NAVY MEDICOS TREAT WOUNDS AT NAVAL BASE

The following dispatch was written by a Navy public relations officer:

A U. S. NAVAL BASE HOSPITAL IN ENGLAND. (Distributed by U. P.)—A 68 millimeter shell exploded over the back of an American soldier straining cables on the Normandy beachhead. Within a matter of hours doctors at this U. S. Naval Base Hospital had successfully removed from his left lung a piece of steel shrapnel two inches long by one and one-half inches wide. And the soldier is getting well today.

This is the kind of skilled, swift treatment that U. S. Naval medical officers here are giving Uncle Sam's wounded soldiers and sailors fresh from the battlefields in France.

Housing the most modern equipment and medicine and utilizing the most up to date medical techniques, this hospital during the first two weeks of the invasion handled several hundred U. S. casualties from France with the phenomenal mortality record of one man lost. Yet hundreds have poured through here, men with every type of wound or injury from walking cases with superficial wounds to litter cases with severed limbs or shattered heads and bodies.

Although specifically a U. S. Naval Base Hospital, this institution is also caring for wounded American soldiers, Coast Guardsmen and Marines, as well as British and French troops. Arriving under guard also are wounded German prisoners, given the same treatment as their captors.

Because time is such an important element in the treatment of open wounds, all means of transportation are utilized to speed the delivery of patients. Some are arriving on Navy-operated landing ships, others on Coast Guard rescue ships, on Allied hospital ships and in ambulances.

Awaiting them is their former British hospital, with more than 1000 wards, operating rooms and laboratories, all maintained in a state of constant readiness, and 60 outbuildings which can be utilized in emergencies—almost doubling the normal capacity.

It has a staff composed of 50 experienced doctors, 12 hospital corps officers serving as technicians, 98 trained Navy nurses and 400 skilled hospital corpsmen. Another 180 men are engaged in maintenance.

Each casualty on arrival is examined by the chiefs of surgery, medicine and neuro-psychiatry to determine as quickly as possible the preliminary treatment necessary and whether surgery is needed.

New and improved methods of treating men suffering from shock combat fatigue and operational fatigue have been adopted by the staff in neuropsychiatry and all patients thus far treated have been restored to normalcy.

After preliminary examinations and treatment, each man is bathed, shaved, issued clean clothes and put into a clean, comfortable bed in rooms staffed 24 hours a day by doctors, nurses and hospital corpsmen. A corpsman is assigned to see that every call is answered and that all are made as comfortable as possible during their first stages of hospitalization.

After treatment and whatever urgent operations are completed, casualties are transferred by ambulance or hospital train to hospitals in other areas further back.

The first casualties to arrive were men who had received only preliminary first aid at beach dressing stations or aboard ships and craft and who were suffering from shock as well as wounds. Today, however, the majority have been previously treated either advanced hospital units or aboard the hospital-equipped landing craft which evacuated them from the front. As a result, doctors describe the condition of casualties now being received as exceptionally good.

People Urged To Attend Precinct Meetings Saturday

Cecil A. Liefel, a member of the State Democratic Executive Committee of Texas has sent an urgent appeal to the people of this area to attend their precinct conventions which will be held Saturday July 22.

The Ranger precinct Convention will be held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock and it is urged that everyone that possibly can be present for the convention.

Following is the message from Liefel:

"The most urgent task before Texas Democrats today is to insure that the State Democratic Convention to be held in September shall be controlled by loyal Democrats. To do this WE MUST BEGIN NOW TO ORGANIZE OUR PRECINCTS FOR THE CONVENTIONS. Remember that every qualified voter in Texas is eligible to attend the Precinct Conventions and it is a duty of citizenship to attend.

The first Primary Election this year will be held on Saturday, July 22nd. Also, your Precinct Convention will be held that day. You and your neighbors who believe that your party should represent all the people of Texas MUST attend your Precinct Convention. At the Precinct Convention you will elect delegates to the County Conventions to be held on July 29th. You must elect delegates who at the County Conventions will truly represent the loyal Democrats of Texas who will pledge to support the Party's Nominations.

