AT LEAST 20 KILLED IN DETROIT STORM

DETROIT, (UP)—At least 20 persons were feared dead today from a tornado which grazed Detroit and Windsor, Ont., leaving rain-soaked wreckage in the wake of its searing sweep.

Daylight brought out scores of volunteers who searched the debris of more than 100 homes levelled in Detroit's crowded river suburbs and in less populous districts on the Canadian side of the Detroit river.

The giant black funnel—accompanied by winds so hot they burned the face—twisted its way through the suburbs of Melvindale and River Rouge southwest of Detroit, slipped across the river and struck with full fury south of Windsor.

NAT'L GUARD TO BE TOPIC OF MEETING

All interested in securing a National Guard Unit for Ranger are urged to meet Friday night at the American Legion Hall at 8:00 o'clock.

At this meeting complete details of the requirements will be outlined and it will be explained what the unit will mean to Ranger. It was also stated today that an effort will be made to fill the required enlistment of 55 men at this meeting. The present State Guard unit here must be built up to 55 enlisted men, four officers, and one warrant officer before it can be converted to a National Guard unit.

It was also pointed out that there is a bill before Congress to raise the pay of the personnel of the Army and salaries of the guard unit will be in proportion to the regular Army for similar rank. If the unit is approved, it will be required to drill once each week and to attend camp about once each year.

R. V. Galloway, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, stated today that a number have indicated that they want to join and it is believed that the rolls can be filled by the end of Friday night's meeting.

Regular Meeting Of Jaycees Is Held on Monday

The regular meeting of the Ranger Junior Chamber of Commerce was held at the Ghoson Hotel Monday night with a large group in attendance.

Fritz Crawley, president, presided at the meeting at which further plans for the coming rodeo and the construction of the rodeo arena were discussed.

Construction of the arena has been slowed because of the need of pipe and an urgent appeal was issued for this material.

Asks Listing Of Housing With C. of C. Office

R. V. Galloway stated today that he is having many inquiries about places to live that he is asking persons with houses, apartments or rooms to list them with his office.

He stated that the living quarters can be listed simply by calling the Chamber of Commerce and giving the address and type of quarters. In this way he will be able to answer the many inquiries that come to his office about places to live.

Tickets have been placed in stores in downtown Ranger and may be purchased there or from one of the committee. Creager stated that others will be called upon to assist in the sale.

The banquet will be Thursday night, June 27, at the Recreation building and Mark McGee of Ft. Worth will be the guest speaker. The public is invited to attend and members of the organization are urged to be present.

Lone Star Man Made Director On Gas Board

DES MOINES, Ia.—R. Field Foster, of the Lone Star Gas Co., Dallas, has been elected a member of the national board of directors of the Liquefied Petroleum Gas Association, it was announced today by Charles O. Russell, of Des Moines, Iowa, the new president.

Foster is the Texas state representative on the new board and was named in an election in which all members in his state participated.

The new board of directors and new officers were seated at a national convention of the association at Colorado Springs, Colo. Members of the association are the producers and marketers of liquefied petroleum gas—butane and propane—more commonly known as "tank" and "bottled gas". Makers of appliances and equipment used with these gases are in the association.

Compromise Draft Law May Take In 19 Year Olds

WASHINGTON (UP)—Compromise efforts of the teen-age draft indicated today that boys of 19 will be subject to call even though 18-year-olds are exempted.

Chairman Elbert D. Thomas, D-Utah, of Senate-House conference draft legislation said the question of 18-year-olds is the only remaining controversy. Representatives of the House, which twice voted against any teen-age draft this year, seemed willing to yield on 19-year-olds but were adamant against taking boys any younger.

PAT NEFF, JR. VISITS RANGER THIS MORNING

Pat M. Neff, Jr., candidate for attorney general, visited briefly in Ranger Tuesday enroute to the South Plains and Panhandle.

Pat Neff, Jr.

Neff said he regretted that a t engagement in Lubbock and Amarillo would preclude a longer stay, but that he planned to be back in Eastland County before the first primary July 27.

The towering former assistant attorney general, who served in the department under James V. Allred, William McGraw and Gerald C. Mann, has been setting a fast pace since opening his campaign a fortnight ago. He already has been in El Paso, McAllen, Orange and Longview and in many intermediate points.

