Republicans End Long Democratic Rule

Capture 50 Senate Seats; Elect 222 House Members

NEW YORK (UP)—Republicans won control of Congress today in a countrywide election swing to the right after 16 years of Democratic rule.

The GOP captured the Senate on the basis of incomplete returns with a total of at least 50 seats. As of 10 a. m. CST it had elected 222 members to the House of Representatives—four more than needed for a majority.

Four Senate contests remained in doubt—in Arizona, Montana, New Mexico and West Virginia.

The Republican sweep in a great turn out of voters throughout the country thrust upon President Truman the difficult task of dealing with an opposition Congress during the remaining two years of his present White House term.

The 80th Congress, convening next Jan. 3, will have Joseph W. Martin, Jr., veteran Massachusetts Republican, as speaker of the House.

Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg, who has been the Republican's chief adviser to Secretary of State James F. Byrnes, probably will be president-elect's pick.

Republicans have promised that the new Congress will overhaul the government. They have pledged reduced taxes and sharp cuts in federal spending in an effort to balance the national budget.

The election victory, which stripped Democrats of their power in many of the country's big cities where they had been unbeatable during the regime of the late President Roosevelt, resulting in early speculation on a possible GOP triumph in the 1948 presidential race.

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, who unsuccessfully opposed Mr. Roosevelt for a fourth term, was re-elected in New York by a slim majority over Sen. James M. Mead, Democratic New Dealer who until recently conducted the Senate's war profits investigation.

The drums are now beating again for Dewey in talk of 1948 Republican presidential possibilities.

The 10 a. m. returns showed that in addition to their Senate victory, the Republicans had captured 41 House seats formerly held by Democrats. But they lost one in Massachusetts, which meant a net gain for them of 40 over their present strength.

At the same hour, Democrats had elected 10 senators and were leading in Arizona and West Virginia, which they now hold. Republicans had elected 22 senators, and were ahead in Montana and New Mexico, both now Democratic.

Republicans had elected 20 and Democrats 10 governors, for a net Republican gain of two. This gave the GOP at least 25 to 23 majority of governors among the 48 states.

CITY SECURES BUILDING FOR VET HOUSING

Mayor J. J. Kelly announced today that after many months of efforts on the part of city officials, the city has secured a war surplus building from Camp Barkeley which will be brought to Ranger and made into apartments for veterans and their families.

When completed there will be 25 by 25 apartments. The building will be placed on the lots on the corner of Elm and South Marston Streets with a 100 foot front on Elm street and an 85 foot length on South Marston.

Contract for the building has been signed, and arrangements made for it to be delivered as soon as the weather will permit. When the building is delivered work on construction will begin just as soon as possible.

Rents for the apartments will be handled by the city.

In the speaking of the building and the purpose to which it will be put, Mayor Kelly stated that he with other city officials including City Secretary E. T. Eubank and C. of C. Manager R. V. Galloway, have been working toward this end for months. Dozens of trips have been made and every requirement carefully met. In this as in many other war surplus disposal projects, the programs have been changed from time to time and Ranger officials several times found themselves going back and starting all over again.

He stated that they had met with many disappointments and setbacks during these months, but that their efforts had finally been awarded and they will do all in their power to push the apartment building to completion just as soon as it arrives.

Annual Poppy Sale To Be Held Here Saturday

It was announced today that the annual poppy sale will be conducted in Ranger Saturday and headquarters for the sale will be at the Gholson Hotel.

Mrs. R. W. Gordon is chairman for the sale which will be conducted by the American Legion Auxiliary.

Proceeds from the sale will go toward work with the disabled veterans of World War I and World War II. The sale is conducted about this time each year and the people of Ranger are asked to be ready to make their contributions when approached by those selling the poppies.

Truman Refuses Comment Upon Election Returns

WASHINGTON—President Truman returned to the capital today still silent on the sweeping victory in yesterday's election.

Smiling broadly and apparently in good spirits as he left his special train, the President turned down all requests by newsmen for comment on the election.

"Not even a small comment," a reporter asked.

"No, no comment, but I'll see you at a press conference in a day or two," the President replied.

Well... I Dunno, But...

During the war we heard a great deal about GI ingenuity and initiative and we never doubted a word of it because we saw plenty of signs of it and besides we knew the Americans had it.

