WTCC PROPOSES BROAD PROGRAM FOR PROGRESS

ABILENE, Tex., Nov. 2 — A considerably expanded program of things to work on for its area's growth and postwar prosperity is being proposed for the West Texas Chamber of Commerce. From the regional chamber's headquarters came announcement today that of 100 affiliated towns that had, by this midweek, held their referendum meetings and voted and mailed their ballots, more than 20 had responded to an invitation in ballot blank 5 to submit recommendations on old regional activities to be stressed and on new activities to be taken up in 1946.

The recommendations are clearing through the West Texas Chamber Commission, of which J. Thos. Davis, a WTCC past president, is chairman. Those deemed "not" will come before the Directors & Delegates Assembly for discussion and action at the annual one-day business session, next Monday, at the Abilene headquarters.

Of five policy planks in the 1945 referendum taken to affiliates at district meetings during October, three are winning virtually unanimous endorsement at 14 town sessions. These are on establishing veterans' business opportunities bureaus in West Texas communities for placing returned servicemen back in business on a stock owning rather than the old job basis; on speedup of demobilization of the armed forces; and on launching the WTCC into a campaign for securing West Texas parity in commodity freight rates.

Two other planks, while they are carrying, are opposed by enough town groups to indicate spirited debate at the Monday Assembly. They concern a committee recommendation to continue holding the referendum-type convention as a permanent policy; and an alternate proposal in Plank 4 to promote an all-Texas campaign of national advertising, financed through a legislative appropriation. Being heavily endorsed is the first proposal in this plank, to continue the WTCC's current industrial advertising campaign as an independent regional enterprise privately financed.

Widely recommended is a declaration on the labor problem and current wave of strikes. Sonora was first in — followed by Fort Stockton, Winters, Junction, Ballinger and Brady — with a proposal for calling on the federal government to cease temporizing and coddling labor leaders, and to apply the same disciplining and policing to offending management, as it has to business management, to the end that controversies may be settled without strikes, picketing, violence and injury to the public and property rights.

Other recommendations are for WTCC advocacy of universal military training — this by Floydada; county unit action in promoting farm-to-market roads, by Anson securing war surplus equipment for counties' use in land conservation, by Decatur. On free enterprise, long advocated by the chamber, Lubbock urges a renewed declaration for its preservation and strengthening as "the backbone of our country's final security." On another WTCC standby, policy, Spur calls for taxing of government co-ops on the same level as private enterprises with which the co-ops compete.

Another recommendation, from Colorado City, would carry the chamber a long way in its campaign for legislative redistricting. This proposes a special legislative session for that one purpose, and if a redistricting measure is again defeated, that taxpayers of under-represented districts be encouraged to seek legal recourse against members blocking it, on the ground of "taxation without representation." Submitted by Wichita Falls and other towns is a recommendation on the need for chemurgic industrial research. Proposal is that the WTCC, as original sponsor of the Moffett resolution creating the Chemurgic Industrial Research Committee of Texas as a political subdivision of the state, call on the committee to get organized and going to the end that new uses may be found for cotton and other agricultural products and raw materials and that producers be benefited by better marketing facilities.

Monday's WTCC assembly will run from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m., with time out for the annual noon luncheon at Hotel Wooten. This — in part a freight rate victory celebration — will be addressed by Olin Culbertson, chairman of the Texas Railroad Commission. The last item on the forenoon agenda will be the formal termination of the WTCC sponsored inter-county agricultural production and improvement contest. At the luncheon session President E. W. Hardin will announce the four winning counties in the two years competition and hand their representative cash awards totaling $1,000.

Indications are the assembly and luncheon will draw an attendance of around 200 WTCC directors, chamber of commerce managers and other delegates. Among honor guests will be three new West Texas state college heads: W. M. Whyburn of Texas Tech, E. J. Howell of John Tarleton Agricultural, and R. M. Hawkins of Sul Ross.

Says Dentist Shortage To Last Until 1960

CHICAGO (UP) — A dentist shortage that may continue until 1960 is predicted by Harlan A. Horner, secretary of the council of dental education of the American Dental Assn.

"The number of people wanting dental care for the three decades from 1930 to 1960 will show a progressive increase," he said.

but "the provisions for dental care will be less in 1960 than in 1930 because it is doubtful if dental schools will be at full capacity before 1950."

Dental schools should draw students from all sections of the country in order to maintain an equitable distribution of dentists between rural and city areas, Horner said.

TAKEN FOR TRUMANS
ROCK SPRINGS, Wyo. (UP) — Postmaster and Mrs. D. D. Spaul of Rock Springs recently had an embarrassing moment in a large Salt Lake City hotel when they were taken for the President and First lady of the land. Mr. and Mrs. Spani were singled out by a youth in the lobby of the hotel, who said: "There goes President Truman and his wife." That caused a ripple among the crowd and the Spanis' received admiring glances.
