Peace Conference Ends Commission Work

Well... I Dunno, But...

We just expect momentarily to hear of the kids of the nation going all out for organizing unions among the teachers of the country. They'll get the idea after reading of the teachers strike in Wilkes-Barre, Pa.

Just think of the fun those kids are having while the teachers stick to their guns for higher pay. But we're for the teachers. If ever there was an underpaid profession that of the school teacher is.

In July and August we sure heard a lot about how those teachers in Texas were going to get their pay raised. Funny thing we've heard nothing more about it since then. If there were more Republicans in Texas, we might get another dose of promises a long the last of this month and the first of November.

But those Democrats that are up for election in November, aren't about to start any argument with the Republicans. Seeing as how they are virtually elected in Texas when they win the second primary, they are willing to let the sleeping dog alone.

Our apologies to Admiral Hart. Twice now we've tried to get his prayer, printed correctly and twice we've failed. Once we had it printed to hang in our office and the printer got it wrong. Friday we tried it in this column and again it was wrong and didn't make sense.

It should have read, "Dear God, give us strength to accept with serenity," not sincerity as it came out in the paper.

Dorothy Thoms, the Times bookkeeper, had one of those lifetime thrills Saturday morning when her husband, First Lt. W. H. Thoms called her from Munich, Germany.

Lieutenant Thoms is in the regular Army and is serving with the forces of occupation. He served in France during the battle of Europe and was sent back to Europe about two months ago.

He told Dorothy that it was 6:30 P.M. and cold and dark there when he talked to her here at 10:25 A.M. CST.

As you will see by an article elsewhere in the Times today, arrangements have been made to secure the pecan trees and abelia plants for the county wide planting program to be on December 11.

This program is very important to Ranger and your participation is necessary to make it a success.

One of the comparisons that we always here made about Cico, Eastland and Ranger, is to the effect that both of the other towns have so many more trees and shrubs than has Ranger.

A concerted effort on the part of the people of Ranger can make it known for the tree and shrub lined highways and improved lawns, through cooperation in the proposed planting program.

Both plants selected are hardy in this section and are known for their beauty, and can be had for very little cost.

Let's get behind the program and see that Ranger does not lag behind others in the county.

Here's a newspaper story we heard the other day—and it's probably as true as any newspaper yarn: A home-coming veteran got a job as reporter on a Midwestern daily, "Be Brief," the city editor kept quizzing at him. "Always be Brief!"

The cub sat down and wrote: "James C. Gilligan looked up the shaft at the Union Hotel today to see if the elevator was coming down. It was. Age 33."

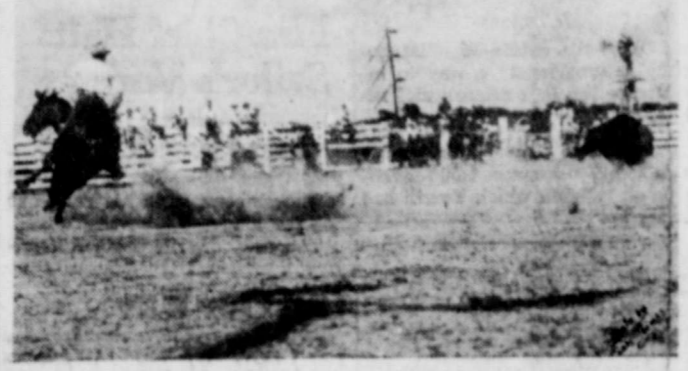

True enough: A wise man is easily recognized, not so much by the brilliant things he says as by the stupid things he does not say.

FOXY GRANDPA
STONEHAM, Mass. (UP)—Although he hasn't bagged a fox since he was 90 years old, Willard A. Swans announced on his 98th birthday that he planned to travel to Cape Cod in the fall with a group of cronies for their annual foxhunt.

Steers to be used in the contest are the property of James King and will be branded while down with his recorded brand.

