Yes, We Have Bananas—In Black Market

Two OPA agents who impersonated fruit peddlers sit atop a wagon load of bananas which they say they bought in the black market in Chicago. It is the belief of the OPA enforcement attorney that the Chicago black market has been operated as a nationwide outlet for a market established by a Miami, Fla. barber. (NEA Telephoto).

CHINESE EAGER TO TRY PU YI FOR WAR GUILT

SHANGHAI (UP) — With Wang Ching-wei, puppet Nanking government president, dead and his successor Chen Kung-po executed, the Chinese still are eager to bring Henry Pu Yi before their war-crimes court.

Much resentment was felt by the Chinese over delay by the Russians in handing over the "boy emperor" to the Chinese government. It was felt that Moscow, well aware of the Chinese intention to put Pu Yi on trial, could have surrendered the wanted man to the Chinese representatives in Tokyo instead of keeping him at the Soviet Embassy and stressing that the twice-deposed monarch, while testifying at the Japanese war crimes trial, is still "in Russian custody."

If ever handed over to the Chinese government and if ever placed before the Chinese court to face treason charges, the trial of Pu Yi is expected to reveal the intimate and intricate secrets of the Forbidden City from the days when Empress Dowager Tzu Hsi picked the little boy for the Chinese "dragon throne" to Henry's eviction from the palaces to live in Tientsin, where he became the central figure in repeated restoration plots.

Chinese historians agree that Pu Yi never would have been emperor of China if it was not for Empress Dowager Tzu Hsi's ambition to rule the country behind the scenes. As it was, the thin, bespectacled, thick-tipped, slope-shouldered man spent the greater portion of his life as a puppet.

If the all-powerful empress dowager had strictly observed the Manchurian rules of succession, she would not have chosen Pu Yi as emperor. He happened to be the youngest of the princes of blood and his father happened to be the empress's close friend. So at the age of four, he ascended the throne of the Empire of China. There he remained for three eventful years—a puppet of his great aunt and later his own father.

Removed from the throne on February 12, 1912, after the republican revolution, Pu Yi was accorded special privileges to remain in the Forbidden City, to be treated as a foreign monarch. The peace treaty with the republican government provided that he was to be paid $4,000,000 annually for the upkeep of the imperial family. Still an emperor, to his immediate family and the die-hard royalists, Pu Yi resided inside the palaces with the thick yellow walls for the next 16 years. Then the many civil wars of the young republic touched the Forbidden City. Henry and his family fled to Tientsin, where they converted a large mansion into a miniature Forbidden City.

TURNERSVILLE N.M. (UP)—Want to buy this town and be a big-shot? You can buy it and become mayor, fire chief and police chief.

Turnersville is owned by State Senator John W. Turner, Sr., who moved here in 1902 when it was just part of his 42,000-acre ranch. Milling developments caused the growth of the town on his acreage.

Maritime Strike Brings Embargo On Some Freight

REV. DUNSON TO GO TO NEW CHURCH

Rev. Wallace N. Dunson, for the past two years pastor of the First Methodist church in Ranger, has been assigned to the Methodist church in Helton and stated today that he expects to leave next Wednesday or Thursday for his new charge. He will fill his pulpit in Ranger at both services Sunday.

CHIEF ISSUES WARNINGS TO SCHOOL KIDS

Chief George Murphy today issued a warning to bicycle riders to keep off of sidewalks and to be watchful for cars while riding in the streets.

According to Chief Murphy it is against the law for bicycles to be ridden on sidewalks and since there are so many bicycles about with the opening of school, he urges that those riding them heed the law.

He also pointed to the dangers to riders and warned against cutting corners and fancy trick riding while in traffic.

He further stated that police will be instructed to be on the watch for violators.

Spokesman Says Greece Victim Of War Nerves

LAKE SUCCESS, N.J. (UP)—Vassili Dendramis, spokesman for Greece, today charged before the United Nations Security Council that his land was a victim of a war of nerves carried on by former Axis satellites.

Dendramis charged, in reply to Ukraine allegations that Greece and Britain were threatening Balkan peace, that it was "other countries" which caused the threat. He aimed his heaviest artillery against Albania and Bulgaria.

Versatile Widow Scoffs At Man-Power Shortage

COLUMBUS, O. (UP)—No manpower shortage has been able to keep the widowed Mrs. Beatrice Stuart from having the additional she wanted for her home.

Only five feet tall and old enough to be a grandmother, Mrs. Stuart has spent much of her time in the past two years hauling stone mixing and laying cement, shingling roofs. And now—with only occasional help from the stronger sex—she has a new basement, a sun porch, and a new living room.

