AVIATION RADIOMAN

Cpl. Walter L. Jackson

U. S. Naval Air Station, Jacksonville, Fla., Mar. 16—Walter Lee Jackson, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Jackson, 801 Cypress, Ranger, Texas, recently graduated from the Aviation Radio School here as a Corporal in the U. S. Marine Corps.

Entering the service on Sept. 28, 1942, he received his recruit training at San Diego, Calif., before arriving at the Naval Air Technical Training Center here. Jackson is now a qualified aviation radioman and will probably see service with the Marine Aviation Detachment.

Social Security May Be Extended To Cover Farmers

ABILENE, Tex. Mar. 15—If a man who has been making $150 a month at work covered by the insurance provisions of the social security dies, leaving a widow and two small children, his widow will receive about $56 a month until the children are 18. Then when she is 65 she will start receiving about $24 a month survivor's insurance, which will continue all her life. On the other hand, if a farmer or self-employed man, having the same income and the same family, died, his family would receive nothing. The reason for this is because his work is excluded under the Social Security law. This explanation is made in view of many inquiries pertaining to agricultural workers, received by the Abilene office.

Jack B. Calvert, Acting Manager of the Social Security Board office in Abilene stated, however, that the Board had recognized the limitations of the present program and had recommended in its Eighth Annual Report, recently submitted to Congress, extension of coverage to farmers and farm workers, owners of businesses, self-employed professional men and other groups excluded at present. It is the opinion of the Board that both families mentioned should be furnished the same security under a contributory insurance system.

Other changes recommended by the Social Security Board in its report include protection under the law for men and women in the armed forces and part compensation for loss of wages due to sickness and disability. At present the insurance provisions provide only for payment in case of death, unemployment due to loss of job and retirement at age 65.

COUNTY GOES OVER IN RED CROSS DRIVE

Homer Smith, county chairman for the Red Cross Funds drive, announced today that Eastland county has oversubscribed its quota in the drive and now has a total reported to the county office of $18,887.45.

The county quota was 18,000 and the total now on hand is in excess of that quota by $887.45 and all contributed in the first two weeks of the drive. It was pointed out that the drive does not close until the last of March and anyone who wishes to make a contribution may still do so.

During the week beginning March 23 all theaters in the county, as well as in the nation, will take a Red Cross collection at each showing of the picture each day during that week. It is estimated from past experience that several hundred dollars will be contributed to the fund in this manner.

Smith asked that his appreciation be expressed through this newspaper to all of the workers who have made it possible for Eastland county to reach its quota so quickly. He said:

Anyone has been overlooked in the County campaign for funds their contributions may be sent to the Chapter office at Eastland or to him. The generosity evidenced in the county is a fine tribute to the large number of servicemen fighting for their country. Fifty-one community chairmen with their assistants have done a splendid piece of work in the 1944 Red Cross War Fund.

The organization would have had no success had it not been for the conviction in each community that it was a privilege to contribute liberally to the Red Cross. Eastland County Chapter thanks each and every donor and reminds them that within the next month they will have an opportunity to give blood when the Mobile Unit of the Blood Bank visits the county. Registrations may be made in each community or at the County Office.

Following is the list of communities and the amounts which they have contributed up to noon Wednesday:

School Board Re-Elects All School Teachers

It was announced today that at a meeting of the school board held Tuesday night all teachers of the school system were re-elected for another year and with a slight increase in salary. All bus drivers and janitors were also re-elected.

Members of the board as well as Dr. G. C. Boswell, superintendent, stated that they were well pleased with the work of the teachers and appreciate the splendid cooperation which they have received from them as well as from the parents of school children.

It was also reported at the meeting that the schools are operating in a very fine way financially.

THREE TO RUN FOR PLACES ON SCHOOL BOARD

Three Ranger men announced today that they will be candidates for places on the Ranger school board at the election to be held here on Saturday, April 1.

The three are Paul MacDonald, M. L. King, and Pleas E. Moore. All three consented to run after they had been contacted by citizens and asked to allow their names to be placed on the ticket and after the three met in office.

W. A. Lewis, F. S. Pearsall and L. L. Bruce, had stated that they would not accept the office again.

As Ranger businessmen and fathers of children in the school, all are interested in the progress of the school, and in the promotion of their best interests. Neither Moore nor MacDonald has served previously on school boards but King is a past member of the Strawn school board.