WTCC TO BEGIN FIFTH ANNUAL REFERENDUM

This mid-month will usher in the 1946-fifth annual—referendum convention season for the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

On Tuesday, Oct. 15, WTCC will hold the first of eight district meetings, at Coleman, for directors and chamber of commerce delegations from the towns in its District 10. At this and following meetings affiliates throughout the West Texas territory will receive and debate the eight policy planks making up this year's referendum ballot. The other seven gatherings will be held at Sonora, Wednesday, Oct. 16, for Districts 8 and 9; Midland, on Thursday the 17th, for Districts 6 and 7; Anson on the 18th, for District 5, closing out the first week. Weatherford will host the second week's initial gathering, on Tuesday the 22nd, for District 4; then Vernon, on the 23rd for District 3; Pampa, on the 24th, for District 1; and Lubbock on Friday the 25th for District 2, closing out the series. The district directors will preside at the various meetings.

The regional chamber's executive board met at Colorado City, Sept. 27, on call of President H. Y. Overstreet of Farwell, for purpose of planning the referendum convention first to last. In addition to arranging for the district meetings the group set, Friday, Nov. 8, as the date for holding the Directors & Referendum Assembly, the clearance, wind-up gathering for taking final action on the referendum. Sub-committees were named to conduct that all-day business meeting, to be held as usual in the chamber's commodious headquarters building at Abilene. The board voted to turn the noon luncheon that day into a West Texas welcome to incoming state officials.

Referendum Planks
At the Colorado City conference the WTCC executive board voted to place eight policy planks in the referendum document. These will be submitted in ballot form with committee recommendations to affiliates for consideration at the district and local meetings, and will be passed on finally—yes or no—by the 175 local directors at the Nov. 8th assembly.

PLANS FOR OIL CONVENTION ARE COMPLETE

HOUSTON, Tex. Oct. 5.—Both the business and entertainment programs for the Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association's Victory meeting here October 17 and 18 were completed today by Houston oilmen in co-operation with Andrew M. Howsley, association counsel.

The presentation of bronze distinguished service awards to outstanding Texas operators and company representatives will be resumed, Mr. Howsley said. An operator will present the plaque to the company representative chosen by a ballot of oil leaders, and a company official to the operator selected. The recipients, customarily not announced until the presentation, will respond.

Reports will be made at the same session Thursday afternoon, October 17, by three committee chairmen: Paul W. Pitzer, Breckenridge, theft prevention; Curtis G. Gandra, Fort Worth, resolutions; and W. A. Moncrief, Fort Worth, nominating. The nominating committee will meet at luncheon that noon.

Also to be resumed is the association's golf tournament, with Frank S. Carothers, Houston, named chairman. Teams from Texas oil centers will compete Friday morning, October 18, at River Oaks Country Club for both teams and individual prizes.

Area golf captains to recruit teams for the tourney also were appointed, those asked to serve including Tom Graham, Corpus Christi; T. J. Ahern, Houston; Rodney DeLange, San Antonio; Waldo Wilson, Beaumont; E. L. Smith, Jr., Dallas; Charles P. McGaha, Wichita Falls; B. G. Byars, Tyler; M. T. Flanagan, Longview; H. R. Stroube, Corsicana; Luther Neal, Odessa, and Cecil O'Brien, Amarillo.

Prizes will be awarded at a reception and dinner Oct. 18 at the Rice Hotel, convention headquarters. The W. B. Hamilton Cup for low net will be presented by its donor of Wichita Falls, and special entertainment provided by a committee headed by George Sawtelle, Houston.

Two other dinners also were arranged, both October 17. One is for the press, with Cedric Foster, noted news analyst who will address the meeting that day, invited as honor guest, and the other for association directors.

The meeting, the association's first since 1945, has been scheduled on football fans can remain for the Rice Institute-Southern Methodist University game here Saturday, Oct. 19, Mr. Howsley said.

SOLUTION TO COAST STRIKES IS SUGGESTED

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Labor Department today laid before companies and unions a proposal for settlement of the crippling maritime strike on the east and gulf coasts. It asked them to answer this afternoon.

Edgar L. Warren, chief of the U. S. Conciliation Service told reporters "the conciliation service has indicated to all parties what it thinks is a basis for settlement on the east and gulf coasts."

The west coast strike was not mentioned. The ship owners there have been holding out more strongly against union security demands.

Warren indicated the labor department is banking heavily on reconversion director, John R. Steelman, to extend the proposed agreement to all government-owned ships—west as well as east and gulf.