This week's swing will take him through Abilene, Sweetwater, the Panhandle, Memphis, Childress, Quanah, Vernon, Electra, Wichita Falls and Decatur.

With Neff here today was Joe Lanham of Austin, formerly with the attorney general's office under the tenure of Gerald Mann.

Big Four Meet Recessed After 2 Hrs. 26 Minutes

PARIS (UP)—The Big Four foreign ministers met for two hours and 26 minutes today to continue the discussion of a peace treaty with Italy.

The ministers gathered at Luxembourg palace at 2:40 p. m. The meeting broke up at 4 p. m. at the instance of French foreign minister, Georges Bidault, who wanted to go on a parade. Before the session observers expected the western powers to learn at it whether V. M. Molotov's conciliatory manner would survive when the ministers took up Italian reparations, the first big controversial issue.

GROUP GIVES UNANIMOUS VOTE FOR THE PROMOTION

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Senate military affairs committee today approved the promotion of Gen. Mark Clark to permanent rank of major general despite protests by Texas veterans. The Texas charged that his strategy caused unnecessary loss of life in the Rapido river battle in Italy.

Chairman Elbert D. Thomas, D-Utah, said there were no committee votes against Clark. He said the committee felt that despite the charges of bad judgement in the Rapido disaster, Clark has an exceedingly good army record and deserves the promotion.

"The question of whether he used good judgement in an attempt to save lives in the Rapido battle is one which requires expert opinion and could be argued at length," Thomas said.

BRITONS KIDNAPPED IN TEL AVIV

JERUSALEM (UP)—Five British officers were kidnapped at Tel Aviv today and an attempt was made to assassinate two Britons in Jerusalem as casualties in three days of Holy Land violence mounted to at least 18 dead and scores wounded.

Continued outbreaks attributed to Jewish underground forces took on the aspects of a full fledged campaign against the British. Violence against British army officers here and in Tel Aviv indicated a swing from big scale sabotage to the British military as a major target.

Three hour work stoppages by Jews were carried out in both Haifa and Jerusalem as a protest against the killing of Jews in Haifa and thousands of Jews then gathered to bury their dead.

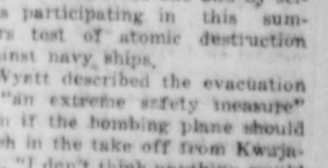

Precaution Against Atomic Accident Taken

KWAJALEIN (UP)—Against the "remote possibility" that the atomic bomb might go off at the wrong time, all non-essential personnel will be evacuated from Kwajalein on the day set for the bomb drop at Bikini, Commodore Ben H. Wyatt, commander of the Marshall Islands, said the evacuation was recommended by Vice Adm. W. B. P. Biandy, commander of joint task force one and by scientists participating in this summer's test of atomic destruction against navy ships.

Wyatt described the evacuation as "an extreme safety measure" even if the bombing plane should crash in the take-off from Kwajalein. "I don't think anything would happen," he added.

THE WEATHER

WEST TEXAS—Partly cloudy with scattered thundershowers in extreme northwest portion this afternoon and tonight and in north and west-central portions Wednesday. Not quite so warm in northwest and extreme north portions Wednesday.
Temperature for the last 24 hours ending at 5:00 a.m. today:
Maximum 95
Minimum 69
Temperature at 1:30 p. m. today:
Maximum 93
Minimum 81
Hour's Reading 92

Well... G Dunno. But...

The 90s have it so far as the weather is concerned, with the past four days holding steadily to a maximum temperature of 95. The coolest it's been in those four days is 67 with the minimum hovering around 70 degrees. Those readings are for 24 hour periods and the high minimums account for the hot night we've been having.

Incidentally the hot nights are getting an early start this year and by the time July and August get here, the months in which we have the hottest nights, nights will make history if the heat continues to increase as it usually does.

There has been no rainfall at all since the 10th of the month and that was only .06 of an inch, the total rainfall, so far, for June. Only 12 more days to go in the month and there's not a cloud in the sky today.

Well, the politicians are getting warmed up, too, and now the ordinary mails can't carry their propaganda fast enough. It's all coming afloat and special delivery, and they're beginning to back late at each other.

