ROBERT RAY HERRING IN REPRESENTATIVE RACE

The Ranger Times has been authorized to announce the candidacy of Robert R. Herring of Breckenridge for the office of representative of the 17th district of Texas to the Congress of the United States subject to the Democratic Primary on July 25th. Mr. Herring was born and reared in Ranger, Texas, graduating from the local high school. He is an active member of the Christian Church of that city. He attended Ohio Wesleyan College in Stephenville for two years; then transferred to Texas A. & M. College, where he graduated with a B. A. degree. Following his graduation, Mr. Herring spent a year in Washington, D. C., working in the Department of Agriculture and the Department of State while attending the graduate school of Georgetown University specializing in Government, Economics and International Law. He is particularly well qualified both by background and training for service in this desired capacity during our critical years immediately ahead.

ROBERT R. HERRING

Mr. Herring volunteered for the service in March, 1942 as a second lieutenant in the Intelligence Corps of the U. S. A. I. Forces. He was sent to Australia for overseas service in May of that year and remained in the Pacific during 45 months of service through the initial occupation of Japan and Korea. He participated in 465 hours of combat flying and was decorated for gallantry and outstanding service four times, receiving the Legion of Merit, the Silver Star, and the Air Medal and cluster.

He participated in five amphibious operations and twelve campaigns while serving as air intelligence officer on the staff of General Kenney and General MacArthur and various task force staffs of the Pacific Air Command. During the last weeks of the War he was the senior Air Intelligence officer on Okinawa. He was promoted to the rank of Lieut. Colonel on Feb. 28, 1945. Following the surrender of Japan, he interrogated ranking Japanese officers and inspected Japan, Korea and China, while actively participating in the occupation of these areas.

Mr. Herring returned to the U. S. in December, 1945 and is now residing in Breckenridge. He is planning a very active campaign, and it is the desire of him and his wife that they should be able to meet most of the people of this district during the next few weeks. He places his candidacy before the people of the 17th district with a platform of eleven points.

Fully aware of the grave economic situation now facing the nation and watching the Peace for which we paid so dearly as it insecurely totters before daily blows, he asks your careful consideration at the approaching election.

1. To promote action in a positive manner upon all questions affecting the present and future of our country and to try to re-establish our economic structure as rapidly as possible on the basis of principles of democratic life as laid down in the constitution of the United States.

2. To help preserve in every way the rights of the individual and of the State, to defend all matters which are peculiar to a State or a locality and which do not affect the national scene against Federal action, and to promote Federal legislation only on questions of national concern.

3. To try to adjust the expenses of the Federal Government with the available income and to reduce the burden of taxation as quickly as possible.

4. To encourage the building of public works such as, highways, farm to market roads, dams, irrigation systems, and other worthwhile projects where there is an established need and where these works would benefit the economic life of the community; but to discourage expensive activities of the Federal Government that tend to compete with the American Business Man and hamper the principles of free enterprise and sound economy.

5. To consider the Federal Government's responsibilities as the guardian of all its people, to protect one group from wanton exploitation by another; and to establish between Labor and Management a permanent and sound basis for settling disputes, granting full and enforceable justice to the grievances of either party, possibly by the establishment by law of an unbiased Arbitration Court of qualified and well-paid judges, whose decisions would be backed by proper and just law.

6. To promote Federal aid in a sound and reasonable way to our American educational endeavors and to facilitate in every way the state educational programs looking at all times toward a secure future through competent and well trained boys and girls.

OFFICERS ELECTED FOR C OF C

At a meeting of the Ranger Chamber of Commerce held on Tuesday night at the Chamber of Commerce office, officers for the year were elected by the directors. Hall Walker was re-elected president of the body and T. C. Willis was named vice-president. W. F. Crumey was re-elected to the office of treasurer and Mrs. Jewel Green was re-elected secretary.

Officers are chosen from the ten directors of the organization and other directors are J. Floyd Killingsworth, Willard Swaney, Lee Dickery, David D. Pickrell, A. J. Halliff, L. R. Pearson and M. L. King.

Plans for the annual banquet were discussed but not completed and will be announced at a later date.

The shot put, a track meet event was first done in ancient Irish games in 632 B. C.

JOE FRANTZ AMONG SPEAKERS FOR HISTORICAL SOCIETY MEET

Among the many speakers who will appear on the program for the coming meeting, April 26-27, of the Texas State Historical Association is Joe Frantz, son-in-law of Dr. and Mrs. G. C. Boswell, just returned from service with the Navy in the Pacific.

