LOOT FROM THEFTS HERE RECOVERED

Chief George Murphy was in Breckenridge Saturday morning to recover articles and money taken in robberies of Ranger homes last week.

He made the trip to Breckenridge after being notified by Sheriff Ollie Jackson of Stephens county that a boy held there had confessed the thefts in Ranger. He confessed to entering the Delbert Capps home and the Pete Jensen home.

Saturday afternoon he and Delbert Capps went to Weatherford in the hope of recovering more of the stolen items from the father of the boy, who in his confession stated that he had sent to his father, Roo Yarbrough, a black suitcase containing a ten dollar bill, three one dollar bills, $6.50 in change, a shirt, pair of gloves, four men's handkerchiefs and a ladies handkerchief.

Recovered Saturday morning were three shirts, one with the initials P. J. in the collar, pair of gloves, navy pen stripe suit, binoculars and a dozen handkerchiefs.

The boy, J. R. Yarbrough, 14, of Weatherford, was picked up by authorities at Albany and turned over to the Breckenridge officers. In his confession he stated that he left home on Monday, January 20. This side of Mineral Wells he stated that he entered a house and took what appeared to be a girls' red suit. He donned the suit and it was this that caused him to be picked up, as Mineral Wells authorities had broadcast the description of the suit taken. From Ranger, after going into the two homes mentioned he went to Breckenridge where he burglarized a number of homes and then went on to Albany.

Among other things he admitted taking besides those things from Ranger homes were a collection of wedding rings, watches, other rings, bracelets, and money.

Miss Henry To Have Role In Play At TCU

FORT WORTH, Jan. 25 — Miss Dorothy Henry of Ranger will play "Nona" in the cast of "Uncle Harry," the next production of the Falls Players at Texas Christian University.

"Uncle Harry," one-time Broadway favorite recently made into a motion picture, has been chosen as the first spring production of the Falls Players. Written by Thomas Job, it is one of the more ingenious mysteries written in the past 10 years.

Miss Henry, senior, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Henry, Ranger.

Quit Scolding Young Folk Educator Advises

PHILADELPHIA (UP)—Adults make life difficult for adolescents because they have too many fears, according to Dr. O. Spurgeon English, of Temple University medical school.

"Too many people admonish, criticize and scold rather than enjoy the adolescent," Dr. English said. "As parents, we need to realize that the best chance of retaining a child and holding him as a friend when he reaches maturity, is to let him make his plans and allow him freedom while doing so."

OPENING OF THEATRE DATE IS CHANGED

P. E. Garner, Ranger and Eastland Interstate Theatre representative announced today that in view of the fact that the opening date of the Majestic Theatre in Eastland conflicted with another program, that the date has been moved up to Thursday, February 13, instead of Friday, February 14.

Garner stated that immediately after learning that an Eastland County Community Concert Association program was also scheduled to be held in Eastland on February 14, he contacted Interstate officials in Dallas who suggested that the date be moved up one day. Interstate officials and local representatives stated that even though it was at considerable expense to them and would entail some inconvenience, that they felt moving the date up was the best thing to do.

Garner stated that since the date had to be changed that the program also had to be changed and instead of the Razor's Edge for the opening night, Margie, a musical in technicolor, will be shown at the opening show, which will begin promptly at 8:00 o'clock on the night of February 13.

On Sunday the Razor's Edge will open for a three day run at the theatre, with showings scheduled for Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

Find Venezuelans Outspoken About American Girls

KERRVILLE, Tex., (UP) — Of the 14 cadets enrolled at Schreiner Institute from foreign countries, two Venezuelans boys are the most outspoken in their observations regarding American girls.

Alfred J. Medina, whose father owns a ranch near Caracas, Venezuela, was somewhat puzzled. Laughingly he avers, "The girls are different in Venezuela. Up here they will go with anyone. At home they went only with their sweethearts."

Juan Castillo, from the same community, remarked, "One thing I like especially are the good looking girls in town."

Dad, Experienced Cuts In On Baby Sitting Racket

MADISON, Wis. (UP) — Teenage "baby sitters" may find it tough to get a job if any more fellows like Jim Gerard turn up.

Girard, 24-year-old law student at the University of Wisconsin, placed the following advertisement in a Madison newspaper:

"Baby sitter. Responsible father, law student, experienced diaper changer and bubbler. References furnished."

Madison's housing shortage forced Girard to leave his wife and baby daughter at home in Freeport, Ill., when he came here to attend school. He decided to capitalize on his experience as a parent to earn money for more trips home.