The Democratic Party is yours. It is your job to regain it from those who seek to use it against the people whom it should serve.

Reconverting Of War Plants No Sign War Near End

AUSTIN, Tex., July 19.—That the War Production Board has authorized the first steps in a program for reconverting war plants to peacetime production, which obviously must be planned and tried out before the time comes for the actual conversion, should not lead any American worker to conclude that the war is about over, or that he should leave his present war production work, or fail to accept employment now in essential war industries, C. E. Belk, State War Manpower Director, said today.

The exact opposite is true, he continued. The War Manpower Commission is faced with a very definite and urgent need for recruiting, wherever they can be found in the Nation, some 200,000 workers. They are urgently needed in shipbuilding, ship repair, aircraft production, ordnance, chemicals, petroleum, foundry and forging, logging and lumbering, steel production and construction projects to mention some of the most critical war production industries. The goods and services these war industries produce are of troops in the field.

CAR ENGINES WITH LONG LIFE ARE PREDICTED

DETROIT, (UP)—Automobiles that will run 150,000 miles or more without rebores or replacing engine blocks are predicted by the Budd Induction Heating Co., Inc., through heat treatment of cylinder walls and bearing surfaces.

Chief Engineer Howard E. Jones revealed that heat-treated cylinders used by the Caterpillar Tractor Co., Peoria, Ill., under severe wartime conditions have stood up three to 10 times as long as untreated cylinders.

"To passenger car owners, this means that an automobile engine that formerly had an average life of 50,000 miles can be expected to run at least 150,000 miles under normal conditions with excessive wear," Jones said.

Ordinary good quality cast iron, known to the industry as "gray iron," takes on the quality of hard steel through induction heat treatment, Jones said, with standard procedures that give the casting file hardness at a predetermined depth where needed.

Developed over 10 years of research, induction heating of inside diameters first used by Budd commercially in 1937 to harden integral bearing races in Ford rear hubs.

"Formerly bearing races were pressed in," Jones said "Now they are part of the hub itself, precision ground after hardening. They are in perfect alignment and can't creep, as the old ones some times did."

In the plant, where powerful generators produce high-frequency alternating current, Jones showed the process in operation, now concentrated on production of munitions.

An induction coil, slightly smaller than the inside of the part to be hardened, goes inside the piece for one or a half to one-half to two seconds, followed immediately with "quenching" by cold water, controlled for temperature and amount.

A single operation, the process is largely automatic and completely controlled for current, time, temperature and depth and area of hardness. When removed from the machine after hardening, the piece will show any defects in the original metal to the naked eye without microscopic examination or other tests.