Frantz who is working on his doctor's degree at the University of Texas and at the same time teaching in the history department will speak on Gail Borden.

Also on the program are John R. Whitaker, formerly at Highlands University, New Mexico and now a graduate student in history at the University of Texas, who will preside at the morning program on April 26; Andrew Foreman, of Houston, who will speak on "Texas and Hawaii: Significant Parallels"; Dr. P. I. Nixon of San Antonio, past president of the Association, who will preside at a luncheon on April 26; Joe O. Naylor, president of the San Antonio Historical Association, who will preside at the afternoon program on April 27; and J. A. R. Mosley, retired Dallas attorney who until recently served as assistant director of the Smaller War Plants Corporation, whose topic is "Highlights of Jefferson, Texas."

113 Day Old General Motors Strike Ends In Agreement

E. W. PAULEY'S NOMINATION IS WITHDRAWN

WASHINGTON (UP) — President Truman today withdrew the embattled nomination of Edwin W. Pauley to be undersecretary of the navy.

Pauley requested that President Truman withdraw his name. Mr. Truman told Pauley that he retained "my faith in your integrity and your ability." He said that the fight that Pauley made had strengthened his faith. Mr. Truman told Pauley that he withdrew the nomination "reluctantly."

The long-expected withdrawal was settled at a showdown meeting of the Senate naval affairs committee, and Mr. Truman made it final in a letter delivered to the secretary of the Senate.

Chairman David I. Walsh, D. Mass., issued a statement in behalf of the Senate committee commending Pauley "for his patriotic action in requesting the President to withdraw his name."

Mr. Truman said he could not avoid "ironical reflections." "Your honor, integrity, fidelity to duty and capacity for public service have been completely established," Mr. Truman told Pauley.

In apparent reference to charges made against Pauley by Harold L. Ickes, who resigned as secretary of interior during the Pauley nomination battle, the president wrote:

"You stand before your country men after vicious and unwarranted attacks with integrity unswayed, with ability unquestioned, with honor unsoiled."

$1,509.86 COLLECTED IN RC DRIVE

H. C. Henderson stated today that a total of $1,509.86 has been reported as collected by Red Cross workers in the funds drive campaign.

Ranger's quota is $2,500, just about half of the wartime quota and it is hoped that the balance of the quota can be met in a very short time.

Henderson stated that he is very grateful for the cooperation given by workers and is pleased that so many have dispatched their work with such speed.

Those workers who have not completed work in the areas assigned to them are urged to give the matter their immediate attention and bring the campaign to a close as soon as possible.

Senator Suggests Outright Gift Instead Of Loan

WASHINGTON (UP) — Sen. Robert A. Taft, R., O., suggested today an outright gift of $1,000,000 to Britain as an alternative to "perpetual irritation" which he said would result from the proposed loan.

Taft maintained that the proposed loan to Britain would cause irritation between the U. S. and Britain for the next 50 years.

He also charged the state department with a policy of "complete secrecy" in negotiating the loan, adding that no member of Congress was consulted. As a result, Taft said, Congress may not approve the loan.

DR. JACKSON DIES; FUNERAL IS PENDING

Another of Ranger's prominent families was stricken with grief today when at 12:25 A. M. Dr. Walter L. Jackson died suddenly at his home.

Shortly after retiring Dr. Jackson awakened complaining of pain in his chest and died very shortly afterward.

DR. W. L. JACKSON

Funeral services have not been set, pending the arrival of a son, Albert W. Jackson, who has just returned to the States from service with the Navy in the Pacific, though it was expected that they will be held sometime Friday at the First Baptist church with interment in the Evergreen cemetery. Killingsworth's Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements.

Born in Headton, Oklahoma, January 17, 1889, Dr. Jackson had come to Ranger in November 1919 just after he was discharged from the service of the medical corps in World War I. In October 1920 he was married to Miss Eva Lewis at Teague and shortly after returning to Ranger with his bride, he joined Dr. Harry Logsdon, now of Colorado City, and the late Drs. J. A. Shackelford and W. C. Palmer in organizing the Ranger Clinic. Dr. Jackson was the youngest of the four doctors. After the death of the latter two and moving of Dr. Logsdon, Dr. Jackson was joined by his brother, Dr. C. L. Jackson in the building and operation of the Ranger Clinic at its present site.

In World War I, Dr. Jackson had served as a first lieutenant in the Medical corps with the 138th Division in France.