Put the boys, naturally on returning home, we're not pressed to exercise those talents so much, in as much as the necessity did not press itself.

However, one day this week, we walked right square into a good example of it. A couple of ex-GIs had some curtains for the office of one of them. There being no one at hand to do the job, they just looked up a machine and went to work. They didn't know exactly how to measure the lengths to buy the material. So they just bought a stretch and cut it half in two, after some helpful ladies had offered suggestions as to the approximate amount required.

But when we walked in on the scene, they had the electric machine racing like mad. They didn't stop when the machine made a few wide sweeps upward or downward in the line of the hem. So it was with some surprise that we saw, after the curtains were hung, that they had a very even line.

We offered to insert an advertisement for sewing for them, but they thought they would prefer other things. No, we didn't say who they were, but one of them is the manager of one of the better hotels in Ranger and the other is the day clerk there.

Patience is rewarded with success, so they tell us, and we guess it's so. For after months and months of trying, city officials have finally secured a surplus war camp building to help the veteran housing situation here.

Though the building when ready for use will have only six apartments, that will house those six families that finally get in, that for months have been casting from pillar to post for something fairly permanent in the way of a place to live.

Securing the building came after long months of patient trying on the part of city officials and they are to be commended. Most of us would have despaired long ago.

It looks as if the Republicans are going to get the chance to do the things they have been promising the country for the last 16 years, and it will be interesting to watch the developments.

As is customary, it's the prerogative of the party out of power to flay the one in power for the blunders they are making. And some time flay imaginary blunders.

There's one thing about it, the Democrats are ahead of the Republicans in the number of years they have had to make blunders and it'll take some stepping to watch the years, to say nothing of the blunders.

One thing that we will be interested in watching, is what will the Republicans do about labor. They had howled their heads off about the Democratic administration being labor dominated; and of the Democrats courting labor to get their votes. Denouncing the strikes, etc.

Well, now we will see, what the Republicans do.

RANGER CASTS 308 VOTES IN ELECTIN TUES.

A total of 308 votes were cast in the general election in Ranger Tuesday with Young School box polling 111 and the City Hall box 197.

All of the three amendments carried with at least five-sixths of the votes at Young being for the amendments. Of the 111 votes cast at Young the Democratic ticket had the lead by 104 to 106 votes on all of the races.

Ranger's voting strength, according to the poll tax receipts is better than 1,100 and in the two primaries this summer, the Veteran vote, over age voters and first voters carried the total votes cast well over the poll tax total, to make voting in those two elections the heaviest in Ranger in many years.

The mean monthly temperature in Phoenix, Ariz., ranges from about 51 degrees in January to about 90 degrees in July, the annual mean being about 70 degrees.

VOTE ON 4TH AMENDMENT DUE THURSDAY

Another election is to be held in Ranger Thursday, when voters will have a chance to vote "yes" or "no" on the veterans land grant amendment.

The amendment calls for the establishment of a Veterans Land Board and Veterans Land Fund for the purpose of buying homes, ranches and farms, under terms provided by the amendment, and to be sold to veterans.

Through error in writing the amendment the date for the vote on this amendment was set for Thursday instead of Tuesday and under a ruling of the attorney general, the date had to stand.

In as much as the second election will be a great expense to the counties as well as the state, County Judge P. L. Crossley has asked election judges to cut the number of the working personnel at the elections to the minimum.

It was announced Wednesday that the Commercial State Bank, which normally closes on election days, will be open for business on Thursday in as much as this is an extra election date for the year.

WASHINGTON COLUMN

BY PETER EDSON, NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, D. C.—(NEA)—A plan to permit all U. S. husbands earning more than $3333 a year to reduce their federal income taxes by dividing income with their wives is now being given serious consideration by U. S. Treasury tax experts.

Two Treasury officials, General Counsel Joseph J. O'Connell and Tax Legislative Counsel Stanley S. ... have been out making speeches on this idea.

It would not benefit all taxpayers. It would be of no benefit to income-tax payers in nine states which now permit husband and wife to declare their income divided under what are known as community property laws, entitling either to half the other's income.

THIS gives taxpayers in these nine states an advantage over citizens in the other 39 states. It's to correct this inequity that the Surrey plan is being brought forward.