Dead End Kids Found Not Only Delinquents

MADISON, Wis. (UP) — A survey of Madison's juvenile delinquent records show that most of the offenders would be lost on a Hollywood "Dead End" street.

Contrary to Hollywood's characterization of the typical delinquent of the 446 youthful law violators arrested in Madison during the last year, all but a "very few" came from homes "far above" the financial and social standing of their movieland counterparts. In fact, the records disclosed that more than one-fourth of the offenders came from homes in the so-called wealthier wards of the city.

Agriculture is the largest single industry in the nation.

Asks Guarantee Of Austrian Independence

LONDON — The United States proposed today that the Big Four guarantee the independence of Austria until the United Nations has a military force large enough to do the job.

Gen. Mark W. Clark, American occupation commander in Austria, submitted the American proposal to the Big Four deputy foreign ministers. They are making preliminary studies of problems involved in the German and Austrian peace treaties.

Fedor Gusev of Russia objected to writing the plan into the Austrian treaty. He contended the UN charter already provides for Big Four responsibility for maintaining the peace until UN can.

Last Rites Held In Ft. Worth For Former Resident

Funeral services were conducted Saturday afternoon in Fort Worth for W. T. (Jinks) Garrett, a former Ranger and Eastland resident.

Mr. Garrett died in Ft. Worth Friday night. Friends here today stated that he had been in ill health for sometime.

He was the uncle of Garrett Bohning of Lometa, formerly of Ranger and of Mrs. Huck Newberry of Ft. Worth, also formerly of Ranger and Gorman.

12 KILLED IN CRASH AT LONDON PORT

LONDON—A chartered DC-3 Dakota transport taking off for South Africa crashed and burned at the snow swept Croydon Air-drome today, killing 12 of the 23 persons aboard.

Three nuns and two babies were among the 11 passengers who died in the flaming wreckage. Capt. Ted Spencer, pilot of the plane and one of the owners of the Spencer Airways, a South African company operating the transport, also was killed.

Eighteen passengers and five crewmen were on the Dakota when it rose from icy Croydon runway, bound for Salisbury, Rhodesia, and Johannesburg, South Africa, by way of Rome, Cairo and Nairobi.

Seven passengers and four crewmen survived. They were taken to Croydon General Hospital suffering from burns and shock.

Witnesses said the plane climbed to about 150 feet. Its port wing dipped. It fell to the ice covered field, skidded into a parked Dakota of the Czech Air Service, hurtled into a wall and exploded. An agent for Spencer Airways said he believed the port engine failed.

O'Daniel Labels Portal Pay Legal Hi-Jacking

WASHINGTON — Sen. W. Lee O'Daniel, D. Tex., said today that the "legalized high-jacking" of portal-to-portal pay suits is stagnating industry and delaying negotiations on new wage contracts.

He said the agreement yesterday by the CIO and the steel industry to extend present contracts until May 1, was not inspired by any "great generosity" on the part of the union.

"It was absolutely imperative that they be extended because the uncertainty over portal-to-portal is so great that no agreements could be entered into now," O'Daniel said.

Of the 3,500,000 persons in Greater New York in 1930, more than two-thirds lived in about 90,000 tenement houses.

REVISION OF PACT SAID TO BE UNDERWAY

LONDON — The foreign office reported today that preliminary steps toward revision of the Anglo Russian alliance, as suggested by Premier Josef Stalin, were "under active consideration" in London.

Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin "undoubtedly" will open personal negotiations on revision of the alliance when he goes to Moscow for the Big Four meeting in Germany in March, a foreign office spokesman said.

Stalin said that strengthening the treaty by the removal of unspecified "reservations" was necessary before the 20-year alliance could be extended to 50 years.

His suggestion was contained in a note to Bevin. The Russian generalissimo accepted Bevin's assurances that Britain still regarded the treaty as in effect, contrary to allegations that had emanated from Moscow.

The correspondence between Bevin and Stalin was considered by Whitehall sources as the best augury for improved Anglo-Soviet relations since the early stages of the war. It also was certain to strengthen Bevin's position at home. A group within the labor party has been attacking him as Anti-Russian.

Building For GI Flying School Now On Grounds

It was announced today that the hutment secured for the GI Flying school has been delivered and is now in the Airport grounds.

The building is 16 feet by 48 feet and will be converted into a "ready" room or classroom. The building was secured from Camp Berkeley.

Date of the opening of the school has not been announced but plans for its completion are being pushed and it is hoped to have in operation very soon.

It is urged that all directors make their plans to attend as important business will come before the group.

