GERMANS TEMPORARILY HALT ACTIVITY ON DONETS RIVER AS REDS PUSH ON SMOLENSK

Two villages captured by Russians on Central front and indications point to heavy losses by Germans in fight

LONDON, April 8, (Thursday) (UP)—German tanks, shock troops and air forces, after suffering heavy losses in days of persistent attacks on the Izyum sector of the Donets River front, have given up, if only for the moment, and activity has subsided Russia's midnight communique said Wednesday.

The Russians attacking southwestward toward Smolensk on the central front made their first measurable advance in days to capture two villages in the German defense belt south of Bely, the Wednesday midnight bulletin said, and prisoners and spoils were taken.

It was indicated that the Germans had paid heavily in their vain attempts to break the Russian line at Izyum and wipe out the Red Army's bridgehead on the western bank of the river. More Nazis Thrown In Moscow dispatches had emphasized that the German command was throwing in more men and machines each day, attacking day and night, but the midnight communique from Moscow said, reported.

"In the Izyum area our troops were consolidating their positions. It said the enemy, having suffered heavy losses in course of 'unsuccessful attacks' during the last few days did not show any activity.

But Russian artillerymen and trench mortar crews kept up a steady fire on the German positions and, the communique said, destroyed three depots and eight troop-filled trucks, splintered a trench mortar battery and dispersed a troop concentration. The midnight bulletin said that in the Belgorod sector north east of Kharkov camouflaged enemy guns were firing at the Russians and a Red Army sergeant with six men, taking a telephone wire through a trench, was killed before the German rear, found the gun position and encircled a house nearby. The scouts killed the sentry guarding the house, then killed twenty German, inside, and with their telephone summoned tanks which destroyed nine guns.

Red Positions Improved In the Izyum fighting, the Russians not only had held their own but had improved their positions by counterattacks at some points.

The Russian Wednesday midday communique said a great number of enemy dead littered the Donets battlefield.

The Midday communique and Moscow dispatches noted a new German offensive action on the Volkhov front between Leningrad and Lake Ilmen. Fighting was reported in two sectors. Russian weapons of all types were used in repelling an attack in one sector, the communique said, and artillery silenced enemy artillery and trench mortars in another.

Morton Valley H-D Club Meets On Tuesday

Ten rules for correct posture were given the members of the Morton Valley Home Demonstration Club by Miss Gladys Martin, county home demonstration agent, at their meeting Tuesday, April 6. She told how correct posture helped our clothes to look better on us and also helped our disposition. A pamphlet on correct clothes for every type was distributed and discussed. Mrs. H. C. Thompson modeled a suit that had been made from a man's suit. Miss Martin gave the members a box of collars, and blouses and asked them to pick out the style best suited for their type. These were modeled and discussed.

This meeting was held in the lunch room which the president, Mrs. W. E. Tankersley presiding, was held. Two new members were added to the roll. They were Mrs. Lon Tankersley and Mrs. John Seward.

The next meeting will be Tuesday, April 27. Members present; Miss Gladys Martin, Mmes. John Seward, Lon Tankersley, T. L. Wheat, A. F. Beck, W. E. Tankersley, T. L. Wheat, A. F. Beck, W. E. Tankersley, J. B. Harbin, H. C. Thompson, D. D. Franklin, J. C. Butler, Thad Henderson.

Tap Dance Class Presented At Lions Meeting

T. J. Anderson was in charge of the program for the Lions Club following the weekly luncheon held at the Paramount Hotel. Anderson presented Miss Edith Ashley and her tap dancing class from Hodges Oak Park school. The class was presented in three very interesting numbers.

It was announced today that a special musical service will be given at the First Methodist church Sunday evening at 8:15 o'clock at which time the Harmony Girls and the Drago Violin Octette, under the direction of Miss Wilda Drago of Eastland, will be presented in a program.

Most of the service will be devoted to the music and the public is cordially invited to attend. Among those from Ranger who will appear in the program are Misses Rosemary Bruce, Ann Matthews, Muri Dean Murrell and Marjorie Pearson. Preceding the musical the musicians, and their mothers will be entertained at a tea to be given by members of the church at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Matthews.

SECOND WAR LOAN DRIVE TO OPEN MONDAY

Monday marks the opening of the Second War Loan drive the goal of which is $13,000,000,000 and the theme of which is "Back up the men in the armed forces". The slogan for the drive is "They give their lives—you lend your money."