In 1942 an effort was made to correct this situation by introducing a bill to require all husbands and wives to file joint returns. Its defeat proved that the joint return can't be put across in this country.

So search was begun for other ways to equalize the tax burden. The Surrey plan is the proposed answer. If the House Ways and Means Committee likes the idea, the next Congress may consider it.

Such a plan would obviously reduce the amount of tax money the government could collect. Treasury officials estimate that the cut might be as much as $900,000,000 a year.

IF, however, the federal budget is to be balanced and if taxes must be kept up to reduce the national debt or maintain big military and public works programs, any tax reduction due to the Surrey plan will simply mean that an equivalent amount of taxes must be raised some other way.

So the plan might not actually reduce taxes, but it would put all federal taxpayers on the same basis, which is fair.

The way the Surrey plan would work out, it would be of no benefit to anyone earning less than $3333.33 a year. The 10 per cent tax credit would reduce this to $3000. The personal exemptions of $500 allowed to both a man and his wife cut this to $2500 net income.

Surtaxes are 17 per cent on the first $2000 but go up to 20 per cent in the next bracket and more in still higher brackets. So married taxpayers in all but this first bracket would benefit.

NEW YORK—(NEA)—A pulled muscle in his side forced Howie Pollet of the Cardinals out of the remainder of the World Series in the first inning of the fifth game.

Slats Marion's sacroiliac kicked up throughout the closing days of the campaign, the play-off and the Series.

Terry Moore limped through the series on a bad right knee, on which Dr. Robert F. Hyland will operate shortly.

Enos Slaughter retired from the fifth game after being struck on the right and throwing arm by a Joe Dobson fast ball. Baking kept him in action.

Red Schoendienst lost 15 pounds during the campaign and was treated for a strained muscle in his back throughout the Series.

Chipped bones in his right elbow affected Whitey Kurowski's swing. Dr. Hyland will remove them within a few days.

Dr. Hyland adored pitchers Johnny Beasley and Ernie White, among others, last spring.

WHILE the Red Birds finished on one wing this trip and Dr. Hyland is famous for his treatment of ball-players, he scoffs at the idea that modern epidemics of chipped elbows, calcium deposits and whatnot mean today's players are less hardy than the old-timers.

"Take the pitchers," stresses Dr. Hyland. "In the old days they used all sorts of trick deliveries. Today those are outlawed.

"To remain effective, they had to develop substitutes in the way of the screwball, slider and knuckler, which are punishing to the arm.

"I honestly believe today's players are sounder than those of a generation ago. For one thing, they take better care of themselves."

A Most Responsible Position

Mayor Gives Dollars, Not Kisses

BOSTON (UP)—In the old days, politicians were famous for kissing babies, but Mayor James J. Curley of Boston has a new wrinkle. Curley hands out shiny silver dollars for good luck pieces to women he considers beautiful. Most recent recipients of this money were Mae West and Sophie Tucker.

Mayor Gives Dollars, Not Kisses

The mayor reportedly conceived the idea, back in 1934 when a friend presented him with a silver dollar as a lucky piece in his gubernatorial race.

"This should go to a beautiful woman," Curley remarked then. Curley's aide says they never know when the mayor will dart out of his office or out of city hall to bestow his special token on a deserving passer-by.

His accompanying remarks have become classic. Bowing gallantly, Curley says:

"There are two things every woman wants and needs. You have the first, beauty, and now you have the second, money."

CALL ME LIZ

by Rene Ryerson Mart, Copyright, 1946, NEA Service, Inc.

THE STORY: Red McFan, army pilot, comes home with a chestful of ribbons and a cocky swagger. He visits the warship plant where he worked before the war as a laboratory helper. Old Man Condon, the big boss, greets him warmly. Red had saved his son's life in combat. Red asks how Russ Condon is now.

Arthur Condon divined part of what was in Red McFan's mind, however. "Russel's nervous," he said. "He's been making a splendid effort to settle down and get interested in the business. But his heart isn't in it. He tries to fool me about that—but I know."

He smiled with an effort. "That's why I'm glad you're back, Red. I hope you and Russ will see a lot of each other. I think you'll be good for him."

Admiration broke through his worry. "You certainly came through all right. You don't look as if you had a nerve in your body. My Lord, boy, how do you do it—after what you've been through?"