"This was taken into consideration when the present basis for settlement was written," Warren said.

An added spark in glassware can be obtained if a few drops of ammonia and bluing are added to warm soapsuds.

RANGER LOSES TO COLEMAN FRIDAY NIGHT

In a game that started off with a fumble and which was marked by fumbles and blocked plays throughout, the Ranger Bulldogs took a trimming from the Coleman eleven at Coleman Friday night, the game ending with a score of 19 to 0.

Neither team scored in the first quarter with the ball going to first one team and then the other, mostly through fumbles. In the second quarter, Coleman blocked Arterburn's punt from the two yard line to make the first score of the game. Coleman made the extra point to put them in the lead 7 to 0.

In the second half, the Bulldogs held the Coleman team to a scoreless third quarter but in the fourth quarter they scored two more touchdowns without the extra point to end the game 19 to 0. The last two markers were scored on the passing attack.

In the third quarter, Ranger fumbled on the Coleman 29 yard line then Arterburn intercepted a Coleman pass on the 30 and returned it to the 20.

Ranger captains for the game were Bobbie Williams and Billy Griffin.

Starters for Ranger were: Elders, Arterburn, Williams, Martinez, Griffin, Hardy, Baileh, Deaton, MacDonald, Ford and Carlin.

U. S., GERMANS AGREE OVER FREED TRIO

BERLIN (UP)—The U. S. military government ended an 11-hour argument with German police today by releasing Hjalmar Schacht and Hans Fritzsche from American houses and promising them protection from re-arrest by German authorities.

Schacht and Fritzsche were told they were free to leave the separate Nuernberg apartments in which they had been barricaded since their secret departure from the Nuernberg prison last night. They cannot be arrested by any German authority "until further notice."

Telephoned orders from Brig. Gen. Walzer J. Mueller, American Military Governor of Bavaria, in early afternoon cancelled the American house arrest under which the two acquitted German leaders had been placed while military government authorities tested the right of German police to re-arrest them on de-Nazification warrants.

White House Denies Truman Kilgore Tradeout

WASHINGTON (UP)—The White House today denied a charge that a "deal" had been made between President Truman and Sen. Harley M. Kilgore, D., W. Va., to postpone further investigation of war contract activities of Rep. Andrew J. May, D., Ky., until after the elections.

DREAMBOAT MOVING

UNBRIDGE, Middlesex, Eng. (UP)—The Royal Air Force reported tonight that the Superfortress Pacusan Dreamboat was passing over Iceland at 5:15 p. m. GMT, 11:16 A. M. CST.

NEW YORK (UP)—The Army Super-Fortress, Pacusan Dreamboat passed the halfway mark in its epic flight over the top of the world today, and roared on toward Cairo, 10,500 miles from its starting point at Honolulu.

RODEO EVENTS TO PRESENT 2 HOUR SHOWS

At least two hours of entertainment is in store for the public two nights this week when the Jaycees stage their steer roping and branding contests in the Jaycee Rodeo and Round-Up Arena, October 11 and 12.

In addition to the big steer roping and branding contest featuring Jeff Good of Yese, New Mexico and Limy Thomas of Levelland and Buckeye, Arizona other features are planned.

There will be a jackpot roping contest that is open to the world and James King, chairman for arrangements, stated today that ropers from all over Texas and New Mexico are planning to enter the contest.

Another event planned is the matched calf roping contest that will be staged by Phelton Herrington of Ranger and Byrie Hinson of Breckenridge.

Both performances will be at night and the ticket box at the arena will be opened each night at 6:00 o'clock. Only general admission tickets will be sold and these will entitle holders to sit where they please. No reserved seats will be sold.

Requests for tickets are being called in from all over the state and New Mexico.

Admits Fight On Inflation Losing Ground

WASHINGTON (UP)—Price Administrator Paul Porter said today that "valuable ground has been lost" in the past three months in the fight against inflation. The danger of losing the battle has never been greater than now, he said.

He said, however, that he believes that price rises under the wage-price policy adopted last February have been virtually completed and that labor leaders "have learned that precipitous wages do not necessarily result in increased standards of living."