Aside from his very busy life as a practicing physician, Dr. Jackson found time to take a most active part in church work and at the time of his death was teacher for The Men's class at the First Baptist church. He was a past president of the Ranger Lions Club, a member of the Board of the Eastland-Callahoun Counties Medical Society, Masonic Lodge, American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars.

For about 14 years he served as a member of the board of trustees of the Ranger schools and for two years was its president.

Survivors are his wife of Ranger, three sons, Walter L. Jackson, Jr., now with the Marine Corps in China, Albert W. Jackson, SM 2-c, who has just returned from duty in the Pacific and Andrew Jackson of Ranger; his mother, Mrs. M. Jackson of Denton; five brothers, Dr. C. L. Jackson of Ranger, Horace Jackson of Pasadena, Texas, Homer Jackson of Irvin, Marvin Jackson of Thalia, and Frank Jackson of Pasadena; three sisters, Mrs. John Duggan of Nocona, Mrs. Lehan Hunter of Pasadena and Miss Alma Jackson, a missionary in Brazil. A number of nieces and nephews also survive.

Berkley, Mich., will soon finance a recreation field and a community building from the sale of city-owned land.

PEANUTS MISSING ABILENE, Tex. (UP) — This thief worked for peanuts.

Police said the burglar who broke into a service station got only a peanut machine for his trouble.

SOVIETS HIT PRESENCE OF YANKS IN EAST

MOSCOW (UP) — The official Soviet press set up a clamor today against the continued presence of American troops in the middle east.

Coupling the new campaign with a blistering attack on Winston Churchill as the "number-one enemy" of the Russian people.

The logic of a joint Anglo-American "imperialistic policy in the middle east" was raised through the medium of a Cairo dispatch carried in all of Moscow's leading newspapers under the headline "when will American troops leave Egypt."

Pravda, mouthpiece of the Communist party, and the Russian army organ Red Star both gave prominent display to the Cairo dispatch, which said that 3,000 to 4,000 American officers and men were being kept in Egypt under the pretext of guarding U. S. Army equipment.

YOUNG MEN URGED TO BE AT MEET

Young business men of Ranger are reminded of the important meeting which will be held in the Blue Room of the Gholson Hotel this evening at 8:00 o'clock and at which possibility of organizing a junior chamber of commerce in Ranger will be discussed.

A delegation of 30 members from Abilene headed by the State president, Benton Ross of Wichita Falls, and Jimmie Partin, Jr., of San Angelo, regional vice-president, will be here for the meeting tonight and will explain the organization and its work.

It is especially urged that all young business men in Ranger be at the meeting tonight.

CANDIDATE FOR OFFICE ISSUES HIS STATEMENT

Clyde S. Karkalits, county tax assessor-collector, who will seek re-election to that office has issued the following statement to the voters of Eastland county:

To the Voters of Eastland county: I am deeply grateful to you for your confidence in me in electing me your Tax Assessor - Collector.

I realize the fact that it is a distinct honor since it is one of the most important offices in the county and I appreciate it more than I can tell you and have tried to show my appreciation by rendering you faithful, conscientious service.

During my term of office more money has been collected for the State and County than for any similar period since the oil boom days and for less cost per dollar collected than any other similar period.

I am glad for this record, and if you re-elect me this office I shall continue to render you the same faithful service.

Sincerely yours, Clyde S. Karkalits.

PAY INCREASE GRANTED AFTER AN ALL-NIGHT CONFERENCE

DETROIT (UP) — General Motors and the striking CIO United Auto Workers today reached a settlement to end the auto industry's longest and most costly walkout on its 113th day.

The settlement, announced after a surprising all-night bargaining session, provides an 18 1-2 cents hourly wage increase for 175,000 striking General Motors employees in 92 plants in 50 cities.

Under union rules, the strikers must ratify the peace pact before it becomes effective.

STALIN SAYS CHURCHILL'S SPEECH WRONG

LONDON (UP) — Radio Moscow said today that Generalissimo Stalin has personally denounced Winston Churchill's Missouri speech as a dangerous act that threatened the cooperation of the United Nations.

Stalin declared today that Winston Churchill "and his friends" presented the Soviet Union with a sort of "ultimatum" in his Fulton, Mo., address.

Minister Says Russia Made Demands On Iran

TEHRAN (UP) — Premier Ahmad Ghassem said today he had no official word of Russian troop movements toward Tehran and confirmed that the Soviets had made certain demands upon Iran during his recent visit to Moscow.

Ghassem admitted that he had "heard certain rumors" regarding the shifting of Red Army forces in Iran, as reported by the state department in Washington.