During his term of service with that board he was one of its most active members and was in charge of the school Victory garden which was operated on a cooperative basis and from which hundreds of cans of food were preserved. Though Moore and MacDonald have not served on a school board both are well acquainted with the problems facing such an organization and both have served in various civic positions which have fitted them to service on the board.

Twenty-seven Eastland county women have received stripe awards from the Red Cross in recognition of their having given the number of hours required by each unit to the making of surgical dressings in the year 1943.

Ten are from Eastland, nine from Ranger and eight from Cisco.

They are:

Eastland—Mesdames R. N. Wilson, H. J. Tanner, W. H. Taylor, Curtis Hertig, Clyde Grissom, Carl August, Albert Taylor, C. M. Richter, James Horton, W. E. Chaney.

Ranger—Mesdames E. E. Anderson, S. B. Baker, R. F. Duncan, E. V. Ingram, J. J. Kelly, M. L. King, J. T. Killingsworth, W. C. Palmer, J. B. Rayfield.

Mrs. Curtis Hertig, county chairman of surgical dressings for the Red Cross announced the awards this week.

One billion surgical dressings have been made by American Red Cross volunteers and shipped to army medical depots the past two years. More than 3,000,000 dressings a day are now being produced, representing approximately 90 per cent of the army's total requirements and virtually all of these go overseas. In addition the Red Cross has provided many dressings for use of the United States Navy.

JAP AIR MIGHT CRIPPLED

PEARL HARBOR (UP)—Seven new separate attacks by American Army and Navy land-based aircraft on enemy bases in the heart of the Carolines and the Eastern Marshalls indicated today that the Allied offensive had struck a death blow to the Japanese air strength in the Central Pacific.

SUPPLY DUMPS RAIDED

NEW BELM (UP)—Powerful formations of American and British bombers blew up supply dumps in the Rangoon area of southern Burma Tuesday night, setting the entire target ablaze with almost 100 tons of bombs, a communiqué disclosed today.

ULM, AUGSBURG INDUSTRIAL, RAIL CENTERS REPORTED HIT

LONDON (UP)—American bombers in "very strong" force plunged deep into southern Germany to get skinny fighter opposition today and drove home a many-pronged attack, to round out what may have been the Nazi's toughest 24 hours of the air war.

The Berlin radio said the United States bombers attacked Augsburg and Ulm, industrial and transport center of southwest Germany. Bombs fell in "densely populated residential areas" of both cities and caused considerable casualties, the Nazis claimed.

The daylight broadside followed by a few hours a record aerial assault by the Royal Air Force which scattered more than 3,000 tons of explosives across southwest Germany and France during the night.

The employment of a "very strong force of American bombers—the maximum term employed so far by United States authorities in this theater—in a follow-through on the record RAF attack indicated that Germany probably was taking its worst aerial beating.

It was recalled that a "strong force" on Jan. 29 dumped more than 1,800 tons of explosives on Frankfurt, and today's armada was "very strong."

The first bombers back from south Germany said the thin fighter opposition was overwhelmed by escorting Thunderbolts, lightnings, Mustangs and Spitfires, giving the heavyweights another holiday run.

The Americans bombed through broken clouds which prevented accurate observation of the results. Anti-aircraft fire was described as only moderate and not disturbing.

The German DNB agency said that "owing to the bad weather" only a part of the Nazi air defenses were able to go into action against the "extremely strong" U. S. fighter escort.

Odd Burglaries Bring Apology

HOUSTON, Tex. (UP)—List these as goofy burglaries:

No. 1—Burglars entered the Orange Crush Bottling Company, obtained $600 from the safe by using a hammer, punch bar and file from the firm's tool room.

No. 2—He or she took $10 worth of stamps, $2 in cash, three bottles of rum (the good kind), a gold pen knife, a roll of Scotch tape, and two cartons of mint from the Houston-Poster Advertising Company.

And he or she left a note in a secretary's typewriter, reading: "I'm sorry that I had to do this, but I found it necessary. Please excuse me. Yours respectfully, A Friend."

JOB BOOMERANGS

DALLAS, Tex. (UP)—Traffic Investigator Bill Burch—the fellow who investigates when a Dallasite has collision—owing his squad car into a city hall parking space, smashed into his own car. Investigation made by Burch—damage small.