There are fewer suicides among Negroes than among white persons in the U. S., according to the Encyclopedia Britannica 1946 Book of the Year.

A 50-50 Chance

Happily awaiting the birth of her baby in a month, Mrs. Zoe Tucker Petterson, 32, of Joplin, Missouri, is praying that her baby will live. Mrs. Peterson has been bedfast for the past 12 years with arthritis, unable even to move her head. Doctors, who plan to deliver the baby by Caesarean operation in about a month, a month and half early, give mother and baby a 50-50 chance to survive. (NEA Telephoto).

NO AGREEMENT IN SIGHT ON WAGES, PRICES

WASHINGTON (UP)—The advisory board to reconversion director, John R. Steelman, has virtually abandoned hope of agreeing upon recommendations for a new wage and price stabilization program, it was learned today.

Steelman asked the board three weeks ago to study the matter and submit to him any recommendations it could agree upon. Board members who include representatives of industry, labor and the public, have reached no agreement yet, and it was said that no further meetings have been scheduled to discuss the matter.

However, the board meets every two weeks for a discussion of activities, and it is possible that if Steelman insists the board will give further consideration to a new price and wage policy.

PLANTS FOR PROGRAM TO BE AVAILABLE

Mrs. J. Floyd Killingsworth, Ranger chairman for the county wide planting program coming up on December 11, stated today that the Peterson Nursery will have a supply of pecan trees and abelia plants in plenty of time for the planting.

A number of people have made arrangements for the purchase of the trees and shrubs and it is urged that everyone get in their orders as soon as possible.

The planting program is state wide and the Eastland county committee members elected the pecan tree and abelia shrub as the plants to be used by this county. It is intended that each plant shall be a living memorial to World War II service men and the objective is a program of beautification of the state.

Business firms and homes on the highways, as well as in towns are asked to observe the planting date and be prepared to participate in the effort.

REPARATIONS DECISION FOR BULGARIA IS FINAL WORK

PARIS (UP)—The Peace Conference wound up its commission work today when the Balkan Economic Commission voted after a 28-hour session to fix Bulgarian reparations at $126,000,000 in a parliamentary victory for the Anglo-Americans who outlast the Eastern Bloc.

Racing against today's deadline for reporting to the full conference, the Balkan commission adjourned at 7:45 a. m. CST. It had been in session since yesterday morning, with only the briefest recesses.

The session of the commission, the last to finish its work, broke all recent records for such a body by sitting through a night and a day.

A Soviet filibuster against voting on specific figures for Bulgarian reparations finally broke down, and within an hour after that the commission completed its work.

PRESIDENT KEEPING EYE ON MEAT DEAL

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Truman is continuously canvassing the meat situation, White House Press Secretary Charles G. Ross said today.

"No angle is being overlooked," Ross said.

Mr. Truman's continuing interest in the meat shortage was disclosed as the Agriculture Department called upon farmers to produce 58,000,000 pigs next spring as insurance against another meat shortage next year.

The goal is approximately 13 per cent larger than last spring's actual production of 52,404,000 pigs. But the department emphasized that such a crop would not be reflected in larger pork and lard supplies before the last three months of 1947.

Ross told reporters that the meat shortage was discussed extensively at yesterday's cabinet meeting. He said he was not prepared to talk about the conclusions reached.

Ross confirmed that the president has received a telegram from New York's Mayor William O'Dwyer in which O'Dwyer asked for an FBI investigation of the meat industry. Ross said the telegram may be referred to the FBI.

Atlee Questions Truman Action

LONDON (UP)—Prime Minister Clement Atlee has sent a note to President Truman asking an explanation of his "precipitate action" in releasing the White House statement on Palestine before the British had a chance to study it, a foreign office spokesman said today.

The spokesman repeated the British position that the political aspects of the Palestine problem must be settled before an agreement on immigration can be reached.

WASHINGTON COLUMN

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, D. C.—(NEA)—"People don't go around stapping Joe Louis in the face," says Richard R. Deupree, chairman of the Army-Navy Munitions Board. "That's why a thorough industrial mobilization plan for the United States will make others hesitate to attack."