Blindness No Handicap To Union President

ERIE, Pa. (UP)—Husky, red-haired Charles Kennedy, 35, has forged a new life for himself by using insight instead of eyesight.

The former fireman was blinded in an automobile accident in 1937. He started studying Braille and soon was a proof reader, preparing a Braille library.

During the war Kennedy worked for the Penn Union Co. assembling electrical connectors. The firm described him as a "capable efficient worker" and gave him a permanent job.

Last spring, big "Red" was elected president of local 463, CIO United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers Union. Since then he has been traveling to union conventions, keeping his own home, and cooking his own meals.

Northwestern U. Starts $500,000 Research Plan

EVANSTON, Ill. (UP) — Northwestern University has started a three-year, $500,000 program of fundamental research in physics which university officials say may lead to new and improved communication devices.

The program, financed by the Navy, will be directed by Professor Walter S. Huxford and Robert J. Cashman of Northwestern's physics department.

It is an extension of war-time research in which they developed a new invisible-ray telephone and many new types of photo-electric cells used in the phone and in various Army and Navy secret weapons.

Montecassion Victims Are Being Identified

MONTECASSINO, Italy (UP) —The Italian government is working in the ruins of the Abbey of Montecassino in an effort to determine the number and identity of persons killed in the allied bombing of Feb. 15, 1944.

Remains of 148 persons have been found thus far. Almost all have been identified. According to the information given by monks of the cloister, between 300 and 500 persons were inside the abbey at the time of the bombing. They had sought refuge there as the war drove them from their homes.

The Italian government intends to erect a monument to the victims of the bombing as soon as further identification of remains has been made.

At the peak of the 1946 farm season, about 1,000,000 veterans were working in agriculture.

OFFICIALS SEE SIGNS OF '47 PEACE IN INDUSTRY

WASHINGTON — Extension of the steel industry's nationally significant labor-management contract touched off optimism among government labor officials today over prospects for industrial peace in 1947.

Many officials saw encouraging evidence of a trend away from crippling, industry-wide strikes in the agreement by the CIO United Steelworkers and the U. S. Steel Corp., to extend their present contract through April 30.

Edgar L. Warren, chief of the labor department's conciliation service, praised the extension as "a further indication that the steelworkers and the U. S. Steel Corp. are making a real effort to adjust their differences peacefully."

Labor observers agreed that it was the most hopeful sign since the war ended.

It is significant, they said, because the steelworkers' is the CIO's key union and also because steel is the nation's basic industry. The steelworkers union usually sets the wage pattern for other CIO unions in most mass production industries.

It was noted, however, that even if other CIO unions follow the steelworkers lead the industry would not yet be quite clear. The United Mine Workers, AFL, trace with the government ends March 31, and another soft coal strike at that time was considered possible.

Labor observers saw in the steel contract extension further evidence that in approaching new contract negotiations the CIO is watching the Republican-controlled Congress closely. This has been evident ever since congressional Republicans made it clear they are out to curb labor power through legislation.

As CIO and Steelworker President Philip Murray pointed out in announcing the extension, the steel workers also want to see what Congress does about legislation to outlaw the pending $5,000,000,000 in lawsuits for back portal-to-portal pay. Most of the suits were filed by CIO unions.

Members of the American Legion and American Legion Auxiliary will entertain with a March of Dimes dance Friday night, January 31 at 8:00 o'clock in the Legion Hall.

Music will be furnished by the Musical Ramblers of Eastland and all proceeds from the dance will go to the cause of the March of Dimes.

SPORTS

BY HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK (NEA)—When a jury found Alvin J. Paris guilty of offering bribes to them, Bert Bell finally got around to suspending Marie Hapes and Frank Filchock.

Although police picked up Paris, Hapes and Filchock on the eve of the Bears-Giants playoff, Dec. 15, Commissioner Bell had not yet made up his mind regarding the net's athletes. He asked for even more time before deciding their professional fate.

Testimony at the trial brought out the fact that Filchock got into the pay-off payoff because he lied to Mayor William O'Dwyer in the case, small hours preceding the game.

Hapes was not permitted to participate because he told the truth. The mayor gave Filchock a clean bill of health when told by the player that he had no direct offer from the would-be fixer Paris.

NOW you hear talk that, with Bill Paschal and others out with injuries, the New York club hardly could have taken the field without tailback Filchock.

And the fact remains that Hapes and Filchock failed to tell the proper authorities about the proposition made to them.

As Commissioner of Baseball, Judge Landis gave men life for less than that.

