in Dimmitt, with registration beginning at 8:30 a.m.

The welcome will be offered at 9 a.m. by Castro County Extension Agent J.D. Ragland, and he will also explain the Continuing Education Units (CEU) credit that is being offered.

Wayne Wyatt of the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District will speak on drip irrigation, ag loans and politics. Economical alternatives to ditch transport of water will be the subject addressed by Rose Mary Seymour, an Extension agricultural engineer.

Furrow irrigation management will be the subject of a talk by Greg Sokora, a civil engineer with the USDA Soil Conservation Service's Lubbock Area office. Following Sokora, various local producers will share their irrigation experiences.

A luncheon will be served at noon, courtesy of exhibitors and others, and the exhibits may be toured from 1 to 1:30 p.m.

At 1:30, Leon New, an irrigation specialist with the Extension service, will discuss new irrigation technology. He will be followed by more local producers, telling about adapted practices.

Dr. John Sweeten, TAES engineer, will speak on the state-wide water quality situation, with panel questions afterward.

Two CEUs may be earned by those attending the conference.

All area producers are invited to attend. For more information, call 647-4115.

Natural disaster loan applications available

Applications for emergency farm loans for losses caused by natural disaster are being accepted at the Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) office located in Dimmitt.

Castro County is one of 17 counties in Texas recently named by Secretary of Agriculture Edward Madigan as eligible for loans to cover part of actual production losses resulting from the natural disaster.

Dean D. Sanders, FmHA county supervisor said farmers may be eligible for loans of up to 80% of their actual losses or the operating loan needed to continue in business or $500,000, whichever is less. For farmers unable to obtain credit from private commercial lenders, the interest is 4.5%.

"As a general rule, a farmer must have suffered at least a 30% loss of production to be eligible for an FmHA emergency loan," Sanders said. Farmers participating in the PIK or Federal Crop Insurance program will have to figure in proceeds from those programs in determining their loss.

"Applications for loans under this emergency designation will be accepted until Feb. 2, 1993 but farmers should apply as soon as possible. Delays in applying could create backlogs in processing and possibly over into the new farming season," Sanders said.

FmHA is a credit agency of the US Department of Agriculture. It is authorized to provide disaster emergency loans to recognized farmers who work at and rely on farming for a substantial part of their living. Eligibility is extended to individual farmers who are US citizens and to farming partnerships, corporations or cooperatives in which US citizens hold a majority interest.

The FmHA office in Dimmitt is open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Local republicans attend convention

Emma Jean King, Darla Stewart, Deanne Clark, Doug and Annita Taylor were delegates and alternates from Castro County at the State Republican Convention held in Dallas this past week.

Over 10,000 delegates, alternates and guests packed the convention center primarily to hear President George Bush address the crowd on Saturday. There were over 6,000 voting delegates who conducted the business of electing a State Chairman. Fred Meyer of Dallas was elected as Chairman, Gayle West of Houston, as Vice Chairman, Ernie Angelo of Midland, as National Committeeman and Penny Butler of Houston, as National Committeewoman.

Gay Rowe, of Odessa, was elected to the State Republican Executive Committee from Senatorial District 28 which now includes Castro County. Tim Lambert of Lubbock was elected State Republican Executive Committeeman.

Senator Teel Bivins of Amarillo, Jacque Allen of Wichita Falls, and Bill Juett of Amarillo, were elected as delegates to the National Convention in August in Houston from Congressional District 13. Mrs. Clark was nominated, but did not prevail.

Speeches, political buttons, balloons and ceremonies were plentiful. The delegation enjoyed the special groups presenting the colors such as the one which was made up of one day old citizens and the singing of the National Anthem by the Junior Black Academy of Arts and Letters, Inc. and the Prayer Rally enjoining races and denominations.

First Lady, Barbara Bush addressed the convention. Also attending were Senator Phil Gramm, State Treasurer, Kay Bailey Hutchison and State Commissioner of Agriculture, Rick Perry.

Clark attended the County Chairmen's meeting, Stewart attended the Pro Life Rally addressed by Phyllis Schafley and Beverly LaHaye, and King attended the Victory 92 Bush/Quayle meeting.

Jennifer Sava served as page and accompanied the delegation from Castro County. She said she would "rather go as a delegate or alternate and participate in voting" if she went again. Pages run errands and distribute materials and attend the caucus's.