The United States had an M-Day plan back in 1939. As World War II came closer, President Roosevelt decided that other arrangements would be better, but gradually there was a return to organization closely resembling the M-Day plan of 1939.

If war should come tomorrow, the government would have to go back to the organization it had in effect a year ago. "The last war was an industrial war," says Mr. Deupree, "and the next war will be an industrial war."

It is an awfully complex problem that we are working on," Chairman Deupree explains. "It's so complicated that we know what has to be done."

The problem of stockpiling critical war materials has already been given to the Army-Navy Munitions Board by the last Congress. The whole stockpiling program is expected to cost about two billion dollars, over a five-year period.

The question of war plants is, on the surface, a little involved. Demobilization of war plants began the minute the shooting stopped. During the war the government had built some 1500 complete plants for munitions production, plus additions to some 1500 existing, privately-owned plants.

Of the government's wholly-owned munitions plants, all but about 400 have been released by the Army and Navy for disposal by the War Assets Administration. Within a month the Army-Navy Munitions Board hopes to have this number down to 25 or 30. It will recommend these be retained in stand-by condition.

COMMISSIONER BERTRAM DE BENNEVILLE BELL of the National Football League nearly fell off his chair when Ted Collins opened his knees at the New York Football Writers' Luncheon.

So did Commissioner James H. Daniel Topping of the All-America Conference, for that matter. Owner Collins of the Boston Yanks of the National spoke of the inequity of the professional football contract and "certain unfair practices" in both major circuits.

There was a capitalist speaking right out in public for the poor peons, when he should have said in bed.

What radio magnate Collins meant to do was like a slap at the unlimited squads taken to training camps by the eight clubs of the All-America.

"After a few weeks," said the debonair Collins, "those whom someone adjudges as not good enough are out, probably just before the opening game. Then the boy's professional career stops, because at that stage no one is doing any hiring."

PERHAPS hitting at the Angelo Bertelli case, Collins pointed out the very obvious fact that while a player is under contract to one club he could not seek employment with another.

"Both the All-America Conference and our league have got to stop some of these unfair practices," he asserted.

As is so frequently the case with reformers, Collins neglected to explain how he would hold the very structure of the business together if athletes under contract were permitted to shop for jobs elsewhere.

A Boston judge ruled Bertelli the property of the Los Angeles club of the All-America when the Springfield Slingshot jumped to VIENNA (UP)—America's fuss about nylon stockings has left Viennese womanhood nonplused. They shiver can't understand it. Young Viennese women, always restrained even in the post-loose days before the war, prefer bare legs in summer.

Viennese Girls Sneer At Nylons

"If we want war stockings, all, we must wear something better in appearance than those horrible, flesh-colored hose," one Viennese girl said. "Better no stockings at all than those vulgar spooring things that are supposed to be a stimulus to the masculine sex."

The girl was a good-looking brunette, and her opinion was typical of several questioned.

"My stockings, sun-tanned legs are better bait for any man than those dead stockings with no

DEVIL'S LAUGHTER

NOT many people came to express their sympathy to the Fitzgeralds there at Innisfail. Mrs. Fitzgerald had not paid any attention to these people in life, thus at her death, hardly knowing her, they hesitated to come to the house. But the church was crowded.

I knelt beside Cousin Ellen and hid my face in my hands during Mass. Innisfail would never be the same without its mistress. In her own brusque way she had been kind to me. She had not wanted me to work, because she had thought me too young. And she had wanted Ellen to give me the best to eat and have me get out in the sunshine every day.

THE Fitzgerald men mourned for their mother in their own characteristic fashion. Mark was quieter than before, and a trifle grayer, and the expression of his mouth became even more stern. He kept himself shut up in his study a large part of the time in the weeks immediately following her death, but he continued his work, still patiently trying to instill a little knowledge into the heads of the two hopelessly dull young athletes. And he still cared for his garden, though it was now a glorious mass of bloom, needing little care.

Colin wandered in and out restlessly and seemed not to know what to do with himself. You might come upon him in the library, where he was turning over leaves of books but never settling himself to read, or see him walking rapidly up and down the terrace, smoking one cigarette after another. And then suddenly he would get into his car and drive off, only to be back again almost at once to start pacing again. Sometimes he would stand staring down at the little river and his black eyes then had a bleak expression that I had never seen there before.

