Newspaper And Radio Station Ire Pastor

The Rev. J. Harold Smith, front of the white flag, as he and his followers appeared in front of the News-Sentinel in Knoxville, Tenn. The radio station and the paper, both owned by the same organization, have upheld a recent decision by the radio station to refuse to sell radio time to religious groups. Instead the station plans to give free time to all religious organizations. Smith hurled jeers and taunts to newsmen who were covering the story from the upstairs windows of the Sentinel building. Among other improvements being made on Ranger property, is the renovation of the west side of the Joseph business house. Extensive improvements are being made including the changing of the display windows and Joseph, it is reported, is planning to use the building for the electrical appliances division of his business.

Plans were also discussed for the construction of the rodeo arena and barns and construction on these will begin at once. The arena and grandstand site is being laid out today.

Price Crawley, president of the Jaycees, stated today that the organization will need all of the help that citizens can give in the way of contributing materials for construction, wiring, etc. It was pointed out that in as much as materials are hard to get, those who have such items not in use, are urged to donate them to the building of this civic project.

WASHINGTON (UP) — Senators investigating the meat market today heard testimony that many of the nation's storekeepers are flagrantly violating OPA regulations because they are forced to forget their scruples.

CHARGES WAR DEPT. IN DRAFT LAW ROW

WASHINGTON (UP) — Sen. Edwin C. Johnson, D., Colo., today accused the War Department of blind and congenial stupidity for demanding a one-year extension of the draft law.

The result, he said, has been the House approved nine months extension which renders the draft act "impotent and ineoperative" after May 15.

Johnson, ranking democrat on the Senate military affairs committee, made his charges in a letter to secretary of war, Robert P. Patterson.

The House yesterday approved and sent to the Senate a nine-month draft extension which will force a holiday on all inductions from May to October and raises the draft age from 18 to 20.

Senate leaders indicated the House version was totally unacceptable and planned to work on their own draft of the measure.

The Central News dispatch, timed at 10 a. m., April 15, said Communist troops entered the city from many directions. Heavy machine gun and rifle fire is heard constantly in the streets, the dispatch said.

STETTINIUS SAYS RUSSIA USED TROOPS AS PRESSURE

NEW YORK (UP) — The United Nations Security Council agreed without objection today to postpone a showdown on the Iranian case until later this week, and then adjourned at 11:50 a. m., CST., today, until 3 p. m. tomorrow.

NEW YORK (UP) — President Dr. Quo Tai-Chi of the United Nations Security Council today suggested that a vote on the Iranian question might be postponed until after a committee of experts report on a legal study of the issue Thursday.

American delegate, Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., indirectly accused the Soviet Union today of using the presence of its troops in Iran to obtain that country's last-minute decision to withdraw its charges against Russia.

His statement and denial of Russian charges of American bad faith in the Iranian case came as Secretary General Trygve Lie submitted a long, technical memorandum suggesting it may no longer be possible legally to retain the Iranian case on the council agenda.

The memorandum was referred to the committee of experts for a two-day study—but meanwhile discussion continued.

French delegate, Henri Bonnet, also issued a draft resolution for disposing of the Iranian case. He had suggested that it be dropped from the agenda as requested by Russia and Iran and left to Lie to report back when the Russian troops have left Iran.

TEHRAN (UP) Iranian sources contended today that Premier Ahmed Ghassem ordered the Iranian complaint against Russia withdrawn from the United Nations security council at the direct insistence of the Soviet.

These quarters said that Soviet Ambassador Ivan Sadchikov told Ghassem that Russia would feel "insulted" unless Iran ordered its delegate, Hussein Aia, to withdraw the charges.

They said that under the circumstances Ghassem had no alternative but to dispatch his latest instructions to Aia.

MR. REUTHER'S VICTORY

The apprehension felt by many toward the communist influence in American labor unions is no ordinary "Red scare." Communists control the policies of several unions, if they do not actually head them. Their group in organized labor is relatively small, but it is composed of persons whose formidable energy has brought them to positions of considerable prominence.