Low-interest loans available

Farmers in Castro County are eligible to apply for low-interest emergency loans through the US Farmers Home Administration within the next eight months.

The FmHA assistance program will help farmers recover from damages and losses to crops due to early freeze, low water temperature and heavy, continuous rainfall.

Castro is one of the 17 counties eligible for the program, that is charged with providing aid to the farmers and ranchers in order to assist their economic recovery from natural disasters.

Four Naz students attend FFA workshop

Four students from Nazareth High School were among 77 Future Farmers of America members who participated in the recent, 30th annual FFA Electric Workshop, sponsored by Southwestern Public Service Company in Amarillo.

The students attending were Brad Keel, J. J. Bermea, Jaret Schulte and Adam Johnson.

The three-day workshop featured demonstrations, videos and lectures, in part, on wiring farm buildings, assembly of electric controls and electric safety.

"These are skills that these young people can use everyday on the farm," said Dave Krupnick SPS manager of agricultural and wholesale marketing. "And the students who come here are eager to learn."

Among the FFA advisers and agricultural - science instructors helping conduct the workshop was David Bowns of NHS.

This Road Is Not in South Texas. It's in Castro County.

It's County Road 521, five miles west of Hart, just south of FM 145.

It has been topped with "fly-ash"—the fine ash from coal burned at Southwestern Public Service Co.'s Tolk Power Plant near Muleshoe. After being recaptured, the fly ash is made into "homemade rocks" by simply adding water, letting it dry, and coarse-crushing it.

Fly ash is used often as a supplement to cement. As a road-topping material, fly ash is said to be equal to limestone in its durability.

South Texas is noted for its good county roads because of the abundant supply of limestone there, which they crush and use for topping.

Castro County is noted for its rutty dirt roads that become impassable after a rain.

But now we have our own limestone-like material readily available.

The material for this test topping was supplied by Southwestern Public Service Co. and DePauw Construction Co. at no cost to the county.

It was applied to County Road 521 last week.

We invite you to look at it and drive over it.

Then, if you would like to have your own county road topped with this fly-ash material, contact your county commissioner.

Student loans offered 'grace'

The Texas Guaranteed Student Loan Corporation announced a 60-day Amnesty Program for student loan borrowers who have defaulted on their loans.

A new federal law gives the non-profit corporation authority to withhold wages of defaulters. The first wage withholding 30-day notice will be sent in July.

Default borrowers who enter into voluntary repayment with TGSLLC will not be subjected to wage withholding.

"If you don't want your employer to know you defaulted on a federal student loan and you don't want part of your wages deducted from your paycheck, you need to call us at 1-800-222-6297," said Cathy Flaut, director of public affairs for the corporation. "Adherence to a voluntary repayment agreement will prevent any wage withholding action."

The federal law requires that the withholding be done administratively—which means that no court action is needed. It allows up to 10% of a borrower's disposable income to be withheld and to be applied to their defaulted loan balance.

Withholding will affect defaulted borrowers only. Defaulters are borrowers who made no payment for at least six months and the lender has already been reimbursed by claim. Borrowers contact has been attempted at least once a month of the debt they owe and collection activity has been ongoing, in some cases, for a number of years.

Borrowers will be notified 30 days in advance of the withholding start date. Borrowers have an opportunity for a hearing under certain circumstances.

Danish student will miss Mexican food

By LINDA MAXWELL
Although she won't miss the "small town life," American Field Service Foreign Exchange student Sine Christensen of Denmark said she will miss the Mexican food when she returns home next month.

Sine said she has enjoyed her year at Dimmitt High School and as a member of the Richard Young family.

"It has been a good experience and has made me more understanding of other people," Sine said. Coming from Naestved, a town of 50,000 population, Sine said she prefers a big town because there are "more things to do, and everyone doesn't know everything about everyone else."

However, she said she is glad her AFS experience was in a school as small as DHS, because it has been easier for her to make friends and get to know the other students.

School here was fun, according to Sine, because of all the activities. She enjoys drawing, and her favorite subject was art.

In comparison with Denmark, Sine said there are more sports in school here and the school is stricter on students, especially in discipline and in not being allowed to leave campus.

Sine said she felt her "family," the Richard Young family, was more strict than her family in Denmark.

"That's funny, because I feel like we have been less strict in some ways since Sine came," Richard Young said. "Maybe not less strict, but we've concentrated more on having fun."

