Lewis Ordered To Appear In Court Monday

Well...
I Dunno,
But...

G. M. Munneryn, coach of the undefeated Ward School Bulldogs, is a little discouraged about the lack of interest in the games that the boys are playing. The main reason being that through proceeds from the games the boys are trying to get enough to buy suits and equipment.

It's true that most of the games are played in the afternoon which makes it a little hard for many to attend, but from the brand of football those boys are turning out, they should put on a show that's worth the money and a little support would be appreciated.

After all these boys will be playing in our AA games someday and Coach Munneryn is trying to bring them up in the way they should go. As an example they had to play Thursday against Breckenridge without the benefit of the services of one of the best players because he had not qualified in so far as his grades were concerned.

But at that they held to their record of no defeats this year, winning from Breckenridge by a score of 7 to 0.

Two more games are scheduled for the Warders, one at Breckenridge on December 27 at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon and the other at Eastland on Thursday, December 5. The Eastland team is also an undefeated team and the game promises to be a rousing one.

Let's give the boys a little support and help them to get those uniforms. After all it is a handicap to have to play in suits in which they can't even find themselves.

They tell us that the changes in the Bulldog line-up for tonight's game hold a promise of adding strength to the team and the boys will head out to Stephenville this afternoon, with hopes of winning their first conference game.

Coach Marshall says that the changes have added to the offensive strength of the team and fans are eager to see how the changes work out for victory, we hope.

Mrs. Ethel Brooks Gilmore, enthusiastic member of the Ranger Civic League, has the honor of being the one to enroll the first male member in the organization.

Fortified with the information brought out at Wednesday's meeting of the league, that the constitution does not discriminate against men, she went to work to get the first man enrolled and wound up sending to the treasurer a membership fee from Hall Walker, civic leader and booster.

And the best thing about it all, Mrs. Gilmore says, is the enthusiasm that the new member exhibited over the prospects for the organization.

Dr. PDQ is coming to town. At least that's the information that came to us this morning from the Jaycees.

Some mystery seems to surround the apparently distinguished gentleman and facts concerning his appearance here and the nature of his doctoring were not revealed.

However, it is known that his appearance will be made at the Jaycees' home talent show which is scheduled to be staged on the night of December 12.

Elaborate preparations are being made for the arrival and visit of the doctor, whose carefully concealed talents must be some thing to read about considering the excitement his coming has caused in Jaycee circles.

If our memory doesn't fail us about the initials, PDQ, the doctor must be a rather dynamic character, else he couldn't live up to such a commanding name.

Anyway, we're eager to have a peep at the guy and try to fathom the veil of mystery that surrounds his appearance here. But leave it to the Jaycees to bring out the great.

Plenty Of Housework For Idle Miners

These two Uniontown, Penn., miners are finding plenty of housework to be done while they sit out the present coal strike. Farm-To-Market Road Expansion Is Considered

A group of citizens headed by County Judge P. L. Crossley, Lon Medford, Eastland County commissioner for the Carbon-Gorman precinct; Virge Foster, county commissioner for the Rising Star precinct with delegations from Rising Star, Okra and Carbon went to Brownwood Wednesday to consult with District Engineer Leo Ellinger of the Texas State Highway Department regarding a proposed farm-to-market road for the Carbon-Okra-Rising Star area. The proposed road would be 14 to 15 miles in length and would connect at Carbon with the Eastland and Gorman Highway.

The proposed road, which the Eastland county group planned to discuss with Engineer Ellinger extends south from Carbon via Okra to an intersection with State Highway No. 36 to be constructed from Rising Star to Comanche and south. At Rising Star No. 36 intersects with a highway to Abilene via Pioneer and Cross Plains.

The right-of-way for Highway 36 is now being secured and contract for its construction will be let in the near future, it is understood.

Injured Bulldog Recovering From Leg Operation

Word was received Thursday that Keith Munneryn who underwent an operation on his leg at All Saints' Hospital in Ft. Worth Thursday is recovering satisfactorily.

Keith had his leg broken on the 10th of September in a football workout. It was placed in a cast and after the cast was removed, he again broke the bone.

During the week-end some other trouble developed and he was taken to Ft. Worth where it was discovered that a cartilage had been torn loose. This was removed and it is believed by attending physicians that on recovery from the operation, Keith will have normal use of the leg.