Their stock took a sharp drop, however, when Walter P. Reuther managed to squeak through to win the presidency of the United Automobile Workers.

Mr. Reuther is described as a right-wing socialist. Personally, he seems to stand considerably to the left of his opponent in the election, R. J. Thomas. But, though he has lived and worked in Russia—or perhaps because he has—Mr. Reuther is a bitter foe of the UAW communists.

In his bid for re-election, Mr. Thomas was supported by the UAW's right wing as well as by the communists. He seems to have appreciated the communists' support without embracing their views, while they apparently appreciated his acquiescence.

Now the communists have suffered defeat in one of the country's largest and most powerful unions. They have suffered defeat by the supporters of a dynamic young veteran of the industrial wars who did not fear to carry the fight to them frankly and openly.

Mr. Reuther has promised a truly unified union and an end to the factional strife which tore the UAW from top to bottom. That may not be an easy promise to keep. But if Mr. Reuther succeeds in keeping it he will have dealt the communists in his organization a hard blow.

Mr. Reuther's expected housecleaning of communists within the UAW will be watched with interest outside as well as inside the field of organized labor. So, too, will his strategy of labor relations.

The new UAW president recently led the General Motors workers through the longest, costliest strike in American history. It was an unhappily protracted affair that reflected small credit to the bargainers on either side. Yet the result of the UAW election indicates that the auto workers were satisfied with Mr. Reuther's strategy and tactics.

Because of the far-reaching power of Mr. Reuther's union, the public may be forgiven the hope that contradictions of cynicism and sincerity will not mark the leadership of the 600,000 workers whose economic destinies he will so largely control.

WASHINGTON COLUMN

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, D. C.—(NEA)—Nothing in recent times has stirred up the political animals so much as New Jersey G.O.P. Congressman Fred A. Hartley's "coalition" of Republicans and Democrats to amend OPA price control legislation. Democrats who side with him are known as "Hartley Democrats," and the label is a potential kiss of death. He has been called a wrecker of the Democratic party. One long-distance political dopster went so far as to say this coalition would make Hartley the most powerful man in Congress—yes, even more potent than Speaker Sam Rayburn himself.

All this excitement has left Congressman Hartley a little baffled. He never meant nothin' like that. Hartley is a blue-eyed, reddish-haired man of average size and unimposing appearance—meaning that he doesn't look like congressmen look in the movies. He was born on Washington's birthday at Harrison, N. J., 43 years ago. He has been in Congress 18 years, having been first elected when he was a mere boy of 25, after four years in Kearny politics.

HARTLEY has been accused of being "in the pocket" of the National Retail Dry Goods Association lobbyists, Lew Hahn, Ben Namm of Brooklyn and W. T. Seidel of the W. T. Grant chain stores—all right up near the top of the list of OPA enemies. Hartley admits he first met all these men and a lot of other OPA opponents when they first came to Washington to testify before Virginia Judge Howard Smith's special "Committee to Investigate Acts of Executive Agencies Which Exceed Their Authority." Hartley was ranking Republican on the Smith committee.

Hartley has made a good thing out of his opposition to OPA, speaking at Chambers of Commerce, where he lays OPA out and his audiences lap it up. Yet Hartley says he is opposed to the National Association of Manufacturers' idea of killing off OPA altogether and immediately.

WHEN OPA extension came up again this year, Hartley got to talking with some of his old cronies. All of them seemed to be getting similar mail from home, to the effect that something ought to be done about OPA. Hartley sent out invitations to an informal meeting to talk things over. He says he invited 177 congressmen from both parties. About 80 showed up.

Coalition, says Hartley, suddenly became an ugly word. Shooting from home and from Democratic hot-shots in Washington got so heated that a number of the Democrats ran for cover. Hartley, however, has gone right ahead. He says he has a drafting committee at work and by the end of the week it will have some amendments to report. All effort to draft a new OPA bill has been abandoned.