Too, they are frequenting out town more often, in fact candidates that were perfect strangers when announcements first started are practically old friends, now. At least that's the way they greet us.

And, we wonder what would be the state of affairs in this state if all of the promises that they make would come true.

In checking over the permanent files of the Ranger Daily Times, Monday it was discovered that one of the files is missing and it is understood that it was loaned to some one for research.

The management would appreciate it very much if the person to whom the file would return it to the Times office at once. These files are very valuable and the management wishes to keep them in good order.

The file missing is that of June 1938 and is the only missing link in the newspapers for the past 27 years. There is no way that this can be restored to the Times except by its being returned by the person having it.

There can be no mistaking its identity. It is the same size as the paper is regularly and is bound in a green and brown heavy card board and is labeled in white ink. "Once read a book marker which said, "Whoever keeps this book beyond the term of a loan, is robbing me of a very good friend." So whoever is keeping our file is robbing us of some very valuable property which we would like to recover.

As an economy measure and as a protection to nerves of Ranger people when they sit down to the noon day lunch, it has been suggested by many that the noon day whistle be cut a little shorter. They say it would save a lot of steam, in more ways than one, and would be a relief to nerves.

Thanks for the service, but half the length of the whistle would be enough.

We were waited upon again by a group of people that still find the 5:00 o'clock closing hour too, a most inconvenient thing. One suggestion made was that working people could have two hour, off for the mid-day breathing spell and then work longer in the evening.

Whatever arrangement could be made, would save take a lot of people off our neck and it sure would help the people that undo the present setup don't get off it title to shop before the stores close.

The Jaycees are really crying for help. With their big rodeo only a little over two months off, they are being held up on construction of the big arena because of the shortage of pipe.

Pipe, pipe and more pipe is what they want and if you know where it can be had let some one of the Jaycees know and they'll get an get it. A trio of the boys have been scouring the country and it is not to be found. They have transportation for it but still there's no pipe and they need it badly and quick.

Price Crawley stated that some farmer had brought in two jacks and that he certainly has the Jaycees sincere thanks and if all will do every that much, the building can go ahead.
At their meeting Monday night it was announced that Mrs. Bob Hodges had given two flagpoles and Mrs. Jack Lowe has given one flagpole for the Jaycees Rodeo grounds.

FIELD DAY FOR PRESERVE TO BE JULY 4TH

The date for the third annual Field Day and program of the Tudor Game Preserve Association in the Eastern part of Eastland County has been set. Thursday, July 4, according to W. H. Jackson, President of the Association.

It will again be held on the picnic grounds on the J. O. Allen ranch, 12 miles Southwest of Strawn.

The group will assemble on the grounds at 11 o'clock that morning. The program is to get under way immediately after a picnic lunch at noon.

Those invited to appear on the program are C. W. Jackson and R. E. Callender of the A&M College Extension Service; A. S. Jackson, Game Biologist, Texas Game, Fish and Oyster Department, Albany; Walton Baum, Texas Game, Fish and Oyster Department, Cisco; John Wood, Game Warden, Brownwood; Mike Strickland, Game Warden, Cisco; Leo Stowe, Game Warden, Grand; L. B. Pearson, State Representative, Ranger and Elmo V. Cook, County Agricultural Agent, Abilene, Texas.

The 400,000 acre game preserve organized in 1938 is now well stocked with deer according to officials.

To Seek Action On Labor Bill Before Recess

WASHINGTON (UP)—House Speaker Sam Rayburn indicated today that he still expects Congress to act on President Truman's emergency labor bill before beginning its summer recess.

He was asked at a news conference about reports that pending labor legislation was "dead." "I wouldn't say so," Rayburn had that.

Hopes For Peace In China Dimmed

NANKING (UP)—Prospects of an early peace in China's civil strife grew dim again today with negotiations deadlocked over an unexpected government demand for Communist evacuation of provinces and coastal cities in North China, it was reported reliably.

Communist leaders rejected an earlier Nationalist proposal to give supreme arbitration powers to Gen. George C. Marshall, it was announced officially.

DEADLINE ON WORLD WAR II BOOK EXTENDED

Time for turning in pictures for Eastland County's World War II Book has been extended one more week until June 22nd, according to Fred Elsing, local representative of the firm which is publishing the book.