Red grinned and shrugged. "I'm just tough—I guess."

Whatever it was Arthur Condon had been about to say was forgotten. The door back of Red opened and Russ Condon came into the room. He took one look at Red and let out a yell and hurried across to him.

"Red—you old devil." He grabbed Red's hand hard. "For a long moment they stood looking at each other, their feelings so close to the surface that words were unnecessary. Russel Condon, slight and fair, with a quiet, reserved manner, just the opposite of Red McFan's boisterous cockiness. Flying together in combat their long ago had crossed the artificial barriers of money and breeding that once had separated their worlds."

To Russel Condon, Red McFan was a real hero, the sort of man he himself would have liked to be.

Now here's what we thought—you go back to school now, major in chemistry, and when you've got your degree we'll put you in charge at Russel's plant. How would you like that?"

"I—I—" Red floundered. "I don't know what to say, Mr. Condon. You see I hadn't thought about anything like that."

Go back to school! He certainly hadn't thought of anything like that. Sure, he liked chemistry. When he'd worked here as a kid he'd always been asking Mendel questions and trying to learn to run tests himself. He'd even thought then that he'd like to be a chemist. But that was four years ago. He was 24 now. If he went to college that would mean he'd be 27 or 28 before he'd finish.

No—he didn't think he'd like that at all.

He looked up and found both Russel and Arthur Condon watching him hopefully.

It only added to Red's confusion. He saw that Russ and his father had doped this out as the biggest thing they could do for him. Giving him a chance to get an education with a promise of a good job when he finished.

But go back to school—And there was another angle to it—a mighty unpleasant angle. He'd spent every cent he'd made in the Army, like a crazy fool. Spent it or gambled it or given it away. Any fellow in the squadron who had needed money had found Red McFan an easy touch.

Yes, he'd got rid of all of it, for several reasons. All of them equally foolhardy. For one thing, over there, flying in combat, money hadn't seemed very important anyway. He hadn't really expected ever to get out of it alive. And so it was live one day at a time and the devil take the future.

Only now it was kicking 'back at him. If he accepted the Condon's offer and went back to school he'd have to live on the $65 a month subsistence check the government would give him. $65 a month after having drawn over $400 a month with his overseas and flying pay. Not so hot that.

'Keep Smiling' Penny Donor Dies

AITOONA, Pa. (UP)—The "Keep Smiling" man is dead.

Sixteen years ago when the depression hit into our economic life, Thomas F. Iddings evolved a philosophy. When he saw a gloomy person, he would hand out a bright new cent, saying:

"This is a lucky penny. Keep smiling."

In the ensuing 16 years, Iddings passed out 30,000 "lucky pennies." During the war, he placed pennies in matchboxes with his slogan, and passed them out to servicemen and women going overseas.

Thousands of letters from grateful recipients came to Iddings' home. Many said the tiny penny worked to change the tide of their fortunes.

Iddings planned to distribute 5,000 pennies this Christmas. But in the midst of his plans, death came to the humble railroad crane operator: at his home in Juniata Pa.

At 64, he was hospitalized for the first time in his life. Mrs. Mary Morin had on consolation. She still could smoke the briar pipe she has used continually for 75 years.

Yugoslavs Make Concession In Trieste Dispute

NEW YORK — Yugoslav today made two minor concessions in its dispute with Italy and the Big Four over Trieste but reiterated that the proposed French boundary line between Italy and Yugoslavia was "inacceptable" and denounced the Western Democracies for attempting to set up a regime with "dictatorial power" in Trieste.

Yugoslavia did not withdraw its threat to refuse to sign the Italian treaty if more favorable terms for Yugoslavia were not included and told the Big Four that Yugoslavia's views on the proposed Italo-Yugoslav frontier remain unchanged from Paris.

Believe Foreign Policy Safe From GOP Changes

NEW YORK — Foreign policy today seemed least likely of all the Truman administration programs to be altered by the Republican victories in Tuesday's congressional elections.

It was expected that regardless of the changed political complexion, Congress will join with the Democratic administration in presenting a united front on foreign relations.

The expectation was based largely on the fact that Republican leaders in both houses of Congress have been working closely with the administration on foreign policy since the inception of the United Nations.