The things they will try to kill off are OPA regulations on price-fixing, in-line pricing, and M.A.P.—the Maximum Average Price Plan. The things they will try to add on are court review of OPA orders, and provision for a specific plan to remove OPA...

Sounds Like A Good Idea

SPORTS

BY HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

ORLANDO, Fla.—(NEA)—Clark Griffith isn't handicapping the Senators this year by turning Griffith Stadium over to the Washington Redskins a week before the end of the season.

Under Ossie Bluege, the Nationals have run to surprises. Bluege lifted Bucky Harris' seventh-place record of 1942 to second in '43, only to see them plunge to the dark confines of the cellar in '44.

That was sufficient for Old Fox Griffith, the well-known skindint. He'd sacrifice the game and league that made him rich for professional football rental. Owner Griffith, obviously, did not suspect the Nats were going anywhere, at least for the duration of the war.

So last season Griffith crowded in night games that ran into the millions, it seemed, and double-headers in order to cut a week from the regular schedule and make room for early exhibition games of the attractive Sammy Baugh and Co.

Despite the tremendous Oregon boat Griffith placed on his club, the Nats hung on, whacked the Indians and Browns good in the closing days—only to have to sit idly by throughout the last week while the Tigers clinched the pennant. Had the Tigers lost to the Browns the last day, Washington and Detroit would have wound up in a tie, and the first major-league playoff in years would have been necessary.

BECAUSE the athletes and baseball writers shouted murder, Griffith limited his nocturnal engagements at home to 32 this year. The Browns, for example, have 42. The arduous business came to a head in Washington last summer, when a twilight double-header was concluded at exactly 1:42 a. m. The clubs played 27 innings in all, and started the final inning before the legal limit of 12:55. One baseball writer who had to write two stories got home at 4:45 in the morning, and he wasn't the only one.

But the Washington party has the right idea. Manager Bluege and the Senators are patting Heath on the back, for—

"Why, I didn't make you that promise." "If I hadn't known they would throw me in jail, I'd a hit him right between the eyes," booms Heath.

Heath has been retarded this spring by a muscle spasm in his right leg, suffered when he blasted a home run in Havana. He is fat and out of shape, as the result of being sidelined for a couple of weeks.

London Dentist Makes It Easy By Hypnotism

LONDON (UP)—When the smiling dentist gently says "It won't hurt a bit," he means it. At least patients of "hypnotic dentist" Roy Norman Bragg of London assure they have found his dentistry without drugs completely painless.

Word of Bragg's hypnotic drillings spread through London last year. He said he had filled 1,000 teeth in the last 12 months without a single patient complaining of pain while under hypnosis.

Two women reporters volunteered as "guinea pigs" for a hypnotic session with the dentist at his Brixton Road office.

As Bragg spoke softly to the first patient, she relaxed, yawned and then apparently fell fast asleep as he repeatedly told her "you are very tired." The dentist then went to work and methodically drilled and filled a tooth in 15 minutes as his patient slept with open mouth.

At his brisk command, "You are awake now," the reporter roused herself. She said she felt completely normal and had felt nothing.

The second reporter was hypnotized just as quickly. Bragg filled a cavity without a murmur from the sleeping woman. She was "amazed when he woke me up and told me he had filled my tooth."

The hypnotic dentist's name belies his extreme modesty over what he considers a matter-of-fact way of handling his work. His patients are contented ones—"just as long as it doesn't hurt."

Confederate Notes Fool Berlin Trader

BERLIN (UP) — It's forbidden to sell, trade, or otherwise deal in U. S. Treasury notes (greenbacks to you) in Berlin, but one resourceful GI, presumably from the South, sidetracked the regulations. When an unsuspecting German black marketer complained that U. S. currency seemed to be losing its value, a currency-wise American officer decided to investigate. The German, he found, had purchased several worn Confederate bills at a fabulous rate of exchange.