The citizens of Eastland county have given splendid cooperation, he said, and because of this Eastland County is now assured a fine World War II Book.

There are still some who have not turned in their pictures so to be sure that everyone will have the opportunity to be included, the final date for accepting pictures is now extended to June 22. No pictures will be accepted after this date and if anyone is left out it will be because the pictures and writeups were not turned in by the service people or their parents he explained. There is no cost or obligation for including your picture in this historical record for Eastland County, so turn in your picture before the deadline date.

D. G. C. Bewell stated today that action taken by the State Board of Education at the meeting held Monday in Austin will give an additional $5,808 to Ranger schools the coming year.

The board voted to give an additional $4.00 per capita to public schools and this brings to a total of $34 per capita allotted to the schools.

In speaking of the additional money, D. Bewell stated that it was a life saver for the Ranger schools.

THE BIG BROADCAST

Ever since it was announced that the atomic bomb test at Bikini was going to be broadcast, we've been wondering who would sponsor it.

Why not Operation Crossroads? The actual program will be of short duration, but its Crossley and Hooper ratings should be terrific.

For there is an element of surprise in Operation Crossroads which, for the prospective sponsor, should make the broadcast rights double attractive.

No one, for example, knows whether the microphone nearest the explosion will be able to bring the big blowoff to the ears of the waiting world.

No one knows whether the bomb will blow that ancient and honorable institution, the Navy right off the pages of history, or whether it will alter the conception of naval power and its uses to the point of being unrecognizable.

Who will sponsor the broadcast? And how will the presentation be handled? By and large, we think that the familiar soap-opera technique will do very nicely.

For the atomic bomb provides the plot for the soap opera of civilization, the greatest cliff-hanger in history. So the announcement could follow the usual pattern.

Portia never faced life with any more apprehension and anxiety than Man confronts the Bikini experiment.

WASHINGTON COLUMN

BY PETER EDSON NEA Washington Correspondent

CHARLOTTE AMALIE, St. Thomas, Virgin Islands—(NEA)—Hopes soar here these days in the land which Herbert Hoover once called "America's Poorhouse."

In the parade of automobiles through the narrow streets of this old Danish town, at the cocktail party reception for 500 or more of the islands' leading citizens in Government House, at the banquet that night in Bluebeard's Castle overlooking the harbor, in demonstrations next day on St. Croix Island—nobody looked much at big Secretary Krug.

In whatever degree he fails, critics will probably say, "What else could you hope for?" to whatever degree he succeeds, it may be said, "See what happens when Negroes are given a chance."

Governor Hastie has a few whites at the top to help him. Morris De Castro, who is government secretary, is one of these. Another is Walter Taylor, who has been commissioner of St. Croix for years.

It is such a little government, but, oh, so important to the natives, who place such pathetic faith in it. If the great United States can't give these tiny isles a decent local, native democracy, what hope is there for the other islands which the Army and Navy want for bases?

That is the larger importance of the Virgin Islands experiment.

CLEANEST ARMY IN WORLD JEFFERSONVILLE, Ind. (UP)—World War II soldiers made up the cleanest army in the world, according to the quartermaster depot here.

Officials said a War Department report showed that more than 600,000,000 pounds of soap and other detergents per year were required for the Army in the war just ended.

SPORTS

BY HARRY GRAYSON NEA Sports Editor

WHO is this Dick Burton, coming to this country to tackle Byron Nelson in the first International Challenge Match on this side since 1923, and to compete in the Goodall Heard Robin at Whigged Foot, May 30-June 2?

It has been so long since a British Open has been held that the bulk of those who heard about Burton's winning it in 1939 have forgotten him.

But the tall, fair-haired, popular, daring and impetuous 33-year-old Burton is fully qualified to challenge Lord Byron Nelson's scores.

The Lancashire man first invited the Texan to come to his native land, where there are real courses and where clubs in half-sizes like hats are not permitted.

Following six years in the Royal Air Force, Burton this spring fired a record-breaking 69 over the famous and testing Moor Park Links Course, during the Silver King 5000 tournament. He had rounds of 70, the lowest returned, over the windswept Southport and Ainsdale courses.