The Young family includes Richard and Colletta and daughters, Alice, 18, and Molly, 16.

"We've been doing more activities and going places more," Molly said about the changes in the family.

"I think having Sine here helped Alice and Molly to interact more, too," Colletta said.

"It has certainly made the year more exciting," Molly said.

Colletta said it was a rich experience in the area of cultural awareness.

She commented that Sine's English had improved a lot during her stay.

Most of the language misunderstandings they had were from "words she would say funny," Molly stated. "Like when she said 'Give me the spot,' instead of 'Hand me the flashlight.'"

"Or when she asked about a dress, 'Will I fit it?'" Colletta added. "And when she said chicken stripes instead of chicken strips."

"I have a hard time remembering how to speak in Danish now—how to put the words," Sine said.

When she returns to Denmark, Sine said she will have two more years of schooling to complete—"kind of like junior college."

She wants to be a pilot and has already done some flying in Denmark, but none here.

Concerning the year she has taken out of her life for AFS, Sine said, "It might seem long, but when I think of it in relation to the rest of my life, I think it's worth it. To really learn the culture and language, it takes a year."

One of the cultural differences she noted was that people dress up more here, and "everything has to match."

People pay less attention to their appearance in Denmark and it is not unusual for someone to wear the same outfit two days in a row, Sine said.

Probably the biggest difference for Sine was the fact that her American "family" attended church services three times a week or more. Richard was the music and youth minister for the First Baptist Church in Dimmitt.

Sine said another difference was the amount of traveling the family did, such as going 90 miles for shopping or to see a movie. Even dragging main was more driving around than she had done before.

She said people in Denmark don't go to the movies as much as people do here, and people here watch television more and talk on the telephone more.

Sine said Denmark does have supermarkets and malls, along with McDonalds and Burger King franchises. But they don't have Mexican food.

She said she will miss the spicy cuisine, and plans to take some recipes back home with her, but she won't be including any for beans.

Some of the highlights of the year for Sine included a water skiing trip, and the family vacation to Six Flags in Arlington and Fiesta Texas in San Antonio.

When asked if he would recommend the AFS experience to other families, Richard said, "I sure would. People worry too much about not having enough room or being able to do it. Things work out just fine. It's been a great year for us."

Kaere Venner!

When I arrived in August last year, I had never thought that the year would turn out like it did. Everything was so new and I was ready to pack my stuff and go back to family and friends.

But as the school started, everything turned out to be so much fun. School was a lot different from Danish school. All the teachers were so nice and helpful, and the students were just great.

I have had so many new experiences over here that I will never forget. Going to the lake and trying to waterski was so much fun, even though I never got up.

The football and basketball games were so neat. Everybody showed a spirit that you would never find in Denmark.

Go cruising was great, all the nights at roadside, the many banquets, and graduation. All these times and many more will always be in my memory.

First of all I want to thank the AFS chapter, Martha Jo Hyman and Martie Benton, for being so helpful and understanding when there were any problems. Also, thanks to everyone else involved with AFS. I appreciate your work so much.

Thanks to all my teachers and the office staff. You have all been wonderful.

Another thank-you goes to my first family, the Carters. I'm very grateful that you opened your home for me, and I'm glad that we got to share two months together.

Also, thanks to the Stanley Byrnes family and Mr. and Mrs. Schaeffer for everything they have done for me. Thanks to the Summers family, who I'm living with the last two weeks of my stay. I appreciate your kindness so much.

A very special thanks goes to all my friends in Dimmitt. Without you, I wouldn't have made it. I would like to give a special word to each one of you, but it'll take too much time, so I'll just leave it open. I'll never forget all the times we shared, and I hope to see all of you again when I someday come back to visit.

The biggest thanks must go to the Youngs, who became my family for nine months. Richard, Colletta, Alice and Molly, I'm so grateful to ya'll. You have been so understanding and helpful, and I'm glad that we got to be so close. I love you, and I wish you the very best of luck as you go to Washington.

So, now it's time for me to say goodbye. The year has gone by fast, and it'll be sad for me to leave. However, Dimmitt will always have a special place in my heart, and I'll never forget the closeness and openness that you people show.

Thanks again!

Party is planned

A farewell party for Marion Lorber, American Field Service Foreign Exchange student, will be held Tuesday at 6 p.m. in the home of Georgiann Kleman.