RIFLE MEET TO BE HELD ON MAY 19TH

The first state-wide Texas State Guard rifle tournament will be held at Camp Mabry, Austin, on Sunday, May 19th. Shooting will start promptly at 9 a. m., rain or shine.

The match will be small-bore, four-position, single-rifle. Range will be 100 yards. Competitors will be divided into four classes: 1. State Guard units; 2. State Guard members; 3. State Guard members; 4. State Guard members.

Good, silver and bronze medals, handout and appropriate diploma, will be awarded for first, second and third place respectively in each of the following classifications: 1. High Total score; 2. High score in standing position only; 3. High score in slow fire only; 4. High score in rapid fire only. The match will be under the general supervision of Lt. Col. Thomas E. Black, G-3 on the staff of the adjutant general, and the details will be handled by the State Guard Rifle Marksmanship Training Unit, the commanding officer of which will be range officer.

The complete program, rules and details have been sent to all Guard units. The Camp Mabry range is considered to be the best small-bore range in the southwest. All forty-two firing points are under cover, and the space between the firing points and the targets is covered with matted green turf, to eliminate glare. The public is invited, and there will be adequate space allotted to them for full observation of the shooting. This State Guard rifle match is intended to be an annual affair, and will be followed this year by other matches both at Camp Mabry, and regional matches in the battalion areas. These matches are the culmination of the training and rifle practice carried on by the State Guard units throughout the year. They are expected to increase the interest and enthusiasm of Guard members, and to inform the citizens of the state, by public exhibition, of the proficiency of the Guard if called to active duty.

SPOKANE, Wash., (UP)—The U. S. Marshal's office has returned to rightful owners about 75 per cent of the radio sets, firearms and other items taken from Japanese, Germans and Italian citizens of the state, by public exhibition, of the proficiency of the Guard if called to active duty.

Game Plentiful Again Near Moscow

MOSCOW (UP) — The newspaper Evening Moscow has announced in a report on a recent Moscow Hunters Assn. Conference that hunting areas in forests near Moscow covering 3,000,000 acres are now again well stocked with game, including elk, wild boar, raccoons, wild goats and woodcock.

During the war the hunting areas, which are divided into nine official preserves containing 50 "bases" or administrative centers, were, of course, abandoned, the game allowed to run wild and in some cases forests were destroyed by contending armies.

The newspapers report said that there were now again 6,800 professional hunters, of which 18 were women, making their living out of the plentiful game in the region.

Four Japanese Officers Convicted

These four Japanese army officers, convicted of executing three Doolittle raiders of Tokyo, have received light sentences of from five to nine years, as a U. S. Military board ruled that orders came from higher-up. Shown in the Ward Road jail, Shanghai are L to R: Capt. Tatsuta Sotojiro, commander of the Shanghai prison; Lt. Ruyhei Okada and Lt. Yusei Wako, who served a board which convicted the U. S. fliers, and Lt. General Shugera Sawada, Jap commander of the 13th Army. (NEA Telephoto by Harlow Church NEA Photographer.)

FRANCE GIVES DEATH PENALTY TO 3,644 FOR COLLABORATION

By Haynes Thompson United Press Staff Correspondent PARIS (UP) — Since the liberation of France, 3,644 Frenchmen have been sentenced to death for some form of collaboration during the occupation, French Ministry of Justice records reveal.

The records, which include all trials from the liberation up to Feb. 15th, also show that an additional 83,539 Frenchmen have received varying sentences other than the death penalty out of a total of 115,114 accused by French courts of collaboration.

Although 35,666 persons also have been sentenced to national indignity, 40,627 have been acquitted.

Collaboration trials in France are held by three courts which were created following the liberation and which are independent of normal civil and criminal court according to Justice officials.

Heading the three legal bodies is the High Court, which tries only ministers, generals, admirals and other high-ranking government officials accused of collaboration. Both the president of the High Court and its jurors must be members of the Constituent Assembly and there can be no appeal made from its decisions.

Next is the Court of Justice, which tries ordinary run-of-the-mill collaborators accused of denunciation, spying or co-operating with the Nazis.