JOHNNY BULLA, the lone American entrant, had waited two hours when Burton sank a 25-foot putt for a three on the final hole at St. Andrews to beat the flyer, 290 to 292, for the British Open championship of 1939.

Like most golfers who came up the hard way, young Burton cad-died and whatnot before going to work in a cotton mill, continued to give twilight lessons after a club gave him a job as groundsman.

Burton began winning tournaments in the mid-1930s, bagged several North of England championships, some rather important golf-ball manufacturers' fixtures. Nelson was an obscure assistant professional on the fringe of the gallery at Ridgewood, N. J., when

NAVY REVISES DISCHARGE REQUIREMENTS

WASHINGTON, D. C. — A retroactive change in Navy honorable discharge qualifications will permit many discharged enlisted personnel now holding other types of discharge certificates to obtain honorable discharges, the Navy Department has announced. "Proficiency in rating" requirements for honorable discharge have been reduced from 3.0 to 2.75. The reduction is retroactive to and including December 7, 1941. (Under the Navy's system of grading, 4.0 represents 100 per cent; hence, the reduction is from a required mark of 75 per cent to 68.75 per cent.) This change affects any individual discharged from the Navy on or after December 7, 1941, whose proficiency rating is 2.75 or above, and who was not granted an honorable discharge for the sole reason that this mark was below the former 3.0 standard. Discharged personnel in this category may return their present certificates to the Board of Review, Discharges and Dismissals, Navy Department, Washington 25, D. C., accompanied by written request for honorable discharge certificate. Their service records will be examined by the Board and each individual will be advised of the action taken.

Says Painter's Appointment Predicted By UP

AUSTIN, Tex., (UP)— Selection of Dr. T. S. Painter for permanent president of the University of Texas was forecast in the April 1 issue of "Under the Dome."
 We quote: "Dr. Theophilus Shickel Painter now appears scheduled for a long stay as president of the University of Texas. The quiet-spoken little scientist, who has not lost the touch of talking with the uneducated in understandable terms, has made such a hit as acting president that there seems no protest of early change. Perhaps he will be persuaded to take over the job without the 'acting' qualification."
 Though this was widely published over Texas, it seemed a surprise to the campus and faculty when the announcement came from the regents.

Thomas Hart Benton, noted Missouri artist, painted for 20 years before winning national recognition.

Midgets Are Parents; New Race Is Possible

Little Miss Swenson, a 6-pound 13 ounce "little bit of heaven", sleepily ignores the photographer as she poses with her mother, Mrs. Clarence Swenson, and her grandmother, Mrs. J. E. Clifton, both midgets of Austin, Texas. The baby born Friday, June 14, has the physical characteristics, according to the attending physician, indicating it might be a midget, and would be the world's second midget child born to midget parents. Her mother was the first such child born. The father, 52-inch A. C. Swenson, is a radio technician in Austin. (NEA Telephoto).

"A refugee," Margaret mused. "No wonder the English have the idea the United States is peopled almost entirely with thugs and Indians. But just the same, Sally, I can't understand why his guardians were so ready to believe him a thief."
"AS I heard the story," Sally said, "Dean was homesick—had been for months. He has wanted to go back to England. He was so determined, that his foster father has worried for fear he might even run away, so a week or more ago when he failed to appear at breakfast one morning, they thought he may have started, perhaps for Canada. Mr. Winston got in touch with the authorities and the border was watched, also all ports of embarkation. He felt that Dean was just the lad to try to stow away in some outgoing ship. It wasn't until several days passed that the robbery was discovered. So, if they did believe Dean guilty, it wasn't for very long. I'm glad he's coming along so nicely. They are taking him home as soon as he can be moved. I went in to see him this afternoon. He's a grand youngster."
"So Willoughby was right," Margaret said thoughtfully, more interested in the perpetrators than the victim. "That was the first time I was ever in a police station and the only time I've ever been questioned. Scared me to death."
"But Sergeant Trimble was very kind, Margaret," Sally pointed out. "And do you know I was almost relieved when none of the men who appeared in line proved to be our midnight visitor. They were such an ugly, uninteresting lot. Our caller was at least thoughtful and polite."
"Thoughtful, my eye!" Margaret scoffed. "Took ten years from my life. I think I was never so absolutely sunk. But even I, scared as I was at the time, knew none of those thugs parading before us was the mysterious stranger. I hope to heaven I never do see him. There was something sinister about him—slinky and—and—well, sinister."