Heirens Again Attempts To Take His Life

CHICAGO (UP)—William Heirens, confessed triple slayer, attempted to commit suicide by hanging in his county jail cell with a bedsheet early today.

Heirens made the suicide attempt only a few hours before he was to appear in court to hear himself sentenced for the slayings of six-year-old Suzanne Degnan, Francis Brown, an ex-wave, and Josephine Ross, a widowed housewife.

Last Rites For Mr. Newnham Held Thursday

Funeral services for Benjamin Eady Newnham of Route 3, Ranger, were conducted Thursday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock at the New Hope church with Rev. W. R. Ivy of Cisco officiating. Interment was in the Macedonia cemetery with Morris Funeral Home of Ranger in charge of arrangements.

Mr. Newnham who died at his home Wednesday was born in Dallas county March 27, 1874 and had resided in the vicinity of Ranger for 60 years.

Survivors are his wife, Mrs. B. Newnham of Route 3, Ranger; three sons, C. W. Newnham of Ranger, Truman Newnham of Ranger and B. M. Newnham of Caddo; one daughter, Miss Hazel Newnham of Ranger; three sisters, Mrs. W. R. Millhall of Snyder, Mrs. Addie Ashmore of Iva and Mrs. Allie Jackson of Hatherton. Three grandchildren also survive.

Family Wears Parachute That Saved His Life

DETROIT (UP)—Ray Brooks, air forces veteran, hopes his parachute brings members of his family as much luck as it brought him.

Everyone in the Brooks family has worn some part of the chute that saved Ray's life when he bailed out of a blazing transport plane over Batogne.

His infant daughter, Hope Gaye was christened in a dress, cape and hood made from white nylon taken from the chute.

Another daughter, Phyllis Joyce, has a nylon gown fashioned from the same source.

Ray's wife, Dolores, said only a small piece was left, so "I just made some, well—unmentionables."

Byrnes To Berlin For Inspection Tour of Germany

BERLIN (UP)—Secretary of State James F. Byrnes today arrived in Berlin by plane from Paris on an inspection tour of Germany preliminary to an important declaration of American policy to be made at Stuttgart tomorrow.

Byrnes and his party left by train for Stuttgart after a three-hour visit to Berlin and a conference with Lieutenant Gen. Lucius D. Clay, American deputy military governor, and Ambassador Robert D. Murphy, political adviser to the military government.

Dallas Court Case Gives Man Election Majority

AUSTIN, Tex. (UP)—Judge Tom L. Beauchamp of the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals cast a nifty party satisfaction out of the result of the State Democratic Primary runoff election in Dallas County.

Dallas County is not the home county of the judge nor of his opponent. But it was the scene of the now celebrated "Gregg Case," which was cited by Beauchamp's opponent as a reason why the judge should give way to another judge.

AT LEAST 18 DIE IN CRASH OF AIRLINER

ELKO, Nev. (UP)—A twin-engine DC-3 trans-luxury airliner, flying from New York to San Francisco with 21 aboard, crashed into a hill and caught fire today, killing at least 18 persons.

Rescue workers pulled 18 bodies from the wreckage. A two-year-old boy survived. He was taken to the Elko General Hospital. Two other persons were missing and presumed dead.

The surviving child was a blue-eyed, blonde boy. He suffered severe bruises and chest injuries, but hospital attendants believed he would recover.

The plane crashed at 1:17 a.m. PST while approaching the airport of this desert town. It struck the crest of a hill two and a half miles west of Elko, split open and burst into flames.

Sheriff Charles Smith directed the rescue workers, who took the bodies into Elko as soon as they could be removed from the wreckage.

The plane had left Newark, N. J., at noon EDT yesterday and was scheduled to land at San Francisco at 9 a.m. PST today.

It Was His Watering Day, Rain or No Rain

LARAMIE, Wyo. (UP)—The rain was coming down in torrents and Laramie water officials—who have been rationing consumers because of a shortage—happily watched the free irrigation of town lawns.

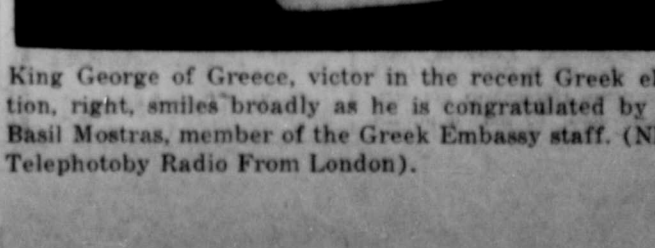

One official stopped in amazement however, when he noticed a Laramie resident in the midst of the downpour calmly watering his lawn.

