LEGISLATORS PROPOSE FIFTY BILLS AFFECTING VETERANS

AUSTIN, Tex., (UP) — Texas legislators were offered by a national magazine's roundup of "soldier-aid" activity of states that put down Texas with none. That was before the last session of the Texas legislature and may be, through erroneous, it stirred the legislators into extra activity on the topic. For some reason or other, the session almost overflew with "soldier" matters. How extensive this consideration of veterans was can be appreciated from a recent compilation by Miss Doris H. Connerley, Legislative Librarian. This compilation shows that 33 bills affecting soldier interests were offered in the House of Representatives and 17 in the Senate. There were proposals in the House for five constitutional amendments affecting them, and two in the senate. The House had also seven concurrent resolutions and seven simple ones affecting soldier or veterans. In the Senate there were seven concurrent and six simple resolutions on such topics. One of the constitutional amendments was made effective by voters' adoption of August 25. Under it the non-professional soldiers can vote through 1946 in Texas elections without having to pay a poll tax. Another which proposed to insure war veterans the constitutional right to work regardless of membership in labor unions failed to be submitted. The House passed a bill for the same purpose but it died on the Senate calendar. Looking through the measures that were proposed and became effective soldiers will find that 21 passed. One of these puts in statutory form the voting - without-poll-tax provision. Several amended state laws to enable state banks and other financial institutions to extend the privileges granted veter-

Employment And Payrolls Show Drop In August

AUSTIN, Tex., — Employment and payrolls in Texas in all manufacturing industries showed a decline last August, according to a statistical report from the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research. Employment decreased 2.9 per cent over August, 1944, and payrolls decreased 8.3 per cent over the same month last year. Only five out of 15 selected cities showed an increase in employment in August over August, 1944, and six cities showed an increase in payrolls. Cities showing a gain in employment last August, as compared with August, 1944, and the percentage gain were as follows: Austin, 9.3; Corpus Christi, 2.5; Galveston, 8.2; Sherman, 8.6; Wichita Falls, 7.5. Percentage loss in employment for the same period in selected cities was as follows: Abilene, 6.1; Amarillo, 22.9; Beaumont, 14.7; Dallas, 22.3; El Paso, 1.6; Fort Worth, 45.8; Houston, 26.7; Port Arthur, 0.4; San Antonio, 3.9; Waco, 8.8. Gains in payrolls for this period were as follows: Austin, 14.4; El Paso, 10.3; Galveston, 39.2; San Antonio, 5.4; Sherman, 28.5; and Wichita Falls, 10.9. Decrease in payrolls for these selected cities were as follows: Abilene, 0.3; Amarillo, 17.3; Beaumont, 7.4; Corpus Christi, 0.2; Dallas, 28.1; Fort Worth, 51.5; Houston, 30.4; Port Arthur, 4.6; Waco, 28.1. Then, too, there were provisions for free tuition in state supported colleges, if the soldier preferred that to the federally-financed education plan. Provision for driving licenses for injured service men was made in another act of the legislature. Preferential employment was voted for ex-service men in public construction and state agencies were directed in making personnel changes to bring their employment of veterans up to a total of one-fourth of the full force. There was enlargement of the Veteran Service Officer's state department, and laws were changed to make World War Two veterans eligible for county service officer posts. Workmen's compensation was provided for the Texas State Guard and the Spanish American War Veterans were given a fund held over by the state since 1892. The Newspaper Collection Library at the University of Texas receives papers from England, France, Germany, Spain, Austria, Ireland, Italy, China, Japan, South and Central America, Cuba, Puerto Rico, and Mexico.

RANGER MAN BACK IN US FROM WAR

Major A. W. Brazda who has been in Europe with the medical corps of the Air Forces arrived in New York Thursday afternoon and immediately contacted his family here by telephone. Worth district governor, attended the meeting and made a very inspirational talk to the group. Clubs from the following towns were represented at the session: Stephenville, Cisco, Brownwood and Ranger. This was the first zone meeting of the 1945-46 season.