All Buck Weaver did was sit in with the Black Sox at their first meeting. The famous third baseman told them they were crazy.

would have nothing to do with the plot, played excellent ball, but was barred forever because he didn't holler cop.

There might have been an excuse for Weaver because nothing like the throwing of a ball game, let alone a World Series, had ever before been washed publicly.

COLLEGE-BRED, well-paid Hapes and Filchock had plenty of precedent to warn them, however—in baseball, if not football.

The biggest rap against the National League's current administration is that, with all the suspicious talk, the football people were spectators while the law swooped down upon Paris, Hapes and Filchock.

This despite the fact that Paris had wine, dined and otherwise entertained his intended dupes for three weeks.

"Paris was a good fellow," says Filchock, even now. "He was nice to a lot of football players."

It is all well and good for Bert Bell to campaign for further legislation against gambling on sports, but his hesitancy makes it clear that professional football needs at its head what baseball used to have—a strong man.

"KEEP YOUR HAT ON, WE'RE GOING PLACES!"

STOP JOHN CLAY!
By Lionel Mosher

THE STORY: Sam Pringle, Pike's employer, wishes him to return to New York immediately. Pike refuses. He receives a dinner invitation from John Clay. Blind suggests they pool their information. Pike says no.

VI
DIKE turned in at the gates of Number Ten Orchard Hill as a clock in town struck 8.

There had been a thunder shower. The leaves dripped rain and the blades of grass on John Clay's lawn glistened like tiny icicles.

The houseman who took Pike's hat had on a white coat.

"It's Mr. Calvin," Pike told him. "Oh," someone said from the hall. "You're early."

Pike could see her standing at the foot of the stairway. She stooped to adjust a buckle on her slipper, then straightened and came toward him.

"I'm Marcia." She put out her hand and grasped his firmly. "Father told me you were coming."

She smiled and Pike looked at the bold red lips and eyes that were bright and searching. He knew there was a Marcia Clay. Some years back she had appeared quite regularly in the rostrum sections of the newspapers, but since her mother's death, she had retired from publicity.

Now, as Pike saw the long black velvet dinner dress against all this shining blonde loveliness, he wondered if he was being subjected to a little propaganda.

"In here," she said and linked her arm through his.

MARCIA CLAY patting the divan beside her. "Sit here," she said. "Father will be down soon."

Pike sat down, took out his cigarette, and offered her one. She took it and Pike held his lighter for her. She leaned forward, angled a glance up at him through long lashes, then put her cigarette to the flame.

It was started by Mrs. T. C. Kellum in 1911. During the next two years it went to Iowa, Missouri, and Kansas. Since then it has traveled around the neighborhood.

"Nothing like travel for yeast" she says. And the neighbors agree saying it makes superior bread.

"Pike Calvin." She inhaled cautiously, then let the smoke trickle out through pursed lips. "You must be somebody."

"No," he said. "It isn't necessary to be modest," she said.

"But it is necessary to be somebody," she nodded.

"Oh, yes." She nodded. "If you were nobody, father wouldn't bother with you. Unless..." She paused, knocked an ash from her cigarette with a forefinger that was tipped with green. "What do you do, Mr. Calvin?"

"I'm a reporter."

"Heavens! Does father know that?"

"Why?" Pike said. "Doesn't your father like reporters?"

"Uh-uh," she said. "Father doesn't like anybody, really. Especially reporters. Especially lazily. Since they've been buzzing him about that conference business. Shall we have a drink?"

Pike started to get up to mix drinks, but she put a hand against his chest.

"Sit still," she said. "This is one thing I do well. A daiquiri?"

"Fine," Pike said.

She found some Persian limes on an amply stocked bar-wagon and went to work.

She manipulated the shaker, unscrewed the cap from the nozzle, and handed Pike a glass. He watched the creamy beads gather on the surface of the liquor and he had an odd feeling of wariness. One of these days, he thought, one of the drinks will be spilled. And he was going right on with things against the advice of Sam Pringle, who talked guardedly about the disappearance of John Clay's secretary, Mary Butler.

Pike had expected to see Mary Butler. He had not hoped to see John Clay. Now Mary Butler was not here and John Clay had invited Pike to dinner.

"Here's to us," Marcia Clay raised her glass. "To us," Pike said.

THE door chimes sounded. Marcia Clay turned her supple body to look into the hall. "It's Fay and Gil," she said. "Who?"