The invincible Ward School Bulldogs came through with another victory Thursday afternoon when they defeated the Breckenridge Junior High School team by a score of 7 to 0.

Breckenridge kicked to Ranger with Raymond Comacho receiving the ball on his own 30 yard line and returning it to the Breckenridge 10 yard line to set up for the first touchdown of the game. He carried through center on the third play to make the 6 points and Jimmie Comacho carried over for the extra point.

Raymond Comacho and Bill McKinney starred for the Warders who after the first touchdown concentrated their efforts on keeping Breckenridge from scoring.

Coach Jimmie Marshall served as referee. Ruddle Hamrick was head linesman and R. C. Smith was timekeeper and umpire.

Starting line-up was RE, Hummel; RT, Lindsey; RG, Bill Fung; C, Flores; LG, Brooks; LT, Holden; LE, Bill McKinney; FB, Raymond Comacho; RH, Simpson; LH, Jimmie Comacho and QB, Boney.

In a return game played at the Recreation building Thursday night the Weatherford College cagers defeated the Ranger Junior College team by a score of 32 to 23.

Although the Ranger team took the little end of the score they gave the Weatherford team a run for their money and up until the last two minutes of the game the score was tied 28 to 28.

Starters for Ranger were forwards, Blackwell and Ivy; center Jack Boney and guards, Sullivan and Ready. Substitutes were Littlefield, D. Boney, Fyffe and Anderson.

Russia Using War of Nerves Budenz Testifies

WASHINGTON — Louis F. Budenz, Catholic convert from the Communist party, charged today that the Soviet Union is engaged in a "war of nerves" against the United States which "could go to military conflict."

Budenz is a former editor of the Communist Daily Worker in New York. He quit the party nearly a year ago.

He testified today before the House Un-American Activities Committee.

Budenz said that the Soviet Union uses the American Communist party as a weapon for "establishing a world proletarian dictatorship directed by the men in the Kremlin."

India On Soviet Side In Armed Forces Dispute

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y. — India lined up with Russia against Great Britain today in support of a Soviet proposal that members of the United Nations reveal the size and location of their armed forces and bases abroad in both friendly and former enemy countries.

Mrs. Vijayalakshmi Pandit, small gray-haired leader of the Indian delegation, announced that her country supports the Russian proposal as the General Assembly political and security committee began its third day of debate on the troop issue.

The plane will be piloted by Colonel Graham of the 16th Air Force and CAP Cadet Gene McClain will be along to help in the program. It was explained that the cards seeking the present addresses of all Army Air Force former personnel will be taken to the Ranger postoffice and left there for veterans of the force to secure, fill in and mail back to headquarters.

The plane will cover 12 towns in this area on Saturday and is expected to arrive in Ranger sometime between 2:00 and 3:00 o'clock. The plane will buzz the town several times before landing and R. V. New York State To Foster Arts And Sciences

ALBANY, N. Y. (UP) — The New York State Education Department, realizing a long-advocated plan, has inaugurated a five-year experimental system of state Institutes of Applied Arts and Sciences.

Plans for the institutes in Binghamton, Buffalo, Utica, White Plains and New York City were begun under legislation enacted early in 1946. Provisions call for a total enrollment of 3,500 students, and part-time, extension and evening courses are expected to double this figure.

Termed "a new venture in education," the institutes will offer two years of higher education to train youths as technicians in many occupational fields.

"Young people in the postwar period face a world of new inventions and technical processes, new achievements in the satisfaction of human wants and new demands for competence in citizenship, home relationships and community living," the State Board of Regents said in adding the institutes to its vast post-war education expansion program.

Mothers Plan Banquet For 1946 Bulldogs

At a meeting of mothers of football players and others interested, held Thursday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock at the high school, it was decided to give the annual football banquet on the night of December 5 at the First Methodist church.

Plans for the menu were discussed and arranged and other plans for the affair discussed.

It was asked this morning that those who are interested in assisting in the banquet and who have not been contacted may call either Mrs. E. F. Arterburn, Mrs. Leslie Hagaman, Mrs. Odell Cels or Mrs. Mamie Ruth Hamrick offering their services.

Mission To India Outlasts Japanese

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (UP) — Missionary Elda Amstutz has begun a return trip for the second time to India and her work.

The previous time she started out, the Japanese interrupted her trip in the Philippines and clamped her into a prison camp for two years.

