Atomic Power

In the upper left picture is shown a close-up of the seared sand at the base of the tower from which the atomic bomb was test-fired near Alamogordo, N. M. Intense heat of the bomb fused the sand into jade green glass-like particles, which contained minute amounts of radio-activity. Lower left is an aerial view of the atomic bomb site where the bomb blast dug a shallow crater 300 feet around the tower from which the bomb was fired. Dark area is the seared sand which extended 2,400 feet around the tower. The

Truman Scorns Criticism On Aid To Britain

WASHINGTON (UP) — President Truman today rejected as "a perfectly silly conclusion" a suggestion that this country should not give financial aid to Britain lest it be in the position of supporting a socialist government.

U. S. and British delegations are now conferring here on solutions for Britain's postwar economic difficulties.

Mr. Truman said at his news conference that there had been suggestions in some Washington quarters that U. S. aid would be used to finance British socialism. "I think that is a perfectly silly conclusion," he said.

He went on to say that the British have every right to have any kind of government they want and that in none of our business as long as this government is on friendly terms with the British.

MACARTHUR ORDERS BLACK DRAGON ORDER DISBANDED

SAN FRANCISCO (UP) — Radio Tokyo said Field Marshal Gen. Sugiyama, former war minister in the Kato cabinet and a member of the Japanese high command committed suicide today. Sugiyama's wife killed herself at the same time. Sugiyama was a member of the supreme army command and former chief of the army general staff.

TOKYO (UP) — Gen. Douglas MacArthur today ordered the abolition of the notorious Black Dragon society in his sweeping campaign against Japanese war criminals which netted another prize catch, Admiral Shigetaro Shimada, former navy minister, planned the Pearl Harbor attack.

Shimada was arrested at his Tokyo home while American doctors fought an apparently winning battle to save the life of the suicide bent premier under whom he served. Gen. Hideki Tojo, Tojo was reported resting comfortably at a Yokohama military hospital. MacArthur, in another of the swift series of moves to shake Japan's former warlords, ordered the eradication of the Black Dragon society and the arrest of seven of its leaders. The immediate dissolution of the society, long one of the most influential groups in Japan, was demanded.

Coincident with the arrest of Shimada and four other war criminals seized by American military police, supreme headquarters ordered the seizure of the Black Dragon leaders. Shimada surrendered without resistance. Tojo was given a better than even chance to recover from his suicide attempt and stand trial as Japan's No. 1 criminal. He was given a direct blood transfusion from an American sergeant.

Liguria region, 37,298,000 lire; Piedmonte, 37,054,000 lire; Venezia, 6,402,000 lire; Lombardia, 600,000,000 lire.

Since the liberation of Bolzano province, AMG has been running down German army funds through Todt organization paymasters, depots, hospitals, etc. One of the most recent catches found came from several cases of SS uniforms in a warehouse. Large amounts of lire were found in the pockets.

THE WEATHER

West Texas — Partly, cloudy scattered showers and colder with fresh to strong northerly winds in northwest portion this evening. Showers and colder in central portion tonight.

Egyptians Hope For Renewed Excavations

Cairo (UP) — Egyptian antiquities which have withstood Mother Nature for more than 5,000 years will not last another two decades, predict Egyptian archaeologists. This is a result of the expansion of the irrigation network throughout the country, which has caused the underground water level to rise so high that the foundations of several temples are crumbling.

At Philae, near Assuan, the walls of the temple there have already collapsed and at Abydos, in Lower Egypt, if concrete supports are not erected within a month the temple there faces destruction.

Meantime, with the war in Europe over, the excavation of the remains of Egypt's ancient civilization cannot wait. The country cannot unearth her hidden treasures single handed, for she has undertaken the men nor the funds to undertake the task.

Already at work is Prof. Pierre Montet, head of the French government's Egyptological expedition. He will remain at Tanis, near Minia, throughout the summer to try to make up for lost time. He has been excavating there since his return from France immediately after its liberation.

Another foreign expedition is expected to arrive in Cairo shortly from Brussels. It will be headed by Prof. Jean Capart and the expedition is financed by the Queen Elizabeth Egyptological endowment.

Future terms offered to foreign archaeologists will be more attractive than ever. This, no doubt, is to lure back some of Egypt's prewar British and American archaeologists back to this country to pick up their shovels where they left them at the outbreak of war.