THE WEATHER

WEST TEXAS—Cloudy, light rain except south portion, cooler except in extreme northwest and extreme south portions this afternoon. Cooler east and south portions tonight. Friday partly cloudy weather in north portion.

LONDON RAIDED TODAY

LONDON (UP)—London had its first daylight air raid today, in almost a month today, but the alert ended within a short time and no anti-aircraft fire could be heard in the capital.

Chinese Ambassador, Wife Embassy Guests Are Many Make Study of Americans And Varied, Says Writer

By HELEN ESSARY Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON—Some of the embassies and legations in Washington are wondering why they haven't been smarter in the past at their job of learning America.

Until the war strain on international relations set everybody who can read and write to thinking of how to get on with (or get ahead of) other people "to my own best advantage," the representatives of foreign nations stationed in this capital have often limited their acquaintances in the United States to a few narrow groups.

Most embassies and legations in Washington lately have changed this stuff-shirtish policy and are going in briskly for finding out about all sorts of Americans. The most conspicuously successful foreigners of this new group of behavior are the Chinese. They are really learning America—or, rather, the United States. Applying themselves to the task of getting under the glowing American skin as doggedly as the rich post-war Chinese used to school their sons for Oxford and a study of correct English folklore and customs.

The present representative of China, Ambassador Wei Tuo-ming, and his brilliant wife are certainly modern examples of China's 1944 Open Door policy. Both of them, especially Madame Wei, are determined to meet as many kinds of Americans as it is possible within the limits of dignity, time and space.

There is never a meal, except of course when they are accepting hospitality elsewhere, when the ambassador and his wife do not have guests at the embassy in Woodley drive. The dinner and lunch parties are generally large. Sometimes they number 30 or 50 people. For breakfast there are seldom more than four or six guests. In addition to these formal and informal gatherings the ambassador and his wife give many afternoon and evening receptions.

The guests on these varied occasions are not chosen from pared-down "lists" controlled by professional secretaries who would rather die than be chic. They include a greater variety of people than any Washington embassy has ever welcomed before within its doors. Smart diplomats realize, so one of my knowing friends in the state department tells me, that you learn more about a country and what it is thinking from people who have not yet "arrived" than from old smoothies who fancy themselves important and in the know and who "tell nothing to nobody." The newcomers, not having found out how to hide their thoughts, unwittingly reveal public opinion.

The best source of news and of gossip, which is the beginning of news, is the latter lunch. At dinners and cocktail parties women have to work at being fascinating because men are present and may say "vice versa." And it is hard for a shrewd diplomat or reporter either to find out what anybody present thinks about anything.

Watching Mme. Wei at one of her own charming luncheons is one of the most fascinating pastimes Washington has to offer. She is about the liveliest thing in town. Likewise the smartest. She is gay and informal and friendly and constantly alert to her job of making friends for China.

At Twin Oaks, the ambassadorial residence, Mme. Wei, the wife of an embassy secretary and perhaps Mme. Wain, who directs public relations, distaff side, await the guests in the center hall. As each guest steps into the door of the house, she sees instantly Mme. Wei and her assistants standing with hands outstretched smiling an animated greeting.

At a recent luncheon, Hostess Wei, in her snug-fitting Chinese costume of beige brocade, figured delicately in jade and accented by fat jade earrings and very high-heeled jade green shoes, seemed to be in a dozen places at once.

The guests were seated at tables of eight. Mme. Wei first at one table. Then moved on to other tables.

The guests chose the first luncheon course from about a dozen plates of Chinese hors d'oeuvres, shrimp and pork tenderloin and fish eggs and heaven knows what else, cooked to Chinese taste.

Cheerfully informal Mme. Wei picked a small piece of the work in her fingers and said to her guests: "See, I eat it this way without the bother of knife and fork. It tastes better so." The guests ate the broiled baby pigeons without fingers, too.

The guests felt friendlier toward China than when they had come.

- 1 (C) It's a cake of soap! Dust and dirt build up on bulbs and reflectors almost before you know it! Soap and water can often double the light you get from the same current. 2 (C) The clue, if you look closely, is the thimble on her finger. She's suffering from eyestrain because she's been doing her mending and sewing in poor light. 3 (B) An eyeglass lens. Symbolic of the important part eyes must play in winning the war. If you're using your eyes longer and harder these days, have them examined. 4 (C) An IES Better Sight Lamp Reflector—the glass or plastic bowl which has revolutionized lighting in millions of homes by providing abundant light without annoying glare.