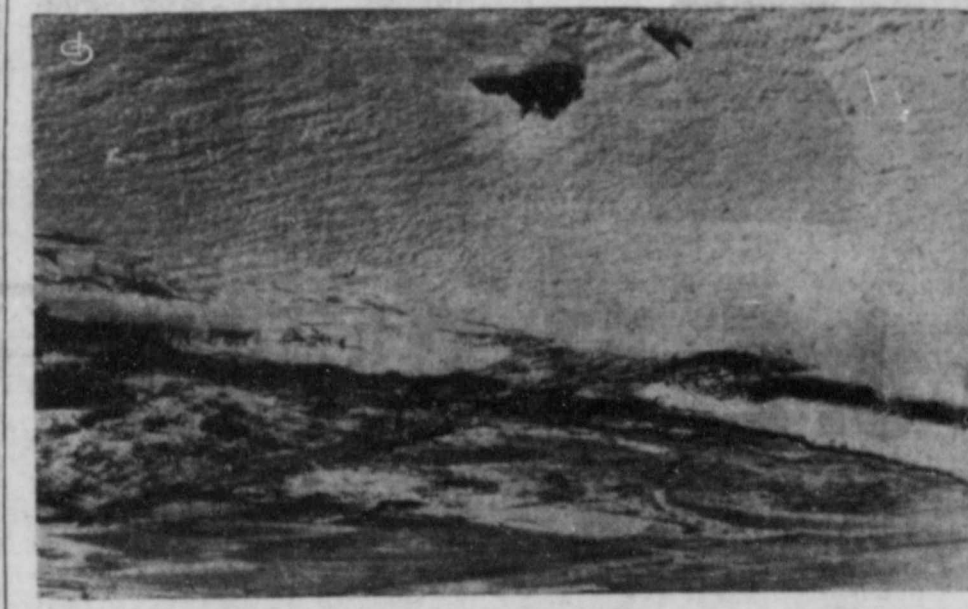

"Until the advent of the Budd Co. process, inside treating was not considered commercially practicable," Jones said. "By this method, now in daily production, we raise the temperature of metal from 70 degree room temperature to 1,600 and 1,800 degrees Fahrenheit in one to one and one-half seconds.

What Ammunition Ship Blast Did To Pier And Docks

Some idea of the damage done by the terrific explosion of two ammunition ships may be had from this picture of the havoc wrought at Port Chicago, Calif. Navy Depot. The catastrophic explosion took the lives of several hundred persons and sent many more to hospitals. The picture is of the wrecked pier.

Mortar Crew Gets Hit On Log From 1,500 Yards Away

With the American Division at Fougainville, (UP)—Stories of remarkably accurate U. S. Mortar fire are frequent, but here's one for the books!

The Japanese were beating a hasty retreat, following the collapse of their suicidal attack on the American Division's perimeter. Arriving at a river crossing too swift to be ferried, they fell a large tree across the gap and frantically began to cross.

Fifteen hundred yards back, Lt. Clayton Kingston of Pillsbury N. D., computed his data from OP's and gave the fire order to one mortar section at a time, in order to "zero in" better on his target.

Kingston's OP called back: "They're scattering, but some are still crossing on that damned log!" Then it happened "WHOOOMP!" a mortar shell scored a direct hit on the narrow bridge, from that incredible 1500-yard range. And it was round No. 18!

Result: Less Japanese to worry about.

Feed Bags Take On More Color

DALLAS, Tex. (UP)—Since the Little Red Hen doesn't care what kind of bag her feed comes in, a display at the Fifth Cotton Congress here appears more like a dress goods counter than an exhibition of bags for chicken feed.

TWO GREAT AIR FLEETS BLAST KEY CENTERS IN GERMANY

ALLIED SUPREME HEADQUARTERS—(UP)—An Allied headquarters spokesman says British and Canadian forces have consolidated and hold firmly an arc lying about four miles from Caen, with spearheads farther from the city. British troops are reported fighting in the streets of Bourges, five miles southeast of Caen.

Battles also are raging inside the Nazi strongholds of Tournai and Vimont in Normandy.

To the west, American first army troops in Normandy have scored slight gains just west of St. Lo.

The great American air fleets, totaling some three-thousand planes, carried out a two-way smash on more than a dozen key cities in central, western and southern Germany today.

More than 12-hundred escorted Fortress and Liberator bombers from Britain swept down on Central Germany to hit at eight prime targets from Rhineland to Leipzig.

The Russian air force in western Italy have advanced nine miles north of Livorno to the Arno river, and have established a 25-mile wide front along the southern banks of the river.

The Nazis continued to fire rocket bombs at London during the night and today, but on a smaller scale than the record bombardment last evening.

JOHN HART

CANDIDATE FOR STATE OFFICE HAS UNIQUE CAMPAIGN CAR

Clifford E. Butler, third time candidate for State Comptroller, and for 30 years a prominent member of Houston Typographical Union No. 87 (Reg. No. 29917)—a former City Comptroller—competent and capable—is running about over our State in an unique campaign car, which is also his campaign headquarters. His slogan is "Let's Retire GEORGE!" aptly illustrated by the rocking chair suspended in air at rear of large 3x12-ft. sign. Mr. Butler has been doing his bit toward Victory the past 18 months at Brown Shipbuilding (Badge No. 586). He has been a continuous resident of Houston for more than 40 years, living at 1637 Yale Street.