With the 32nd Infantry Division in Northern Luzon — Following his participation in the final fighting in the Philippines, Walter E. Bradford, Route No. 3, Ranger, Texas, has been promoted from Private First Class to the grade of Sergeant in the veteran 32nd (Red Arrow) Infantry Division.

Sgt. Bradford has been in action with the 32nd for 31 months in the SWP. News of the enemy surrender found him assisting in mopping up operations in Northern Luzon's Cagayan Valley.

The Red Arrow doughboy serves in an anti-tank company of the Division's crack 128th Regiment. He holds the Combat Infantryman's Badge and the Philippine Liberation Medal. He is the son of Mrs. Jessie Bradford of Ranger.

ENTHUSIASTIC CROWD HEARS SILK TALKED

Growing of silk — worms which may have a future in this section was discussed at a public meeting held Tuesday night at 8:30 o'clock at the city park, at which a large and enthusiastic crowd was present.

The meeting was sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce with the view to arousing interest in this newest of Texas' industries which has already grown to a sizeable project in the Mineral Wells area.

Hall Walker, president of the Chamber of Commerce, presided at the meeting, which was well attended, and introduced speakers who are interested in the industry.

W. S. Roberts of Mineral Wells, long associated with the silk industry and who has invented a machine for reeling the silk from cocoons, outlined the process in the industry and stated that profit in silk cocoon growing would amount to several hundred percent. Sample cocoons were displayed by the speaker.

Ernest Mims, secretary of the Mineral Wells Chamber of Commerce, told the history of the development of the industry in his section and indicated that a hosiery plant already located at Mineral Wells would provide a market for silk grown in this section.

J. V. McGoodwin, public relations man for the Humble Oil and Refining company, attended the meeting and spoke on the possibilities which silk growing has in Texas.

E. P. Barrios, agricultural agent for the Texas and Pacific railway, gave an enthusiastic talk on the development that has taken place so far and possibilities for the future development.

The meeting, generally, was hailed as one of the best held in Ranger recently and evidence of much enthusiasm on the subject was shown.

Fire Partially Destroys Barn This Morning

Fire of an undetermined origin partially destroyed a barn in the 600 block of Young street about 5:30 this morning.

The barn was the property of Shorty Wallace and the upper part of the barn together with hay that was stored in the barn burned. Estimate of the loss had not been made later in the day.

Chief George Murphy stated today that grass fires are keeping the fire department busy and citizens are urged to take more care in burning trash that is adjacent to dry weeds and grass.

The chief stated that the department has had as high as nine grass fire alarms in one day and that on Tuesday they answered two calls within thirty minutes.

Enrollment In Schools Greater Than Last Year

Dr. G. C. Boswell stated today that though no exact check of the number of students enrolled in Ranger schools has as yet been completed, it is evident that the enrollment will exceed last year's figures.

Efforts are being made to even up the number of students in classes in order to avoid overcrowding and this is expected to be completed by the end of the week.

Classes in all Ranger schools started Monday and junior college students were registered for classes on Monday.

WASHINGTON COLUMN

(Peter Edson is on vacation)

BY DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, D. C.—A new edition of that interesting and highly informative volume, the Washington telephone book, is out. Its listings reflect, as usual, the rise and fall of various businesses and professions. After a careful perusal of its pages it can be reported the "influence business" is booming.

National statistics are not available, but Washington must have more lawyers per acre than any other city in the country. The classified listing gives 25 columns to the lawyers. At an average of a hundred names to a column, that makes 2500. And that doesn't include the thousands of lawyers who work for the government.

The most fascinating pages, however, are those devoted to associations. The association business, next to the government itself, is probably Washington's biggest.

Names are apparently important in the business and impressive names are the rule. There are plenty of just plain associations and there are many leagues, unions, societies and committees. Recently the names "federation," "conference," "council," and "foundation" have been popular, but the most favored term currently is "institute."

Many of these associations are in Washington because the government has such a great influence on business. Some are there because the government is itself a source of large orders. Others are in the nation's capital purely for reasons of prestige. But nearly all of them are engaged in influencing somebody or other—most often Congress, or the departments, or frequently even each other.

Out of their offices go hundreds of news letters, magazines and other publications, all purporting to give the inside stuff to the members back home who foot the bills. Collectively the bill must be tremendous. Many of the executives of these groups receive $15,000 or $25,000 or more a year.

THE influence business among the lawyers is also good. By no means all of them engage in activities other than the practice of law. But the number who make money on the basis of their friendships and influence is large. There is one lawyer listed who has never been known to practice. His specialty is knowing important people. For a fee he can arrange a luncheon with nearly any important figure in town.