Miss Amstutz was held a prisoner near Manila and was rescued by parachute troops just a day before her scheduled execution.

She came back to Fort Wayne to lecture at her alma mater, the Fort Wayne Bible Institute.

Her station is a mission home for widows and orphans in Kedgion in the Poona district of India.

Atomic Policy Makers Believe Race Imminent

By United Press
NEW YORK — American atomic policy makers believe an atomic arms race is imminent and favor an early showdown with Russia on the vital question of international controls, it was learned today.

Frankly pessimistic at prospects for breaking the six-months deadlock with Russia on effective world safeguards for the atomic force, these leaders believe that delays in forcing a showdown may undermine eventually national security.

The major stumbling block facing the United Nations atomic energy commission is adamant Soviet opposition to United States demands for an international inspection system, informed sources said.

Strike Cutting Deeply Into Nation's Economy

PITTSBURGH — The day-old strike of 400,000 soft coal miners hit sharply into the nation's economy today as industry— from steel mills to glue factories—reported stockpiles nearing the danger point.

The solid fuels administration here reported applications for emergency allotments of coal already exceeded the 110,000 tons frozen at Western Pennsylvania pits.

Steel mills planned production cut backs ranging up to 40 per cent, railroads slashed schedules, and unprecedented unemployment loomed if the strike is prolonged.

Henry Kaiser Makes Good For Former Employer

UTICA, N. Y. (UP) — When Henry J. Kaiser skyrocketed to fame as an industrial wizard, he had as an incentive the closing phrase of a letter of recommendation from a former Utica employer.

William A. Sample, Utica photographic supply dealer, recalls pending the words, "and he will accomplish anything to which he may aspire," in a letter which enabled Kaiser to take over his first business venture, a partnership in a Lake Placid firm.

The Utica man said Kaiser later told him the words of recommendation so impressed him that he adopted them as his motto.

MURRAY AGAIN ELECTED TO DIRECT CIO

By United Press
ATLANTIC CITY, — Philip Murray today was reelected president of the Congress of Industrial Organizations for the sixth time after a tumultuous demonstration by the 600 delegates at the eighth CIO convention.

Murray was reelected by acclamation without opposition.

The election climaxed a convention which has accepted the challenge of congressmen who advocate laws to curb labor unions, attempted to rid the CIO of communist taint, demanded substantial new pay increases to offset a 25 per cent loss in take-home pay, pledged more intensive organizing drives among unorganized workers, asserted its willingness to fight the American Federation of Labor, and called for a halt to stock piling of atom bombs.

Earlier the convention demanded a halt to the stockpiling of atom bombs but only after Murray checked off heated verbal exchange by two delegates and took votes to determine that a majority supported the resolution.

Special Session Of Congress Is Thought Unlikely

WASHINGTON — The coal strike brought increasing demands today for a special session of Congress to deal with labor legislation, but friends of President Truman believed it unlikely.

One close friend of the President said flatly that as matters now stand there is "nothing in sight" for a special session. He doubted that Mr. Truman would call Congress back before January unless there was a more drastic change in the picture.

Council Orders Sympathy Strike

CAMDEN, N. J. — The South Jersey CIO Industrial Union Council, representing 40,000 workers, ordered a "general sympathy holiday" today after two pickets were clubbed by police and more than 24 arrested in a mass demonstration at the plant of the strike-bound Camden Courier-Post.

PAPERS SERVED ON AFL HEAD AT OFFICES IN WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON — Two burly deputy U. S. marshals today served John L. Lewis with papers ordering him to appear in federal court on Monday to answer contempt charges for refusal to call off the national coal strike.

Service of the papers took place at Lewis' sixth floor office in the United Mine Workers, AFL, headquarters building here. Lewis had left the seclusion of his Alexandria, Va., home for the first time in 36 hours.

Appearing outwardly undisturbed by the threat of a jail sentence or fine—or both—which hangs over him, the crazy mine union boss greeted photographers amiably as he arrived at his office but told reporters "no comment."

Neither Lewis nor other UMW officials gave any indication as to whether he plans to fight the government through the courts or whether he may clear himself of contempt charges by calling off the strike.

Taking no chances, the government wrapped up plans for power demands and other coal-saving measures in preparation for a long battle if Lewis decides to fight it out.

The strike, continuing in its second day, already was depressing the nation's economy. Steel mills planned cutbacks up to 40 per cent. Railroads reduced service.