WASHINGTON — Sen. J. William Fulbright, D., Ark., said today he believes President Truman should resign after naming a Republican secretary of state who would become president.

Fulbright said President Truman's resignation seemed to be the only way of averting a two-year stalemate between a Republican congress and a Democratic president. He said such a stalemate might imperil United States world leadership.

How To Make Soap At Home Is Explained

PORTLAND, Ore. (UP)—Here's the dope on how to make soap at home, you hope.

After elaborate testing of hundreds of suggestions, Mary Cullen, Oregon Journal home economist, announced a practically foolproof home soap recipe for women who have gotten flat-footed from standing in the soap line-up and want to make it at home, as grandmas used to.

First, the water. Use soft water. It makes hard soap. Hard water, miraculously, makes soft soap the tests showed.

Ingredients: five pounds of strained or clarified animal fat; one pound can of lye; one quart cold water; one-half cup powdered borax; one fourth cup ammoniac.

Strain fat through fine sieve, melt the fat and strain it through cheesecloth. Use only animal fat, rendered from meat scraps. Do not overheat.

Fat must be like warm and slightly liquid. Dissolve lye in cold water in enamel or granite pan or crock. Do not use aluminum. The lye will eat it.

Stir with a long stick, with face away from lye solution, which will sputter and burn. Add fat slowly to lye solution, stirring constantly.

Mix borax with ammonia and stir into fat and lye mixture. Continue stirring until mixture is thick and light-colored. Pour soap into soap pan lined with cloth. Let stand until begins to harden. Mark into pieces with knife. When soap is hard break into pieces and let it dry.

Miss Cullen's other recipes included soap made with just lye and grease, lye and ammonia—and one little jim-dandy—make it with cream!

But the above, with good luck, actually makes those hustle-bustle

Notorious Killer to Donate His Eyes

Nathan Leopold, principal in a "thrill" murder that shocked the country 22 years ago, is one of a large number of convicts at Stateville penitentiary, Joliet, Ill., who have offered to donate their eyes after death to the Eye-Bank for Sight Restoration, Inc. Above, Dr. C. L. Garris, right, examines Leopold's cornea. In 1924, Leopold, now 41, was a brilliant 19-year-old Chicago college student when he and Richard Loeb, 18, having planned a "perfect murder," lured 14-year-old Bobby Franks into a car and viciously beat him to death for the excitement of it. They were quickly caught, tried, convicted and sentenced to life imprisonment.

le suds, the economist claims, although it doesn't hurt to cross the fingers.

The temperature of a victim of cholera may rise after death, says the Encyclopedia Britannica. The limbs of dead persons also may move due to peculiar muscular contractions.

Electric Clock Factory Also Knits Sweaters

DELAVER, Wis. (UP)—George W. Borg, who makes electric clocks here, knits sweaters by electronics in the same factory.

He came here in 1928, bought a knitting mill and a plant making electronic devices, and merged them with his electronic clock business.

His firm now turns out about 4,000 electric clocks a day, and in the knitted goods department, banks of machines knit sweaters like linked frankfurters. One is knit into another following until there are hundreds of sweaters in a single long string, later snipped apart. The output is forty dozen a day.

Prisoner Of War Camp Sale Starts Nov. 13

HEREFORD (Special)—All roads throughout the Panhandle will lead to Hereford next Wednesday, Nov. 13, as the War Assets Administration throws open the doors of the former wartime Prisoner of War Camp in a huge "site sale."

Plumbing and heating equipment and supplies, electrical equipment and fittings, all stockpiled by WAA to offer for sale to aid in alleviating the critical housing shortage for World War II veterans, will be offered November 13, 14, 15, 18 and 19 to holders of HH priorities.

For the opening five days of the site sale each holder of an HH priority will be limited to buying materials not to exceed an amount sufficient to complete construction of one five-room dwelling.

It will be a case of "first come, first served" among the HH priority holders when the doors are thrown open at 9 a. m. on the morning of Nov. 13, World War II veterans exercising a priority to build their own homes, contractors buying material to build a home for a veteran or contractors buying materials to construct homes for re-sale to veterans—all will line up according to their time of arrival at the Hereford POW Camp.

