Well... I Dunno, But...

Whew! We're just practically exhausted from playing over the football game with Mineral Wells. Though we didn't see the game we know just how it was played and how many times the officials didn't see Mineral Wells clipping and how many times they cruelly and unfairly penalized Ranger.

At least that's the story we got. And we can imagine just how let-down everyone was when Ranger finally had to take the little end of the score after holding Mineral Wells scoreless for three quarters.

But they tell us that Ranger had more fans out than Mineral Wells and that's fine. Too, we hear that Mary Ann Metcalf's band really strutted its stuff, with Mary Ann all macked out in a new band leader's uniform for the occasion. Sarah Elizabeth Johnson, mascot, was all decked out in new uniform, also.

Old Man Winter, sort of got his seasons mixed up Saturday morning when he turned loose a typical spring thunderstorm accompanied by a big downpour. A total of 1.24 inches of rain fell in the 24 hours ending at 8:00 o'clock this morning.

Only .59 of an inch of rain fell in October as compared with 1.79 during the month of September. So in one 24 hour period almost as much has fallen in November, a little less than two days old, than fell in September.

Highest maximum temperature for the month of October was 89 and lowest temperature was 34. Prevailing winds were mostly south, southwest and south east.

Thanks to Mrs. T. L. Parks, we've learned how to spell Byrd Hittson's name. After reading of our distress over the situation, she called to give us the correct spelling. Hittson is her brother-in-law.

Kittie, pet Scottie of Mrs. P. M. Kuykendall, and her veritable shadow, speaks his own language and makes himself understood. Thursday when left outside when Mrs. Kuykendall went into the Chamber of Commerce to attend a meeting, he wasn't to be outdone and up his paw on the door and barks. Of course, he got in. And when the same procedure happened again he repeated the performance.

Kittie is quite a town character. Many times we've seen cars slow to a stop as Kittie ambled slowly and unconcerned across the street.

Mrs. Aaron Bell of Bell's Gift Shop is having the time of her life with her little toy department which has a very complete line of all things for the little fellows.

They really start at the cradle stage and range up through five and six years. And she claims that her prices can't be bested anywhere.

In a poll recently taken of a group of Ranger women about what civic improvement they would like to see made in Ranger, the vote was almost unanimously for a public library.

That is in line with other comment that we hear and just this morning we were asked by one new in Ranger, why Ranger had never had a library.