First Gust Of Winter Hits Ranger Today

Winter hit Ranger in a sudden gust this morning about nine o'clock and sent citizens scurrying for sweaters and coats. UNIVERSITY TO OFFER ADVANCED CPA COURSES

AUSTIN, Tex., — Combining advanced courses in business administration with training for CPA examinations will be the object of a new program to be started in the University of Texas College of Business Administration, Dr. G. H. Newlove, professor of accounting, said today. "This program is not new," Dr. Newlove said, "for it was offered several years before the war. It was dropped during the war because of a lack of graduate students, and now we expect to revive it when a sufficient number of graduates return from military service. Especially to aid the G. I.'s, the program will include courses for a master of business administration degree while students are studying to take examinations as Certified Public Accountants. The pre-war program for the master of business administration degree was offered so that students could complete four courses by Christmas, spent two and a half months as junior accountants, complete three courses from mid-March to June, and secure their degrees at the end of the summer session. "Because the only weakness in the entire program was the writing of a thesis during the summer months, Plan II for the degree has been changed," Dr. Newlove stated. "Men who take the program in the future may take additional two of certain courses, and a course with a research report in lieu of the thesis. "We think this program will be about perfect for the G. I.s who want to secure an M. B. A. degree while preparing for the CPA examinations.

EASTLAND AND RANGER GAME ENDS 0 TO 0

In an non-conference game played here Thursday night the Eastland Mavericks held the Ranger Bulldogs to a scoreless end in a tussle that gave the spectators many a thrill. From the kick-off to the end of the first half it was nip and tuck with first one taking the ball and then the other with both teams making threats at scoring. In the third quarter Gene Young, right half for the Mavericks got loose and ran 45 yards for a touchdown but the play was called back and Eastland penalized for clipping. Frankie Ford's tossing arm was working but the team had difficulty in completing the passes and were blocked by the Eastland team when passes were caught. On first downs Ranger earned five and Eastland made four and Ranger gained 120 yards in line play while Eastland only made 64 yards. Ranger completed three passes and Eastland two and Eastland intercepted three of Ranger's passes and Ranger took one from Eastland. Ranger kicked five times for 178 yards and Eastland kicked six for 194. Ranger made 25 penetrations to Eastland's 20. Starting line-up for the Ranger team was, center D o n Ford; guards, Wayne Terry and Andy Jackson; tackles, Worth Carlin and Bob Balch; ends Pete Dawn and Paul MacDonald; b a c k s, Frankie Ford, Junior Arterburn, Jack Parrish and Bobbie Williams. Homemakers Are Advised To Can Without Sugar

AUSTIN, Texas — No sugar for canning fruit juices? A University of Texas Food Preservation expert, Miss Mary E. Goldmann, assistant professor of home economics, advises homemakers to quit worrying about a lack of sugar, and to can fruit juices without sugar, and store until there is sugar available for jelly and jam-making. In her course in advanced foods and experimental cooking, Miss Goldmann instructs students in both large quantity and small quantity preserving. "In preparing fruit juices, the following directions must be followed," she says. "Sterilize the jars, boil the fruit juice for 20 minutes, pour into jars, and seal with lids." The water bath method of canning can be used for acid fruits and tomatoes, while the pressure cooker method, at temperature between 240 and 250 degrees is used for non-acid foods. These foods include meat, peas, beans, and spinach, the professor said. In their food preservation laboratories, students have preserved bushels of peaches, tomatoes, pears, chickens, shrimp, and Red Snapper. They have also learned procedures for preparing fruit for storage in freezing lockers, Miss Goldmann said, and for dehydrating fruits and vegetables.