The man was asked to stop, since the rain would do the job for him. He refused, declaring that it was his "watering day," and that he was going to water his lawn, regardless.

Molotov Back At Paris Meeting

PARIS (UP)—Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov returned today from Moscow where he is believed to have conferred with Generalissimo Stalin upon the progress of the Paris Peace Conference and the general international situation.

More than 33,000,000 homes in the United States are wired for electric service.

ORDER GIVEN TO PREVENT PORTS BEING CARGO LADEN

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Association of American Railroads today imposed a general embargo on most freight shipments to U.S. ports because of the widespread maritime strike.

President Truman meantime said that the strike situation still is in the hands of the labor department but that he would act personally if the matter is carried to him.

Asked at a news conference if he planned to intervene directly in the dispute, the president said he would do so if it came to him but that it now was still in the hands of Secretary of Labor Lewis B. Schwellenbach.

The railroad embargo was a sidetrack to avoid piling up shipments in ports as AFL seamen quit their ships throughout the country in the biggest strike in maritime history.

The railroads said the embargo was necessary "due to the threatened strike of maritime workers and to prevent congestion at all American ports." The embargo is effective immediately.

A spokesman for the railroads said the embargo would affect about 60 per cent of all rail shipments for export.

Members of the Sailors Union of the Pacific and the Seafarers International Union, both AFL, generally left their ships several hours ahead of the official noon EST strike deadline. They called the strike in protest against rejection by the wage stabilization board of a wage agreement settled on by the unions and the ship owners.

Green Tells Vets Time To Stop Aggressive Reds

BOSTON (UP)—President William Green of the American Federation of Labor said today that the time has come for this nation "to call a halt to the aggressive tactics of Soviet Russia and her Communist Dependencies."

Green told delegates to the 47th annual encampment of the Veterans of Foreign Wars at Boston arena that it "is time to let Stalin know once and for all that America refuses to be intimidated."

Disguised Movie Director Scouts School Talent

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UP)—Clarence Brown, the Hollywood director who hails from this state, says he searched 12 Southern cities for the right lad to play the role of "Jody" in the forthcoming technical-color movie "The Yearling."

The movie is based on the prize-winning novel by Marjorie K. Rawlings.

Director Brown disguised himself as a public building inspector to find Claude Jarman, Jr., a local youngster who is featured with his pal Flag, the deer.

The total number of sheep in Wyoming, as of Jan. 1, 1946, was estimated at 2,911,000.

★ WASHINGTON COLUMN

By FRIDA EUNSON

WASHINGTON, D. C.—(NEA)—You can walk right up to the line, citizens, pay your money and take your choice as to whether civilization will be destroyed by atomic bombs or by insects.

Edson
There was a lot of large talk, right after the discovery of DDT, about how man's battle against the bugs was won at last. There were even scare stories, right after DDT was sprayed all over Sappan, that it would kill off all insect life and make a biological desert, where there would be no bees to do their stuff with the flowers and nothing would grow. It hasn't worked out that way at all.
DDT can't kill bugs that have crawled in a hole, and it can't kill the eggs for next year's crop of insects. It can be used on cucumber and melon vines. It will kill one of the two varieties of horn worm that infest tobacco plants, but the other variety of horn worm seems to get fat on it. It will kill the codling moth that makes apples wormy, but it makes the apples taste terrible.
Then take what DDT does and doesn't do to the greatest insect pest of them all—the cotton boll weevil.
THIS season's insect history, as reported from the Waco, Tex., experiment station to the Department of Agriculture's Bureau of Entomology, gives a faint idea of what the cotton farmers have been up against.
The crop started with an infestation of fleahoppers. Then came the weevils. Then the aphids. The honey dew given off by the aphids attracted and fed the moths of the predatory boll worm.
Applications of DDT, to kill off the boll worms, apparently destroyed other predatory insects which feed on red spiders. So the windup is a plague of red spiders, as well as an abundance of cotton leaf worm.
Entomologists at the Department of Agriculture like to say they're making progress in man's endless war against the insects. These entomologists say the boll weevil could be destroyed if everybody would agree not to grow a single cotton plant for one year. All the weevils would starve to death.
BUT you can just imagine how much of a howl would come out of the South if anyone proposed passing a law to prohibit the growing of cotton for even one year. That's where the insects have the advantage over the atom in this race to destroy civilization.
The insect-experts aren't a bit discouraged, however. They say that modern, scientific entomology has been here less than 50 years. No perfect insecticide could be found in that time, of course. But the entomologists are consistently discovering new ones and making improvements on the old.
Agricultural experiment stations keep on trying and hoping they'll get a kill-all cure-all for insects; if it takes 15 or 20 or 100 years. After all, the atom was finally split. The law of nature which says there have to be insects may be busted too.