Let's Get On With The War ...
On To VICTORY!

LET'S ELECT

Clyde
Garrett
FOR

HE KNOWS AND UNDERSTANDS THE MANY PROBLEMS OF A NATION AT WAR ... OF WINNING THE PEACE ... MAKING THE HOME FRONT SECURE IN THE POST-WAR!

He has proved he is a friend of every county in the district ... We know he is honest, industrious, and his valuable experience thoroughly qualifies him best to serve us, our district, our state, our nation! There's a big job to be done by our next Congressman during these most momentous days in our history—and it will take a big man to do the job. That man is CLYDE GARRETT. He served two terms in Congress—1937 to 1941. He later was engaged in public relations work in the office of Secretary of Commerce Jesse Jones, and in performing his important wartime duties he frequently contacted the highest Government officials, members of the House of Representatives and the Senate, and ambassadors of the United Nations. He knows Washington—busy, wartime Washington—and he knows how to get things done for us folks back here at home quickly and efficiently!

"SERVICE MEN FIRST!"

Says CLYDE GARRETT

HERE IS WHAT CLYDE GARRETT ADVOCATES—

Making it possible for the veteran to be nearer his loved ones by decentralizing veteran's hospitals and locating smaller units over the country. No other candidate has advocated a hospital plan which will make it possible for ex-service men to be near their loved ones ... Completion of educational or vocational training ... Government loans at 2 or 3 per cent interest to purchase or improve homes, farms or business establishments ... Providing every assistance in aiding servicemen to secure desired employment.

Since he is the only candidate having sons in the U. S. armed forces, CLYDE GARRETT more intimately and sympathetically shares the innermost personal feelings, desires and anxieties of thousands of mothers and fathers in the District who have loved ones in the service, and will better serve the needs of our boys when they return. CLYDE GARRETT will work unflinchingly for an early Victory—and a peace that will end war and needless bloodshed for all time!

CLYDE GARRETT Stands For ...

Winning the war at the earliest possible moment ... building a just and durable peace ... Providing post-war employment for veterans, war workers and others through constructive projects of lasting benefit ... Rendering immediate aid to the fixed and low income groups ... Increased and adequate assistance to our old people. For four years the maximum amount allowed the aged for food has been only $12.76 per month. With living conditions increased from 25 to 40 per cent, this amount is entirely too little and should be increased ... Amending Social Security Act to include self-employed, agricultural and domestic workers, municipal employees, etc. ... Helping labor—but unalterably opposed to strikes which hamper war effort ... Rendering aid to the oil industry by adjusting the price of oil—but not by subsidy ... Returning standard time ... Abolishing unnecessary boards and bureaus, economizing in Government ... Equalizing freight rates ... Giving farmers and stockmen fair and honest prices, and reduce subsidies to very minimum ... Aiding farmers in building modern rural homes where funds are not available otherwise ... Continuing school lunch program which has benefited a large per cent of school children in every county ... Making it possible for local people to obtain surplus war equipment without going to Washington ... Adjusting irregularities in allotment of protein feed ... Repealing Federal Auto Use Tax. It discriminates against large majority of car owners. Believing funds derived from it should and can be obtained from other sources, he will promptly introduce legislation to repeal it. He is the only candidate advocating repeal of this tax ... Against socialized medicine—believes people should select own doctors, not politicians nor bureaucrats.

THERE'S A BIG JOB TO BE DONE BY CONGRESS ... FOR US ... FOR OUR BOYS ... AND FOR THE FUTURE PEACE AND PROSPERITY OF THIS NATION AND OF THE WORLD ... WE BELIEVE IN HIM, WE BELIEVE IN HIS PLATFORM AND HIS PRINCIPLES! JOIN THE SWING TO VICTORY!