My cousin and Gil Manson. Pike could see Fay Tudor coming through the door. Her auburn hair was swept up over those incisive green eyes and her straight slim figure was sheathed in a long white dress. She looked very beautiful, very calm, and very self-contained.

Behind her was a tall man in a white mess-jacket. He was wide-shouldered, slim-hipped. Good-looking, Pike noted, but with a touch of acid in the dark eyes and broad sulky mouth.

"Fay, darling," Marcia stood up and took Fay's hands. "Have you met Mr. Calvin?"

Fay looked at Pike deliberately. "How do you do, Mr. Calvin?" she said.

"And Mr. Manson."

"Pleased," Manson said in a tone that revealed he was not pleased.

"Your first visit, Calvin?" Pike nodded.

"Staying long?" Manson was busy with his drink.

"Not long," Pike said. "Business or pleasure?"

Pike looked at him. "Gil," Marcia said, "after all."

"It's all right," Pike said. "I'm used to it."

"In this charming little back water we're all curious," Manson said. "Especially about someone so eminent."

"Eminent?" Marcia said. "He said he was a reporter."

"He's a war correspondent," Manson said. "He's written a book."

"I might have known," Marcia said.

There was a faint sound in the hallway. Pike glanced over his shoulder. He saw him standing there watching them. He looked big and expensive. He had on a gray Piping-Rock flannel suit with white chalk stripes. He was not very tall, but he looked solid and immovable.

"Father," Marcia said. (To Be Continued)

LEADING INSURANCE MEN TO APPEAR ON PROGRAM

One million-dollar-a-year producers will share their selling know-how with Ranger life underwriters when the latter meet with other North Texas agents at the Baker Hotel in Dallas February 13 for the opening session of the annual Tri-City Sales Congress of the Texas Association of Life Underwriters. It was announced Saturday by Hal Webb, president of the Dallas Association.

The speakers will be E. T. Proctor of Nashville, president of the Tennessee Association of Life Underwriters, and Edward Choate, past president of the Los Angeles Association, who will be members of a team of the nation's top authorities on life insurance selling who will conduct the tri-city series, opening at Dallas February 13 and continuing at San Antonio February 14 and Houston February 15.

The speakers will be heard in the three cities by more than 1,000 Texas life underwriters who are expected to assemble from more than a score of local associations throughout the state for the educational sessions. The team will be headed by Philip B. Hobbs, Chicago, president of the National Association of Life Underwriters.

Mr. Proctor's subject will be "Deep in the Heart of Texas" and Mr. Choate will talk on the topic, "One Man's Philosophy, or My Magic Lamp".

A native Kentuckian, Mr. Proctor began his life insurance career as agent in Kentucky for the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company, serving later as supervisor and district agent. He is now general agent for Tennessee for the company and heads an agency that has $60,000,000 of life insurance in force and produced over $8,000,000 of business last year. He is a life member of the Million Dollar Round Table of the National Association of Life Underwriters.

Mr. Choate, who entered life insurance selling in 1922, is agent for the New England Mutual Life Insurance Company at Los Angeles and has been a life member of the Million Dollar Round Table since 1943. His life insurance sales totaled $1,200,000 in his biggest production month, and $2,568,000 in his biggest production year.

A highlight of the program in each city will be talks by representatives from the Leaders' Round Table of Texas and the Industrial Leaders' Round Table of the Texas Association, comprised of leading salesmen in ordinary and industrial life insurance fields.

SOUTHERN SENATORS MAP FILIBUSTER OF FILIBUSTERS

By Lee Nichols
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP)—The Senate may find itself involved in a filibuster against ending filibusters one of these days. Four bills have been introduced to limit senate debate by a simple majority vote.

The bills were sponsored by Sens. Wayne Morse, R., Ore.; Glen Taylor, D., Idaho; Leverett Salmerston, R., Mass., and William E. Knowland, R., Cal. And chances appear good that the new GOP-backed rules committee will send some form of anti-filibuster legislation to the senate floor.

If the filibuster to preserve the filibuster comes, it promises to be a lulu. Southern senators say they are ready to talk "at length—at very great length" against any effort to end "the sacred right of unlimited debate."

The southerners will miss the leather lungs of Sen. Theodore G. "The Man" Bilbo, D., Miss., if he fails to return but they have several good talkers in reserve.

There is Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D., La., who threatened to talk for 40 days in Bilbo's behalf before the Mississippi decided to leave for an operation. Sen. John H. Overton, D., La., hails from the same state as the late "Kingfish" Huey Long and has excellent staying power through his voice is none too powerful.