Sally laughed. "I can see you're not at all intrigued by mysteries," she said. "Well, I am and I hope I find that voice if only to satisfy my curiosity."

"THEY got all the loot back, didn't they?" Margaret asked. "They had plenty of time to get rid of it, seems to me."
"It was too hot or they thought it was," Doctor Willoughby explained as he joined them. "After all, there was merely a lapse of a week from the time of the robbery and abduction to their capture. Already Dean is beginning to accept the role of hero. You know they took him along because he discovered them in the act? That kid actually tried to capture those three ruffians single-handed. Great boy!"

"But how did he get so completely smashed up, Doctor?" Margaret wanted to know. "I've heard just scraps of the story but no one has explained that part to me. They didn't abuse him?"
"That happened on the night he was brought here. He had been kept a prisoner in some sort of shack near Lintonville and managed to escape. They discovered his absence and tracked him down some five miles out the River Turnpike. They swear he was lying in the road when they found him. That's their story and they all agree on it. The two men who brought him here declare they had nothing to do with it—that they were merely members of the searching party and didn't even know the other three. I don't know—I can't believe they are entirely innocent. And, what is more, neither does Sergeant Trimble."
"Then the case isn't settled?" Sally asked. "I have been wondering. It didn't seem to me the police could be so glib."
"Don't worry. They'll ferret it out," the resident assured her with quiet confidence.

General Duty Nurse

By LUCY AGNES HANCOCK

THE STORY: Part of the mystery is unraveled when the police discover that the two men who brought in the injured boy are part of a gang of thieves...

The resident stifled a yawn and drew back his shoulders. "Seems sort of quiet tonight after what we've been enduring here this past week or two."

The ringing of the ambulance bell, followed by the eerie shriek of the siren as it reached the street, came in direct refutation of Doctor Willoughby's placid statement.

"I spoke too soon," he acknowledged, peering after the ambulance tail light until it was hidden from sight. He turned to the room where the two nurses were already on the alert.

"Probably not," Selly smiled. "More than likely an appendectomy. We've had a lot of them lately. Isn't it queer how such things seem to run in spells like chickenpox and whooping cough?"

"We'll have perhaps a dozen or more appendectomies within the space of three or four days and not another for weeks. The same with accidents. You've noticed it, haven't you, Doctor?"

"Superstition," the doctor smiled, but Selly knew he had noticed it because she had heard him mention it to the chief.

Doctor Hallock entered and consulted with the resident for a few minutes after which the older doctor left the room. The interne remained. Almost at once the ambulance returned followed by a big limousine. Both cars stopped before the door which Hallock opened, and watched while an extremely fat Negress was eased from the ambulance and carried with some difficulty into the room. From the car behind stepped a slim girl in evening dress, a velvet and ermine wrap about her shoulders.

"I am Angela Hutchinson and this is my cook, Mrs. Prunella Brown. She appears to be suffering and I was unable to get a doctor at this hour so sent for the ambulance to bring her here. Give her a private room and special nurses if she needs them. I want you to take care of her and see that she has every comfort and attention. You may send your bill to me at my address. Good evening and thank you."

Sally stepped forward. "Will you please answer a few questions, Miss or is it Mrs. Hutchinson?"

"It is Mrs.—of course. I thought you knew. What is it you want me to tell you?" It was said arrogantly. She spoke as if to a rather dumb and presuming underling. Sally stiffened.

"It is customary to know something about the patients who come here, Mrs. Hutchinson," she said coolly. Margaret was doing the usual things, recording temperature, pulse and respiration. Sally poised her fountain pen above a card and read the questions as they appeared there.

"Prunella has been married so many times even she can't remember to tell you, Doctor?" "Superstition," the doctor smiled, but Selly knew he had noticed it because she had heard him mention it to the chief. Doctor Hallock entered and consulted with the resident for a few minutes after which the older doctor left the room. The interne remained. Almost at once the ambulance returned followed by a big limousine. Both cars stopped before the door which Hallock dition from time to time and in case of death you may take the usual steps and send whatever bills there may be to my address. I think that covers the situation. And now, good night."