CI0 STARTS CLOSING DOWN BIG SINCLAIR PROPERTIES

PORT ARTHUR, Tex., (UP) — The last Jefferson county refinery, Atlantic Refining Co., was closed by strike today, upping the total idle workers in the Port Arthur area to 17,000. Another step towards the complete shutdown of the oil industry in Texas was taken Monday as CIO oil workers started closing down the vast Sinclair pipeline company, which extends over Texas and Oklahoma. By United Press A threat of new strikes in the nation's coal mines was raised by President John L. Lewis of the United Mine Workers as oil workers and refiners took their wage disputes to Washington for further negotiations. At Washington, Lewis notified the soft coal industry that he was out to organize supervisory employees in the nation's mines. He asked the negotiating committee of the mine operators to meet with UMW representatives next Monday to settle the question. And he implied that the UMW would support current strikes by supervisory workers with sympathy walkouts, if necessary. Meanwhile, top government officials moved into the deadlocked negotiations in the strike of 26,000 oil workers, which Petroleum Administrator Harold L. Ickes said "jeopardized the security of every American citizen." Across the nation, work stoppages from labor disputes left about 680,000 workers idle. Other uncounted thousands were being kept away from their jobs by a strike of elevator operators in New York City. Another serious strike threat was issued by the United Retail, Wholesale, and Department Store Employees of America — CIO — which announced at Atlantic City that a strike might be called against Montgomery Ward and Company's wholesale and retail stores. With more than 200 strikes already in progress in half the 48 states, the national labor relations board in Washington disclosed that it had received 32 strike petitions yesterday. Thirty-four petitions were received Monday, highest in the board's history. Automobile, steel, coal, lumber, shipping and oil industries all were hit hard by work stoppages. Secretary of Labor Lewis B. Schwellenbach said his considered the strike in 24 vital oil refineries the most critical in the nation and he "hoped we won't have to seize them."

WE FLEW Without GUNS

This is a true story of the men who by the "hump" carried passengers and cargo over the high Himalayas between India and China. Pilots call it the toughest airline route in the world.

THREE CLOSE CALLS

ENGINE trouble dogged me these last few days in February. The C-53 I had recently been assigned had developed a habit of coughing and sputtering and then one afternoon, about 75 miles out of Kunming, the oil pump shaft on the starboard engine broke. I switched off that engine, feathered the prop and brought the ship into Kunming on the good one.

The next morning the Chinese mechanic who had been working on my plane told me that the oil pump was all right; the trouble had been caused by a leaky valve cover. That was a little hard for me to believe, but I told him to warm up the engines and we would soon see if the pump was okay. The instruments indicated that it was.

An hour later when the ship was loaded and warmed up my new co-pilot, Jimmy Mar, and I took off. The fog was so thick as we went down the runway I couldn't even see the edge of the field. That in itself was nothing unusual, but the overcast was increasingly thick as we climbed. The altimeter read 14,000 feet before we got out of the clouds, and then we ran into heavy sleet and strong head winds. We were in that for about 15 minutes when the starboard engine shot a geyser of oil through its cowlings and blanked out.

With that overcast running all the way down to the field I was going to have to go back on one engine and make an instrument procedural landing!

WE FLEW Without GUNS

When we were fairly near the control tower I called the tower and told them that one of my engines had coughed out and to clear the field, I was coming in on the other one.

"What?" the Army man in the control tower cried. "But, Captain, you haven't any visibility at all! I can't even see the end of the runway from the tower. I can't give you clearance for a landing like that!"

I laughed—not because it was the least bit funny, but because it was absurd. "Well, brother," I said, "you just damn well better give me clearance because I'm coming in anyway. I'm no Army pilot and you aren't telling me what to do."

We were about a hundred feet off the ground and, according to my calculations, heading right into the landing strip, when the soldier in the tower in wild excitement began shouting, "You've got it! You've got it! That's it! Let her down!" I dropped the gear and we came on in. It was as smooth a landing as I have ever made.

BUT it wasn't the planes, I finally had to conclude, because only two days later I took off from Dinjan and ran into trouble again. Jimmy Mar was a pretty good boy, an American-born Chinese, well educated and bright as a dollar. In the short time we had worked together I had come to like him just about as much as I had liked Eddie Quinn, the Chinese who preceded him. So when he asked me if he might try a take-off that morning, I said, "Sure, why not?"