While both the High Court and the Court of Justice can—and often do—impose the death penalty, the third court, known as the Civic Chamber, handles relatively minor cases of collaboration.

Although the High Court sits only in Paris, courts of justice and civic chambers are located in important cities throughout France.

High Court statistics show a total of 108 Frenchmen have been accused by it, with 24 of them still being sought by police. Twenty-nine are in temporary liberty as a result of the court's decision, 6 are in complete liberty, 14 acquitted before standing trial, and 12 sentenced.

Three of the 12, French Fascist leader Marcel Deat, writer Abel Bonnard, and one-time Vichy Minister of Justice Maurice Gabolde, were tried in absentia since police the death penalty was exacted.

That was the case of Adm. Charles Jean G. Platon, onetime Vichy Minister of Colonies, who was sentenced to death and executed by the FFI in central France.

More than 27,000,000 bushels of grain were shipped to the war-torn countries of Europe last year from the port of New Orleans, which is the second largest in the nation. Only New York is bigger.

GOLFERS soon will be hanging a lot of alibis on a hook.

A statistician estimates the average man speaks 12,000,000 words a year. There must be more bachelors than we figured.

We used to think of them as just our highways. Now they're our highways and lowways—and not so merrily we roll along.

Every mother should bring up her children—except when she's out in company.

Decides He's No Judge Of Hogs

FARWELL, Tex. (UP) — Hershel Harding has decided his judgment of hogs could be better.

The Future Farmers of America club boy had three barrows which seemed good material for stock shows. He wanted to exhibit one. After some consideration, he picked one and sold the two others to a farmer at Myleshoe.

At the South Plains Junior Fat Stock Show in Lubbock, Harding's barrow placed second. The two he had sold were rated first and third.

The military reservation, Fort D. A. Russell (now Fort Francis E. Warren, Wyoming), formally received its name on Sept. 8, 1867.

Sharing a party-line telephone!

If you're sharing a telephone party line, you're helping someone else here have telephone service now. Otherwise he'd likely be waiting his turn for service.

Party-line service is one way of stretching the telephone system here—to serve as many people as possible now instead of asking some to wait until we've had time to put in the wires and cables and switching equipment needed to serve everybody who is waiting.

It's a big job—catching up with four years of backed-up demand. But we're hard at it. As soon as possible, we'll bring service to everybody who is waiting for it. And, after that, we expect to be able to furnish one-family telephone service to those who want it.

“GOOD NEIGHBOR” SUGGESTIONS for party-liners

Before calling, please listen to see whether the line is in use. If it is, hang up gently and try your call again a little later.

When talking, remember your party-line neighbor—he may want to make a call—so please be reasonably brief.

Between calls, try to allow a little time so the other people on the line may have the opportunity to use it.

Ask the children to follow these good neighbor suggestions, too.

Thanks a lot.

Now...no wheat used in beer or ale

And wheat alone can solve the problem of feeding the world's hungry

Actually wheat has never been a large item in the brewing process—only 10/1000 of the entire U. S. wheat crop was used in 1945.

In accordance with United States Government policy, the brewing industry has used no wheat whatever since March 1, 1946.

OTHER MATERIALS CUT 30%

The other grains used have been reduced by 30%—that is, to 70% of the 1945 amount.

Wheat alone can solve the problem of feeding the hungry. The grains to which the industry is now restricted, are of a variety and grade not normally consumed by the people of the world as food.

LESS BEER AND ALE

Altogether, the brewing industry is using 30% less materials than in 1945. This results in a proportionately lower production. But since the current demand for beer and ale is about 25% greater than a year ago, the real shortage is nearer 50%.

Consequently, your dealer will not be able to supply you with all the beer and ale you would like. We know you will understand the reason for this.

Your attention is earnestly directed to the recommendations of President Truman's Famine Emergency Committee, which are summarized in the box below.

This statement tells in clear, simple terms what each of us individually can do to help during the emergency.