All told, the number of influence boys must run into the thousands. But the Washington telephone directory does not have a single listing under the title, "Lobbyists."

TWO bad breaks made William Helis look somewhat like a sucker when he broke into racing with spectacular investments.

Attention immediately quit running when the Golden Greek paid $55,000 for him.

Then Bill Helis put up $66,000 for a picture yearling he tagged Pericles, which has not yet been to the races although he is deep in his 2-year-old year.

But Helis had his own ideas of how to build a racing stable and the bankroll to put them into effect.

And although the oil tycoon has been in the business only three years, his $2,000,000 investment is already paying off, and he's just starting.

RICK'S RAFT gave Helis his first important stake when he copped the Walden at Pimlico last fall.

Off to a slow start this spring, Helis really has been rambling since Elpis accounted for the Coaching Club American Oaks at Belmont. His Adonis bagged the historic Travers, Olympic Zenith the $50,000 Saratoga Handicap.

And when the gray 3-year-old Greek Warrior beat four of the fastest horses in training in the American Legion Handicap, old-timers compared that son of Mahmoud with Roseben, the daddy of all sprinters.

Greek Warrior lugged only 110 pounds, but against older horses he sped seven furlongs in 1:22 1/2, only one-fifth of a second off the record established by the huge

Texas Airmen Busy Paging On Alley Cat.

HOUSTON, Tex. (UP)—A plaintive cry of "Collier to Cat, please come in," is heard frequently these days around Ellington Field, near Houston.

Wichita Falls Man Training Circus Animals

WICHITA FALLS, Tex. (UP) — B. J. (Tex) Buckley has wild animals in his back yard—but he doesn't mind a bit.

Buckley has been training animals for circus stunts since he was seven years of age. He started his first act when he was 18 years old, hitting the road with 28 black bull terriers and one black and tan terrier for a full show. He trained the animals in his own back yard.

His first show with the A. H. Reed Circus at Vernon, Ind., led to the training of all types of animals on a large scale—horses, lions, monkeys, any type of animal, it was all the same to him.

Not only did he teach the animals circus tricks, but also accomplished a few himself. Juggling, trapeze, and tightwire—all were mastered by Buckley, who exclaims that, "It's a cinch."

Buckley plans to start on a new adventure—that of training bird dogs. He gave his reason as having several requests from hunters.

"Tex" said that it was just a "natural thing" for him to train and be with wild animals.

According to Buckley, the training of animals takes from four to eight months, but, he added, after they get used to the plan, they love it.

His War-End Forecast Off By Only 3 1/2 Hours

LANCASTER, O. (UP)—Harold Gobert, 31-year-old Lancaster war worker, was exactly three and a half hours off on the surrender of the Japanese.

Gobert predicted in a "When Will the War End" contest sponsored by the Lancaster Eagle-Gazette that the war would end at 10:30 p. m., Aug. 14.

The contest editor set the official end of the war at 7 p. m.—the time of president Truman's announcement. Gobert had guessed that the war with Germany would end April 5, 1945. The official end: May 6.

Nearly Half Of All Accidents Occur At Home

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (UP)—Nearly half of all accidents happen at home, says Mrs. Bernice Claytor, home improvement specialist for the A&M College Extension Service—and most of them are caused by carelessness, dangerous economy, haste and poor housekeeping.

She advises everyone to be careful with matches, particularly if there are children in the house. Other top causes of home accidents, she says, are such practices as opening cans with a bread knife, leaving stew pans on the stove with handles turned out and trying to replace burned-out fuses with pennies.

Heavenly Peace

Nazi Prisoners Clear Mines In Dunkerque

DUNKERQUE (UP)—Visitors to Dunkerque sometimes have to rub their eyes and inch themselves to make sure they are not dreaming—dreaming that the Germans are still occupying France.

The reason is that some 350 German prisoners, still dressed in their uniforms, are wandering around the town quite freely under the command of their own officers. The catch is that these men are volunteer mine-detectors, and as such, because the job is a dangerous one, are allowed almost complete freedom of movement.

The volunteers are divided into three companies and since the liberation of France they have neutralized over 200,000 mines in the Dunkerque region. In the process they have lost 52 men—victims of their own country's war materiel.