Two days after his return from Moscow, Ghassem held a press conference at which he shed some light on the troubled relations between Russia and Iran. But he dealt largely with generalities, and sidestepped salient questions.

Iranian Diplomat Denounces Soviet Troop Movements

WASHINGTON (UP) — Iranian Ambassador Hussein Ala declared today that Russia in dispatching troop reinforcements to Iran has gone beyond the "war of nerves" stage and is now bringing direct military pressure against his government.

Ala called at the state department as the United States sought an explanation from Russia of new troop movements in Iran which have brought U. S. - Soviet relations to a critical phase.

UN SOUND STRATEGY

Spokesmen for the various branches of organized labor have been bitter in their denunciation of the Case Strike Control Bill.

There are many outside the ranks of organized labor who feel that the Case Bill is not the answer to the vexatious labor problems that have retarded reconversion and that threaten to throw the nation into an economic tailspin.

But any objective observer must at least wonder whether the unions did not bring this threat upon themselves and whether they are not even now providing the most convincing arguments for those who would gladly put labor unionism back where it was in 1932.

As one illustration out of several that could be cited, General Counsel Lee Pressman of the CIO protested before a Senate subcommittee that local law is all that is needed to prevent excesses arising out of mass picketing.

Yet while he was testifying in Washington 800 members of the CIO left-wing Electrical Workers' Union were defying just such an injunction.

We are witnessing a complete breakdown in all the controls that hitherto have worked after a fashion. We are seeing the prestige of the courts trampled in the ground by the unions, which can get away with it because under the law they are amorphous, irresponsible, uncontrollable, unpunishable organizations.

There undoubtedly is a strong and growing public feeling that when we corrected the handicaps under which unions once labored, we went too far. We did not give them just parity—we gave them complete supremacy.

The unions will be much more likely to prevent unfair antiunion legislation if, instead of fighting bitterly against every proposed leveling-off of the scales of economic justice, they will make a few concessions here and there to the public welfare.

WASHINGTON COLUMN

BY PETER EDSON NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, D. C.—(NEA)—Interpretations and regulations governing the administration of Executive Order 9697 will be coming out any day now, but it will still take two or three months of actual experience to tell what the new wage-price policy means and how it's going to work.

That's always the way it is with these economic controls. The top guys issue a broad directive in sweeping generalities. Then the men who have to carry it out worry for a week or so, rewriting the order in more specific language which the leaders of labor and management can understand.

The brake which the government is now authorized to apply in achieving stabilization is the limitation of profits to the 1936-39 levels. That might well prove to be a completely worthless brake.

Suppose a gadget cost one dollar to produce in 1936-39, and suppose it sold for two dollars. Suppose now, through the granting of wage increases, it costs a dollar and a half to make this same gadget.

NEVERTHELESS, Stabilization Administrator Chester Bowles seems satisfied that the new order will accomplish the desired objective. Bowles apparently thinks the "bulge" will be only in manufactured goods, which will affect a mere 10 per cent of the cost of living.

But the pressures to break these controls are now greater than ever before. A new minimum wage law would increase the costs of both foods and textiles. Furthermore, incentive increases are being granted textile and clothing manufacturers to secure more production of the items still in short supply.

THE suspicion grows that the new wage-price policy will merely legally repress inflation. If that suspicion is correct, the soundest unorthodox interpretation yet made is that of the American Federation of Labor, which thinks the new policy is a retreat from stabilization and a horrible mistake.

Says Cost Of Being Sick Is Advancing Too

AUSTIN, Texas — The cost of being sick is going up right along, with no letting up in sight, Dr. Chauncey D. Leake, dean of the University of Texas Medical Branch, Galveston, has informed reports.

$3.00, Dr. Leake said. With patients included the patient-day cost at John Sealy Hospital is $3.94—a fifth higher than a year ago.

That cost represents operation of a hospital with nothing fancy in room service and with the saving possible in a state-owned institution that pays no tax and has a large part of its staff paid for duties in the medical school.

For the privately owned hospital, Dr. Leake said the patient-day cost runs as high as $15 in some.

Humph!

DOWN ON THE FARM

By United Press: Texas poultrymen are serving a warning to King Cotton. Poultry may step in and nudge cotton out of first place among the state's cash crops.

At least that's the opinion of one prominent poultryman, Joe Fechtel, who spoke this week at the annual Texas Poultry, Egg and Butter association convention in Dallas.