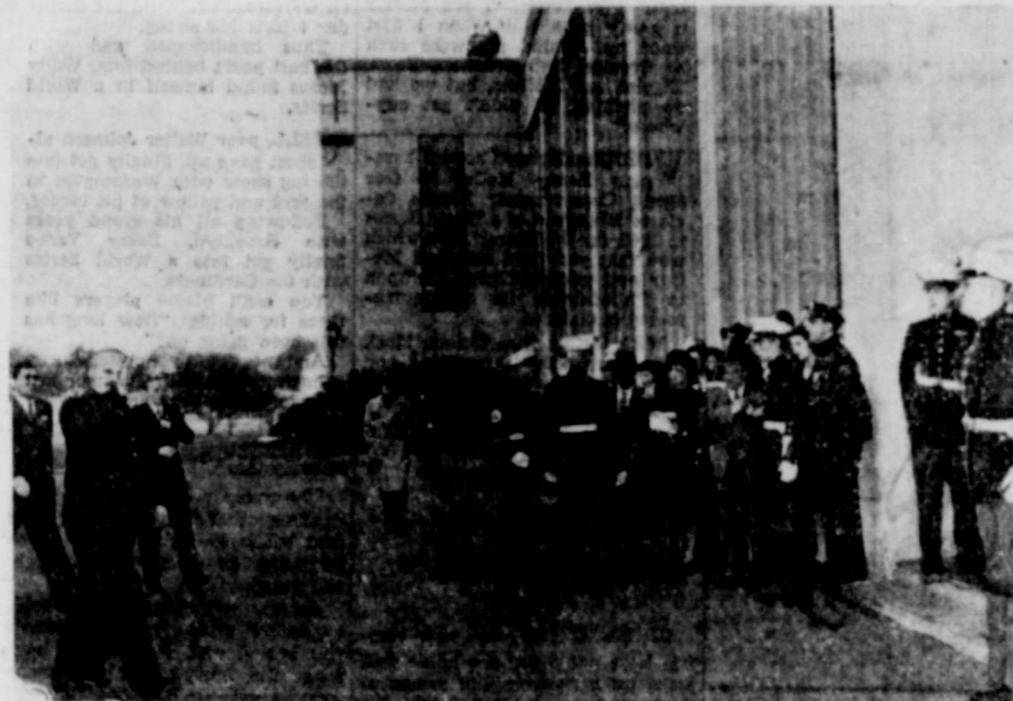

Ranger did have one once upon a time which was sponsored by the 1920 Club and for which the late Mrs. J. F. Dreinhof served as librarian. Through some trend of events, the library was discontinued. If we recall correctly, the books were given to the school library.

At press time today an additional .22 of an inch of rain had fallen.

At the close of the meeting of the Central Texas Conference of the Methodist church in Fort Worth it was announced that Rev. Claude P. Jones had been returned to the First Methodist Church in Ranger.

Four Slightly Hurt In Auto Accident Friday

Mr. and Mrs. Bobbie Powell, Miss Rita Mooney and Bob Earnest were slightly injured Friday night when in an auto accident this side of Palo Pinto.

The four were returning from the Mineral Wells-Ranger football game when a blow-out of one of the tires caused the car to leave the road and run-off into a ditch. Cuts and bruises were the extent of the injuries. Earnest who was taken back to a Mineral Wells hospital was released from the hospital Saturday afternoon.

Austin College Football Squad Lunches Here

The thirty players were headed by head coach, E. G. Steen and assistant coach, J. O. Stephens and two managers.

PRE-ELECTION FLURRY MADE FOR CONTROL

By United Press
Time was running out on the 1946 campaign today as Democrats put on a final flurry of speech making in their drive to retain control of Congress.

With next Tuesday's vital elections only three days away, the Republicans were silent, their campaign about over.

Democratic leaders of both the House and Senate took speakers stand, House Speaker Sam Rayburn at a Democratic rally, and Senate Majority leader Alben W. Barkley in a radio speech over the mutual network.

Rayburn, speaking at President Truman's home town, Independence, Mo., said the election of a Republican Congress would "divide" the government, hampering the United States in all fields.

Barkley rang in the foreign policy issue, heretofore virtually untouched by either party. He said the Republican party is "shot through with the old isolationist virus" and the present bi-partisan foreign policy would not survive under a GOP congress.

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt will speak in behalf of Democratic candidate tomorrow in a radio speech, ABS. She is being sponsored by the Democratic National Committee.

Call Meeting Of Ministerial Alliance Mon.

Cross Plains Has Heavy Wind Storm Saturday

Reports reaching Ranger Saturday afternoon were to the effect that Cross Plains had had a severe storm this morning.

Though all communication with the town was out, through information received from Cisco it was learned that the storm was not so bad as first reported.

A West Texas Produce Company truck driver of Cisco, returned during the morning from Cross Plains and stated that there had been a storm with very high winds but that the wind was not cyclonic. There were no deaths reported and very little property damage.

All telephone connections with Dublin, Cross Plains and Rising Star was broken by the storm. There was no estimate yet of the damage to utilities lines.

EASTLAND PAPER BEGINS 61ST YEAR

With the publication of the Friday edition of the Eastland Chronicle, that paper began its 61st year of service to the people of Eastland and the county.

Frank Jones, editor of the paper, gives the following account of the life of the paper:

Established November 1, 1887, by Capt. June Kimble, a native of Tennessee, Confederate war veteran and a former County clerk of Eastland county, the Chronicle has served faithfully the citizens of its trade territory. So far as can be ascertained from the files and records in the office, it has not missed an issue in the 60 years of its life.

For more than 30 years of its life the writer, as editor and business manager — and for many years, owner — has been at its helm; for the past 25 years it has been under the present ownership. It has served through three wars. It enjoys perhaps the largest list of readers of any weekly newspaper published in the County, many of which readers it has served for a half century and some for the entire time since its establishment. It has followed a conservative policy of "Service Without Fear or Favor to All the People." In politics it has been an Independently Democratic.

During the 60 years of its life the Chronicle has absorbed, by purchase or agreed suspension of publication, a number of other Eastland newspapers including the Tribune, Oilfield News, Eastland County Index and the Eastland Daily Telegram. (The Daily Telegram was suspended for the duration of the late war).