Eastland County's quota has been tentatively established at $656,000 based on the bank deposits in the county as of the 31st day of December. If the county is to meet its quota every person in the county will be called upon to dig into the pay check or the savings, and buy more bonds than heretofore dreamed of.

It has been pointed out that we no longer are buying bonds just to equip a soldier but that our bond buying now will have to finance the tremendous battles that will be required to win the war. A single night raid of 1,000 bombers over the Rhineland requires $375,000 worth of gasoline, only one item of the many required for such a raid. The war requires more expensive every day as the Allies assume the offensive, and the American people are called upon to do their part at home buying more and more War Bonds and Second War Loan securities.

Roast Beef and Peas No Treat to Author

ST. LOUIS (UP) Dr. Otto Eiseenschiml, Chicago chemist and author, was recently entertained by a St. Louis organization which thought that in view of the meat shortage they would have a special treat—rare roast beef and green peas. The dinner was superb and all the diners had that satisfied feeling that always comes after a good meal until one remembered that Dr. Eiseenschiml's latest book, "Without Fame," has a chapter entitled, "Roast Beef and Green Peas" in which the author states, "What the future will bring forth, I do not know but, like Mary MacLane, I pray that Satan may deliver me from—roast beef and green peas."

Doolittle's Air Force Scores Hits

Mexico City With No Food Points Attracts Many

By EDWARD P. MORGAN United Press Staff Correspondent

MEXICO CITY, April (UP).—War may be hell, but you would never believe it to look at this "wartime" capital of nearly two million people.

Mexico City is the only major metropolis left in the hemisphere without rationing of any kind. Prices have climbed, but there is more money in circulation and the capital has assumed curiously an unmistakable carnival air.

People are coming here to forget—or escape—the war, not to feel it. The normal tourist traffic of school teachers, the ubiquitous American motorist and the like, have dropped off nearly to zero, but a new kind of wartime travel has taken its place in boom proportions.

Scores of Americans, alone and with their families, have been pouring into Mexico City to stay for the duration. They include many people who in previous days were known as the "international set" on the Riviera, in Shanghai and Singapore. They include also a sprinkling of would-be draft dodgers, but their number is being gradually reduced as a result of a Mexico-Washington agreement on mutual check-up of "eligibles" for army service.

Mexico installed its own draft after declaring war on the Axis 10 months ago and draft-age foreigners may find themselves caught in it.

Many U. S. Airmen You see more and more American uniforms on capital streets. Mostly they are U. S. Army Air Corps Men, on their way to or from Caribbean duty or here on furlough. Their wives come down from the United States and they spend a brief vacation sightseeing in Mexico.

There is a constant stream of U. S. government "experts" traveling to Mexico and other Latin-American countries on official missions, buying strategic materials or attempting to iron out priorities for Latin-American consumption.

Cooker Clinic Is Held At Morton Valley

A cooker clinic was held at the Morton Valley school house with Miss Gladys Martin, county home demonstration agent, supervising the testing. Eleven cooks were tested, with only three of the eleven testing perfect. This is the procedure for testing cooks:

1. Prepare cooker exactly as if you were going to can.
2. Test thermometer in boiling water. It should register 212 degrees.
3. Shake the mercury down before Fahrenheit, at sea level.
4. Suspend the thermometer in the center of the cooker if possible. Use a thermometer rack or place the thermometer in an empty jar on a rack in the cooker.
5. Close cooker to exhaust air the same as for canning.
6. When dial registers 10 lbs. hold for 5 minutes.
7. Remove from fire, and let gauge return to 5 lbs., after which the petcock may be opening slowly.
8. When gauge is at zero open cooker.
9. The thermometer should read 240 degrees Fahrenheit at sea level.
10. Repeat this procedure at 15 lbs. pressure. The thermometer then should read 250 degrees Fahrenheit.

This is an expansion program of the Home Demonstration club. Cookers were tested for two-non-club members. Present: Miss Gladys Martin, Miss Ruth Carter, Mmes. T. L. Wheat, J. C. Butler, A. F. Beck, Mills, H. C. Pounds, Josie K. Nix, and Thad Henderson.

LAND AND AIR FORCES POUND TRAPPED AXIS ARMIES AS THE BRITISH AND AMERICANS UNITE

U. S. Army Air Force strikes at Antwerp and Paris destroying 70 German planes in daylight raids with loss of 8 planes

The battle of Tunisia entered a new phase today with Allied land and air forces pounding the trapped Axis armies from all sides and Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson proclaiming that "we can be assured of victory in that theater."