The manager of the state's largest hatchery, Fechtel said that poultry was a $150,000,000 business in Texas and growing every year. "Prewar records," he said, "showed that cotton ranked first, dairy products second and poultry third as the state's largest agricultural industries. Since then cotton has decreased, dairying has increased, but poultry has come up even more."

lower freight rates to the Boston wool center. The Texas Wool and Mohair Marketing Association, meanwhile has elected W. E. Brannon, Palo Pinto County rancher, as its president and Paul Martin, Menard County rancher, as its vice-president.

Cotton farmers were informed this week that partial insurance protection is now available on cotton crops under a new plan announced by the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation. This is in addition to the regular coverage already available.

Briefly, the plan makes it possible for producers to take out partial protection of from 60 up to 100 per cent of either the or or 75 per cent insurance coverage previously available. Premiums are graduated similarly.

It's a complicated system of insuring a percentage of the crop, and State Crop Insurance Director Donald L. Cochran at College Station says the best thing for farmers to do is visit their county AAA offices and discuss cotton crop insurance problems with officials there.

Speaking of cotton a seven-point program to increase per-acre yield is being advanced to Texas farmers.

- As outlined by the Texas A.M. Extension Service, it is: 1. Fit cotton into balanced farming by planting it only on land best suited, with consideration to land needed for other crops. 2. Take care of the soil, build it up. Use cotton rotation, cover crops, grassed waterways, contour farming and terracing, and fertilizer and lime according to need. 3. Get together on the best variety. One-variety communities demand and get premium prices. 4. Make labor count. Study every job; use methods and machinery that will save labor. 5. Control insects and diseases. 6. Pick and gin for high grade. 7. Sell for grade, staple and variety. Watch market prices.

From Where We Sit and Observe—

... it is apparent that there is a growing interest on the part of many people in land titles. Every day we have folks in the office who are interested in buying a place but seem to be more interested in the title. This is a healthy sign. They are on the right track. For, after all, it's the title, not so much the location or the nature of the improvements, that determines the value of all real estate.

File On Nazi Party Members Found

PITTSBURGER LIVES ABOARD BOAT IN CITY

PITTSBURGH (AP) — If the housing problem is getting difficult, you can always take "the way out" of one Pittsburgher—pack up and live on the river.

Burton E. Squires, who has been a "resident of the Allegheny River" since 1942, doesn't even contemplate returning to land.

Squires' home—a 48 foot power cruiser—is anchored just above the "Point" where the Allegheny and Monongahela Rivers join in the heart of Pittsburgh.

He said from the anchorage he has easy access to an electrical appliance agency, which he manages.

The "floating home" itself is equipped with the kind of modern conveniences most apartment dwellers dream of. They range from gas heat and electric refrigeration to a piano and no taxes.

The Chris-Craft is possibly the only power boat existing with gas electricity and water piped aboard. When the neighbors get noisy and Squires decided to move to another anchorage in midstream, generators and storage tanks take over.

Squires said he can accommodate at least six guests. Each

DRIVE FOR 75,000 MEMBERS Money Secured For Power Lines

NORMAN, Okla. (UP) — More than 62,000 mothers and dads are members of the Oklahoma Congress of parents and teachers which has set a goal of 75,000 members in 1946. It was recently announced by Dr. Alice Sowers, director of Family Life Institute at the University of Oklahoma and member of the executive committee of the state congress.

The funds will be used to construct power lines serving 262 farm families.

Fifty years of existence will be marked by the port of New Orleans in July.

CREATIVE ARTS IN THE COMMUNITY TO BE STUDIED

AUSTIN, Tex. — A "design for living" through recognition of the indigenous material of a community will be emphasized in classes held at the University of Texas this summer in a special course titled "Creative Arts in the Community."

"Better choral music by training local talent, better architectural planning through use of native materials and products distinctive to the Southwest; civic improvement through an awakening of the townspeople—all these are the tangible goals of the course," Donald Goodall, assistant professor of art and member of the committee sponsoring the course, said.

Through a $1,500 grant from the American Institute of Architects and the Carnegie Foundation, scholarships are now available for nine teachers of high school and college and college major students in the arts and architecture. Applications should be made directly to Hugh McMath, chairman of the committee and associate professor of architecture, the University of Texas, Box 2115, before May 1.

"We hope to point the way to a complete community," Mr. Goodall stressed. "By this we mean the development concurrently of music, art, drama, architecture, and natural resources, both human and physical.

"If each community in Texas would make an evaluative survey of its resources, its potentialities, and its lack of progress in comparison with other communities, then the state would become more

FISHERY FOR CAMPUS
NORMAN, Okla. (UP) — Fishin' may become a popular campus pastime at the University of Oklahoma after the building of the fishery experiment station which is slated to be constructed this year.