The patient groaned and Sally wondered if she had heard the cool and, to her, callous recital by her mistress. Doctor Hallock was watching the visitor, a strange look on his pleasant face. He followed her to the door and stood while the chauffeur helped her into the car. Then he turned to find Sally glaring at him angrily.

"So that's the glamorous Angela Hutchinson," he said as he closed the door. "Well, Prunella won't get any private room, my lady. We have none vacant. There's a vacant bed in K and she'll have to be satisfied with that. I wish you were back in K, Maynard. An old Mammy like Prunella is your dish. Personally, I don't think there's much the matter with her; temper, partly, and overeating. She isn't in any coma, you know. You sensed that, didn't you, Maggie? I've an idea she's punishing her 'chile' for something. Wasn't there talk of the Hutchinsons separating, Sally?"

"I'm sure I wouldn't know," Sally said coldly. "I don't listen to gossip."

"Good girl!" the young men applauded unperturbed. The stretcher departed and the young man followed it. The girls looked at each other for a long wordless moment.

"Of all the heartless exhibitions I ever witnessed that takes the prize," Margaret exclaimed. "That poor creature heard every word she said."

"And I think she intended that she should," Sally agreed. "I don't care for Mrs. Angela Hutchinson, Maggie."

"Nor I. I don't care for her type—never did. Selfish, heartless gimme girls—every one of 'em. Seems to me, though, our Doctor Hallock was quite impressed. Didn't it strike you that way, Sally?" "I didn't notice," Sally replied, but she was not quite truthful. She had noticed and resented it.

Charges AAUP With Political Trickery, Timing

WAXAHACHIE, Tex. June 18. —Charges of "political trickery and timing" have been leveled against the American Association of University Professors by Beauford Jester, candidate for governor of Texas, following the Association's recent censure of the University of Texas.

"As a Texan, proud of the University of Texas and its splendid achievements, I resent the unwarranted censure of the University of Texas," Jester stated.

Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Glazner and son, E. M. Glazner, Jr., of Fort Worth, formerly of Ranger, were the weekend guests of Mrs. Lottie Davenport.

Mrs. Leslie Hagaman and children, Misses Frances Ruth and Betty Lou and John Leslie, spent the weekend in Waco where they visited members of Mrs. Hagaman's family.

Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Fuller of Gorman are guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Warford.

Mrs. Hunt Winn, who has been the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Price, left this morning for her home in Boulder, Colorado.

ranted censure placed on our great University by the American Association of University Professors, purely for political purposes," Jester stated.

"While many fine patriotic Texas educators held membership in this organization, yet it should be remembered that it was organized in the North and its wide-spread national membership includes plenty of communist sympathizers, pinks and fellow travelers."

"The censure of the University by this group, suitably timed, so as to give help to a candidate who has thrust the University into politics to forward his own personal aims and ambitions, smacks of politics pure and simple."

"I believe that the great majority of the Texas educators will through the political trick and timing. Why did the association of university professors carefully withhold their censure until such time as the University has over made a campaign issue."

Re-Enlistment With Benefits Deadline July 1

A recent survey in and around Ranger by Army Personnel from the Abilene Recruiting Office reveals that many veterans who are contemplating re-entry into the service are not aware that July 1 will be too late if they want the financial advantages of wartime service.

Men who come in after this date will no longer get the dependency allotments for wives, children, or parents that have been payable to soldiers' families during existence of the National Emergency.

Interviews with other former members of the armed services revealed also that many men think the present law which allows re-entry into the new Regular Army within 90 days of discharge in their discharge grade will continue indefinitely. An even more important fact is nullification of that provision which allows veterans discharged as long as one year ago to come back in grade if they hold critical specialist numbers. All of these provisions are by law void after July 1 of this year.

"Recruiting personnel have also been advised by executive members of numerous major schools and universities that seriously overcrowded conditions are expected by these institutions this fall and in many cases where veterans are to receive preference of entry, recent graduates of high schools will be denied entry for these reasons. An additional reminder to these high school graduates which deserves some deliberation is the fact that those who do not enter the service before fall will forfeit the financial part of their GI educational benefits which may amount to as much as $7,500.