Dinners were ghastly. Miss Charlotte, keeping up much better than either Ellen or I had feared, tried her best to make conversation, but it was not much good. "If only they'd fight, ah, if only they'd fight," Ellen said to me one night after she had carried in the roast in the midst of a dead silence. And then she burst into tears.

For Colin and Mark were so heartbreakingly polite and considerate of one another. When one of them ventured a quiet opinion on something, the other listened respectfully and even appeared to agree. I had never thought I should live to see the day.

Father Gene came more often than he had before, and managed to inveigle Mark into playing chess finally, but, of course, there was no more music. The huge grand piano was closed, its voice hushed. Innisfail, house of Fitzgerald, was in mourning. Innisfail without its mistress, even though she had been helpless and bedridden for many weeks, was nothing but an echoing silent habitation. A haunting memory to the dynamic personality that once had ruled it.

AS Cousin Ellen had when the Fitzgeralds ceased to argue, so I was almost motionless and she gave me a little squeeze. "Ah, they're the strong-minded lads," she said, "those Fitzgeralds."

After that, the atmosphere was a little more normal. The first sharp edge of their grief had dulled slightly and though the spirit of Honora Fitzgerald still hovered about the house and she was still mourned, they were no longer so devastatingly polite to each other.

Beatrice Harrington, as was to be expected, was a great help to us during this sad time. She came often to Innisfail and each time she came she made us all thankful for her practical sympathy. We were brightening under her influence and the house was beginning to brighten, as well. How could we know that there was still a shadow of disaster hanging over Innisfail, a shadow that was to make the first one seem small, and that was to settle on it to stay, until the house itself was gone? (To Be Continued)

"Dacnocracy" University Planned

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UP)—A new university to be built inside a hollow mountain with pneumatic tubes to whisk students between classes is being planned here. The university is to be in near Henderson, circularly dropped from an airplane announced.

A. C. Terrill, former California Institute of Technology professor who is one of the founders of the project, said it would be located inside Black Mountain, after Terrill follows it out.

Within the mountain, he said, pneumatic tubes will be strategically located to transfer students via capsule car.

Atop the mountain a gadget will harness power from the elements and solve all Clark county's future utility worries, he claims. A "floor show" in the university's terrace, circular restaurant was to feature an atom-splitting device in action.

Terrill said Clark University was to be the cradle of "Dacnocracy International" a way to incorporate the best science and religion.

Prospective Dacnocrats must satisfactorily answer 1,000 questions on religion which Terrill has drawn up.

Fire Chief Halts Sailor's Voyage

CORPUS CHRISTI, (UP)—Fire Chief Jesse Lanier walked when someone stole his car—but not for long. The next day he spotted it going down the street, a sailor behind the wheel. Lanier asked for a ride. The sailor agreed.

Once in the seat, Lanier explained he owned the car. They drove to the police station, where the sailor remained to await the shore patrol.

Away back yonder in the seventh grade, I lived in Mississippi, famed for its political oratory, and heard some of the spellbinders of the era that produced Senators

James K. Vardaman and John Sharp Williams. Then, in high school days in Memphis, Tennessee, I heard William Jennings Bryan, Senator Bob LaFollette (the original) and former Governor Malcolm R. Patterson, the greatest political orator I've ever heard.

The subject of keenest interest to me in high school was debating. Our coach was a young, red-headed, dynamic teacher from Texas, James Leonard Highsaw, who used to live in Delta and Collin counties. I took every subject he taught—economics, government, history and sociology. Then after school three of his favorite "boys" would meet in his room and we would prepare for our next debate until it grew too dark to see.

We debated such subjects as the one-house legislature, initiative and recall, capital punishment, government ownership of utilities and the tariff.

We had two literary societies and debated within our society, also inter-society contests and with other high schools. My two colleagues on the high school team were orators. Sterling Tracy won the State high school oratorical championship and, in the University of Wisconsin, he won the oratorical championship of the "Big Ten". Clifford Davis is about to begin his fourth term in Congress.