Plans include a laboratory building and experimental ponds which will cover approximately 10 acres and cost between $20,000 and $25,000, according to Dr. A. O. Weese, professor of zoology, who has been working on the project.

beautiful and more useful," he said. "Teachers taking this course will get the necessary rudiments for helping their own towns plan for more efficiency, and for development of their resources."

"Arts and the Community" is a new field of study and is being offered at the University this summer for the first time.

WAR HERO'S RELICS GO TO MUSEUM

AUSTIN, Tex. — Slave leg irons, a hand-made bear trap, sabres, and a collection of very old pistols and guns have been presented to the Texas Memorial Museum on the University of Texas campus by J. R. O'Hara of Dallas in accordance with a request made by his son, the late Lt. Robert B. O'Hara.

Lt. O'Hara, a student at the University of Texas from 1938 to 1941, was a B-17 pilot with the U. S. Eighth Air Force. He was shot down over the coast of Holland November 11, 1943, after an engagement with three Focke-Wulf 190's. He had completed a mission to Muenster, Germany. He was declared dead by the War Department in March, 1944.

Only 33 years of age at the time of his death, Lt. O'Hara had an unusual collection of 15 rare guns and swords, which he designed in his will should go to the Museum.

Included in the collection are an 1884 Manlicher rifle; a Mexican dueling pistol, an Indian hunting knife reputedly belonging to a son of Geronimo, percussion cap pistols, and a French flintlock of the Revolutionary period.

The guns are now on exhibit on the first floor of the Memorial Museum.

Pacific Vet To Make Study Of Island Group

AUSTIN, Texas — Dr. Allan H. Smith, assistant professor of anthropology at the University of Texas who returned from Japan last month after serving there with naval military intelligence, will go back to that country within a year on an ethnological grant.

Dr. Smith will receive the $3,000 demobilization award from the Social Science Research Council of Washington, D. C., to go to the Ryukyu (also called Loochoo) Islands to make a study of the cultures of the people in that area. Okinawa is in the Ryukyu group of the Japanese Islands.

A lieutenant (jg) during World War II, Dr. Smith is a linguist as well as an anthropologist. He studied in the Japanese language school at Boulder, Colo. and was with intelligence units of the Second Marine Division for final phases of the Saipan engagement, and entire Tinian campaign. He volunteered for an assignment on Okinawa, and was one of the first language officers to be sent to Japan.

Professor Aids In Compiling Encyclopedia

AUSTIN, Tex. — Dr. Holden Furber, associate professor of history at the University of Texas now on leave with the State Department, Washington, D. C., has revised the articles on Cape Colony Durban and Orange Free State for the 1946 printing of the Encyclopedia Britannica. The revisions are Dr. Furber's first contributions to the 178-year-old reference work. He is one of the several thousand experts who have revised, rewritten or contributed new articles for the 1946 printing.

Cost of clearing and plowing land in the Star Valley in Lincoln County, Wyo., during a week removal project in 1938 amounted to $20.50 an acre.

Relief At Last For Your Cough

Chronic bronchitis may develop if your cough, chest cold, or acute bronchitis is not treated and you cannot afford to take a chance with any medicine less potent than Creomulsion which goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes. Creomulsion blends beechwood creosote by special process with other time tested medicines for coughs. It contains no narcotics. No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough, permitting rest and sleep, or you are to have your money back. MARCH SEEMS TO FAVOR LONE STAR GOVERNORS

AUSTIN, Tex. (UP) — Shades of the Ides of March. When the late William Shakespeare invented the soothsayer and commissioned him to warn Julius Caesar, he didn't dream strangely enough — that there ever would be a place known as Texas.

Nevertheless, potential candidates in the coming race for governor of Texas might do well to heed the soothsayer's warning and "beware of the Ides of March." With the gubernatorial race shaping up as a real scrap and with all kinds of hats sailing in and out of the political arena, there still is time for prospective candidates to take another careful peek at their birth certificates. If an aspirant was born in March, he goes into the battle with the odds in his favor. Statistics show that 13 of the 35 Texas governors were born — or died — in the month of March.

March birthdays started so strong. The first and second governors — J. P. Henderson and George T. Wood — were born on March 31 and 12, respectively. The present governor, Coke R. Stevenson, and his two immediate predecessors, W. Lee O'Daniel and James Allred, were born in March. Sam Houston, who served as president of the Republic of Texas and as the seventh governor of the state, was born March 2. Other governors born in March were Richard Coke, J. S. Hogg and W. P. Hobby.