MORAL: When you read, work or study, have enough light to guard against eyestrain— but don't waste it! When you need bulbs, buy carefully. Get the right sizes! Don't waste electricity just because it isn't rationed— Use what you need, but need what you use.

The Problems of LASTING PEACE

By Herbert Hoover and Hugh Gibson

(This is the second installment of the newly-revised, up-to-the-minute version of their important book, The Problems of Lasting Peace, prepared especially for this series by Herbert Hoover, first-Act President of the United States and Hugh Gibson, former minister to Poland and Ambassador to Belgium and Brazil.)

INSTALLMENT II

A New Approach to Peace Making

NATIONS have often enough been successful in making war. But they have never yet been successful in making lasting peace. More and more over the centuries the world has developed the art and the method of making war. But it has never developed an art and method of making peace. More and more the methods of peace have resulted in a wider spread of catastrophe. Surely it is time we have a new approach to peace-making.

The whole nature of war and its aftermaths was changed when local and global war first came to the world thirty years ago. Old methods of making peace have been as much outmoded as have the old methods of making war.

For over a century wars had as a rule involved only 2 or 3 nations at a time. They included only a small segment of the world. The aftermaths were not so far-reaching. The peace-making and healing processes had to deal with only a limited area. But in the last total war, and in the present war, 40 nations with 90 per cent of the people in the world are involved with all their multiplied conflicting interests and aspirations.

Both the failure of peace through all history and this shift to the shape of war in itself demanded a new approach to the making of peace. Before we make proposals of a new method of peace making we must examine realistically and in some detail the immediate situation that will confront us when victory has been won.

There will be a brief period of the instant firing ceases because of the great load of fear lifted from the minds of men. Great hopes for the future will rise with this relief. But soon the weight of the world will sink in the mire of the stark scene of political and economic devastation. There are today about 44 nations at war with the Axis or with it. The Axis armies have overrun 400,000,000 people belonging to the United Nations. These armies have occupied some 16 countries. With victory these wholly invaded nations will be set on their own governments. But industry will be damaged or ruined. Transportation and communication will be demoralized. Their peoples will all be short of food or actually starving. They will be without credit or raw materials. There will be devastating unemployment. Their long and terrible suffering will express itself in bitterness and hate toward the enemy nations. In the five enemy countries the demoralization will be even greater. With defeat, leaders and governments will be overthrown. Revolution will march and new men will come into ascendancy with bitter internal conflicts. This has already happened in Italy. The victorious countries which have not been invaded will be greatly exhausted and will be confronted with enormous new problems of disabled veterans and orphans, of debt, of unemployment and of reconstruction. Turning from mass production of swords to mass production of plowshares will not be easy. Our men, and the men in every army, will clamor to come home at once the enemy is disarmed. Their wives and parents in every land will demand that they be brought home quickly. When they return they will demand by right of their service and sacrifice, that a chance in life be restored to them, and they will rightly make themselves heard. Nor are they coming home willing for their countries' substance and rights to be sacrificed in the peace making.

The whole world will realize that civilization cannot survive if there is to be another such conflict with this development of weapons, this destruction of homes, industries and cities, this killing of more civilian men, women and children in their homes than soldiers at the front. There will be a stern demand upon statesmen from all the peoples of the world that there shall be lasting peace this time.

In all this welter of hope, suffering, wrong, devastation, hate, a peace will have to be organized.

Each and every one of these many nations will make demands in the peace-making. The spirit of Nationalism will run high within them. They must try to secure the utmost in political and economic advantage for their impoverished and suffering people. And greed, arrogance, subtle age-old diplomacy will not be absent. They will be clamor for haste that industry and trade may be resumed. There will be dangers rising from the white heat of fear, hate, and revenge. All our problems will be multiplied by the number of nations and their divergent interests. All this will tend to destroy or debilitate constructive effort and to drive toward improvised solutions, destructive compromises and disregard of the fundamental forces in motion which must be renewed war.

It is the most disadvantageous moment for peace to be set to work rebuilding a world, for the destructive dynamic forces in many ways reach their most explosive point immediately after cessation of hostilities. The disciplining and purposes of war have collapsed and new disciplines and purposes cannot immediately be put into action. All this happened after the last war, and it will happen again.