SPORTS

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

SCATTERED throughout the United States are more than four million people who, regardless of politics, agree that President Truman has the right idea—that horseshoe-pitching is a sport worthy of the White House lawn.

Whether they play in such an auspicious setting or in the back yard, addicts of the game contend there is as much science, art, and enjoyment in it as there is in golf.
"And they're perfectly right," asserts Jimmy Risk, world's champion trick and fancy pitcher. "In fact, horseshoe-pitching is equally well known under the monicker of barnyard golf. It requires a great deal of skill to be a good player, same as in any other sport."
The game is rapidly gaining a place among major participation sports in America, judged by its increasing popularity in the last few years.

RECENTLY Risk was invited to play a game on the White House lawn with President Truman and Admiral Chester W. Nimitz.
For the edification of his distinguished playmates, Risk placed a lighted cigarette near the peg, made a ringer, the horseshoe flicking the ash off the cigarette in passing.

Because of the tremendous interest in horseshoe-pitching among servicemen, Risk will tell them how to improve their game while in the Pacific on his second USO tour.
"I'll tell them what I told President Truman," explains the champion.
"You need a good set of shoes—four, at least, for a game, and six if you want to practice. Then you won't have to change your position just when your arm and eye are beginning to work together."
"Shoes ought to be soft forged steel and weigh two and a half pounds. It's important that the shoes be soft, so they won't bounce if they hit one another. For example, if your opponent throws a ringer, you can cancel it by putting another on top of it—providing it stays there."
"Standard shoes are seven inches long and seven inches wide, with a 3/4-inch opening and a 3/8-inch cork. I hold them just like I'd pick up a water bucket—with three fingers around the shoe and my thumb opposite my middle finger. My little finger is braced underneath the shoe and against its toe."
"Stand with the peg to your right and in line with your arm. Balance your weight evenly on both feet, which ought to be at right angles to the peg. Sight the peg between the prongs of the shoe at eye level, and on the back-swing let it rise above your head."
"As it passes the body on the down-swing, the shoe should be in line with the body, gradually turning so that it leaves the hand at a 45-degree angle. As the shoe leaves the hand, shift the weight to the left foot for a good follow-through."
"Between your hand and the peg, the shoe should make only 1/4 turns. Get plenty of practice and keep your eye on the peg."
"Gosh, there's a lot more to horseshoe-pitching than I imagined."
"I thought all you had to do was be sure to remove the horse first."

Texas Wildlife Hard Hit By Summer Drought

AUSTIN, Tex. (UP)—The drought which has gripped Texas this summer may mean the poorest fall hunting season in years unless the weatherman sends some badly-needed rain.
Reports throughout the state indicate that Texas wildlife has succumbed in large numbers in the principal hunting districts.
Hardest hit were deer in the heavily-populated Edwards plateau district. W. C. Glazener, head of the game restoration division, said deer died by the hundreds there during August.

100th Birthday Of Ether Be Research Peg

BOSTON (UP)—The 100th anniversary of the discovery of ether finds doctors from 26 foreign countries visiting the hospital where it was developed, in hopes of learning new methods of saving lives and suffering.
The anniversary of the first use of ether also marks the 125th anniversary of Massachusetts General Hospital, where it was first used by Dr. William Morton.
The ether centenary will be highlighted by a three-day meeting, Oct. 14, 15 and 16, of some 2,000 medical men from all parts of the world, gathered together for a series of symposiums on present day research and scientific advancement.
Among subjects to be discussed will be the use of "atomic" physics in the study of normal and abnormal psychology; Massachusetts General Hospital doctors already have begun a study of radio-active isotopes in collaborations with physicists of Massachusetts Institute of Technology and Harvard.

Long a leader in research, Massachusetts General Hospital's work was intensified during the war as a result of army support of its projects, which included the study of shock, the healing of burns, the preservation of blood and the prevention and control of malaria.
The work will be continued through a $2,000,000 fund being collected for a building to house all the major research laboratories of the hospital, which has pioneered in medical and surgical studies throughout its history.
Already the hospital is credited with the development of an artificial hip joint, the "Wright Stain" used in examination of blood cells, a cure of pernicious anemia and a method of dissolving and crushing stones in the kidney and bladder.
The hospital's tumor clinic provided the first modern approach to the cancer problem and studies on the autonomic nervous system led to the surgical treatment of hypertension and other blood vessel diseases as well as to treatment of peptic ulcers.
At present research studies include the effects of various hormonal systems on the general body economy, wound and fracture healing, normal and cancerous growths and the function of water and salt in living cells.
Mildew is a fungus growth that eventually "eats" into the fibers of cloth, causing permanent damage.