Factories using coal for power or as raw material were conserving their supplies and desperately seeking emergency allotments from the solid fuels administration.

The first violence in the strike left two miners dead at Eckman, W. Va.

Transport Found In Alps; Some Survivors Seen

PARIS — Aerial searchers today found in the towering Alps of South Central Switzerland the wreckage of a transport plane missing three days with 11 Americans, at least four of whom were seen on the snow-blanketed mountainside.

A U. S. Army Superfortress and a Flying Fortress were wheeling over the scene after dropping food, clothing and medicine to the survivors.

The first reports radioed from the scene 10 miles southeast of Interlaken, Switzerland, gave assurance that there were survivors of the harrowing experience. In addition to the four persons seen outside the wrecked transport, officials "presumed" that others were inside.

Mass Sedition Case Dismissed

WASHINGTON — Chief Justice Bolitho J. Laws of the U. S. district court today dismissed the government's mass sedition case against 24 defendants.

Laws said he was dismissing the case because he did "not see how these defendants now can possibly obtain fair trials."

He gave the government until Dec. 2 to appeal the dismissal ruling.

WASHINGTON COLUMN

BY PETER EDSON NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, D. C.—(NEA)—With OPA now practically dead, it should be safe to tell the inside story of how women's two-way-stretch girdles didn't get rationed. Give OPA credit. Here was a chance to ration something, and they didn't do it. This is the story.

As every woman knows, there was a real wartime shortage of girdles. Big war-production firms employing many women workers put up quite a complaint that the war effort was really being impaired because their feminine workers couldn't get proper foundation garments which would enable them to work more efficiently. The employers wanted the government to do something about this, quick.

The question was referred to some of the big brains in the War Production Board's Office of Civilian Requirements. An expert was assigned to study the problem. It went through channels and finally up a program. It went through channels and finally up a program. It went through channels and finally up a program.

When OPA got the works, it was a document an inch thick. It was marked Secret, Restricted, Confidential, Do Not Read, and so on. It finally came to the attention of Patterson H. French, one of the "bosses" high in OPA's rationing division. French tossed it to William A. Molster, one of his assistants, who had to read it.

SPORTS

THIS fall's monumental meeting between Army and Notre Dame easily could be one of the last of the long and famous series. The reason is obvious. The Irish schedule simply will be much too formidable for the service schools.

Notre Dame is too good for the colleges, says Red Blaik, West Point's soft-spoken coach. Close observers would not be in the least surprised to see the United States Military Academy drop Notre Dame from its football schedule within the next year or two.

With all due respect to Michigan State, this plainly was all Frank Leahy could get in the Midwest, says a prominent Notre Dame alumnus who became a renowned coach himself after starring in the Irish backfield, but is now in another football line. "Games with Michigan State are what Notre Dame men want."

Hungry Sato Enjoying War Trial

TOKYO (UP)—Lt. Gen. Kenryo Sato, one of the 26 other major Japanese war criminals suspects on trial with former Premier Hideki Tojo, seems to be getting a kick out of the procedure that may result in the death sentence for him.

While many of the defendants are frowning and busily taking notes, Sato sits relaxed and smiling now and then nudging fellow-defendants when their names are mentioned by the prosecutors. Most of the men in the prisoners' dock sit silently hour by hour but Sato, who is an extremely large man for a Japanese, leans forward from side to side so that he can speak to his stoic

"For a minute I thought you were the governor," said the passenger. Lausche grinned. A while later she said: "I'll bet a lot of people take you for the governor, don't they?" Lausche nodded.

CALL ME LIZ

by Rene Ryerson Mart

THE STORY: Red McPan, army pilot, comes home with a chestful of ribbons and a cocky swagger. His old boss offers him a chance to finish school and a part-time job meanwhile, both of which he accepts. Russ Condon, the boss' son, is his closest friend. Russ is in love with Elise Varney, who dislikes Red. Red is dismayed to learn that his new job means working under Elise. Jackie Spencer, coach, invites Red to a formal dance, then refuses to go with him when he turns up in sport clothes.

ELISE and Russel had gone to a show. They just happened to stop in at Tonelli's near the campus for a cocktail on their way home. The place was crowded. They walked through the narrow aisle between the booths.

"Looks like we'll have to go some place else," Russel said, not finding any vacant. Elise spoke up. "Wait a minute, Russ. That one over in the corner. There's nobody in it."