WAA officials advise veterans to take US Highway 60 west of Hereford and to follow "site sale markers" over the grounds of the old POW camp to the "site sale." Prospective purchasers are advised that no deliveries will be made on the opening day of the sale, and purchasers will obtain purchased materials starting the morning of Nov. 14.

A large number of the former POW Camp buildings have been demolished and the materials carefully stockpiled for this event. Should any materials remain beyond the initial five day selling period, WAA announced that it will then be offered to established sellers of building material who certify to WAA at the time of purchase that all such material will be publically offered for sale to eligible priority holders. There will be no limitation on quantities which may be purchased after the opening five day period.

Carnegie Art Exhibit Reflects Woes of This Troubled World

By Vic Jacobs
 United Press Staff Correspondent
PITTSBURGH (UP)—The troubled state of world affairs has spilled over its diplomatic and social banks and poured into the field of art.
 Leading artists have seized upon the uncertainties of international conditions and used them as interpretative themes for many of the paintings entered in the famed Carnegie Institute art exhibition.
 The institute is observing its 70th anniversary with a Foundation Day display.

Hold That Tiger

Freddie Mills, Britain's former middleweight champion, now a heavyweight, rasses with tiger cub at his training quarters in London, where he is preparing for fight with Joe Baksi, American heavy, Nov. 5.

Never before in its 50-year history has the feeling of depression been so accentuated as in the present show. Many of the works in the exhibition of 300 pictures portrayed by America's outstanding artists are pointed to show that people, generally, are unhappy.

A canvas by George Grosz titled "Peace" in which he depicts the road which leads from the fires of war to the chaos of peace serves to epitomize the atmosphere of bewilderment and fear.

On the gloomy, or morbid side light also be listed Frederic Taylor's "St. John in the Wilderness," an expression of bewilderment; the grim "Picture Hat" of Henry Varum Poor; Dorthea Tamm's ironic "Fete Chametre"; "Frodoom, the Summit" by Richard Taylor, and the "Recollection of an Apple" of Edna Dindell.

Louis Boss is once again sensitive to the woes besetting the universe with his "The Remains" and Ferdinand E. Warren on the point of the twilight of civilization in "A City and a Tower."

The highest quotation at the exhibition was the $125,000 asked for "Picture of Dorian Gray" by its creator, Ivan LeLorraine Albright. This picture was painted for a Hollywood production.

In former years, this Carnegie exhibition was an invitational show of the best in art from all parts of the world. However, at present it is restricted to the United States—a war-time and post-war substitute for the former global display.

The signatures of 52 new artists made their initial appearance in a Carnegie display this year. The display was organized by Homer Saint-Gaudens, director of the institute's Fine Arts Department. Prizes totaled $3,200. The exhibition will run until December 8.

No Matter How Spelt, It Comes Out Eisenhower

HARRISBURG, Pa. (UP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's ancestors apparently were not fussy about how to spell their surname, but Ike's great-great-grandfather, Peter, who settled at nearby Lingiestown, must have been an exacting man otherwise.

In a codicil to his will, in which he left most of his estate to his wife, Peter wrote, "There shall not be anything, not even the value of a spoon, detracted or taken from her as long as she remains my widow."

Papers connected with the will, on file here, show the family name of America's war leader as "Eisenhower," "Eisenhauer" and "Eisenhauser."

Communists In China Expect To Take Offensive

NANKING (UP)—Chinese Communists predicted today that the civil war will continue, "for at least several months," by which time they expect to shift over from present defensive tactics to the offensive.

While third party mediation plans remained deadlocked, a Communist spokesman said that the government offensive has reached the saturation point and that the stretched-out government lines are beginning to show vulnerability to Communist attacks.

Plank 4, on permanently abolishing the state ad valorem tax for general revenue purposes. By Jas. D. Hamlin, Farwell.

Plank 5, for continuing the WTCC's current modest campaign of national industrial advising and authorizing cooperation with the Texas Association of Commerce in advocating a statewide and state financed campaign restricted to industrial copy. By J. E. Cunningham, Amarillo.

Plank 6, authorizing cooperation with the Chemurgic and Industrial Research Committee of Texas in a program of research into industrial marketing possibilities of agricultural products and other raw materials. By R. E. Wertz, Amarillo.