American troops joined the British Eighth Army in riling up the southern flank of the Africa Korps, while in North Tunisia the British first army advanced four or five miles.

It was explained that the original plan was for a member of the department to be in Ranger every week, but due to the shortage of men in the department, it was necessary to change the schedule.

Persons wishing drivers license are urged to call at the City Hall and have their tests taken.

May Save Ships Now Sunk In Lake Superior

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (UP) Ship disaster on Lake Superior, covering almost a century, are being studied by regional officials of the War Production Board for possible salvage. Millions of tons of scrap iron and steel are estimated to be under the cold waters of Lake Superior. A list of 94 ship sinkings dating back to 1847, has been compiled by the WPB.

Some contractors are conducting preliminary studies to determine whether the ships can be salvaged profitably for conversion to tanks, guns, planes, and armor plate.

The Julia Palmer, the second steamer on Lake Superior which was lost in 1847, is the first ship on the WPB list. She was built as a full-rigged ship in Buffalo, N. Y., and was converted to a side wheel steamer.

The L. C. Waldo, one of the victims of the "Big Storm" of Nov. 8-10, 1913, when 40 vessels and 235 lives were lost on the lakes, also is on the WPB list. When the storm struck, the Waldo was midway across Superior loaded with ore. A masthead high sea washed away her pilot house and the upper works were frozen with ice. The Waldo finally cracked up on a reef, and the crew lived for two days in the forward house, burning furniture in a bathtub to keep from freezing.

Another historic wreck which storm was the Turret Chief, which was grounded on Keweenaw peninsula, six miles north of Copper Harbor. The crew of 18 men scrambled down lines from the ship to the rocky shore in a raging blizzard. They were without food or protective clothing and struggled for two days in the blizzard before being rescued by an Indian party.

Another historic wreck which the WPB would like to salvage is the Algoma, The Algoma, a Canadian Pacific steamer was lost Nov. 9, 1885, with a crew of 41.

PETER BOHLER, the sage of Dubuque, corrects the report circulated by this department that Outfielder Pete Gray, purchased by Toronto, is the first one-armed player to crash organized baseball.

On Sept. 13, 1883, pitching for Cleveland in the National League, Dailey defeated Philadelphia, 1-0, without allowing a hit.

On July 7, 1884, with Chicago of the Union Association, a major league, Dailey struck out 19 Boston players in nine innings to equal the record of Charley Sweeney of Providence, who set the pace a month earlier.

On May 18, 1884, Dailey struck out 15. He rejoined the National League in '85, remained on big time until '87, then dropped into the minors.

Dr. Forrest C. Allen predicts that professional basketball will be established on a sound footing following World War II.

Professional baseball, points out Dr. Phog Allen, was a direct outgrowth of the Civil War. Professional football really got going following World War I.

In both instances, 20 years were required to establish the sport on a firm financial footing. But Dr. Allen, famous coach of Kansas, sees professional basketball scaling the heights quicker.

Promoter Ned Irish in New York, Philadelphia and Buffalo and college teams appearing in Chicago and elsewhere have cleared the way for the acceptance of professional basketball on a big time scale.

Practically every city of appreciable size has an auditorium or field house seating from 4000 to 18,000.

Dr. Allen lists a number of reasons why he feels sure of his contention. Amateur promoters—college, school, athletic club and industrial—have stimulated an interest that practically every able-bodied youth in America has played.

Following every war, there is a revival depression, which sees many highly skilled athletes massed out of the service and war industry, without employment.

A MID all the screaming on manpower shortages, size of the army, deferment of farm workers, the Austin-Wadsworth bill for compulsory war-labor service, the Bankhead-Nye-Thomas bills to cut the army by two million men, demands for War Manpower Commission.

Paul V. McNutt's handsome scap, repeated plea for Fanny Perkins's head on a platter, shouts for a new manpower czar with guts and teeth—through brains are unspecified—and semi-secret conferences from whose services no press beatist obtained will then be utilized. . . . absenteeism without cause would tend to decrease. . . .

"If we can increase the operating efficiency . . . the excuse for labor hoarding . . . will cease to exist. Thousands of workers from whose services no press beatist obtained will then be utilized. . . . absenteeism without cause would tend to decrease. . . .

"A man who would not brave a snowstorm to reach a plant where he would lean on a machine for lack of material would hesitate to play home when he knew that a direct result of his absence would be less production of an article important to the soldiers at the front."