What the President's Famine Emergency Committee asks us all to do

1. Save and share wheat and fat products . . . Go light on all foods that take wheat, fats and oils—save breads, macaroni, cakes, cookies, pastries and deep-fried foods. Use drippings for pan-frying. Save salad oil—use boiled dressings.
2. Buy and serve more plentiful foods . . . Balance diets with the more plentiful foods, such as potatoes, fresh fruits and vegetables.
3. Waste NO food . . . Dress up today's leftovers for tomorrow. Make every crust crumb with molka toast, crumb-toppings, bread puddings and stuffings. Take no more than you can eat. Clean your plate. Turn in unusable fat salvage promptly.

Mexico To Hold 2nd Horse Meet At New Center

MEXICO CITY (UP) — The second International Horse Meet will be held here April 27 through May 5 with horsemen from all American nations except Argentina and Chile participating.

Invitations were sent to foreign countries through the Mexican Foreign Ministry by War Minister Francisco L. Urquiza.

The meet was organized by the National Horseman's Assn., and is being sponsored by President Avila Camacho, War Minister Urquiza and Governor of the Federal District Javier Rojo Gomez.

President Avila Camacho will inaugurate the meet at the new $100,000 equestrian center at the capital's military reservation. The center will provide new stables, offices, club rooms, showers and exhibition and training grounds for participants.

Each country invited is allowed to enter one civilian team and one military team, each with four members and one assistant. Each member of the teams is allowed to enter two horses.

Team members may be women, civilians or military men.

Applications for entrance must be filed with the organizing committee of the National Horseman's Assn. before April 24.

The number of horses that can be used in any one of the eight scheduled events will be determined at the time of the event by officials. Heads of each team will be allowed to use different horses of their teams in any combination they choose.

Military teams from Peru and Canada were the first to arrive. They now are training for the meet. Others teams are expected to arrive at least a week before the events in order to become accustom to the capital's 7,200-foot altitude.

PLANES HERE TO STAY PORTLAND, Ore. (UP) — Hens must get accustomed to airplanes, because they're here to stay.

In effect, that's what Circuit Judge James W. Crawford said in dismissing a suit that sought to enjoin the R.O.K. airport here from continuing flying activities on its field.

The suit was brought by district residents and property owners, who complained the planes caused dust, made noise and frightened chickens—causing the hens to lay premature eggs occasionally.

It's All In The Day's Work...

... for the men and women who work for us and for you to keep the business going. Whether the order be large or small, easy or tough—it makes little difference—it must be a good job, well done and worth the money. We regret that conditions beyond our control continue to keep us slowed down, but not for long, we hope. In the meantime, be assured that you will always get the best here, and the best is worth waiting for.

GOOD JOB— but what about MONEY?

A LOT OF THINGS go to make a good job. Interesting work, vacations, the people you work with. But the big consideration is money. Take-home pay — savings — provision for the future. Those are the things that count.

Compare the average job with a job in the Army.

Suppose you make $200 a month, when you're working. After all the deductions have been taken out — and after paying for rent, groceries, clothes and doctors' bills — how much have you left?

Army pay starts at $50 a month for a Private. But a big proportion of men in the new peacetime Army are specialists, with higher grades and pay. Suppose you're a Technical Sergeant, making $114 a month base pay. You get your food, clothing, housing and medical and dental care free. Insurance, amusements and incidentals cost you far less. And if you enlist before July 1, 1946, you get a family allowance for your dependents. You'll have money to save!

With a yearly 30-day furlough with pay, you work eleven months and get paid for twelve. You get the best technical training in valuable trades and skills. Chances for advancement are excellent. On a 3-year enlistment you can choose your branch of service and overseas theater — and overseas service pays you 20% extra! If you enlist before October 6, 1946, upon discharge, you'll have the privileges of the GI Bill of Rights.

The educational privileges alone after a 3-year enlistment are worth more than $5000 (48 months of college, trade or business school — free!). Where else could a young man save that much in 3 years?