The Chronicle has always enjoyed a liberal patronage from the business interests of its town and trade territory, which fact, with in its self, is evidence that it must have served well.

Unlike people, the older a newspaper becomes, the better it is qualified to serve its clientele, so with 60 years of experience behind it, the Chronicle confidently looks forward to serving its readers and advertisers, both in the local and national fields, for many more happy, prosperous years.

With the best of wishes for all, we conclude this item and turn to the task of preparing the next issue of the Chronicle which will, we hope, reach each and everyone of those it serves, in due time.

Captain Denies Ship Fired On

TRIESTE (UP) — Captain R. J. O. Otway-Ruthven, commander of the British cruiser Leander, today corrected a report by fellow officers that the warship was damaged by fire from Albanian shore batteries. He said they had "let their imaginations run away with them."

"No shots of any sort were directed at the ship," Otway-Ruthven said in a statement.

Other officers told the United Press last night that Albanian shore batteries had hit and damaged the superstructure of the Leander.

Doils made in ancient Japan were dressed, fed and generally treated as though alive. They were given to mothers to keep evil from befalling their children.

MINERAL W. RALLIES TO WIN 20 TO 9

In a heart breaking last quarter the Mineral Wells Mountaineers took the lead from Ranger at the game at Mineral Wells Friday night to win by a score of 20 to 9.

The Bulldogs kicked off to Mineral Wells and recovered a fumble on the Mineral Wells 26 yard line. Mahan intercepted a Ranger pass on the Mountaineers' 15 yard line. MacDonald blocked a punt and Ranger recovered the Ranger 47 yard line. The first quarter ended scoreless.

In the second quarter, Ranger recovered another fumble on Mineral Wells 25 yard line and in ground play set up for the first touchdown of the game on Williams for the touchdown on 51. Frazier kicked the extra point. The half ended 7 to 0.

In the third quarter Ranger fought to the Mineral Wells two yard line and lost on a fourth down. Mineral Wells kicked and Don Ford blocked the kick and the ball went into the end zone for a safety and an additional two points. The ball was brought out to the 20 yard line and Mineral Wells kicked to Ranger. On the same play Ranger drew a penalty for 15 yards placing the ball on the four yard line. Ranger, trying to kick, got a blocked punt and Mineral Wells recovered. On the next play the Mountaineers bucked the line for a touchdown. A pass was completed for the extra point.

At the beginning of the fourth quarter Ranger kicked off and Ranger intercepted a pass on their own 45 yard line. Ranger was held for 4 downs and was forced to kick. McWharther took the ball and ran 65 yards for the second touchdown. Conversion was good, making the score 14 to 9.

The last score of the game was made on end run from the 20 yard line by Grissett. The extra point failed and the score ended 20 to 9.

Nebraska Enlists Movies To Spur School Studies

LINCOLN, Neb. (UP) — Nebraska educators expect the eyes of the teaching world to be focused on the state this fall when an experiment to develop higher educational standards through the use of motion pictures in school classrooms begins.

The Motion Picture Association of America has provided films valued at $10,000 for the experiment and a $15,000 grant was received from the Carnegie Corporation of New York.

Nebraska, like a good many other states, has a system of small, secondary schools in which an enrollment of 100 pupils and a faculty of three to six teachers is common. As a result, the standard curriculum is narrow.

Motion pictures will be introduced into the classrooms to stimulate student interest in such new subjects as aviation, the United Nations, and the principles of atomic energy. Other films will be integrated with class work to dramatize history, science, mathematics and other regular studies.

The experiment is being developed by the University of Nebraska in association with the University of Omaha, four state teacher colleges—Chadron, Peru, Kearney and Wayne—and 24 high schools.

A master circulating film library is being established at the state university, and smaller libraries will be set up at the five other centers.

TRUMAN IS HANDS OFF IN ELECTION

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (UP) — President Truman went for a fast walk shortly before noon today, waving at passing motorists and pointing out familiar scenes of his boyhood to reporters panting along behind him.

He was keeping his hands strictly off of politics but friends here were declaring that a vote against the Democratic Party would be an insult to a home town boy. Last night Mr. Truman spurned a fiery, tub-thumping Democratic rally less than two blocks from his home.