But there was somebody there. A big red-haired fellow with his head sprawled on his outstretched arms on the table. A head of unruly red hair that both recognized instantly.

Russel shook him by the shoulder. "Red—Red, what's the matter?" Red straightened up slowly. Dim recognition lit his bloodshot eyes. "Hello Russ... Hello..."

"What's the matter?" Russel repeated. "I thought you were going to a dance tonight." He and Elise slid into the seat across from Red.

Red gave out with some gibberish about a uniform. "No uniform. Nosh good 'nuff. No uniform." Russel and Elise exchanged puzzled glances and Russ signaled a waiter and asked for some coffee.

Red stared malevolently across the table at Elise as if she were the cause of his trouble. "Jackie looked at his watch. Counted ahead 45 minutes. It was only at the end of that time when he went to take the samples out that he remembered Elise saying something about 40 minutes—instead of the usual 45.

He took the samples over to her and she ran the tests on them. A little frown gathered on her smooth forehead. She called Red over.

"Are you sure, Red, that you only left these in the oven 40 minutes? They test just like the ones we ran 45 minutes. I can't understand it."

Her brown eyes met his blue ones. Honestly puzzled. "Well, he wasn't going to lie about it. Not to this girl. 'All right,' he blurted savagely. 'I made a mistake and left them in 45 minutes. I got mixed in the time.'"

"Why didn't you tell me..." He remained stubbornly silent. Annoyance glinted in Elise's dark eyes. She threw the samples in the waste can and stamped her foot.

"All right, we'll start over," she said curtly. "And this time do as you're told. Or else..."

"Or else what?" he demanded sullenly. "I suppose you were going to say you'd have me fired—was that it?"

"I certainly can't work with you if you won't do as you're told," Elise said spiritedly. "Boy, you think you run this place, don't you..."

For a moment they glared at each other. Hate flashing from both pairs of angry eyes. And then something happened to Elise. She was suddenly aware of his vitality, his magnetism as she had been that night on the dance floor. Suddenly aware that her anger at him wasn't an authentic anger—that she got a thrill out of fighting with him.

Flushed and disturbed she turned her back on him. Still without looking at him, still pretending to be very busy, she said: "I'm sorry, Red, I said what I did. I had no business to. You do your work and I'll do mine. Let's start all over now on these samples." (To Be Continued)

"Trimming" sure make a difference no matter what you're offering—as Andy Botkin, keeper of the Garden Tavern, well knows. Andy doesn't just sell good beer. He sells it in a place that's clean and attractive... in nice surroundings that along with the enjoyment of a wholesome beverage of moderation.

And Andy, of course, is a whole-hearted supporter of "Self Regulation." That's the system by which the brewers and tavern keepers themselves make sure that taverns selling beer are clean and orderly. From where I sit, people like Andy also rate a "first prize." Not just for the quality of the product—but for the "trimmings" too.

Dragged Home At Night Coal Miners Like It

BROWNSVILLE, Pa. (UP)—Coal miners at the Vesta Mine are dragged home every night—but they like it.

Formerly, the weary miners trudged home at the end of the day along a rock hill. It was tough going even when the road was in good condition and worse when wet.

But now the miners walk up the hill in style, thanks to a "skootow." The device is similar to those used at Sun Valley and other winter resorts to haul skiers to the top of the run.

Murderer Plans To Continue Prison Career

PARIS, Tex., (UP)—George Penton Hedrick convicted murderer from Hugo, Okla., is making plans to continue in state prison at Huntsville a "musical career" begun as an inmate here in Lamar county jail.

The 42-year-old ex-barber has written words to 12 songs, two of which have been set to music and recorded by a Hollywood publishing company. He said all the songs, written since he was lodged in jail nearly eight months ago, are blues and hill-billy numbers.

Hedrick is under life term penitentiary sentences for both murder and robbery with firearms. Charges against him grew out of a shooting on a deserted highway near here last March, when one man was killed and another wounded.

music when I get to the penitentiary," Hedrick said, explaining that his present musical knowledge consists mostly of how to play mouth harp. He also hopes to have some of his songs aired over a radio broadcast originating each week from the state prison.

"It's easy to write songs," Hedrick claims. "Anyone can compose them if he hasn't anything to do to occupy his mind, and I haven't had anything to bother my mind the last eight months," he continued.