Sen. James E. Eastland, D., Miss., is another strong and long-winded orator from the southland. Others can be expected to join their camp if a showdown battle develops.

Morse told a reporter: that if such a filibuster develops, "We'll beat 'em the way we beat Bilbo—agree to hold the senate in session 24 hours a day until they give up."

He said it would be impossible for the southerners to hold up under such tactics.

ity rule and won't look kindly on stoppage of the legislative wheels for such a purpose," he said.

The anti-filibuster proposals provide for a change in the senate rules to permit cutting off any debate by majority vote. Present rules permit "colture" on a two-thirds vote, but this is so hard to get that debate has been limited only four times in the past-20 years.

Effect of an anti-filibuster rule would be to open the way to passage of anti-poll tax, anti-lynching and fair employment practice legislation, previously blocked by southern Democratic talkfests.

The late Huey Long generally is credited with the senate record for one-man filibustering—he talked continuously for 15 hours and 35 minutes in 1935 against passage of the National Industrial Recovery Act.

But actually, the late Sen. Robert M. LaFollette, Sr., once held out for 18 hours and 23 minutes. That was in 1908 when he opposed passage of the Aldrich-Vreeland currency bill.

Sod houses formerly were built on the prairies of Nebraska and the Dakotas.

Has a Party

With scads of political parties already, Italy now has a new one—an anti-Communist Socialist group, headed by E. Saragat, above, president of the constitutional assembly. When closer cooperation with Communists was advocated at recent 25th Socialist Congress in Rome, he walked out. formed new socialist group whose emblem is seen in background. Three arrows, symbolizing "forward," overshadow the sickle and hammer.

In 1960, of the 181,471 Negro males of voting age in Alabama, only 3,000 were registered to vote.

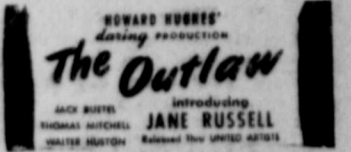

Early Dial Phone Goes To Museum

ST. PAUL, Minn. (UP)—The 1,000,000th contribution to the Minnesota Historical Society was a dial telephone invented by Augustus A. Munson, an amateur St. Paul inventor.

Munson said that as far as he knew, he invented the Northwest's first automatic telephone after taking apart two early-day inventions of Thomas A. Edison. Other items he invented include a motor-opening window for hospital patients and a "lockout" party line for telephone systems. Munson said he never made any money with his inventions. "I just like to invent things," he said. "Anyone who has any use for them can have them free."

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICE

"Truth" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist on Sunday, January 26.

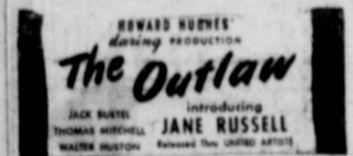

The Golden Text is: "It is the Spirit that beareth witness, because the Spirit is Truth" (1 John 5:6).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Teach me thy way, O Lord; I will walk in thy truth" (Psalms 86:11).

The Lesson - Sermon also in the Christian Science textbook, includes the following passage from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "If God, the All-in-all, be the creator of the spiritual universe, including man, then everything entitled to a classification as truth, or Science, must be comprised in a knowledge or understanding of God, for there can be nothing beyond illimitable divinity" (page 127).

Strong Unions Urged As Aid For Teachers

CHICAGO (UP)—A spokesman for the American Federation of Teachers (AFL) says the educational "crisis" today could have been avoided, if a majority of teachers were organized in "strong unions affiliated with organized labor."

Irving R. Kuenzli, national secretary-treasurer, said most independent teachers' associations, affiliated with the National Education Association, "have been in the nature of company unions, controlled by administrators, many of whom are deeply embroiled in local politics."

"The crisis facing American education today and the low professional status of teaching are graphic and tragic evidence of the failure of such organizations," he said.

Kuenzli said there never had been a strike in the history of the federation until "the deplorable condition in St. Paul, Minn., compelled the teachers, both union and non-union to strike as a last resort."

"THE OUTLAW"

SAYS EXTENDED SUGAR CONTROLS NECESSARY

SAN FRANCISCO—With estimated 1947 sugar supplies in this country at least 1,000,000 tons short of public requirements, it is imperative that government controls over sugar be extended through 1947, if we are to avoid a repetition of the severe shortages and skyrocketing prices which followed abrupt decontrol of sugar after World War I.

This warning has been issued by Earl B. Wilson, President of California and Hawaiian Sugar Refining Corporation, Ltd., and former director of the Sugar Branch of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, who states that certain uniformed interests are campaigning for precipitate action in decontrolling sugar. It is Mr. Wilson's belief that lifting of controls may lead to a repetition of occurrences following World War I, when uncontrolled sugar prices with the distribution and consumption of sugar.