The chief executive was much later today in making his first appearance than he usually is. It was shortly before 11 a. m. when he stepped out to meet the assembled press. He wore no topcoat in the cloudy fall weather and merely grinned when a reporter asked if he thought he could walk fast enough to keep from catching cold.

When the reporters panted in to the finish line 30 minutes later, they agreed he certainly could.

After the walk a reporter asked him if he had talked with Jim Pendergas, long-time friend and Kansas City political boss. The President replied with an emphatic "no" and said there was no reason for such conversation.

Mr. Truman said he had no plans for the rest of the day, other than to attend the annual reunion of his old World War I Battery D, of the 129th Field Artillery, tonight. He said he might visit his brother Vivian's farm Monday.

Contribution To USO Erroneously Reported Friday

A slight error was made in the report of contributions to the USO funds appearing in Friday's edition of the Times.

A contribution of $40 was made by employees of the Lone Star Producing Company with John Bates, superintendent, adding $5.00 and the $25 reported to have been given by the Bone Star Gas company was actually contributed by the Lone Star Producing and Lone Star Gas Companies.

An additional $9.00 was given by Premier Oil Refining Company employees to the fund on Friday. Those contributing that amount were W. R. Loving, Guy Thomason, C. L. Gartzitz, G. C. McGowan, H. E. Angus, R. B. Pettigohn, and W. W. Mitchell.

This last contribution makes a total of $711.25 contributed by Ranger. The quota was $620.

C. of C. Directors To Meet Monday

All directors are urged to make their plans to attend the meeting Monday night.

AFGHANISTAN ICELAND AND SWEDEN ARE SUBMITTED

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y. (UP) — The powerful political and security committee recommended to the UN General Assembly today that Iceland, Sweden and Afghanistan be admitted to membership in the United Nations.

The mere formality of a vote by the General Assembly, virtually a certainty, remained for the formal admission of the three countries, whose membership previously had been recommended by the Security Council.

Australia launched a fight in the political committee to curb the Security Council's power to admit or reject applicants for membership, but a resolution submitted by Australian delegate Paul Hasluck was tabled for future action.

The Australian resolution called for the General Assembly to assume "primary and final responsibility" on the admission of members, and that the Security Council should be limited to deciding whether the applicant nation could discharge its obligations under the section of the UN charter which are the main responsibility of the Council.

Hector David Castro of El Salvador also advocated a liberalization of the procedure for admitting new members.

The drive to make the United Nations a less exclusive organization arose out of the action of the Security Council last spring in rejecting five applicants in what appeared to most observers to be a battle between the Western and Eastern Blocs. Soviet Russia blackballed Ireland, Trans-Jordan and Portugal, while the Western Powers turned down Albania and Mongolia, both of whose applications were favored by Russia.

Oil Company To Pay Bonus To Meet High Costs

CHICAGO (UP) — The Standard Oil Company, Indiana, announced today it would pay its employees a cost-of-living bonus as a temporary measure to compensate for high living costs.

A. W. Peake, president of the company, said, "We recognize that in recent weeks there has been an increase in the cost of living for all employees."

The bonus, he said, was a temporary measure to carry employees over the present "inflationary period" until it can be more definitely established what the level of the cost of living index will be and what the general wage pattern in industry is to be.

NATIONAL EDUCATION WEEK

November 10 to 16

G. C. Boswell, Superintendent

National Education Week is sponsored by American Association of Education, American Legion, and the Parent Teachers Association.

This year these organizations are trying to get the schools before the people for a very careful study. These people are lending their influence by giving some vital figures about the schools, from money, teacher shortage, and the curriculum.

Equalization of education for all the school children is an important matter. In some instances in America schools spend as much as $6000 per unit for teaching aids while in others the small sum of $100 is spent. There are many schools which provide good educational advantages but if America is to go forward in all phases there must be a better uniformity in education.

There are 2,000,000 between the ages of six and sixteen who are not enrolled in any school. There are 10,000,000 adults who are unlearned. There are 3,000,000 adults who have never been in any school. The penalty for all of this will be paid later.

In China, with a large population, there are about 100,000 teachers. In Texas there are more than 16,000 teachers. Take an inventory of these conditions. In America one teacher out of seven is a sub-standard teacher. Now, many of these teachers are doing a fine job teaching. They are filling in, and if it were not for these persons who are eager to help there would be many more schools without teachers. Before Pearl Harbor one teacher in every 200 was teaching on sub-standard qualifications.