Our Boys Need Musical Instruments on the Battlefield and in Camp

You can help send them this easy way.

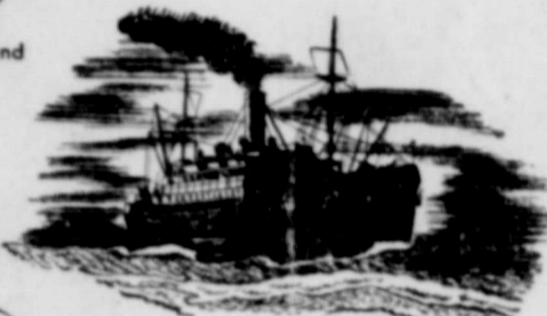

That forgotten musical instrument in your storeroom is wanted! Some boy in uniform, halfway 'round the world, is asking for it now. Harmonicas, accordions, ocarinas, flutes, bazookas. In cooperation with the United States Government we have worked out a plan to speed these gifts on to their destinations without trouble or expense to you. All you have to do is deliver them to your neighborhood Coca-Cola dealer. We'll do the rest. Here's how it works.

2 The Coca-Cola truck picks it up and sends it to the U. S. Government.

1 You take your instrument to your nearest Coca-Cola dealer.

3 They send it to the boys in camp and overseas.

4 Your gift brings some lonely soldier joy. Thank you.

Don't delay. Dig out all your old musical instruments today and start them on their journeys to our homesick fighting men.

A Little Lesson In Abstracting

The abstract is a written history of the title chain. If carefully prepared it will (1) definitely locate the tract under search. (2) Reveal, if possible, the true ownership. (3) Show liens, if any, and (4) the defects in the deed or other written documents. It may or may not prove the title to be good. This is the reason for the abstract and why it is necessary in every real estate transaction.

such subjects as soil conservation and prefabrication. An important function of the library is also to serve as a funnel through which governments can plan the reconstruction of their own war-torn libraries in Europe. From OWI stocks they have made lists of books they will order from America.

British reading taste reflects American best sellers. People queued up for the OWI library's only copy of "One World."

An advance copy of Edward Stetinius' book "Lend Lease" is now a dog-eared affair held together by rubber bands. Library workers tore it apart and it was photostated so that every London paper could do a review.
These reviews were treated as front page news instead of book column material.

The library's volumes are mostly on economics and current affairs. Government and business circles are the best customers.
With them a typical favorite is a recent pamphlet on "The National Patent Planning Commission." Disappointed daily are other British men and women who want a detailed picture of American life such as only a novel can give.
OWI appropriations do not allow it to buy enough fiction to fill the demand.

Engagement of Miss Hassen Announced

Mrs. D. Joseph is in Hamlin today where she will attend a tea at which the engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Sa-announced.

Miss Hassen is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. Hassen of Ham-

PERSONALS

ing Admiral Billard Academy in

Mrs. D. Joseph.

O. R. (Dick) Cooper, Jr., son

the home of his grandfather here this week. He will leave Saturday

The OWI library's small col-

While we're about it
let's bury this myth
"Coffee makes me nervous"

For one thing, don't mistake a nice, big fat tantrum for "nervousness." Actually, coffee soothes frazzled nerves by sharpening the senses and aiding as a gastric tonic.
It's the mainstay of men under battle stress... first thought at big fires and disasters. So when your nerves feel like they've been shredded with fishhooks, look deeper for the cause. Drink coffee, don't blame it.
Drink Admiration Coffee, a blend of the choicest, most enjoyable coffees grown. Its rich, delightful flavor picks you up. Its room-pervading aroma will thrill you.

Admiration Coffee

1. "Tonight of all nights, Mother, when I wanted to look radiant and beautiful here I am, my nerves on edge. Oh, why did I drink that coffee! It always makes me jittery."
2. "Fiddle-faddie, child. It's you, not coffee, I've drunk it for thirty years. And there isn't a calmer set of nerves in town. Coffee soothes. It doesn't cause jitters."
3. "Off to the party—wiser, lovelier and more beautiful. After legs became dazed—neary and 'the gang' devours coffee and doughnuts of some late spot, 'nervousness' soon vanishes."