NOBODY has yet licked absenteeism and chances are nobody will if anything, absenteeism is likely to increase as more and more marginal workers are brought into industry. The same goes for hoarding manpower by employers who want to be sure of an adequate working force. . . .

But no one thing is going to make more manpower and so, as the Truman report points out, the only way to remedy the situation is to see that what manpower we have is fully and most efficiently employed. If Henry J. Kaiser can turn out Liberty ships in 279,000 man-hours and that is 79,000 man-hours less than other shipyards, etc., yards should be brought up to the Kaiser efficiency to save manpower. And the same principle should be employed to every other war production industry, right down the line.

As for the Austin-Wadsworth national service act, now openly supported by Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson and touted by many as the eventual solution, the Truman report has this pertinent comment.

"The administrative problems which would be encountered in trying to determine the occupation for which millions of people would be best suited are immense, to say nothing of the difficulties which employers would encounter in attempting to get useful work from employer drafted for jobs they do not want."

BY PETER EDSON NEA Washington Correspondent

BRITISH Foreign Minister Anthony Eden's presence in the United States for a general exchange of views on all aspects of the war situation is a timely one, for there are evidences that U. S. love for the British, which reached a passionate peak after Dunkirk and went on up from there during the blitzes, isn't what it used to be.

This found unofficial expression in Washington recently when a British attaché remarked facetiously and off the record that the best thing that could be done to improve American relations with Great Britain would be to have Hitler bomb London more frequently.

There is more truth than whimsy in that sly bit of typical British humor, for the fact does seem to be that the more the English suffer, the more we love them. When the going gets good, the American tendency is to assess the British war effort more critically and be just a little suspicious of every move the British make.

This international mistrust of the cousins across the seas has been bothering people in high places for some little time. Maybe the Eden visit is a result of this concern, maybe not. Either way, it is possible to reveal that American and British officials in Washington and London have been holding some very confidential conversations to see if they couldn't find the causes of this ill-will and then do something about them.

WHILE the U. S. Office of War Information makes much of the fact that there is now a greater British demand for news about the United States, not so much has been reported on the unkind things which are being said. A British subject is killed by an American soldier, and the word gets back to the United States that it is unsafe for British citizens to be out at night if there are American soldiers thereabout.

From British sources come complaints that the American soldiers scattered about the British Empire have too much money to spend. There being nothing in the stores to buy, the Yanks gamble away their pay, spend it on too much high living which causes prices to rise. And reduces quantities of foods left to the British. Besides which, as our movies show, all Americans are rich gangsters, so it's only natural that the U. S. soldiers are in general drunk and disorderly all over the place. That kind of stuff.

To get at the bottom of this mutual mistrust, British and American information people some time ago decided to approach the question in a scientific manner. Each side would prepare a list of all the things which the people of one country held against the people of the other. They would conduct surveys, sample public opinion, write reports. The British had no experience in this public opinion poll business, so the Americans were to help them set up the machinery.

USO Does About Face As WAACs Come Into Town

FORT WORTH, Tex., April 7. (UP)—The United Service Organizations, which has been enlisting girls to dance with servicemen at the USO dances, did an about face this week.

Service men were enlisted to dance with 180 WAACs from Denton who were entertained at a Saturday night dance.

The dance, however, marked the first time in the history of the USO that a uniform would not admit a man to a dance floor. An invitation to dance with a WAAC was necessary.

To Hasten Victory

No American wants this war to go one minute beyond the time we can bring it to a victorious end. To hasten that victory—to save possibly the lives of millions of our boys on our far flung fronts—it is imperative that every American do his part in the Second War Loan. There is an investment to fit every purse.

Aid to Enemy

"Any American who wilfully neglects to pay his taxes on time or to invest every cent he can in War Bonds is surely giving aid and comfort to the enemy. . . . We have a job to do and we are all called for service to our country. Our dollars are called to service too. Let us all ask ourselves, 'shall we be more tender with our dollars than with the lives of our sons?'" — Secretary McGeathu.

Thirteen billion dollars—the sum the Treasury must raise in the Second War Loan drive, is only one sixth of the estimated cost of the war for the fiscal year of 1943.