Most important of all, after 20 years' service you can retire at half pay for the rest of your life — or on-up to three-quarters pay after 30 years' service. To get that kind of retirement security in civilian life you'd have to buy an annuity costing you $64 a month!

If you are aged 18 to 34, inclusive (17 with parents' consent), and physically and mentally fit, you can enlist now in the U.S. Regular Army for 1, 2 or 3 years for one of the world's best jobs. Without obligation, get full details at your nearest U. S. Army Recruiting Station.

PACIFIC CENSOR EAGER TO RETURN WAR - IMPOUNDED SNAPS AND MOVIES

By GEORGE McCADDEN
United Press Staff Correspondent
HONOLULU (UP) — More than 1,000,000 censored pictures and 500,000 feet of movies — a photo history of the Pacific War, lie unclaimed in an Army warehouse here and await forwarding addresses from over 62,000 owners or surviving kin throughout the U. S.

The same military agency that was quick to confiscate seemingly innocent snapshots during war now is anxious to return them because it realizes many of these pictures will become priceless souvenirs of the war era to their owners.

But unless service personnel and war workers or surviving kin in virtually every city, town and hamlet in the nation claim their pictures in the next few months, they will be turned over to the War Department for ultimate destruction.

According to Maj. J. W. A. Whitehorse of Belleville, N. J., in charge of censor's photo files, this vast collection includes some 45,000 packages of still film for which there are no forwarding addresses; another 1,500 packages of still pictures that were returned because of improper addresses; and another 6,000 packages of movie film.

Whitehorse also is holding a large number of diaries, some written on embattled island beaches where their writers died after penning a few last hurried endearments to loved ones.

Whitehorse vigorously emphasized the fact, however, that surviving kin of men killed in battle in the Pacific should not enquire unless they have proof or reasonable assurance that a fallen relative had pictures impounded here. Demobilization has cut Whitehorse's staff so drastically that it cannot handle reams of correspondence, he explained.

Since censorship was an Army function during the war here, the collection includes pictures taken by Navy and Marine personnel as well as Army and civilians.

Inquiries should be addressed to OFFICE OF THE CHIEF CENSOR.

AFMIDPAC, APO 958, c-o Postmaster, San Francisco, Cal.

When film or prints were intercepted or turned in, a receipt stub was issued. Personnel holding these stubs will get fast action if they will send them in with proper forwarding addresses. Whitehorse promised. Survivors of battle casualties may find these stubs among the personal effects sent to them by the War Department from its huge personal effects depot at Kansas City, Mo. Receipt of these effects should be awaited. In the absence of a stub, personnel may write a note with their signature Whitehorse said.

Army officials are puzzled over failure of once eager snapshots to claim their pictures. They believe that in the rush to normalcy, soldiers, sailors, Marines, Wacs, WAVes, Spars, USO workers, new C. I. S. personnel, war correspondents and other civilians have forgotten pictures they took on Waikiki Beach, on Army and Navy posts, or on desolate mid-Pacific islands.

A United Press correspondent, thumbing through some pictures in the huge collection, found pictures from points as distant as India, from where personnel had transferred to Hawaii and mid-Pacific commands. There are thousands of the usual snapshot variety — two sailors posing on a beach, or a soldier furtively embracing a professional Hawaiian hula girl model at so much a picture. Or men mugging in bathing suits. And still other men of an

German Settled Towns Planning Centennials

AUSTIN, Tex. (UP) — "We, the undersigned, hereby make known today that we have constituted ourselves as a society for the purpose of purchasing lands in the Republic of Texas."

This document, signed by German noblemen at Pöbrich on the Rhine more than 100 years ago, was tantamount to a vote of confidence in the struggling new Republic of Texas, still in its swaddling clothes.

It was the torch that lit the way for hundreds of German immigrants across the ocean and through the wilderness to the establishment of two German settlements — New Braunfels and Fredericksburg.

Still inhabited largely by descendants of the Germans who settled in New Braunfels in 1845 and Fredericksburg in 1846, the two towns are planning centennial celebrations early in May.

