GET DOCTORS DEGREE

Pictured above is E. R. Green, Jr. who on Tuesday, March 14 at 8 p. m. will receive from Baylor Dental College in Dallas his doctor of dental surgery degree and at the same time will receive his commission as first lieutenant in the Dental Corps of the United States Army. Commencement exercises will be held at the First Baptist church in Dallas. He expects to be assigned to Army duty about April 1.

The son of Dr. and Mrs. E. R. Green, he was an honor graduate of Ranger grade school, an honor graduate of Ranger High school and an honor graduate of John Tarleton College before entering the dental college. He completed his senior year at the dental school with an average of 98 for the year, and is the youngest member of the class. He is a member of Delta Sigma Delta fraternity.

During the period in which the Ranger flying school was in operation he received his wings as a private pilot in 1940.

Mrs. Green, the former Miss Fern Allen Maroney, and their baby daughter have been making their home in Dallas while he was completing his dental course.

Tests Reveal Foe's Arms Not Equal To Ours

CLEVELAND (UP)—An estimated 600,000 pieces of captured Japanese and Nazi ordnance—rifles, machine guns, field guns, and assorted cannon—have been tested at seven arsenals in the United States.

And they are not as good as American equipment, according to Col. H. M. Readdall, chief of the Cleveland Ordnance District.

Disclosing some tests made in comparison with American-made ordnance, Col. Readdall says the Japanese rifle is inaccurate at a range exceeding 850 yards. The American Garand, however, hits the mark at far greater distances.

Though the Japanese machine gun is "deadly" at short distances and can spit bullets at the rate of 30 rounds in three seconds, it is "not equal" to the Browning 30-caliber machine gun at 500 yards. Besides the Browning can fire twice as fast in a minute.

Col. Readdall says American equipment is often changed after comparison with captured enemy material. As an example he cites the fact that armor on American tanks has been increased in thickness to withstand heavier shell fire and additional armor has been welded on the outside of upper tank hull.

Captured ordnance—after it has been completely tested by American Army experts—is shipped to service training centers to acquaint our fighting men with weapons they will face "in action."

Irish Stand Firm In Denying U. S. Recent Request

LONDON—Reports from northern Ireland today said authorities at Belfast were expected by some quarters to close the Eire frontier as a pre-invasion precaution as a result of Dublin's refusal to oust Axis representatives and consular agents.

The Irish free states stood firm against United States demands that Axis representatives be driven from their territory despite the statement of this country that their presence in Ireland constituted a "danger to the lives of American soldiers and to the success of Allied military operations."

Eire's stand was revealed yesterday with the publication here of an exchange of notes between secretary of state Cordell Hull and Eire's Prime Minister Eamon Le Valera.

Unless world opinion causes De Valera to change his attitude, it was believed here that present situation would remain unchanged. This reasoning was based on the fact that the United States note, sent on February 21, merely requested that the German Legation and Japanese consulate in Eire be closed.

Six Killed When Fire Sweeps Thru Jefferson Hotel

RICHMOND, Va., March 11 (UP)—Six persons were killed and at least 25 injured today in a fire that swept the two top floors of the fashionable Jefferson hotel, for years the center of Richmond's social and political activities.

Among the identified dead was State Sen. Aubrey Weaver, D., of Front Royal, Va., chairman of the State finance committee and one of the most popular men on Capitol Hill. He died of a heart attack.

The blaze was confined to the fifth and sixth floors of the hotel, and by 3 a. m. the fire was under control. Hotel officials said 100 rooms on the sixth floor, and 50 on the fifth were damaged.

The fire was discovered about 7 p. m. and was well underway when reported to the fire department. Neither Mr. nor Mrs. King was at home and according to Chief George Murphy it is believed that the fire started from a gas stove.

Nazi Documents Reveal Vastness Of Their Crimes

LONDON, Eng. (UP)—German documents discovered in a safe in Kiev indicated that Nazi forces killed, poisoned, executed in murder vans, or tortured to death 2,000,000 aged women, children and war prisoners in Soviet territory, Radio Moscow said today.

The documents, found in a building formerly occupied by the Gestapo, were labeled "secret," "state importance," and "secret staff document," the broadcast said.

Governor Still Ignores Charges Of Lt. Governor

FORT WORTH, Texas, March 11—(UP)—Lt. Gov. John Lee Smith's letter charging Gov. Coke R. Stevenson with violating the spirit of the constitution by refusing to call a special soldier vote session continued to be ignored today by the Governor.

In Fort Worth to open the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show, Stevenson restated a Rotary Club luncheon yesterday his opinion that the poll tax levy could be set aside only by an amendment to the constitution proposed at a regular session of the Legislature.