THE FARMER WITH THREE JUDGES AFTER HIM MAKES ONE SOLEMN PROMISE

Some how the idea of Royalty has always been repulsive to me. The belief that one man or one class of men and women is better than others. I think the barber who makes his living by honest toil is a better man than any lord who ever scorned to work. I believe the doctor who ministers to suffering humanity is just as good as any king who ever graced a throne if such a place could be graced by such a creature. I think the merchant, the carpenter, the coal digger or any other man who toils is just as good as the biggest strutter that ever strutted across the pages of history. If I were elected any farmer in the world would look better to me than Lord Halifax. I am just not for those old strutters. Last but not least my sympathy goes out to those boys over yonder in front of battle. For the General on the back end I do not have so much sympathy. I know every one of those boys would like to live, they would like to be back home and have a little cottage by the side of the road and a wife and children. They would like to go home at night dirty with honest toil and have their little children twine their soft arms around their necks. They would like the privilege of asking the first great question a man always asks when he gets home, "Where is your mother." If I do not go to Congress I will fight as a private citizen to give those soldiers just as much pension as any big general gets. If I am elected I will be in a position to work better aid I will do it. And if another man goes and he does not work for this very same thing, darn him I will run against him next time or persuade, well just anybody that would run ought to beat him. I will make him afraid of the next election.

I am not making this statement just to get your vote. I do not want to tell you exactly what I think of things. I got my ideas from an old Irish father. There is a creed among the Irish that one man is just as good as another. And when a man who pretends to be an American citizen has his picture made among lords and kings more often than among American citizens I am just not for him. And when a woman goes thousands of miles to rub noses with a South Sea Islander just because he is a king, I am not for her. Boys and girls I am for America first last and all the time. This is my creed and if you do not like it it is up to you.

JOE E. FITZGERALD.

Longer Wearing Clothes Forecast For Postwar Era

ST. LOUIS (UP)—After the war, the Monsanto Chemical Co. reports, your pants won't shine, your stockings won't run and clothes will last twice as long because of radical developments in the chemical treatment of fibers. Moreover the company says, chemically treated trousers will retain their crease, even in the rain and when taken out of a suitcase, and cotton and rayons will have increasingly fast colors and will resist heat, water and acid.

These developments, according to the company, are based on new techniques in treating either the surface or the interior of the fabrics, without changing the feel or the texture.

In some cases treatment involves the deposit of a sub-microscopic film of plastic. Runs in stockings are prevented by deposits of silica or sub-microscopic grains of sand which prevents the fiber from slipping out of position when they are knitted.

CAN'T KEEP GRANDMA IN HER CHAIR

She's as Lively as a Youngster—Now her Backache is better

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 quarts a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pain, leg pain, loss of pep and energy, getting up at night, swelling, indigestion, dizziness, headache and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sensations shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 million of kidney trouble sufferers pass out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Recently, in speaking of my political record with a prominent business man at Baird, who at one time operated large stores in four of Callahan county's principal towns, he said: "Mr. Starr. All one needs to know is your personal record. I know it, and I am for you."

This personal record covers forty years of active life in Eastland county, contacting many individuals in adjoining counties. On this record I ask for your vote and active support in my race for State Representative of the 107th District.

YOUR VOTE FOR CONGRESS IS AN IMPORTANT VOTE

NO OTHER PLACE ON THE BALLOT IS AS IMPORTANT TO YOU AS THE OFFICE OF REPRESENTATIVE IN CONGRESS

You are electing the man who will represent you in decisions which will vitally affect the future of this nation. You cannot afford to make a mistake. This country faces more serious problems than ever before in its history.

This nation must solve the problem of war or peace; must balance its budget and finance a $300,000,000,000.00 debt; must solve the unemployment problem; must restore trade with foreign nations; must eliminate most boards and bureaus, and keep this Government a democratic republic.

Problems of this character can never be solved unless we send to Congress men who are well qualified for the office.