In teacher training schools one person out of six is preparing to teach. This indicates that something must be done for the schools to keep up standards and to fill the gap for those who will retire from the profession due to age and other causes.

Youth must be educated for the essentials of America. It must be educated for society, for politics, for institutions, and for spiritual and moral development. Therefore, education is an investment. Too many times ignorant people are easily satisfied.

We are happy to report that the churches, the service and study clubs in Ranger, are having special programs during this week bringing to the attention of the people the needs for the schools.

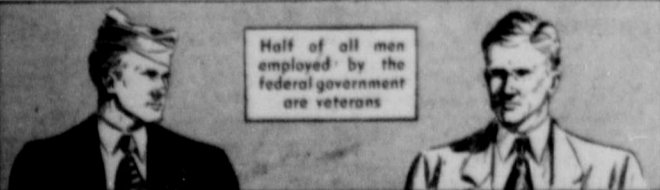

We boast of the number of units of credit that our local high school has, the work of the elementary schools and to have a junior college in our midst fully accredited. These are educational objectives that all the citizens are proud that Ranger has. Men, who have labored in years for the good of the community, for, by their labors they have shown that they were in sympathy with the development of youth. The challenge is up to us, who are now on the scene to carry on. To give more in order that all may have the advantage of the best in the field of education.

Visit your schools during this week. Take time out to get and have a frank talk with the teachers who are teaching your children. These children are the greatest investment that you have. You will find each teacher extending you a wholesome welcome. Will you visit the schools during this week?

Federal Service Gets Many Veterans

More than a third—37%—of men and women in federal jobs are veterans. 66% of the veterans in federal civil service are veterans of World War II.

Half of all men employed by the federal government are veterans.

The number of veterans employed in the federal service has more than doubled in the past two years. 250,000 returned veterans have been placed back in their jobs in the federal government.

WASHINGTON COLUMN

BY PETER EDSON

NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, D. C.—(NEA)—Now is the time when only the low-grade, run-of-the-mine newspapermen are left in Washington.

All the experts and hot-shots are out touring the country. They're feeling the public pulse, holding both ears to the ground at the same time to hear the heartbeats of democracy, sticking moistened fingers into the political winds to see which way they blow, strapping lie-detectors to the hairy chests of taxi drivers and the billowing bosoms of taxi dancers to learn how that mythical American—the average citizen—will vote in November.

It could be, however, that the outcome of the election was decided right here in Washington while the political journalists were away from home on the road. For if Uncle Harry and the Democratic administration bosses thought they were taking meat out of the congressional campaign by decontrolling it, they're learning better now.

Lifting meat controls won't produce enough more meat before election day. Saving that other decontrol will be speeded up is easier said than done, and can hardly be done before election day.

But the pressure to get controls off is tremendous, and the Republicans are making the most of it. They aren't going to let the decontrol issue die.

The bull over the meat situation has caused Republican bosses in Washington to raise their sights and aim at targets they never hoped to reach a month ago.

Now Republican National Committee Chairman Carroll Reece is marking at least 10—possibly 13—states for GOP senatorial victories. Massachusetts, New York, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Ohio, Missouri, Washington, Idaho, Montana, and Wyoming are his sure bets. Rhode Island, Nevada, and West Virginia he considers less sure, but hopeful. The GOP needs only nine more seats to win control of the Senate.

Reece is now saying that the Republicans will pick up close to 50 seats in the House, to win a good, safe working majority control there.

If the Republicans do come through winners in this election, it will be largely because the Democrats have done everything they possibly could to defeat themselves. Their combination of errors since the campaign got hot has been utterly fantastic.

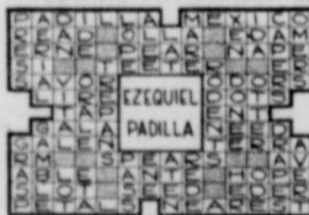

As for a constructive Republican platform, it simply doesn't exist. Maybe the strongest asset the Republicans have is that they have no program. Harding and Coolidge, McKinley and Taft before them, rode to power and saw the country through periods of boom or complete lack of program. The country may be in for another cycle of that.

Take off all the control. Let Nature, with her own mysterious mutations of inflation and deflation, take her own sweet course. How would you like a load of that for a while?