GARDENERS TO BE PROTECTED BY THE LAW

Chief George Murphy stated Saturday that the people of Ranger are being given fair warning that people trying to have Victory gardens will have the protection of the law in the matter of stray cattle and chickens.

Chief Murphy said, "The people have been called upon to do their part in feeding a nation at war by raising Victory Gardens and the police force of Ranger will do their part to see that these gardens are not destroyed by unlawfully strolling cattle and unpet chickens."

The chief stated that the law states very clearly that persons may have chickens and cows but it also provides that they must be kept penned or securely tied when staked out. He pointed out that an owner is not beyond guilt when he stakes out a cow on a cord like rope that will break with the slightest yank by the cow and owners of cows that thus free themselves while staked out will be still be accountable to the law.

Chief Murphy said that he sincerely hoped that the police force would not have to resort to the last means to protect Victory gardens and that if the people will cooperate it will not be necessary for them to answer calls with reference to stray cattle and chickens. However, anyone who is troubled with stray cattle and chickens may make their complaints to the City Hall and police will be dispatched at once to take care of the situation.

COUNTY FUND FOR RED CROSS IS $16,141.30

Reports from Homer Smith, county chairman for the current Red Cross funds drive, indicated late Saturday that the county is within less than $2,000 of its goal of $18,000. Smith reported that a total of $16,141.30 has been turned in by the various committees of the county.

Ranger was second in the county in the total amount collected with $3,217.50 being reported late Saturday. Eastland was in the lead with a total of $4,021 collected and Cisco was third with a score of $3,700. Each of the larger towns has a quota of $4,500.

All chairmen of the county are working toward the completion of quotas by the end of this week though there will be collections by all the theatres during the last week of March.

B. E. Garner, manager of the Arcadia and Columbia theatres, stated Saturday that beginning March 23 and lasting through March 29 every theatre in the nation will take a Red Cross collection at each performance during every day of that week. In the local theatres three collections will be taken each day and Garner stated that patrons should not be called upon to contribute to but one collection, even though they might be present for at least two of them during a day.

On the 24 and 26 of March, M. L. King, Ranger chairman for the drive, stated that under his direction young ladies selected from the group in Ranger will be asked to serve as collectors at the theatres and will pass the Red Cross collection plate at the three performances on each of those days.

Now showing at the Arcadia is a thirteen minute long film "At His Side," which is a picture depicting the work of the Red Cross and which is shown by the theatre in support of the current drive. The picture was being shown Saturday and will also be shown today in connection with the regular feature.

BELIEVE NAZI SAVING POWER FOR VITAL TARGETS ONLY

American heavy bombers struck into northwestern Germany and the invasion coast of France today, significantly meeting no enemy air opposition, as was the case in last Thursday's daylight attack on Berlin.

Flying Fortresses bombed Munster, German rail and water way center, while Liberators attacked the Pas De Calais area of France. All bombers returned safely but four fighters were missing.

The absence of German fighters during the attacks was taken as a possible indication that the Luftwaffe has been so hard it is saving its strength for only the most vital targets, and perhaps for the invasion itself.

Three Russian armies meanwhile hammered at crumbling German lines along a front of more than 500 miles in the Ukraine.

The Russian, first, second and third Ukraine armies struck hammer blows in three sectors from Tarnopol in southeastern Poland to Kratsofiovka, 21 miles from the Black Sea port of Nikolayev.

Action on the Italian front was limited to patrol clashes and artillery duelling at the Anzio beachhead and in the Cassino sector.

News from the Pacific continued good. American bombers, seeking to neutralize the base of Ponape, 540 miles east of Truk, destroyed the main town on the island and wrecked its seaplane anchorage. The Marines on New Britain aimed at Rabaul 170 miles away, after completing the conquest of Tasea and Williams Peninsulas.

45TH DIVISION IS CITED AS OUTSTANDING

Allied Headquarters, Naples—The 45th Division which was cited today as having distinguished itself in the Anzio beachhead fighting has been one of the most outstanding American outfits in the entire Mediterranean campaign. The division originally came from Oklahoma and northern Texas.

Allied Headquarters, Naples—March 11—(UP)—American troops have beaten back another enemy infiltration attack southeast of Aprilia, it was disclosed today as Nazi prisoners reported that German morale has sunk to a low ebb as a result of their failure to fulfill Adolf Hitler's order to eliminate the Anzio beachhead.

Activity on the beachhead with moderate harassing by opposing artillery. A German patrol of 11 men was captured in the vicinity of Littoria while two German self-propelled guns firing against Allied positions southeast of Aprilia were forced to withdraw.