Your columnist lacked the speaking ability of these two and so he tried to make up for this deficiency by studying extra hard on the subject. ## Service Groups Help Cheer Up Vets In Hospitals

Probably not a week will go by in the next 20 years but that some Eastland County veteran will check into a Veterans' Administration Hospital and, like Carl Christian, 829 Blackwell Rd., Ranger, will discover for himself that the war isn't over for a lot of men—and discover that treatment, care and recreational facilities are as tops as capable and conscientious men and women can make them.

At the Lishan Veterans' Hospital near Dallas, where Christian is a patient, it is a little like being back in the service in a good outfit. Every patient has the common bond of service—veterans of World Wars I and II and in the great majority although there are a few veterans of the Spanish-American War and an occasional patient who helped fight the Indians in the last days of the Southwestern Indian raids.

Planned recreation is a big part of the treatment now—a very different thing, veterans of the other wars will tell you, from the deadly hospital monotony of some Veterans' Hospitals before World War II. The Special Service Office, the Red Cross, and the USO shows are all part of the program to keep men active, interested and entertained.

The Special Service office heads an organization including a library of several thousand books, a recreation hall with continuous movies, music and games and outdoor recreation ranging from baseball to archery and from fishing trips to horseback riding.

The USO Shows come twice a month, playing ward shows for bed-ridden patients and a general show for all the patients able to get around. The USO has been asked to continue its show through 1947 until permanent arrangements for "live talent" shows can be made. "Good deal" is the usual comment by patients when they learn USO Shows will continue to tour the military and Veterans' Administration hospitals during 1947.

For the bed-ridden patients there are new gadgets to keep their minds occupied and to prevent "the hospital blues." Portable 16 mm. movie projectors weighing 22 pounds, using the ceiling for a screen can play to a lot of bed-ridden men at once and, besides the couple of hours of entertainment they afford, furnish conversational material for many more hours.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICES

"Unreality" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, October 6. The Golden Text is: "All that is in the world, the lust of the flesh, and the lust of the eyes, and the pride of life, is not of the Father, but is of the world" (1 John 2:16).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "And thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind, and with all thy strength: this is the first commandment" (Mark 12:30).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Divine Science deals its chief blow at the supposed material foundations of life and intelligence. It dooms idolatry" (page 353).

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Paul's Background and Early Life

Scripture: Acts 21:39; 22:3, 27-28; 26:4-5; Philippians 3:5-6

BY WILLIAM E. GILROY, D.D.

THE life of the apostle Paul is a notable case history of the power and effect of early training. It is true that Paul's outlook and convictions in the mature years following his conversion were very different from those of his youth—so much so that he was persecuted for his supposed heresy by the same people whom he had formerly joined in persecuting the Christians. But Paul answered his persecutors by insisting that he worshipped the God of his fathers. The one thing that characterized his life both before and after his conversion, was a good conscience. In his persecuting days he thought he was doing God service, just as he did in the days of his enlightenment, when service had become inspired with love and devotion to Christ.

PAUL evidently owed a great heritage to the parents whose God he worshipped. And he owed a great deal to Gamaliel, the teacher at whose feet he sat in Jerusalem, for Gamaliel appears in Scripture as a tolerant and justice-loving Jewish leader. How much Paul owed to his boyhood life in Tarsus we can only surmise. It was also a seaport town through which much trade and commerce passed, with a mixed population and the heterogeneous visitors that trade and commerce bring to a seaport. Paul's early contacts probably did much to prepare him for that cosmopolitan character he was to assume as a Christian citizen of the world, aspiring to preach the Gospel in every quarter of the then-known world.

HE had, too, the training of the Synagogue, with its school and its Sabbath services. He, like the boy Jesus, heard each Sabbath the impressive words: "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thine heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy might."

Paul was a Jew, and he was a Jew to the end. The foundation of what he was was laid in his early youth. Coming to know Christ enlarged his outlook. It brought into life and vigor every noble teaching of the Scriptures, and it saved him from the folly of putting his faith in the things that had made him a persecutor. He found in Christ the great Fulfiller, the Messiah and Savior, whom the prophets had foretold. And, finding that Christ, crucified and risen, he became imbued with the Christ-like spirit of love and sacrifice and with the courage of a great mission.