SPORTS

BY HARRY GRAYSON

STARTING his first World Series game in right field for the Red Sox easily was Wally Moses' biggest baseball thrill. Moses perhaps more deeply appreciates being in the fall show than any other player.

He tells you how much more fun it is to play with a winner. Performance picks up when an athlete is on the winning side. Remember how quickly ordinary players stepped up their games when Joe McCarthy put a Yankee uniform on them?

Purchased from Galveston and joining the Athletics in 1935, Moses spent six of his first seven years in the American League in the basement.

"That convinced me that Connie Mack is correct when he says pitching is 90 per cent of baseball," says Moses. "I led off for a pretty good club when I first came up. Behind me were such as Cramer, Bob Johnson, Fox, Higgins and McNair, but we had no pitching, so didn't get anywhere."

When he declared second baseman Benny McCoy a free agent, Commissioner Landis declared Moses out of a World Series in 1940, for the Detroit club which won that year had swapped McCoy and pitcher Slicker Coffman to Philadelphia for the quick-footed outfielder.

With McCoy free, Connie Mack paid him $45,000 for signing and gave him a two-year contract at $10,000 and kept Moses.

Electric Pump Heats Homes From Ground

CHICAGO (UP)—A new electric heat pump for the home that picks up heat from the comparatively warmer ground below the frost level will be on the market early this winter.

The pump utilizes a coil buried in the ground about three or four feet below the frost level. A refrigerant is circulated through the pump.

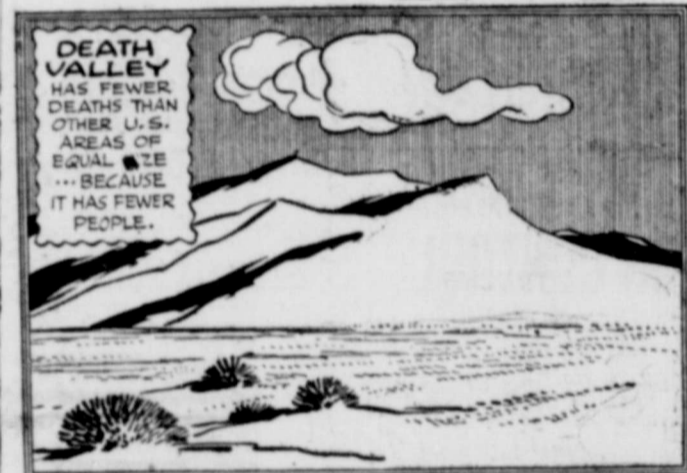

As the refrigerant, in a cold, expanded state, passes through the buried coil, it picks up heat from the comparatively warmer ground surrounding the coil and is vaporized. This vapor then enters a compressor where it is heated to a higher pressure and temperature.

The pump resembles a large refrigerator and will sell for less than $1,000. No chimney is needed, since the electric pump does away with both flame and smoke.

Surgeon Foresees Way To Stop Human Heart And Operate

By Milton B. Dplinger
United Press Staff Correspondent
CLEVELAND (UP) — The day when surgeons will be able to stop the heart from beating and operate on it for any disorder while keeping the brain and body alive with oxygenated blood is not far off, according to one of the nation's outstanding heart specialists, Dr. Claude S. Beck.

Dr. Beck is associate surgeon at University Hospital, Cleveland, and professor of Neurosurgery at Western Reserve University. He made the prediction at a meeting of the 14th Annual Institute of the Ohio State Nurses Association here.

Nature made a bad anatomical arrangement when she gave man a heart with only two coronary arteries and separated them, Dr. Beck said. He added that nature had done much better by the turtle in giving it more coronary arteries to nourish and supply oxygen to its heart.

"Who ever heard of a turtle fall dead?" asked Dr. Beck.

The doctor foresaw an instrument with a light and a series of lenses so arranged it could be put down the jugular vein and pushed into the ventricle to enable surgeons to peer inside blood vessels. Through such direct approach, he said, operations could be performed that it would revolutionize treatment of cardiovascular diseases.

"Cardiovascular work of the future will require vivid surgical imagination and hard work through research," Dr. Beck said. "It will not be the medicine of the past. The medical man now can study your heart only by indirect methods—the stethoscope, fluoroscope, cardiogram."