Mr. Wilson states that his company and the sugar industry as a whole are anxious for a return of the sugar business to a free market status, but want it accomplished in such a manner as to assure reasonable stability of prices and equitable distribution during the decontrol period. To that end Mr. Wilson is urging that Congress immediately enact such legislation as is necessary to extend sugar controls through December 31, 1947, at the same time directing the Department of Agriculture to carry out the program of orderly, gradual decontrol which it has already undertaken in conjunction with the sugar industry. Widespread public approval and support of these recommendations is already indicated, C and H officials state.

Jeeps In Japan Get Face Lifting

TOKYO (UP)—The jeep has undergone such local beauty treatments here that you frequently don't recognize the old girl.

Tokyo now has completely enclosed jeeps, jeeps with two doors that lock, jeeps with glass windows, front side and back, and jeeps with leather-covered springs and sponge-rubber seats. Paint jobs run from conservative black to chrome yellow and robin's egg blue.

Supporting Mr. Wilson's stand in urging gradual rather than sudden decontrol of sugar are such organizations as the California Retail Grocers and Merchants Association, representing grocers throughout California, the Cannery League of California, representing the majority of the State's food canners, and others either directly or indirectly concerned which kept the rain out. Then duraluminum tops and sides, salvaged from wrecked Japanese aircraft, began to appear.

After a jeep is sold at a regular army jeep sale, it is usually driven (or more often pushed) to Japanese garage, where, for a liberal amount of yen and cigarettes, it gets a complete transformation.

In some de luxe models, heaters and radios have been installed. The front seat is usually remodeled to seat three. The back seat gets extra stuffing and a new back. If possible chrome bumpers are added, together with streamlined fender guards and a horn that chimes.

Jesus Crosses Racial Boundaries

Scripture John 4:1-42

BY WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.

THE story of the meeting and conversation between Jesus and the Woman of Samaria at Jacob's Well, near the city of Sychar, emphasizes the attitude of Jesus toward the prevalent prejudices and social customs of His time. This attitude was one of courageous disregard of both prejudices and customs which were at variance with the spirit of love and kindness.

The woman underlined the fact that deep prejudices existed with her surprised statement, "The Jews have no dealing with the Samaritans," when she found herself being treated courteously and kindly by a Jew.

This hostility between Jews and Samaritans who should have been good neighbors was of the same sort that has kept peoples apart, in mutual prejudice and hostility, throughout the ages. It has kept Europe for centuries a breeding-ground of wars and violence, and if some bigots had their way our American continent would soon be turned into a like scene of mutually hostile minority groups.

LIKE the feeling that separated Jews and Samaritans while Jesus walked the earth, the prejudices of our own day have often some basis in fact.

There were real differences, religiously between Jews and Samaritans. The religion of the latter was a corrupted form of Judaism, and Jesus unhesitatingly expressed his conviction about the difference, saying, "Salvation is of the Jews." But differences did not prevent the Master from acting in the spirit of love.

Real differences of race, language, color, and opinion divide men. It is useless to ignore them. But why should they cause hatred and ill will?

It is natural that thoughtless and evil-spirited people should be bigoted, but thoughtful and educated people, and above all those who profess Christianity, ought to be quickened with a spirit of good will that can rise above prejudice where differences are found.

GOOD will adjusts differences and errors, and effects mutual understandings.

Jesus has set an example for us all, putting into practice His teaching about brotherly love. It is possible for us too to overcome and live above our prejudices.

I knew a man who so overcame what he confessed to me was a strong prejudice against the Negro that he became a life-long, prominent worker for Negro education and advancement.

That is conscious Christianity—divine impulses conquering human differences and dislikes. We need more of it.

Band Leader Says Bobby-Sox Antics Passing

By Claire Cox
United Press Staff Correspondent
CHICAGO (UP) — Band leader Glen Gray believes bobby-soxers are growing up. They aren't screaming any more, he said.

"Maybe they are just losing their voices, but regardless of the reason, they are at last beginning to keep quiet," he added.

Gray said screaming young girls had been bothering him for 15 years, tearing buttons off his coats, grabbing his handkerchiefs and leaving him black-and-blue.

"The kids used to interrupt our programs when we played in theaters, by dancing up and down the aisles and running up to the stage with presents for the orchestra members," he said.

"It got so the customers who really wanted to listen to our music stayed home."