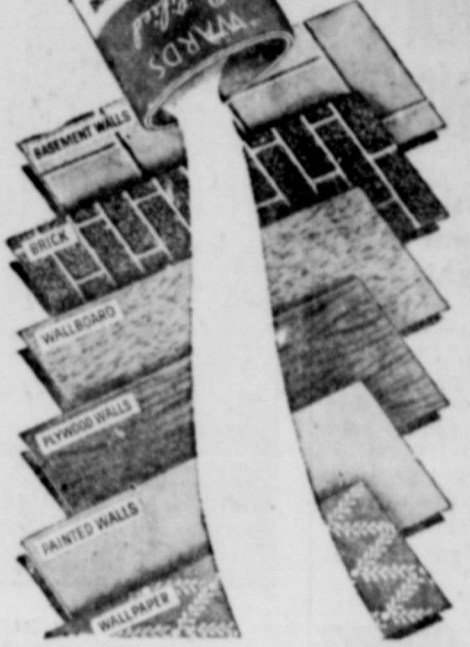

The goal of the Second War Loan drive is 13 billion dollars. That is just about one sixth of the estimated increase of the Public Debt for the fiscal year of 1943.

Glider Girl

By OREN ARNOLD

Copyright, 1943 NEA Service, Inc.

THIS STORY: Herded from coast to coast, Capt. James Carr's glider flight, with Pat Friday as navigator, is attracting a great deal of public attention. The pilots have arrived in Chicago, and Pat has retired to her hotel room—where she is suddenly contacted by Loraine Stuart, who is ready to leave her home for a possible injury at Loraine's hands. Then Loraine produces an order, commanding Pat to return immediately to Elmirra. The order, Pat notes with sinking heart, is signed by Captain Carr.

FORGERY CHAPTER XII

FOR the past few hours, that embryonic hope which had lurked within Pat Friday had been growing. It was an unadmitted hope but a very real one; a hope that Jimmy Carr might think she was a woman to treat as a woman, a somebody to be loved, instead of a little sister somebody to be teased. Not that she disliked the teasing—indeed she loved it!—but now she knew that teasing had been the sum of it all.

"He gave you that?" she murmured, stupefied, to Loraine Stuart, who was sitting at the Chicago hotel room.

Loraine didn't answer. "Where did you—this order—Pat wasn't coherent because her mind was whirling. And yet, she could remember enough.

There had been two hours since she saw Jimmy. At the great Chicago airport where their airplane landed, crowds had engulfed them. Reception committees had things in hand. Jimmy had technical aspects of the flight to see, reports to make to Army officials and the like, while she acted more as a public to see. It was a part of their pre-arranged plan. And so it had been two hours since she left Jimmy at the air field.

That was time enough for Loraine to have followed him and gotten the order. Of course, Loraine was originally scheduled to be Jimmy's passenger. Loraine was his fiancee. Of course...

Of course "All right," Pat breathed now, whipped. "I'll go. I—thank you, Loraine. I'm sorry. . . Sorry for everything. I mean—the flight. I—didn't have been mixed up in it, for Jimmy's sake and—yours. . . I—good luck, Loraine. I'll go now."

She held on to the Army order, signed by Capt. James Carr himself. It ordered her back to Elmirra immediately, in the same plane that had brought Loraine to Chicago. "Good—good luck, Loraine," Pat repeated, not seeing her. "Take good care of Jimmy. Take good care of him." She was out of the door again, and all at once the fatigue returned to her, enfolded her, left that horrible sensation of loneliness intensified. She, Pat Friday, had no parents, no relatives except a beloved brother on an airplane carrier somewhere near Australia. And except for Jimmy Carr, she really hadn't made any friends lately, either. Life had been too rushed, duties too stern. And she had had only four hours' sleep in 36 hours of strain and hurry. She managed to get a taxi without further recognition. The reception committee that brought her had dispersed.

In the taxi, going toward the airport again, she wished she might at least see Jimmy. She wanted to tell him it was all right. Everything was all right, even if he—if he did feel it necessary to discipline her, in effect. Even if he didn't quite have the—will, the nerve, or something—to tell her face to face. Perhaps he wanted to spare her any embarrassment.

Sure, that's it. Jimmy wouldn't want to hurt anybody. Better just send a signed Army order, formal and all. He—he couldn't—couldn't have known that Loraine—would put on a crazy act with a gun.

JUSTIFYING Jimmy Carr, she was almost in tears. It would be good to fly again. She hoped the pilot was all ready and waiting. They would be back in Elmirra before too long. Maybe she could sleep a little en route, then go to bed and forget the whole thing. But no. No, she would never really forget this experience. Not if she lived a billion years.