The German soldier volunteers are allowed to drive their own cars around Dunkerque, being given gasoline by the French administration. They prefer to do this dangerous work and remain "disarmed troops" rather than prisoners. They live in the German made blockhouses where they were quartered before Dunkerque surrendered.

The German mine detecting squads are under the supervision of the French government department of bridges and roads, and the French railroad society. Their officers must make regular reports of their work to these authorities, and these reports are checked for accuracy. When the Germans surrendered they turned over their maps of mine fields to the British and those, now in the hands of the French, have proved an immense help in de-mining the area.

Hitler's Silver Prize Of Los Angeles Veteran

LOS ANGELES (UP)—Adolf Hitler's prized silverware, which he kept at Berchtesgaden, is now safely in Los Angeles in the custody of Cpl. Henry Achelpohl, 21.

And Adolf can get it back—if he calls for it in person. Achelpohl, who saw 508 days of combat with the 3rd Infantry Division of the 7th Army, explains that "I didn't lift it. I just appropriated it."

All in solid silver, the ware includes several platters of various sizes, a graceful teapot service, sugar-bowl, knives and forks, gravy ladle, sugar prongs, marrow picker and asparagus tong.

There is also a large tablecloth of fine linen and 18 initialed napkins.

Achelpohl found the silverware in an underground passage, and carted it away in a drawer.

THERE'S no business institution more thoroughly American than the General Store.

Yet, do you realize that America is not even self-sufficient enough to keep that General Store running efficiently and prosperously?

For instance, its delivery truck was made in America; but 300 products, from 26 countries, went into its making. The telephone over which the orders come is American-made. But 18 of the telephone's important materials came from outside the country.

The coffee, the tea, the sugar, the tin in the cans, the cocoa and chocolate . . . these and many more of the things the store buys and sells come from overseas. Take them away and business languishes, becomes more difficult to operate. Take them away, and the community's standard of living declines, life itself becomes less pleasant.

Every business however small, every home however modest, does need the uninterrupted flow of goods throughout the world. No country, no community can build a fence and hide behind it these days. For lasting prosperity, as well as for durable peace, we must cooperate with the rest of the world. Truly, planes, radio, rockets, have made of this shrunken earth, one world.

Cooperation means getting along even with peoples whose beliefs do not jibe with ours. It means contributing our share toward world order—toward economic order, prosperity for others, policing against disorder. It means making the effort necessary to understanding. It means every citizen must accept the responsibility of making international cooperation work.

You can do these things:

First, get and keep yourself informed about the specific proposals for peace and international cooperation which are now before us. Read and listen to the discussions of them. Ask your Public Library, school, church for material on them.

Second, interest your friends in these questions. Get them discussed in any social, labor, business, religious or other groups to which you belong.

Third, say what you think—for or against—in writing, to your Congressman and Senators, to your newspaper. Declare yourself. Speak up.

Work today for peace, that your children may live tomorrow.

20 MILLION DOLLAR BANK ELECTS NEW BOARD CHAIRMAN

KARL HOBLITZELLE
Dallas, Texas, Sept. 11.—Karl Hobbitzelle, formerly vice-chairman of the board of the Republic National Bank of Dallas, on Tuesday, September 11, was named chairman of the board of that $20,000,000 capital and surplus institution, and Leslie Waggener, formerly chairman of the executive committee, was named vice-chairman of the board, announced Fred F. Florence, president, who said: "Our officers and directors are highly pleased that Mr. Hobbitzelle will be more active in the affairs and policies of our bank. The new responsibilities of Mr. Hobbitzelle and Mr. Waggener assure a continuation of the harmony that has characterized the operation of our bank throughout its existence." The election of Hobbitzelle to the chairmanship filled the vacancy left by the late Wirt Davis, who was chairman of the board from 1934.

Hobbitzelle has been associated with the Republic National Bank during most of the years of its remarkable growth from Dallas' smallest and youngest bank in 1920, with capital and surplus of $100,000, to an institution with capital and surplus of $20,000,000.

Hobbitzelle, nationally known theatre magnate and philanthropist, has served as director of the Republic National Bank since 1927. A native of St. Louis, Mo., he first came to Texas in 1905 in the interest of Interstate Amusement Company.

LESLE WAGGENER
His favorable impression of the state and Dallas led to frequent subsequent trips and the establishment of residence here in 1920. In addition to Mr. Hobbitzelle being president of Interstate Circuit, Inc., and Texas Consolidated Theatres, Inc., he is president of the Dallas Citizens Council; a member of the board and executive committee of the Civic Federation of Dallas, and chairman of the Texas Centennial Commission, to celebrate the 100th anniversary of the statehood of Texas in 1946.