Family and friends are welcome to come enjoy the party and wish Marion farewell.

Lorber feels 'more mature' after spending AFS year in Nazareth

By CINDY ALBRACHT

"Although it's hard to leave, it has been so long that I'm ready to go home now," Marion Lorber, American Field Service Foreign Exchange student said.

The daughter of Anneliese and Dieter Lorber, she plans to make the eight-hour flight back to Piusheim/Glonn Germany on July 9.

Her Nazareth host family for the 1991-92 school year was "mother" Georgiann Kleman, "sister" Nicole and "brother" Kerry.

Although she has kept in touch with her friends at home ("She has received as many as nine letters in one day!" Georgie said.), the first things she wishes to do when she returns is to see them.

Marion added that she wants to thank all her friends for sending her letters and keeping her informed about what was going on at home.

She wanted to give a special thanks to her two best friends, Angela and Babsy, who sent her 40 to 50 letters each during her stay.

Marion claimed that her "biggest hobby" is art. She joined the Nazareth Art Club and painted pictures for all the girls in her graduating class for gifts. She also sent three paintings home during her stay.

Her future plans when she returns to Germany include either going to art school or attending "usual" school. To be accepted into art school she will have to apply and paint a picture; however, she said that about 400 people apply and only 60 get accepted.

If she's not accepted there she will go to the "usual" school and major in social work.

Although she is undecided about which one she'd rather do, she definitely would like to tutor fifth graders because that's when they start learning the English language.

Marion said the highlight of her stay in America, by far, was her bungee jumping experience.

"It was so cool. It was the best feeling I've ever had," she said. "At first I was really scared and I thought I was stupid for wanting to do it. But I knew that if I didn't do it, I would regret it."

After jumping off the crane in Colorado on Sunday, she said, "I can do anything now!"

Marion claimed that living in a small town had its advantages and disadvantages.

According to Marion, one of the advantages of attending Nazareth High School was that it was easy to get involved in extra-curricular activities.

She explained that in Germany school involves only academics.

She started playing the saxophone in the NHS band at the beginning of the second semester. She added that Band Director Roger Meyers helped her a lot and that playing in the band was one of the highlights of her stay.

As for classes, she said that school was easier here. "I didn't study a lot here and I made straight A's."

At Germany she said she studied a lot and was just considered an average student.

"I thought it was funny that they had a dress code in school," Marion said. "We can wear whatever we want in Germany."

She claims that a disadvantage to staying in a small town was the lack of things to do.

"There's more stuff to do at Germany," Marion said. Along with youth groups and dances, she mentions that discussions about politics are held as well as clubs to learn different things like juggling.

The idea of becoming a foreign exchange student came to Marion after reading in the paper about the program.

"My parents gave me the possibility to come here," Marion said.

Although Marion had her mind set on coming to America, at first her mother did not like the idea of her going so far away.

However, her mother informed Georgie in a letter that once Marion makes up her mind up to do something, she does it.

"If I want something, I will try until I get it," Marion said.

"She's a pure German," Georgie added.

When asked if she could see any changes in Marion from the beginning of her stay until now, Georgie was quick to respond, "She's not the shy little girl who stepped off the plane."

Marion defended herself and said, "I was scared at the beginning. You get off a plane and you don't know anyone and you don't know what to say."

Another change was that at first Marion thought country music was "awful." But she admitted that with time she got used to it.

Georgie jokingly added that she's even acquired a "southern drawl" during her stay.

Marion also confesses to have gained a little weight while in America, but she still claims to prefer German food.

"American food tastes good but it's not healthy," she said.

However, she admitted that when she craves American food she can always go to McDonalds.

Over-all, she said her experience was good and that she would recommend becoming an exchange student to anyone.

"This year has helped my self-concept," Marion said. "This experience helped me realize that I can do something on my own."

She added that she feels she has matured while in America. "You learn a lot of things about yourself because you have a lot of time to think. I respect my family at home a lot more. When you're gone you miss them a lot and think about all the things they have done for you."

During her stay, Marion traveled to many cities. She visited her "sister" Gail in Houston, her "sister" Laura in El Paso, and her "sister" Noreen in Sweetwater. She also traveled to San Antonio, Fort Worth and even spent a day in Juarez, Mexico.