Dr. Beck pointed out surgeons today are separated from the heart "by the blanket of the chest wall." "I believe we are at the point where we can use the direct approach and look inside the heart and blood vessels," he said.

The doctor himself has performed about 5,000 experimental operations on animals to learn how to supply the heart with more blood and prevent its failure.

Earlier experiments showed he could tie off four branches of blood vessels in a given muscular area of the vital organ, but that tying a fifth twig set off a trigger mechanism which destroyed the rhythm of the heart and killed the animal.

Dr. Beck concluded that just a tiny blood vessel then meant the difference between life and death.

Dr. Beck also expressed himself as hopeful that surgeons soon would be able to put as much blood as needed into the human heart and in that way be able to do something for coronary disease sufferers.

In other experiments of the heart, Dr. Beck found ways to increase the organ's blood supply by using powdered asbestos as an abrasive on its surface. This caused the formation of a new network of blood vessels and made the normally discrete branches of the two coronary arteries interlock.

He also achieved better circulation by tissue grafts, so that blood conduits grew across from the chest wall or other organs and increased the heart's blood supply.

Shower Whimsies Puzzle Salt Lake Residents

SALT LAKE CITY (UP)—It's pretty confusing, sometimes, in Salt Lake City.

For instance, you no longer remark: "It rained in Salt Lake today." Instead, the conversation may go something like this: "It rained in my block this afternoon, how about yours?"

It's been known to rain in one block, and not in another, and even to rain in the front yard of a home and not in the back yard.

"We have a scientific explanation," the weatherman said. "It is caused by a peculiar formation of mountains in the southwest part of Salt Lake Valley."

There are 3,400 steel balls of various sizes in the bearings of a heavy bomber.

Lack Of Meat Stymies College Study Course

COLUMBUS, O. (UP)—A course in meat selection and identification has been dropped at Ohio State University because there has been no meat.

Listed as animal husbandry, the course was set up originally to instruct restaurant owners, meat market and packing house employes on proper selection of meats. The animal husbandry department, however, gave up the entire idea for lack of something with which to work.

Thanks to rotation and other good agricultural practices, Po Valley peasants in Italy regularly harvest 60 bushels of wheat to the acre, although their soil has been tilled without let up for 4,000 years.

The cotton crop in New Mexico was estimated at 116,000 bales this year, an increase of nearly 10 per cent above last year and 4 per cent larger than the 10-year average.

Ten thousand-ton Great Lakes ore carrier can be loaded in only 90 minutes. It takes four hours to unload the ships.

The public domain in Arizona and New Mexico—that is, lands still owned by the government—covers 20,000,000 acres.

Roisterous Ad Gets Results

TRENTON, N.J. (UP)—A former air corps captain, Mervyn Platt, tried for months to find an apartment in Trenton. No luck.

Finally, "just for the fun of it," he inserted this ad in a Trenton newspaper:

"My two-year-old daughter cannot tolerate her in-laws. Require two bedrooms apartment for house for the child, wife and me, plus 3 white mice, Arizona chameleon, 4 flogs, refined alley cat and an un-caged canary. Noisy and inveterate drinkers. We entertain constantly and have no regard for neighbors."

The result? Offers started coming in. Some were from jobsters, one of whom provided a telephone number. It turned out to be the state mental hospital.

But a lot of good offers were among the replies. And now the Platts are looking the filed over to take the place which suits them best.

Just to keep the record straight, the Platts say they drink only occasionally. They have no pets and they'll entertain only now and then.

Hiya, Sugar!

"Sweetest Queen in the World" was title given Dorothy Bourg of LaFourche Parish, La., when the 18-year-old beauty was made queen of the fifth annual Sugar Cane Festival at New Iberia, La.

Wizard Of Oz Never Dreamed Of Such Thing

SIERRA MADRE, Cal. (UP)—It takes a bird of iron nerves to brave a sound-equipped garden scarecrow protecting the garden of Henry Ivin Hawxhurst, artist. After 13 years of experimentation in scarecrow making, Hawxhurst has completed his hydraulic action scarecrow, complete with alarm-clock attachment, sound effects and a thrifty irrigation feature.

He attaches Oscar, the perfect scarecrow, to a garden hose. Water pressure puts Oscar in motion, actuating a swaying wire carrying bird-frightening objects and cans. An alarm clock turns on the water at the favorite feeding time of the birds. And the water which runs the device goes right back to garden irrigation.