Plank 7, proposing that in allocations for farm-to-market roads equal weight be given to county-to-state ratios of rural population, area miles of rural and star routes, and vehicle ton miles traveled in delivering agricultural and livestock products. By W. R. Cusenberry, Sonora.

Plank 8, on reduction of federal and state expenditures and containing a proposed "Taxpayers' Code of Ethics." The plank is recommended by the Executive Board and will be presented by John D. Mitchell, Odessa, and C. E. Coombes.

College Building Funds

Plank 9, on providing building funds for all state institutions of higher learning. This plank more than any has brought lengthy debate at the district meetings and is opposed by the administrative heads and boards of the 16 colleges. In it the WTCC committee, W. G. Alderson of Lubbock chair, recommends, first, "that we propose any constitutional 5c ad valorem tax to create a building fund for state colleges," and second, "that we support a constitutional amendment for dividing revenues from the University Land Fund on basis of 40 per cent to the University of Texas and the Agricultural & Mechanical College of Texas, and 60 per cent to the remainder of the state colleges." There are 14 of these, 7 in the West Texas area.

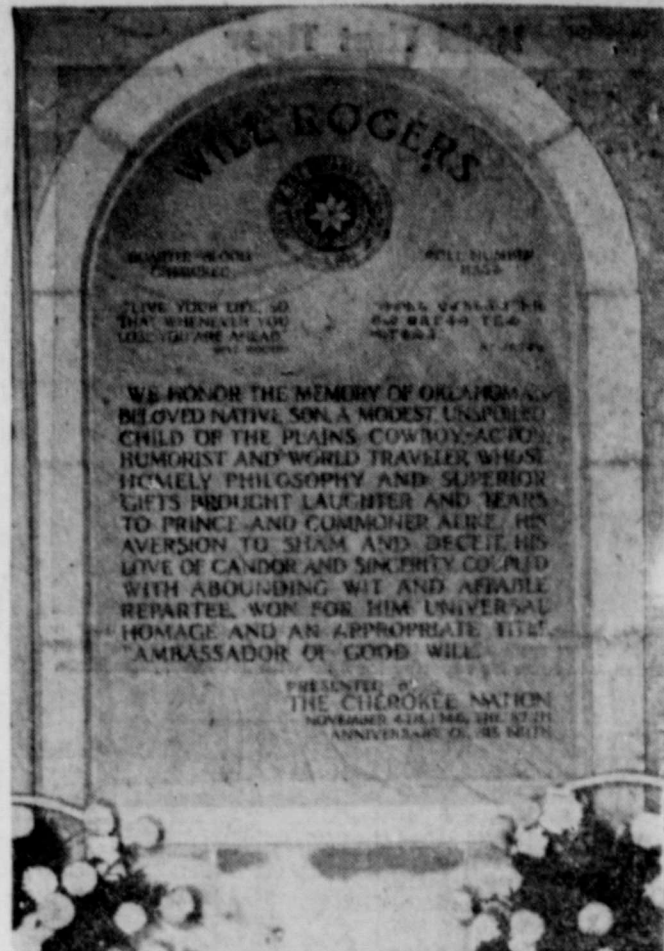

This plank will be presented and defended by Representative Preston Smith and Senator Sterling Parrish, both of Lubbock. J. Thos. Davis, dean emeritus of John Tarleton College of Stephenville, and his successor there, Dean E. J. Howell, will speak against it. At 7 of the 8 WTCC district meetings in October Dean Davis appeared against the plank.

Officers in '47

On completion of debate a roll call vote on the policy plank, the assembly will turn to the selection of WTCC's officers for next year. J. S. Bridwell of Wichita Falls, a past president, is chairman of the nominating committee. Present officers in addition to President Overstreet are: H. C. Custard Cleburn, first vice-president; Grady Mitcham, San Angelo, second vice-president; C. P. Dodson, Beacatur, third vice-president; Malcolm M. Meek, Abilene, treasurer; and D. A. Bandeen, general manager.

WTCC's 10 district directors already have been named for 1947. They are: R. E. Wertz, Amarillo; Tom Garrard, Tahoka; A. B. Taff, Childress; Amon G. Carter, Fort Worth; Frank H. Kelley, Colorado City; John D. Mitchell, Odessa; J. L. Pinkerton, Monahans; Sam H.