The airplane pilot turned out to be, however, friendly. Ed Bryan, who had often towed Pat in a sailplane.

"This is a heck of a note, Miss Friday," Ed drawled his speech. "You reckon everything's okay?"

"That surprised Pat a little. "Surely, Ed," she said. "It's all right." She tried, weakly, to be facetious about it. "C'est la guerre." "I guess so. But—it wasn't all just regular. I'm talking about my scooter's over here with that Stuart dame, and such."

known she and the captain was engaged—you see, the order came to me by radio-telephone, there in Elmirra. She brought it to me. She said we had to hurry. She's on the field herself, you know; and they're engaged."

"Oh, I see. Well, it's okay, Ed. Sure, I'm too bad to run you around the country this way, just hauling girls. I could have gone back on the bus or train, seems to me, too. But, Ed, here's the signed order. Miss Stuart gave it to me."

"Well—well, all right, then. If you're ready, we better head back for home."

"He never told you he aimed to put Miss Stuart in your place? Looks like he would have mentioned it, or left some word."

Pat stood up for Jimmy. "He took off in a terrible hurry, Ed. Miss Stuart was unobviously delayed back at Elmirra, and there had to be a woman passenger to save embarrassment all around. Don't you see?"

"I got another Army paper here that Captain Carr signed. About something else. But I saw him sign that one. And it ain't the same writing that the other one is. Miss Pat, this order, Miss Stuart gave you is forged!"

Problem of keeping 'em down' on the farm is emphasized by fact that farm wages have increased only 79 per cent in past 30 years as compared with a 200 per cent boost in factory wages. Of this 79 per cent increase, 53 per cent was during the January, 1941-June, 1942 period, while factory wages advanced only 23 per cent.

Diet Needs Protein Food Beside Meat

ITHACA, N. Y. (UP)—In the face of reduced rations of foods containing calcium, protein and vitamin C, nutrition workers now are revising plans to assure the public enough of these necessary nutrients in their daily food supply.

According to Prof. Clive M. McCay of the New York State College of Agriculture, reduced civilian supplies of milk and cheese mean we shall need to eat other foods rich in calcium and lime. Cudflower supplies calcium in season, but for a year-round supply he suggested that calcium be added to bread.

As supplies of meat and cheese are limited, vegetable protein foods must take their place on the dinner table. McCay said, Beans, peas, cereals, all contain some protein, and soybean flour makes a better mixture of protein for human needs than does the bread flour protein alone.

McCay advised victory gardeners to grow many green vegetables, including broccoli and kale, which last late into the fall, for vitamin C supplies. Citrus fruits, he pointed out, furnish vitamin C, but much of it is wasted by being thrown away in the peel.

Revisions In U. of T. Calendar Are Proposed

AUSTIN, TEXAS—Drastic revisions in the University of Texas calendar have been proposed by the administrative council of the school, which at its last meeting voted to place the institution on a trimester basis, with three semesters annually, beginning July 1, November 1, and March 1, each to last 16 weeks.

Purpose, of the change, which has yet to be ratified by the general faculty and the Board of Regents is to enable the University to cooperate more fully in the Navy Department's personnel training program.

Private 'Shoes' Gen. Marshall Off The Grass

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (UP)—Gen. George C. Marshall, chief of staff of the United States Army, got one of the biggest laughs of his life when he was "shooed" off the grass on a recent visit here. While vacationing at Miami Beach, he dressed informally in civilian clothes and went where he pleased when he pleased without the object of attention. One afternoon a group of soldiers on fatigue duty noticed two "civilians" strolling casually across the lawn. Out of the soldiers yelled: "Hey, you guys, what's the matter—can't you read? Keep off the grass." The "civilians" were Marshall and Gen. Henry H. Arnold, commander of the U. S. Army Air Forces. A fortune teller read Marshall's palm on another occasion. After he finished, Marshall asked the palmist how old he was. "Just 30," was the answer. "Good," said the General, "we'll have you soon."

The 2nd War Loan Starts April 12

13 billion dollars must be raised!

THE GOVERNMENT of the United States is asking us to lend it 13 billion dollars in the next few weeks. We can do it. And we must do it. Every American must realize the truth:

In this, our toughest war, we've made a good start. We've trained a lot of men—made a lot of weapons—built a lot of ships.

But it's only a start. No man or woman among us would contend for a single instant that we're doing enough now to win this war!

We've Got to Build More!