Second Baptist Group Entertained

Statistics In Breneman Film Are Amazing

Tom Breneman, who stars in Producer Bob Golden's "Breakfast in Hollywood," at the Tower Theater Sunday and Monday has compiled some amazing statistics since he has been broadcasting. He has:

- Tried on 4010 ladies hats, given away 5000 orchids, kissed 750 old ladies, given away 1250 wishing rings, given away 2500 beauty kits.
- The angle in the film is that he tries on the dizziest hat in the audience; gives an orchid to the oldest lady present—generally 75 to 100 years old—and then kisses them; draws numbers out of a hat for the wishing ring and the beauty kits. On his program he also sends orchids every day by air express to "good neighbors" throughout the United States for good deeds done in their communities.

The picture is built around the radio program idea and has Bonita Granville, Andy Russell, Hedda Hopper, Zasu Pitts, Billie Burke, Eddie Ryan, Beulah Bondi, Raymond Walburn, Spike Jones and His City Slickers, and the King Cole Trio in the cast.

Construction Machinery To Be Sold By WAA

FORT WORTH, (Sul.), Oct. 2.—A move of tremendous importance toward accelerating the veterans housing program in cities and towns of North and West Texas was made today when the Fort Worth regional office of War Assets Administration was given authority to release for immediate disposal a $200,000 inventory of vitally needed heavy construction machinery.

The equipment, much of which is located at Sheppard Field, Wichita Falls; Camp Berkeley, Alilene; Bochtel-McCone, Inc., of Borger; Camp Wolters, Mineral Wells; and Camp Bowie, Brownwood, has been "frozen" pending decision by the veterans housing office as to the most effective method of getting this critically short supply material into the hands of contractors engaged in erecting veterans housing.

Now available for immediate disposal to contractors and others engaged in construction of veterans housing are such essential items as cranes, tractors with bulldozers, portable air compressors, scrapers and rock crushers.

Contractors and others who can qualify, may obtain the necessary Housing Expediter's Certificate through the Dallas office or the sub-regional office in Fort Worth. Duncan D. Myers, chief of the WAA Public Interest Division, stated that all of the equipment much of it new, may be obtained in accordance with the Housing Expediter's Directive or on a Housing Expediter's Certificate and also in accordance with a special directive issued by CPA or on an urgency certificate issued by CPA.

for a state budget not exceeding that for this fiscal year. The board is urging that all Texans, as individuals and through their organizations, adopt the taxpayer's code as a united voice for public economy.

Other Planks
The policy planks if adopted will be the nucleus of WTCC's program of work in 1947. As submitted by the commissions and passed on to the full board of 175 directors for final decision, the others are:

1. On liberalizing the coverage in old age insurance to make more West Texans eligible and, in old age assistance by the state, making need the sole basis for eligibility in the program.
2. On recommending change in the motor vehicle law to provide that the state gasoline tax refund, now 4 cents per gallon, shall be refunded one-fourth to the rural school aid fund, one-fourth to counties for farm-to-market roads, and one-half to counties to be earmarked as a oil conservation fund solely.
3. On abolishing the state ad valorem tax permanently for general revenue purposes.
4. On helping promote a self-liquidating all-Texas and state financed program of national industrial advertising.
5. On supporting a state program of chemurgic research into agricultural products and all other raw materials for industrial and marketing purposes.
6. On urging that in allocation of farm-to-market roads, a county's rural population, area, miles of rural and star routes and ton miles traveled in delivering farm and ranch product, in ratio to the state's, shall be the formula followed; also that these roads be built under joint supervision of commissioners courts and the state highway department; and that no new taxes be voted in the lateral road building program.
7. On supporting a constitutional amendment for dividing revenues from the University of Texas land fund, to give 40 per cent to the University and Texas A&M

College, and 60 per cent to all the other state supported colleges. This plank recommends opposing the use of any part of the 7-cent Confederate tax for the colleges' building needs, because it is an ad valorem tax, and—says the committee argument—will be removed anyway when Texas' last Confederate widow has died. One other, a non-policy plank, provides the method for nominating local directors from the 155 affiliated towns. The nominations are to be wired or mailed to headquarters prior to the Nov. 8 assembly.