"Got swing music in on its way to the dustiest top shelf of the music cabinet," Gray reported, "and along with it is going the bobby-soxer."

The old folks are getting their chance to enjoy life now that sweet music is being played again, he commented.

Gray said that when teenagers first started their antics it was flustering.

"It meant that I was beginning to attract attention," he said. "But I discovered, as did a lot of other people, that they were the ones who were attracting the most attention."

"Apparently, they finally discovered that no one thought they were cute or smart."

"They cost us a lot of money, too. Nobody can play to a bunch of kids who drink milk and pop and make a profit."

The cooling of milk as quickly as possible after it is drawn from a cow is desirable to keep high quality and good flavor.

Frozen Fish

While residents of other sections of the country were mourning the damage done to livestock and coal bins by the recent frigid wave, Texas Gulf Coast fishermen were just beginning to count the cost to them. This scene is a sample of what happened along 90 miles of coastline in the Laguna Madre, a shallow, narrow body of water between Padre Island and the mainland south of Corpus Christi, Texas. Flying Game Warden Rob Tanner, checking over a small strip of beach, said this scene was practically uniform for nearly 100 miles. The fish died of cold when the Gulf and Laguna waters dropped to near freezing. Estimated 10 million pounds of fish died and washed ashore. (NEA Telephoto) ordered its first 15 Jeeps. Marshall also was closely associated with Harry Hopkins, confidant of President Roosevelt and his personal representative on a mission to Moscow. Marshall made his first war-time flight to London with Hopkins.

Former Secretary of State Cordell Hull is revealed as another personal friend. Hull, in reply to Marshall's letter upon his resignation, wrote the general:

"As I look back over the past, I know that I could never have had a finer and truer associate and friend than yourself. For your never-failing cooperation and assistance, I shall remain eternally grateful."

"I also want you to know of my profound admiration for your distinguished record of service to our country and the United Nations."

Some Portal Suits Seek Most Of Firms' Assets

CLEVELAND (UP) — Some Cleveland employees who have filed large portal-to-portal pay suits may possibly end up working for themselves.

In many instances here the suits asked nearly the total assets of the company. If the full claim were allowed, the employees could employees of the Cleveland Automatic Machine Company a $3,000,000 portal suit has been filed. Standard's corporation records list total assets of the company at $3,250,000.

On, if the $18,000,000 claim against the Midland Steel Products Company is allowed, the firm's assets would dwindle to $3,000,000.

The same situation exists in three other Cleveland industries faced with large portal suits.

Blonde Heads Thrive
CHICAGO (UP) — Blondes have more hair on their heads than brunettes, red-heads or brownettes, according to Samuel Grant, director of the Helene Curtis laboratories.

He said some blondes have as many as 140,000 hairs on their skulls, brunettes and brownettes an average of 120,000 and red-heads only 90,000.

On the average, he said, one square inch of scalp contains about 1,000 hairs.

MARSHALL'S CAREER AS DIPLOMAT BEGAN 1939

By Dorothy Williams
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP) — President Roosevelt in mid-summer of 1939 gave Gen. George C. Marshall, new Secretary of State his first diplomatic assignment—a good will mission to Brazil.

Marshall won Brazilian esteem with gifts of candy to a founding home near Curitiba. The secretary's wife, Mrs. Katherine Tupper Marshall, relates this anecdote in her recent book, "Together."

Marshall was sent to Brazil to head off the intended visit of Gen. Goes Monteiro, chief of the Brazilian army, to Germany. The American announcement and subsequent visit of Marshall to Brazil did the trick. The candy cemented the friendship.

Britain's former U. S. Ambassador, Lord Halifax, delighted in the story, Mrs. Marshall recounts.

"Whenever we dined with him, he (Lord Halifax) would press George to tell the other guests how he won out on his Brazilian mission with a 'tin of taffy,'" she writes. On another occasion Marshall represented the United States, at the state department's request, at Mexico's annual independence celebration.

Marshall attended all of the war-time sessions of the Big Three or Four from the Atlantic Charter meeting through the Potsdam conference.

After the Cairo-Tehran conference, the general summed up his reaction to Marshal Stalin:

"He is a strong leader, direct and practical."

His present ambassador to Russia, Gen. W. Bedell Smith, was instrumental in the birth of the jeep. Mrs. Marshall relates how Smith, then secretary to the general staff, told Marshall of the inventor's blueprints of the jeep.

"What was your reaction?" Marshall asked.

"That he has a find," Smith replied.

"Well, that is enough for me," the general replied and the army