We broke all records building 8 million tons of shipping last year. But grim-faced Army and Navy men will tell you that the 18 MILLION tons we're building this year still won't be enough!

We've Got to Fight More!

From now till this war is won, America must be on the offensive. In ever-increasing numbers, your sons, brothers, husbands must go into actual battle. Our losses have already begun to mount—and they will not grow less.

And We've Got to Buy More War Bonds!

Sure we're all buying War Bonds now. But we've got to help pay for our increased fighting and building... We've got to match, as best we can, the sacrifice of those Americans who are toiling and sweating on a dozen battlefronts—with the bloodiest yet to come. The blunt fact is this: to keep our war machine going, we've got to dig up 13 billion extra dollars this month. 13 billion dollars over and above our regular War Bond buying!

In the next few weeks you may be visited by one of the thousands of volunteers who are contributing their time and effort to this Drive. But don't wait for him. Make up your mind now that before this drive is over, you're going to march right down to your nearest bank, Post Office, or place where they sell War Bonds, and do your duty. And don't ever forget this: in doing your duty, you're doing yourself one of the biggest favors of your life!

For United States War Bonds are the greatest investment in the world—bar none. They're investments tailored to fit your particular situation. And they give you the chance of a lifetime to order and get the kind of world you want to live in after this war. Every cent you put in War Bonds now will help to guarantee plenty of peacetime jobs making peace-living for every one of us.

For your Country's sake—for your own sake—invest all you can!

There Are 7 Different Types of U. S. Government Securities — Choose The Ones Best Suited For You:

Americans In France Protected By Italian Guns

BERN, Switzerland, April 8. (UP)—The Italian occupation forces in France have refused to hand over American and British men in their territory for deportation to Germany and have held back at the muzzles of machine guns Vichy police who have tried to seize them. Swiss troops captured Vichy Tuesday. The advice also said the Italian zone and many Jews are being protected in the Italian-held territory.

600 Arrested in France

It was disclosed recently that 600 American and British men have been rounded up in Vichy territory for deportation. Tuesday it was reported that all those deported were being held at Godesberg, where South American diplomats accredited to Vichy had been staying since the Germans overran Vichy territory. About 3,500 British and American men, women and children were arrested in France. But only able-bodied men, decidedly in the minority, were listed for deportation.

A dispatch in the Newspaper Gazette at Lausanne said Vichy police rounded up about 400 Americans and Britons in Italian-captured territory and concentrated them at Grenoble for deportation.

Italians Take Over

But when the police appeared next morning to escort the victims to a railroad station they found the concentration building in the hands of Italian occupation troops armed with machine guns. The Italians refused to hand over the prospective deportees, the Gazette said, and announced they would assume responsibility. The Vichy police, were compelled to withdraw, it was added, and a few hours later the Italians permitted all those who had been arrested to return unmolested to their homes.

Regarding the reported Italian troop protection of Jews, the Gazette said that while German Gestapo agents were rounding up and deporting all Jews in France, the Italians protected Jews in their own zone.

Coming from every walk of life, they are putting forth an extra something to do their trained part. To them and to you, in its own way, ice-cold Coca-Cola offers something extra, too. More than just quenching thirst it brings refreshment... refreshment that goes into energy.

Made with a finished art and with a taste all its own, Coca-Cola has quality that sets it apart. Here is something in refreshment that was, and still is, original. Coca-Cola offers all the difference between something really refreshing and just something to drink. There's no comparison.

The best is always the better buy!

BY BOYCE HOUSE Thought for the day: "I live for those who love me, For those who know me true; For the heaven that smiles above me And awaits my spirit too; For the cause that lacks assistance, For the wrong that needs resistance, For the future in the distance And the good that I can do."

Loan shark forces—desperate at the 16-6 vote by which Sen. Weaver Moore's bill passed to engrossment—are making the unfounded claim that small town bankers would be injured, although the bill recognizes the service charge for small banks as authorized in the new banking law, which was approved by Texas bankers. That small town banks have nothing to fear from the Moore bill is shown by the fact that both Senators who are said to have voted for it consistently, the Attorney General, county and district attorneys the right to ask for a district court injunction against loan sharks, many of whom are charging 240 per cent interest and more and are victimizing war plant workers and soldiers.

He wrote a little book on the money question, hence the nickname and the booklet had a circulation of several million copies. My acquaintance with Coin Harvey was not nearly as far back as '96, however. It was, in 1929, when he had settled down in the pretty little town of Monte Ne, Ark., up in the Ozarks, and was running a tourist hotel—was building a "pyramid to civilization."