The enemy suffered at least 100 casualties at the hands of the Americans in one of two attacks south of Aprilia last Tuesday night, it was revealed. The bodies of 33 Germans were found on the battlefield.

In the Mediterranean theater, American medium bombers made their seventh raid on Rome in eight months yesterday, Mitchell and Marauders bombed the Littorio rail yards on Rome's northern outskirts and Tiburtina yards in the Capital's eastern suburbs, flipping up tracks and smashing rolling stock.

American fighters escorted the British-based 8th Air Force heavy bombers in their forays over Germany and the Pas De Calais coastal area of northern France today.

(A personal message to all salvage workers in the State of Texas.)

Greetings: This communication is directed to all patriotic Texans, particularly those civilian soldiers who, in fighting the battles for salvage, at the moment of Victory receive an order to retreat, either temporarily or permanently, from their objective, obey that order as every good soldier should, and immediately form a new line chosen by the High Command to best serve the situation.

The Youth replies, 'I CAN.' The lad in the frame on your dresser, the boy from the house next door, all the lads from the frames on all the dressers, the boys from all the houses next door—these, our boys, flung across the bloody battle fields of the world, are stubbornly piling blow on blow that eloquently say, 'I AM.'

ARE WE? Or, are we giving only lip service to our Nation, to our boys, accepting responsibilities which we feel are too onerous to fulfill?

A Little Lesson In Abstracting

The abstract is a written history of the title chain. If carefully prepared it will (1) definitely locate the tract under search, (2) Reveal, if possible, the true ownership, (3) Show liens, if any, and (4) the defects in the deed or other written documents. It may or may not prove the title to be good. This is the reason for the abstract and why it is necessary in every real estate transaction.

The Problems of LASTING PEACE

By Herbert Hoover and Hugh Gibson

In this newly revised, up-to-the-minute version of their important book, The Problems of Lasting Peace, Mr. Hoover and Mr. Gibson explain the vital task confronting the United Nations as allied armies close in on the enemy. The authors are eminently qualified to speak. Mr. Hoover is the thirty-first President of the United States and student of world affairs, and Mr. Gibson is former minister to Poland and ambassador to Belgium and Brazil.

There is a four-point "peace platform." These points, which draw attention at the historic Moscow conference, are: 1. Before firing ceases, the United Nations (the United States, Britain, Russia and China) must reach an agreement that the great victorious powers be appointed joint Custodians or Trustees of Peace. 2. Before victory over Germany, the United Nations must set up terms of a simple Provisional Peace to impose upon belligerent Europe the moment firing ceases, and later on Asia. 3. There should be a Transition Period from war to peace of a few years, in which the world can have time for deliberate solution of the long term problems of lasting peace. 4. Create a world institution to replace the Trustees after the foundations of real peace have been laid.

INSTALLMENT I

The Dynamic Forces for Peace and War

OUR country is now engaged in the greatest struggle of its existence. All Americans, regardless of their past views, are now united in a single purpose. That purpose is to achieve victory and thereafter build a world where we can hope to live in peace and security.

There is before us two great campaigns. The first is the military campaign to defeat the enemy. But the second and equally difficult undertaking is to win a lasting peace for the world. Military victory alone will not give us peace. That was proved in 1918. There must be just as much preparation for peacemaking as there is for war.

We have now had a generation of almost continuous wars, revolutions, and social and economic disorder, and the end is not yet. The world has seen such periods of explosion and degeneration before, separated by varying periods of more or less peace and human progress.

There have been three of these major widespread upheavals since the Renaissance. First was the Thirty Years' War, ending with the Peace of Westphalia in 1648; second, the forty years of war following the American and French revolutions, ending with the Congress of Vienna in 1815; and third, the world-wide wars beginning in 1914 and still raging. In each of these periods, civilization took on new impulses, new forms, and new directions. Today we are probably in the presence of a third period of great change.

Lists Seven Forces

It is too easy to attribute our present wars to individuals or groups of individuals or even to perverse nations. But great explosions in civilization do not have their origins in single men or a perverse nation. Such evil fill—jobs that take time, jobs that would leave us foot-sore and weary at the close of day, jobs that we are asked by our government to do on a 'Tis not to reason on why' basis.

Remember how perturbed we were just a while ago, when across the face of our Nation, soft callow college students were forming clubs dedicated to the proposition that they would NOT fight even to protect our soil from invasion.

Then came Pearl Harbor and to a man they grabbed the shaft of Old Glory, figuratively, grabbed a runner's cockpit, realistically, and started shooting. We oldsters can well emulate those soft callow lads. Why lie westrate on the Public Square of Hometown defeated by a load of unacceptable, unprepared tin cans, or by the lack of a shipping destination for a collection of used household fats? Have we become so used to government supervision that even our villages—the weight of economic pressure in creating the World War of 1914, the economic aftermath of that war were among the primary causes of the collapse of the world into this second World War.