Jimmy took the captain's seat at the controls and I dropped into the co-pilot's seat.

Our wheels were just about to get off the ground—we were 800 yards down the runway—when the port engine started to race like wild and the ship slewed off to the left. At the same instant the gauge indicating the propeller pitch swung around to indicate only half power and oil began to pump out of it. I knew what had happened. The governor controlling the propeller pitch had sheared its pin. I yelled, "I've got it!" and Jimmy let go as I grabbed the controls and shoved the right engine throttle fully forward, pushing hard right rudder at the same time to correct the swing.

If there had been any runway left I would have slapped on the brakes, but we were bearing down fast on the jungle out of which the field had been cut and our only chance was to try to complete the take-off on one engine.

We managed it, somehow, pulling off and up in a shallow climb with the right engine working for all it was worth, missing the tops of the trees around the field by scant inches as we fought to keep the fully loaded plane in the air. Once we got over that first hurdle of getting the plane up there, all we had to do was to make as short a circle to the right as we dared, and come in, still on one engine, for a landing.

When I climbed out of that baby I was shaking like a leaf. All I could think of was one thing, and as soon as I found Captain Woods, the chief pilot at Dinjan, I said it. "I've had enough, my friend. That's three close calls in less than a week. I'm takin' a vacation!"

"Woody" nodded thoughtfully, and after a moment he said, "Good idea, Gen. You've earned it. And anyway, I have six passengers for Calcutta. I'll give you a ship to fly down there and you can take these guys along with you . . ."

You earn your money with the C. N. A. C., but you've got to be generous. They would give you all the snow in Tibet if they thought you would shovel it away.

COUNTY HOME DEMONSTRATION AGENT GIVES INSTRUCTIONS FOR SENDING FOOD OVERSEAS

"Food from home" is the first thought that most servicemen overseas have when they are asked what they would like to have in their Christmas packages. With food shortages in this country this year it will be a greater problem than ever to decide what is best to send. In view of this fact, it is even more important that folks are careful to send foods they know will get there in good condition and will be safe to eat. Experience last year taught us to use canned food if at all possible, or at least, it is essential to pack the foods in tight metal containers. Reports from servicemen indicate that food not sealed in cans was usually moulded, infested with insects, soaked in oil or water or dried out. Also it was found that foods ordinarily canned were better than unusual foods. This will be even more important this year with the bulk of the packages going to the Pacific where the climate and distance of travel will be harder on the packages.

When sending food to a serviceman, it is best to send a variety of things unless he asks for one specific food. Some women planned a menu on this order: 1 can turkey, 1 cranberry sauce, 1 nut, 1 plum pudding. Another sent cheese, pickles, and crackers at one time. A meat, a vegetable, a fruit, a relish and a sweet which go together well might make a whole meal.

General Suggestions Of Food To Send
Fruit cakes were among the most popular items sent last year. It is one of the most desirable products; therefore, continue to send fruit cakes even if the sugar substitutes have to be used. Honey is a good sugar substitute in fruit cakes because it helps to keep them moist as well as adds sweetness.

Other cakes sent successfully were plain butter cakes; apple-sauce cakes, devil's food cake; spice cakes; prune cakes and banana nut or cherry nut cakes. Cookies andies; breads; preserves, jellies also were popular. Unless jelly is poured into the can at the time it is made, it is not advisable to reheat it because it may not jell again.

Meats, such as chilli, tamales, barbecued meats and pork sausage were favorites, but canned chicken and turkey will be used more this year. All meats should be canned in a pressure cooker by reliable canning time tables. Cheese and butter were sent in several different ways.

Crackers, Fritos, and Potato chips were packed into cans and sealed. Pickles and relishes if thoroughly fermented or cured can be heated to 170 degrees before sealing. Catsup and pepper sauce may also be canned in tin cans. Use Renamel cans for all highly acid foods.