Says Old Age Assistance Is Above Ceiling

Old-age assistance in Texas this year will cost State taxpayers nearly three times as much as the "ceiling" predicted by sponsors of the aid plan when it passed the Legislature in 1935, the Texas Research Institute points out in a report issued this week.

The report is a factual study of the cost of ten years of old-age assistance in Texas. When the first pension law was enacted, its sponsors said annual payments would not exceed $9,000,000 from State funds. This year, the Institute points out, the aged people of Texas will receive $25,400,000 from State funds.

Total cost to State taxpayers of ten years of old age assistance has been, in round figures, $150,000,000, the report declares. The cost has skyrocketed, according to the Research Institute, because the original idea of old-age assistance has been transformed into a system of old-age pensions. The policy of "granting assistance to people who are not needy has resulted in less funds for those who are in need," the Institute states. Figures show that 452 out of every 1,000 Texans sixty - five or older are receiving assistance, while the national average is but 210.

CITES COAL RESERVES NORMAN, Okla. (UP) — Oklahoma still has coal reserves of 54,737,512,000 tons, it was reported in a recent issue of "The Hopper," monthly publication of the Oklahoma Geological Survey, with headquarters at the University of Oklahoma.

Between 600 and 700 tons of coal mined in eastern Oklahoma is being coked daily in the by-product ovens of a steel company in Houston, Texas.

SOCIETY

Two Pledges To Phi Theta Kappa

In ceremonies held Monday night at 8:00 o'clock in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hal Hunter, Miss Jean Roberts and Miss Carolyn Ducker were pledged to Phi Theta Kappa, honorary scholastic society for Junior colleges. The two pledges will be on eight weeks probation at the end of which time they will be initiated and presented keys to the society.

Members of the society who participated in the pledge ceremonies were Misses Ethlyn Dunlap, Joanne Frockman, Barbara Getts and Anna McEver. All who participated in the ceremonies wore white formal dresses. The members of the society, bearing blue candles, preceded the pledges to the pledge table which was centered with blue and yellow bouquets, which carried out the colors of the organization. As the pledges joined the group all formed the Greek numeral five. The pledges then knelt and with their hands on a white Bible, repeated the society pledge after Miss Getts. Colors of the society were then pinned on Misses Roberts and Ducker, indicating that they are pledges.

Others attending the ceremonies were Mr. and Mrs. Hunter, Dr. and Mrs. G. C. Boswell, Mrs. Homer Healy, and Miss Clara Mae Weaver.

Hearts Bleed Longest

HILDRETH'S house was dark. Thayer tried the door, shook the knob. She cried, "Aunt Hildreth—Aunt Hildreth. You've got to be here—you've got to." She was crying now, unaware of it. She pounded again. "Oh, Aunt Hildreth, open the door. Please . . ." She did not see a blind tipped in the house adjoining; she was too ill to notice or to care. One terrible realization was paramount—Hildreth's absence. May-be—just maybe, she has gone over to see Brock. . . . By the time the woman next door had come downstairs to make inquiry, Thayer had got into her car and was driving toward home.

Once more she let herself in. The house was dark and quiet. It must be late, very late. She crept up the long stairs, holding to the bannister. She was sinking down on her bed before she realized that the telephone was down stairs. And she had to telephone . . .

But she couldn't move. She could only lie there, frightened and despairing, trying to push away the knowledge that she was closing in upon her relentlessly. It must have been hours later when the next Mrs. Kittridge. She called several times before the words came out loudly enough.

She looked up with dull eyes when her mother-in-law finally stood in the room. "What is it, Thayer? You were dreaming, you called out."

"I—I feel very ill. I wonder if—if you'd phone Dr. Lacey."

"Now, at this hour?"
"Yes—please."
"Let me get you something, Thayer. Brock went to bed with one of his headaches. The phone is right by his door. If I disturb him . . ."

"I'm sick. I . . ."

Thayer moved her head un- easily. Mrs. Kittridge's face re- ceeded, then grew large again. Her words hardly registered. "Does Brock's rest mean nothing to you? I did not permit you to call the doctor the night I was ill. My son came first with me."

There seemed in Thayer no will left to fight. She shivered. "You rushed out coatless," Mrs. Kittridge said, "now you have a chill. I'll get you another blanket." She brought it and spread it over Thayer. "Isn't that better?" Thayer lay with closed eyes, un- answering, and Mrs. Kittridge went softly from the room.

BUT Thayer was not asleep. She was trying to gather her forces, trying to will herself to go to the telephone.