Man and Battle Nationalism (No. 3) has developed from the deepest of primitive instincts and emotional forces in mankind. It expresses itself in patriotism, which is itself built from the fundamentals of love of family, love of country, pride in racial accomplishments. Men fight for their hearths and their homes. They fight for their flag.

Of militarism, it is obvious that man is a combative animal. He does not contest. He hates easily. He is an egoistic animal, and in the process becomes more egoistic. His beliefs in superiority are quickly transformed into arrogance. And that is one of the stimulants of aggression.

Another of the larger forces moving in all history is imperialism—the movement of races over their racial borders. At one time, part of the motivation of imperialism was dynastic or racial glory; at another, zeal to spread religious faith. But in modern civilization its motivation has been chiefly economic. Imperialism has been present at every peacemaking and it will be there next time.

The forces of fear, hate and revenge play a large part in the cause of war. The greatest of these is fear—of invasion, of starvation, of economic disadvantage. Hate and revenge often spring from it.

Religion Inspires Peace But against all the forces which make for war stands the will to peace. Ever in the background of man's mind is the infinite suffering of war. It kills or maims the best of the race. It brings the deepest of griefs to every home. It brings poverty and moral degeneration to victor and vanquished alike.

The Sermon on the Mount launched the transcendent concept of compassion, of peace and good will among men as a fundamental of the Christian faith. "Blessed are the peacemakers, for they shall be called the children of God" epitomizes man's noblest hope.

Despite all his violations, man has received from these spiritual concepts an undying inspiration to strive for peace. In the next installment, we shall present our recommendations for a new approach to peace making.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICES

"Substance" is the subject of the lesson-sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ Scientist, on Sunday, March 12. The Golden Text is: "The into live? (This is NOT overdrawn but is an actual case.) DID I—do my voluntarily accepted duty in furthering the collection of discarded fats and greases so that medicine and explosives may be available to every single G-I Joe?

DID I—listen to any one or anything which might weaken my resolve to keep all scrap irons and steels moving to the processors just because a FEW items are not needed at this moment while MANY are—such as CAST IRON?

DID I—do my very best for God and Country? Then you have come to the end of a perfect day and your nation honors you.

visible things of him from the creation of the world are clearly seen, being understood by the things that are made, even his eternal power and Godhead" (Romans 1:20.)

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "And ye shall seek me, and find me, when ye shall search for me with all your heart" (Jeremiah 29:13).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Through many generations human beliefs will be attaining diviner conceptions, and the immortal and perfect model of God's creation will finally be seen as the only true conception of being" (page 260.)

"THOUSANDS CHEER", SHOW OF THE HOUR, IS AT ARCADIA

B. E. Garner and his Arcadia Theatre have scored again in the matter of bringing to Ranger first-rate pictures and in record time after they are released from the studios.

This time it is Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "Thousands Cheer" a technicolor musical in which there's no rationing of stars. The film is now showing at the Arcadia Theatre and contains virtually every star on the M-G-M lot, the studio of big stars. According to critics the picture rates with "Grand Hotel," "Dinner At Eight," and "The Great Ziegfeld," of other days in lavishness of stars, musical selections and other details.

proceeds to make him the best soldier in camp. In the course of the film a gigantic USO show is presented to the boys in camp.

Among those who appear in the many acts are Mickey Rooney, Judy Garland, Red Skelton, Eleanor Powell, Ann Sothern, Lucille Ball, Virginia O'Brien, Frank Morgan, Lena Horne, Little Margaret O'Brien, Marilyn Maxwell and Marsha Hunt and many others. Kay Kyser and his orchestra, Bob Crosby and his orchestra, Benny Carter and his band are among those who also perform.

Jose Iturbi, in his first appearance on the screen, displays an outstanding talent as an actor and in addition to his fine musical selections accompanies Judy Garland in a genuine five number that should tear the house down. Kathryn Grayson makes a charming and appealing young concert singer and sings several numbers. As the luck private who falls in love with the Colonel's daughter, Gene Kelly is honest and sincere. He proves himself to be one of the greatest dancers on the screen with his mop and broom routine. John Boles and Mary Astor are convincing as the befuddled parents.

depends on little things

VICTORY for America depends on a lot of little things. Because America is a Democracy, it depends on every man, woman and child to do his part. Everyone has a job . . . like buying War Bonds, keeping the family healthy, because of scarcity of doctors and danger of losing hours of manpower in defense factories. Uncle Sam expects everyone to conserve, to make things last for the duration. Buy quality merchandise and then trust it only to QUALITY dry cleaning.