Bob Wagstaff is a native Texan, a veteran of World War I, a successful lawyer of the highest standing. His record in the 42nd and 43rd Legislatures shows him to have been an outstanding leader with the ability to accomplish things in a legislative body. His record and experience qualify him to represent the people of the 17th District.

He has never held a full-time political office and is not a perpetual office seeker. He will bring a fresh viewpoint to the solution of the problems which confront our nation.

A good joke is worth the telling again: After Hitler had conquered France. It seems he was rather cheery as he viewed the tomb of Napoleon and said: "I'm going to finish what you failed to do, I intend to conquer the world" where upon a sepulchral voice said "Have you conquered Russia?" — Well No, was the reply. "Have you conquered the British Navy?" — No not yet. "Have you licked the United States?" — "No, No," was the reply. Then brother you'd better crawl down in here beside me.

Suggests Machine For Mending Of Household Items

Your grandmother might be horrified, but you'll find it saves time and energy to mend many of your household articles with your sewing machine.

Especially on sturdier cotton which is regularly to the laundry, you'll find machine mending quick. This observation comes from Loma Faye Hearn, Assistant County Home Demonstration Agent. She advises that you watch your linens and cottons carefully and lay them aside for mending at the first signs of disrepair.

Bath towels ordinarily break first at the selvage. When the selvage begins to fray, stitch it to a narrow tape. Or if the selvage is wide enough, turn it down and stitch it two or three times on the machine.

If you find small holes in the body of a bath towel, clip off any loose loops of yarn and darn the holes with darning cotton. Maybe the worn part is near the edge. If that's the case, you might bind it with a willied tape, carper binding, or a straight piece of heavy muslin.

When you replace binding on a blanket, there's one precaution you'd better follow. That's to stretch the new binding, unless you get the ribbon type which is made for this purpose.

Most housekeepers save sheets which are splitting by taking out the weak section the whole length of the sheet. Then the selvages are seamed together and a narrow hem used to finish the new outside edges.

Garrett Is For New Plan For Vet's Hospital

Clyde Garrett of Eastland, candidate for Congress, 17th District, is the only man in the race who advocates decentralization of veteran's hospitals and locating smaller units over the country in order that service men receiving treatment may be nearer their loved ones.

Garrett pledges his untiring efforts to the interest of servicemen and is the only candidate in the Congressional contest who has sons in the U. S. armed forces. A brief outline of his plans to assist fighting men appearing under the pledge "Service Men First" will be found in an advertisement sponsored by his friends which is published elsewhere in this issue of the Times.

Another exclusive plank in Garrett's platform is his intention to Tax

Every automobile owner has introduced legislation for the repeal of the Federal Automobile Use tax since April, 1942. Garrett declares and charges that "this tax is a nuisance, unfair, absurd and ridiculous, because it discriminates against a large majority of car owners."

He believes funds derived from it can be obtained from other sources.

Garrett—who favors abolishing unnecessary boards and bureaus, economizing in Government, promoting the interests of the farmer, the stockman, the oil industry, the low and fixed income groups, the aged, and providing post-war employment for war workers, veterans and others through constructive projects of lasting benefit—is the only candidate in the Congressional race who advocates repeal of the Federal Auto Use Tax.

To Send Money Safely And Economically Use Bank Money Orders

Money is important. Don't take chances with it! Send it in the safest way possible... in the form of bank money orders.

Yes bank money orders are safe... Convenient and economical, too. The cost is even less than you would ordinarily pay for a Post Office money order. That's something to remember. And of course bank money orders can be cashed anywhere. They're as "good as gold."

The next time you send money—to pay out-of-town bills, income tax installments, insurance premiums, or for any purpose—do it in the form of bank money orders. No long, difficult forms to fill out. Just a few strokes of the pen and the job's done. Better still, you're given a large retainable receipt for your files. That means that when income tax time comes around you'll have positive proof of your expenditures... actual records. And these days, records are really important!

So hereinafter, when you send money—use a bank money order. Safe—economical—convenient.