Fredericksburg, which was settled May 8, 1846, will stage its centennial beginning May 5 and extending through May 8.

New Braunfels, which was settled by Prince Carl of Solms-Braunfels on March 21, 1845 but incorporated May 31, 1846, will celebrate May 8-10.

Admiral Chester Nimitz, rear admiral in Fredericksburg, has accepted an invitation to attend its celebration, and Gov. Coke R. Stevenson will speak there on May 8 and in New Braunfels on May 10.

The two towns plan programs reviving old customs and traditions of pioneer days. There will be banquets at which the mother tongue of pioneers will be spoken. Historical parades will feature both centennial celebrations. The histories of the two towns will be depicted from the date of settlement to the present. Pageants will be staged, and costume balls will be held each night of the celebration in New Braunfels and in Fredericksburg.

There will be services for the pioneer German settlers. The mother tongue will be spoken. And there will be patriotic services for their dead, who in two world wars returned to the land of their forefathers to fight for the freedom their ancestors sought when they settled here.

A total of $71,335 poll taxes were paid in Arkansas for the 1946 elections.

Dr. McMahan said families should be careful about exposing their pets to their own diseases.

Mass Grave of Hellship Victims

Under this cairn, on the beach near Takao, Formosa, the Japs buried 483 Americans, prisoners of war who died when the S. S. Enoura, notorious "hellship" carrying them from Manila, was bombed and partially sunk by U. S. planes in December, 1944. Examining the mass grave are, left to right, Sgt. Robert Adams, Willsboro, N. Y.; Takaharu Suenaga, Jap prisoner, and Harry C. Angst, Swiss representative of the American Red Cross. Exclusive photo by Harlow Church, NEA-Acme Far Eastern manager, is first taken by a U. S. photographer in Formosa since 1936, when Japs barred the island to Occidentals.

Judge Wields New Gavel

ATHENS, Tex. (UP) — District Judge Melvin Johnston is calling for order in court these days with one of the dandiest gavels ever had.

The masterpiece of gavel-construction has a head of cedar and a handle of oak and it's the gift of a San Antonio reader who sent it along after learning that somebody had made off with Judge Johnston's gavel in February.

In fact, Judge Johnston is just like a schoolboy is about his marbles when it comes to safeguarding his new gavel. He keeps it with him most of the time, saying, "No miscreant is going to make off with this gavel."

Quick-Witted Nurse Saved Chutist's Life

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UP) — Most vivid memory of the war for ex-paratrooper F. C. Brake, 23, is a pretty Russian nurse who cut his throat—and saved his life.

The nurse, named Shruva, who had just been liberated from a prison camp near Hamburg by Brake's unit, found him shot in the face and found him gasping for air. She quickly went into action with a pocket knife to slice his throat and prevent him from choking to death. Brake recovered after eight operations.

Baptist Church. The revival which began last Friday night will continue through next Sunday night. Rev. Jasper C. Masseuse, pastor, is in charge of the services and speaks each night. Prayer services begin at 7:00 and the song service begins at 7:30. The choir is enhancing the congregational singing and is directed by Mr. Clyde Rodgers.

The Sunday School attendance for April to date has been a 50 per cent increase over the previous month. Departments are being added to include every age group. Extension, Cradle Roll and Nursery Departments have been recently added to enlarge the ministry of the school.

J. E. Barnard, general superintendent, will have charge of the regular officers and teachers meeting, Wednesday night beginning at 6:45. He will discuss and lead in further planning for enlargement through the Sunday School. Those with small children are reminded that the nursery is open at all times to assist them in more regular attendance. The nursery meets in a large beautifully decorated room simply equipped and conveniently located on the first floor of the church.

Recently, the church installed a new baptistry with an oil painting of a beautiful river scene which serves as an impressive background when the ordinance of baptism is observed. Two baptismal services were held in March.

The church extends the public an invitation to attend the services in progress this week.