Victory in the Bismarck Sea

(U. S. Army Air Forces Photo From NEA) In the glistening waters of the Bismarck Sea this Victory sign appeared as wake of a dodging Jap destroyer merged with oil.

He explained that forces were likely to wipe out this civilization, just as the civilizations of Chaldea, Assyria and Egypt were destroyed.

"The lore of those ancient peoples was carved on stone or baked on tablets of brick whereas ours is on paper," Harvey declared, "and so our science literature and history will be lost because of the flimsy material on which it is recorded."

Therefore he proposed to store, in an air-tight chamber, copies of the most important books as well as miniature of our inventions, so that the automobile, the train, motion pictures and other products of this age would not be lost to a future epoch as were many of the discoveries of the ancients.

We visited the site of the pyramid. Construction of the base was in progress. Harvey estimated that it would be several thousand years before the structure would be completely covered by erosion and, against that day, he would have a brass tablet on top of the pyramid, urging the finder to dig.

Your columnist thought it was all just a publicity idea or perhaps that its originator had become a little unbalanced. But in view of the "brain" schemes of Hitler and Hitler's help for universal conquest, "Coin" Harvey's spirit may be murmuring today somewhere beyond this world, "Who's crazy now?"

Dailey Circus To Be In Ranger Friday, April 16

After a lapse of several years, Ranger is to be entertained by a real three-ring circus, of merit. The date will be Friday, April 16th, the show will be the Dailey Bros., Three Ring Circus and the place will be the airport with the city of tents just west of the airport entrance.

The Dailey Circus is a Texas institution but tours about fifteen states annually. This year it has been considerably enlarged and improved and is now in the front rank of tested enterprises. When it arrives on the show grounds and the people see the huge elephants, six in number, go to work to help the men erect the city of tents, it becomes evident that it is not a small affair.

The patronage circuses have received all of last year and so far this season is proof that the government did not make any mistake when it gave such amusement the green signal to go ahead. There is no entertainment that can substitute for a real circus. It is in a class by itself. It is the one form of amusement that has never required a censorship, this doubtless because of its universal appeal to all classes.

While not boasting of its magnitude, the Dailey Circus does insist that it presents an exceptional two hour performance in three rings, on the hipodrome track and in the air, all that any pair of eyes can possibly grasp. They used to say "save your money for the circus" but that has been changed, now reads "save your gas for circus day"

City of San Antonio from buying the system of the San Antonio Public Service Company provided the city would turn right around and lease the main power plant to the GBRA—and, when this was done, the GBRA immediately leased the plant to the Lower Colorado River Authority for a guarantee of $160,000.00 a year for 30 years. Thus, the GBRA, without spending a cent, made at least $7,500.00. Now the question is, why did the GBRA have to come into the picture at all? Why wouldn't the City of San Antonio have dealt directly with the LCRA and thereby have saved this $7,500.00? More, perhaps, about this later.

Troops in China To Get Only 'V-Mail' By Air

By ROBERT F. MARTIN United Press Staff Correspondent CHUNGKING (UP)—Washington has given United States troops stationed in China two blows, both of which emphasized the shortage of air transports and the strict military priority in air transportation between the U. S. and China.

One order said that only "V-mail" will be sent via air. Other letters, including even those air-mailed from interior points in the U. S., will be sent to India via boat and then by air into China. "V-mail" for China will be processed in India and flown on airmail processing facilities are unavailable here.

V-mail is photographed on microfilm in the United States and is then flown to processing centers abroad, where the negatives are printed.

The second blow ordered that no packages can be shipped to China without written permission of the commanding officers in this theater of operations. Permission will be given only for necessities which are not purchasable here, but candy and tobacco are outlawed.

One sergeant ruefully recalling his arrival in China last year, said he waited three months prior to receiving mail shipped by boat, before air service was inaugurated. "Boy," this makes us the last stop on the main line," he added.

Civilian Mail FASTER Adding insult to injury, civilian mail arrives now in an average of from 15 to 20 days.

ARCADIA Friday and Saturday A FRAPPY FUN AND FROLIC! ICE CAPADES with ELLEN BREW RICHARD DOWNING JERRY COLONNA and the Ice Capades Co.

while experience in India shows "V-mail" takes three weeks to a month. One corporal here suggested the Army might use the boat on short run to Africa for mail, giving air priority to letters addressed to men in China, who are certainly the farthest distance from home.