Mayonnaise and peanut butter soon becomes rancid in warm storage or when exposed to air. Transfer these products to plain tin cans, use only fresh food. Pack tightly, leave no air space, seal. When olives are transferred into Renamel cans, they should be covered with a liquid made by mixing half olive juice and half vinegar. Then it is not necessary to reprocess.

Pecans, peanuts and popcorn may also be sent.

A satisfactory way of sending raw eggs has not been found. A few people sent pickled eggs and had reports that they reached their destination in good condition.

It is not advisable to can potato salad at home because it must be processed so long to make it safe that it would not be tasty.

For recipes and processing time for any of these foods suggested see or call the home demonstration agent.

Miss Tankersley states that she and Miss Barton will be glad to have a meeting in town to demonstrate the processing of these foods if there is a group of women interested.

Marking the opening of its 26th year the 1920 Club entertained Thursday afternoon at 4:00 o'clock in the Blue Room of the Gibson Hotel with a tea at which Mrs. S. D. Terrell of Ft. Worth, formerly of Ranger was the honor guest.

As the guests arrived they were greeted by Mrs. M. H. Hagaman, honorary president of the club, and receiving the guests into the Blue Room were Meses. A. W. Brazda, president, Mrs. W. L. Jackson, chairman of the hospitality committee, Mrs. Terrell, Mrs. Paul MacDonald, of the hospitality committee, Mrs. Leslie Hagaman, guest book reviewer and Mrs. A. W. Opening the program for the afternoon, Mrs. Brazda welcomed the guests and introduced Mrs. Jackson who recognized out-of-town guests and former members of the club who were special guests. Past presidents of the club were also introduced.

Mrs. M. H. Hagaman presented Mrs. Terrell who told briefly about her trials and efforts in writing the book, Oil Tide, which is now in its second edition and which is a story of Ranger.

Mrs. Leslie Hagaman, who was introduced by Mrs. Jackson, gave a delightful review of the book written by Mrs. Terrell. Following the book review guests were served punch from a crystal bowl set on a table laid with an imported Italian cut work cloth. A large flat crystal bowl at one end of the table held an arrangement of yellow and bronze mums and the table was lighted by white candles in crystal candelabra. Presiding at the table were Meses. Jackson, Warford, MacDonald, Joe B. Scott, J. Floyd Killingsworth and W. H. Clark.

During the afternoon music was furnished by Mrs. Joe R. Scott at the vibra harp and Miss Gwendolyn Tunnell at the piano. About 100 guests enjoyed the occasion including four former members from out-of-town, Mrs. L. H. Fivelstein of Austin, Mrs. C. D. Woods, of Austin, Mrs. M. H. Smith of Dallas and Mrs. Arthur Murrell of Eastland. Guests coming from Ft. Worth with Mrs. Terrell were Mrs. C. E. Terrell, Mrs. A. J. Power, Mrs. Albert Duncan and Mrs. T. L. Lauderdale.

Says Electric Frigidaires And Stoves Out Soon

J. Floyd Killingsworth, local Frigidaire Appliance Dealer, announced upon his return from a Frigidaire Sales Conference in Ft. Worth that electric ranges and refrigerators are now in mass production at the Frigidaire plants. D. O. Moffett, serviceman for Killingsworth's, also attended the meeting.

Recent War Production Board rulings have rescinded any and all restrictions on the sale of electric ranges to the public and the Frigidaire Range will soon be on display in the Killingsworth store. However, the refrigerators, under current WPB regulations, are frozen in a government stockpile. The exact date of their release is not known at present. Mr. Killingsworth stated that the sample Frigidaire products he saw at the conference, and which were right off the production line, had all the quality, workmanship and eye-appeal of the prewar models. Meanwhile, Killingsworth stated that the rapid conversion and the availability of facilities at the Frigidaire plants in Dayton indicate housewives will soon be able to purchase most Frigidaire products.