Handicapped by postwar shortages, Hawxhurst used parts from old bed springs, a steamer trunk, tire pumps and a broom handle to make the figure.

The fee for advanced courses at the Lowell Institute, Boston, Mass., once was two bushels of wheat a term.

Ranger Veteran Participate In Surplus Sale

WICHITA FALLS (Special)—Herschel P. Boyd, Ranger, was among the 328 successful purchasers of surplus motor vehicles at the first "high bid" sale held by War Assets Administration this week at Sheppard Field.

Boyd purchased two Harley-Davidson motorcycles for $221.50 and $226.00.

A total of 382 items were offered for sale to the highest bidder, of which 338 were sold in the two-day sale. Veterans paid a total of $154,000 in cash for vehicles that originally cost the Government $461,000.

All vehicles were offered on a "where is, as is" basis and were located at 10 army camps and air fields in West Texas. WAA officials considered this sale one of the most successful disposals of surplus vehicles to veterans.

Approximately one third of the inhabitants of the original 13 American colonies in 1776 were loyalists and favored a continuance of British rule, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Cat Imprisoned 60 Years Found Turned to Stone

HELENA, Ark. (UP) — The raising of an old building revealed the body of a cat which had exhausted its nine lives during a 60-year imprisonment and then turned to stone. The body, perfectly preserved except for hair, was found in a section of the building which had no entrance or exit, indicating that the cat was imprisoned when the building was put up in 1886.

BOSTON (UP) Musk-ox may soon appear on New England menus and also become a source of supply for this area's textile mills.

Then again, it may not, despite the enthusiastic efforts of Dr. Vilhalmur Stefansson, famed Arctic explorer, who believes musk-ox and other animals could be acclimated in northern New England.

Certain U. S. Department of Interior officials, custodian of the only American herd of these animals on Nunivak Island, Alaska, don't seem too enthusiastic about the idea.

Gov. Mortimer R. Proctor of Vermont, after hearing Stefansson discuss the musk-ox situation wrote to the Department of Interior several months ago, requesting 50 musk-ox calves, yearlings and two-year-olds. His request was turned down.

But Ralph E. Flanders, Vermont manufacturer and Republican nominee for the United States Senate, said: "We're not discouraged. If the Interior Department won't provide some young animals for an experimental herd we might obtain some from northeastern Canada or in Greenland."

New Hampshire, too, is interested in musk-ox development.

Dr. Phorsten V. Kaligari, executive director of the New Hampshire Planning and Development Commission, said the raising of musk-oxen in New England "holds tremendous possibilities, provided the animals can live here."

"If they can, we have a lot of marginal land where they could be raised, and they would augment our supply of beef and wool."

Musk-ox meat, Stefansson says is indistinguishable from beef.

The wool from musk-ox is something like camel's hair, and several textile authorities believe it will bring four times the price of sheep's wool.

Undersize Corn Yields Six Ears To Each Stalk

LONG BEACH, Cal. (UP) — Corn three feet tall, with six ears to the plant, is being grown by Harry L. Bateson, horticulturist and veteran of 17 years in the navy.

The bush corn, climaxing work begun in 1919 when Bateson realized the need for increasing crop yields for wartime, matures in half the time of regular corn and trebles the yield.

"Height of corn doesn't mean a thing," Bateson says, "The only point is how much and how good is the corn produced on the stalk. Regular varieties produce only two ears to the stalk, but mine produces six."

U. S. Marines have done guard duty in many odd places, but Sgt. Harris Chuck probably never dreamed he'd be guarding an art exhibit. He's pictured with Bozo, Marine mascot, helping protect the $3,000,000 collection of British paintings at the Chicago Art Institute.

Typewriters Available For Veterans Only

FORT WORTH (Special) Nov. 1—If you are a veteran of World War II and want to buy a typewriter, listen—

War Assets Administration sells typewriters only to veterans—no others. A veteran must first be certified by WAA, a simple procedure of presenting an honorable discharge. This certificate will permit him to buy one typewriter.

At this moment the Fort Worth regional WAA office has on hand several hundred more typewriters than there are veteran applications.

Other items on the veteran set-aside list, like typewriters for exclusive sale to veterans, include office furniture, wrist watches, sleeping bags and other hard-to-get items, on which certificates now are available.