She went to Colorado on June 17 with a friend from Pampa, Kimberly Martin, and her family.

"I want to thank the Martins," Marion said. She added that she looks forward to Kimberly's visit to Germany in two years.

Marion set out Wednesday for Carlsbad Caverns and White Sands N.M., and El Paso. She will return to Nazareth on Sunday.

Another highlight of Marion's stay was when German native, Petra Birkenfeld, house-guest of Herman and Marilyn Birkenfeld for six weeks, came to talk with her. "We talked for hours in German. We had so many things to talk about."

She said that Germany differs from America in that Americans are "real friendly."

"When I was in San Antonio this summer, I just knew these people for five days and they invited me back to stay and go with them on vacation," she explains.

"I want to thank all the people for what they have done for me," Marion said.

Georgie thinks that other families should take the opportunity to host a foreign exchange student.

"Although we were apprehensive at first, we are glad that we did it," Georgie said. "We enjoyed having Marion."

Although Georgie is leary of the long plane trip, "We are going to have to go visit Marion and her family."

Marion also plans a return trip to America when she can afford to visit all the states.

THE GEORGIANN KLEMAN family hosted this year's American Field Service Foreign Exchange student for the 1991-92 school year. Family members include (from left) Kerry Kleman, Marion Lorber from Germany, Nicole Kleman and Georgiann Kleman. Marion plans to fly back to Germany on July 9.

More about Rhynes...

On Tuesday, Fitzgerald gave the commissioners a letter of application for the vacated position.

County Attorney Jimmy Davis told the commissioners that it might be best to advertise for applicants to make sure that all requirements are met for the Equal Employment Opportunity laws.

"It was not an easy decision not to run, but I just felt like it was time to move on," Rhynes said. "I think this move will be an advancement for my career."

"A future goal of mine is to make US Marshal some day, and that's what I'm working toward," he remarked.

Rhynes said he grew up in Hale Center, and has always liked this area.

"I'm going to miss the job and the people here," Rhynes said. "I feel the people here have supported me very well. Without them, I couldn't have accomplished what I did as far as the sheriff's office is concerned."

"I love law enforcement, and it has been good to me. I wish my successor, whoever it is, all the luck in the world and hope they have the same rapport and backing I have enjoyed," Rhynes said.

Sherman is a town of about 25,000 to 30,000 population, about 65 miles north of Dallas. Rhynes said his wife, Martha, who has been serving as secretary for County Judge Polly Simpson, doesn't have a job lined up yet, but she will be looking for one there.

Davis told the commissioners that state law says a candidate who filed in a primary election cannot file for the same office as a write-in candidate. Davis also noted that a voter who cast a ballot in a party primary cannot then file as an independent write-in candidate.

The commissioners voted unanimously to pass a resolution commending Rhynes for his efforts while in office.

Funds needed for fireworks

Donations are needed to fund Dimmitt's July 4 fireworks show.

Approximately $2,000 will be required for a good show, but so far only $395 has been donated or pledged, the Chamber of Commerce office reported.

The fireworks show will be staged the night of Saturday, July 4 in the Dimmitt High School football stadium, and will be open to the public.

Any business or individual wishing to help put a colorful finish to Independence Day should mail or deliver their donations to the Dimmitt Chamber of Commerce, 115 W. Bedford St.

Brown bag concert set Friday

The second concert of the summer's "Brown Bag" series will be Friday at noon, featuring "Garth at the Gazebo," with Bill Sava singing selections made popular by country-western star Garth Brooks.

Everyone is invited to bring a "sack lunch" to munch while enjoying the free music at the Centennial Plaza and Gazebo on the courthouse square in Dimmitt.

Local scouts will be selling soft drinks at the concerts.

Gwen Bryant is the organizer of the series, which is being sponsored by Castro County.

Other performances are being lined up for selected Fridays throughout the summer. The gazebo's 400-watt sound system is available for performers' use.

A fallen large elm tree barely missed the home of Katherine and Denis Huseman (a mile south and one-half mile west of Nazareth) during the storm. Mrs. Huseman said there is a line of trees west of their home and one tree out of the middle of the was "blown down."

A livestock barn northwest of Nazareth, which was owned by Alphonse Kleman, lost its roof during last Thursday's storm.

Then on Tuesday night, residents between Hart and Nazareth were "treated" to more rain and a brilliant lightning storm.