Hobbitzelle comes from a family of distinguished Americans. His great-great-grandfather, William T. Hobbitzelle, married Loretta Ogle, daughter of Maryland's Governor, Samuel Ogle. His father, Clarence Hobbitzelle, fought with the Confederate Army. Hobbitzelle's ancestry is typical American. On the father's side, Swiss, Austrian and English, and from the mother's branch of the family, Irish, English and French.

Leslie Waggener has been a director and officer of the Republic National Bank for twenty-two years and chairman of its executive committee since 1931. He is also a director and member of the executive committee of the Texas Employers' Insurance Association; a director and member of the executive committee of the Employers Casualty Company; a director of the Southwestern Life Insurance Company, the Liberty State Bank and the Oak Cliff Bank and Trust Company; a member of the advisory committee of the Dallas loan agency of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation; trustee of Dallas Historical Society, chairman of the ways and means committee of the Texas State Historical Association; a life member in Texas Folk-lore Society and treasurer of the Dallas Art Association.

He was born on the campus of Bethel College of Russellville, Ky., where his father, Dr. Leslie Waggener, at the time was president. Dr. Waggener, a Harvard graduate in the class of 1861, was the first president of the University of Texas. He was born on the campus of Waggener Hall, on the campus in Austin, Texas, was dedicated to Mr. Waggener's father in 1932. The new vice-chairman received his L.L.B. degree at the University of Texas in 1908 and practiced law in Dallas for fifteen years before engaging in business. He also served on the board of regents of the University of Texas for ten years as chairman of the finance committee and one year as chairman of the board.

Eastland Pair Celebrate 40th Anniversary.

Wednesday, September 12, was an important day in the Clyde S. Karkalits' home. Mr. and Mrs. Karkalits observed their 40th wedding anniversary and their three sons also observed their wedding anniversaries on the same date.

Mr. and Mrs. Karkalits were married in Cisco and had lived in Cisco and Midland before coming to Eastland in 1934. Mr. Karkalits is County Tax Assessor-Collector for Eastland county.

They have four children: Miss Louise Karkalits, who makes her home with her parents and is employed in the Eastland National Bank; Capt. Jules F. Karkalits, in Italy with the U. S. Army; T-Sgt. Clyde S. Karkalits, Jr. stationed at Las Vegas Air Base in Nevada and Burette W. Karkalits of Rising Star who is employed in a bank there.

The family had planned a true celebration for this, their 40th anniversary, but two of the sons were unable to be at home. A quiet family dinner at the home on North Walnut street, Eastland was substituted for the more elaborate celebration that will have to wait until they can all be together again.

Jules, and his wife, who is employed at Camp Fannin near Tyler, observed their seventh anniversary. The two sons, Clyde Jr., and Burette and their wives observed their third anniversaries.

Members of the family present for the dinner Wednesday were Mr. and Mrs. Clyde S. Karkalits, Sr., Miss Louise Karkalits and T-Sgt. and Mrs. Clyde S. Karkalits, Jr.

Evacuees Find Comfort In Song During Storm

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex., (UP)—More than 400 evacuees at Wynn Seale High School here during the recent coastal hurricane found their greatest refuge in music, the songs Texans like best—especially "Don't Fence Me In."

A pianist pounded out "Don't Fence Me In," while scores of evacuees took up the chorus. Then there were requests for "The Eyes of Texas," "San Antonio Rose," and again "Don't Fence Me In."

For two days and nights it continued, interspersed with coffee, sandwiches and milk, prayers, and sometimes a silence to listen to the howling wind outside and to look at the pitch black sky.

The big family ranged in ages from the youngest, 12-day-old

Barbara Jean Kunce, to the eldest 76-year-old Mrs. Sarah Nichols. Barbara Jean's mother said it would be something for her young daughter to recall, and Mrs. Nichols kept comparing the storm with those of 1916 and 1919.

Everyone thought Sunday night would be the last of their stay in the school building. When Sunday morning came and the skies were a bit brighter, they were even more hopeful of going home. But the weather bureau sent out reports that the storm might still be dangerous, that evacuees could not possibly return home before Monday morning.

So Wynn Seale prepared for another night of waiting. And as the howling wind corralled them inside, they once again took up the chorus of "Don't Fence Me In."