Without Painful Backache
Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.
The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.
When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.
Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

It Pays To Be On The Safe Side...

...by having your title abstracted at regular intervals. All those familiar with titles know that title neglect is the landowner's worst enemy. Like keeping physically fit, or making regular visits to the dentist, the title, too, needs constant attention. By having the title regularly abstracted, the abstractor in most cases can build a strong and perfect chain. Don't wait until you are ready to sell or get a loan, but be on the safe side—have your title abstracted somewhat in advance of an anticipated need.

Old-Time Boxer Scorns Busses

WILDWOOD, N.J. (UP)—Seventy-two-year-old Max Bittorf, of Philadelphia, pumped his fourth annual bicycle trip from Philadelphia to Wildwood to show the other boys of the Veteran Boxers Association that age has nothing to do with a boxer keeping in the pink.

The other 80 members came to the annual get-together by special bus.
Bittorf made the 90-odd mile trip to Wildwood in nine hours. He said it took him that long because he was fighting strong head winds and slippery roads all the way.
Bittorf is father of nine children, and boasts three sets of twins. He was one of Philadelphia's outstanding boxers in the 1890's. He is at present a bookbinder in the Free Library of Philadelphia.

MATERIAL SHORTAGES ARE SLOWING US DOWN

Delays in production throughout the nation have caused a critical shortage of pole hardware, transformers, wire, insulators and all the other items essential to electric service. Some are harder to get than ever before. Yet, demands for electric service are rapidly increasing.

If you are planning on building a home, business house, or expect to need new electric service or any change in your present service, we urge you to let us know as far in advance as possible.

If you are waiting for electric service, you can rest assured that we are doing the very best we can with what we have to get electricity to you.

We are engineering, improvising and conserving to stretch our materials as far as they will go. We'll bring you electric service just as fast as conditions permit. Your understanding and co-operation are appreciated.

Decentralized Purchasing For Ford Planned

DEARBORN, Mich. —A program to decentralize a part of the 600 million dollar purchasing operations of the Ford Motor Company, making possible a 10 million dollar annual increase in "at home" buying in branch assembly plants, was announced today by Albert J. Browning, vice-president in charge of purchases.

Under the new program, purchasing agents in 13 Ford assembly plants throughout the nation will be authorized to buy direct in their local communities to fill their respective needs for maintenance, repairs and general stores items.

Most of these purchases have been made by the home office in Dearborn, Michigan, in the past, and though vendors throughout the nation were used as sources, the "centralized buying" necessarily made it difficult for some firms, especially wholesalers, in some areas to secure Ford business, Mr. Browning explained.

The decentralized buying will afford closer contact with sup-

Deaf Mute's Tribute Set Up Chautauqua Custom

JAMESTOWN, N. Y. (UP)—The highest tribute a speaker at the annual Chautauqua Institute near here can receive is a silent one—the fluttering of thousands of white handkerchiefs.

One old-timer remembers how the custom originated: Frank Chapin Bray, historian, tells of the institute's first assembly in 1874 when a deaf mute was called on to give the Lord's Prayer and the 23rd Psalm in sign language. At the conclusion, the audience offerred loud applause, which went unheard by the man on the platform.

Dr. John Vincent, one of the founders, came to the rescue by asking the audience to wave handkerchiefs. The custom has lasted 72 years.

Race Between MacDonalds Hit Some Funny Spots

AUSTIN, Tex. (UP)—The run-off primary race between the two MacDonalds for state agricultural commissioner produced many election tales—some of them probably figments of the imagination.

There is told "for true" however the story of an Austin woman who took what she thought was a fool-proof way of remembering which of the MacDonalds was J. E. and which R. E.

After balloting she told a friend of the present Agricultural Commissioner, J. E. McDonald:

"Oh, I know I voted for the right one. I voted for the one that lives right here in Travis County." Factually J. E. McDonald, while living in Austin for the dozen years he has been state agricultural commissioner, retains his legal residence in Ellis County where he farms. So his name was on the ballot as being from Ellis County.

R. E. McDonald, who was listed as being from Travis County, had retained his legal residence here, though he was absent for a long time in federal agricultural service.

Then there was the story of another Austin woman who voted against J. E. of Ellis County on the theory that Austin housing already was crowded and no new family should be brought here to live.

To cap off the stories of the Farmer Boys McDonald there's the one about the RIGHT McDonald as R. E. McDonald's friends referred to him in political ads.

"Looks like he was the LEFT!"