Then lethargy overcame her and she must have dozed. When she awakened it was with a start. She sat up, steadying her reeling head. Everything suddenly came clear. The telephone—she must get to the telephone. She'd be very quiet—disturb no one. . . . She struggled up, holding to the bed post. The telephone . . .

Vaguely she was aware that day was breaking. She reached the top of the stairway when she dropped.

Anger and panic struggled in Mrs. Kittridge's emotions when she came to investigate the sound. She bent over the girl. She must call Dr. Pelham now, of course. If Thayer had only acted sensibly this needn't have happened.

Headstrong, foolish girl, what did she think this was going to accomplish? The telephone . . .

Mrs. Pelham answered. Her husband was out on call. She would try to reach him at once.

Mrs. Kittridge had not moved two feet from the telephone when it rang and she snatched it before it could ring again. Who could be calling? Hildreth's crisp voice vibrated in her ear before she could speak. "Corinne, is something the matter? Is Thayer all right? Mrs. Wilton says Thayer was here" late last night; she seemed upset. We had gone to Jennie Laker's. Mrs. Wilton was so bothered that she called just now when her husband left for work, early as it is."

"Sh-h-h!" said Mrs. Kittridge unconsciously. "Not so loud, Hildreth, you'll wake Brock. Nothing is the matter, nothing at all. I'll phone you later." She hung up over Hildreth's expostulation.

SHE was not prepared for the doctor's so-speedy arrival. She went down the stair once more as she heard the car to open the door before he should ring.

It was Dr. Lacey. He said "What's up?" in that brusque way she so disliked. "Dr. Pelham has an appendix on his hands, so I came. Is it?"

"It is my daughter-in-law, Doctor; she has fainted in the hall- way upstairs. I—I can't move her or I shouldn't have called you. Please be as quiet as you can; my son sleeps so poorly and his rest is so essential to him."

Dr. Lacey strode ahead of her up the stairs. Then she heard the door of Brock's room open and his call. "Morn, is anything wrong?"

"Everything is all right, dear." "The phone woke me. And didn't someone just drive in?"

She confessed a little breath- lessly. "Thayer got herself upset, naturally. I asked the doctor to drop by and give her a sedative." "Suddenly she was aware of the sound of a rapidly driven car sliding its tires before the front door. Henry Pelham after all, no doubt.

She opened the door. Hildreth came in like a storm. "What in heaven's name is going on?" she demanded. She had not bothered to put on make-up and her strong- featured face looked bleak as a rock and as implacable.

"Something is the matter with Thayer," she challenged. "What are you trying to do to that girl, Corinne? Crucify her?" "You'll have to explain that, Aunt Hildreth," Brock said and came toward them, steadying him- self against the wall.

ATOMIC FORESIGHT
NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UP) — Hopeful reporters who thought perhaps Henry F. Meyer had discovered the secret of the atomic energy. He says he doesn't know how it would be done but he wants to be prepared.

Hello, America Fore agent? I have some worries. Come over and get 'em

Worry is a science I LET EXPERTS DO MINE by Alvin Tardiff

I HATE WORRY — I know that it's no good for me. So I send a lot of my worrying out . . . like laundry. I think I have a lot better use for my brain than to worry—for example—if lightning is going to strike my house . . . or if I'm going to break a leg . . . or if the milkman is going to sue me for tripping on our portico . . . or if Junior is going to hit somebody with a baseball . . .

At surprisingly moderate cost, I've delegated all such stewing . . . and other troubles . . . to the local representative of AMERICA FORE — a group of big, strong insurance companies.

NEW INSURANCE WRINKLES

I've dug into insurance pretty thoroughly lately and I find that I haven't known beans about improvements and combinations made in insurance coverages in recent years—yes, months.

When the automobile companies bring out new models, you can see them in show windows. But when an insurance company brings out new models they're sorta invisible to the masses.

So I've written a booklet which I've called "Your Insurance Quiz" to help you learn about new insurance wrinkles and size up your coverages.

Telephone switchboards are busier than ever

Telephone switchboards are mighty busy these days. We have less reserve equipment to handle surges of calls which occur during bad weather or in advance of holidays. With hundreds of families without telephone service, it has seemed best to use up such reserve equipment to bring service to some of the people waiting.

To telephone users generally, during most hours of the day, there will be little difference in the speed of service. During busy hours, when the heaviest volume of calls is made, some people may find the operator is not so prompt as usual in answering.

As fast as possible, we are pushing the installation of new equipment here, so that we can bring service to all those who are waiting.
