Truman Associates Summoned In Vote Case

Well . . . I Dunno, But . . .

Speaking of getting things reversed, two people told today of having seen birds chasing cats and another instance where the cat in the family beats down the ears of the dog. And when the dog once enlists the aid of a neighboring dog, the cat whipped 'em both.

The Rains Poultry Company was doing a landslide business in eggs Saturday and after doing a little figuring we learned that the lot we saw amounted to 9,000 eggs. That's a heap of eggs and evidently the hens around the country are doing their bit. All of the eggs, it was explained in this area.

This kind of thing is good for the town and the farmer, too. So long as a marketing place is provided by the town, farmers will bring their poultry products to Ranger. When the farmer comes to Ranger to sell, he's going to buy, too. And Ranger should do everything in its power to encourage farmers to bring their wares to Ranger.

Heard of a plan in a neighboring town for creating a farmers market. The market will be a trading post for all kinds of farm products. That might be a good plan but so long as establishments already here can absorb what is brought in, the market might be surplus. But one way or the other, Ranger needs the trade of those farmers.

Ranger is also becoming a center for the sale of wool and mohair with the C. P. Cloud Company buying these products from the sheep and goat ranchers.

H. C. Wilkinson reported today that his clip from 96 sheep amounted to 1190 pounds or an average of about 12 and one third pounds to the head. This he explained is a little lighter than usual due to weather conditions.

Then, Ranger is getting to be quite a peanut market with the Ranger Peanut Company operated by T. C. Wylie, and G. C. Love and J. P. Moseley, all providing a market for the farmer's peanut crops.

All of these contribute toward making Ranger a prosperous community.

We've given much thought to the virtues or otherwise of parallel parking in Ranger but we did notice this morning how parked cars block the view of drivers trying to turn onto Main street. The street being so narrow, a driver has to pull away out onto main street before oncoming traffic can be seen.

If the cars were parked parallel the view would be wider and would provide less danger of colliding with cars at intersections. Have heard a number of people advocating the theory that parallel parking would be better. They point to the fact that frequently people backing out from opposite sides of the street, back into each other. That is pretty narrow when the street can't accommodate the length of two cars backing out.

Parallel parking would reduce the parking space in the downtown section but other assets might offset this.

WORLD FAMILY CONGRESS MEETS IN PARIS JUNE 22

By David A. Loehwing United Press Staff Correspondent PARIS (UP)—An attempt to bring the force of international cooperation to bear on the intricate, every-day problems of home life and human relations will be made at the World Family Congress to be held in Paris June 22 to 29.

France, which considers herself the most progressive nation in the world in matters of social justice, has invited representatives of 40 countries to attend the first world conference on families and populations.

"The improvement of family life all over the world is an essential factor in reconstruction after the war and in the maintenance of world peace," Robert Boudet, general secretary, said in outlining the reasons for calling the congress. "Yet at the present time families in numerous countries of the world find themselves in extremely difficult and precarious positions."

Discussion at the congress will center around five main themes:

1. The need for higher living standards for families.
2. Working women.
3. The world housing shortage.
4. Relations between parents and children.
5. Family organizations and their role in the state.

Discussing the first point, Boudet said, "Several countries have sought to remedy the injustice which has long weighed on the fathers and mothers obliged to raise their children on salaries no higher than those received by bachelors."

"Various systems of family allocations or doles have been tried in order to lift the living standards of the families, thus avoiding child labor and the impoverishment of large families. The conference will compare these systems."

Related problems, such as the effect on population growth of financial aid to families, will be discussed. In France, for instance, the birth rate now exceeds the death rate for the first time in a century as the result of liberal subsidization of families since the war. The discussion of "working women" is expected to bring up a whole host of topics, including equal rights and wages for women, post-war manpower needs, unemployment, and effects on children and population.

Recognizing that the post-war housing shortage is nearly worldwide, the congress will discuss its effect on family life, whether it has reduced marriages, the benefits and disadvantages of collective dwellings, and methods for encouraging construction and redistributing available housing so that large dwellings may be placed at the disposal of large families. The question of whether the housing shortage contributes to drunkenness is one of the more abstract points on the agenda.

The subjects, "relations between parents and children," calls for a comparison of all the basic cultures of the 40 nations expected to attend, comprising discussions of home discipline, schools, and preparation of girls for marriage. Also, under this heading the phenomenon of post-war juvenile delinquency will be examined.

The fifth general heading will group discussions of family organizations such as the sponsoring organization itself, the French National Union of Family Associations, which in France officially represents "the family" in its relations with the government.

Electronic Trap Devised To Nab Auto Speeders

EAST NORWALK, Conn. (UP)—A little black box containing a device employing war-time radar soon will be used by Connecticut state police to clock motorists breaking speed laws.

The black box is being installed on a main highway, but state police would not reveal its location. It will be used at first for a study of safe speeds, traffic trends and other factors, but eventually will be utilized to check speedsters.

The device, known as the Electronic Speed Meter, was made for the state police by the automatic signal division of Eastern Industries here. It weighs only 45 pounds and can easily be concealed on a curve, in a bush, on a bridge railing or on the running board of a parked car.

The meter sends out a constant microwave signal. A moving car reflects the wave, causing a shift in the wave length proportional to the speed of the target—in this case, the car.

The direct signal from the transmitter and the reflected signal on the moving car are compared in the meter and the difference translated into miles per hour. A recording device enters the speed on a revolving sheet of paper. It is accurate to within two miles an hour, and the sheet can be presented in court as evidence.

Commissioner Edward J. Hicksett and Capt. Ralph J. Buckley, in charge of traffic, said warning cards will be sent to motorists at first. "After that, we'll go to court," Buckley said. He said he expected there would be fewer arguments with the Judge.

DR. GARSSON TESTIFIES IN FRAUD CASE

WASHINGTON — Dr. Henry M. Garsson testified today he bought a Kentucky timber tract to furnish lumber for packing munitions produced by his companies—an act, as charged by the government, to cover up payments for favors from former Congressman Andrew J. May.

Henry Garsson, his brother, Murray, and May are on trial in federal court on charges of war fraud.

The government contends that a 2100-acre Whitesburg, Ky., tract of timberland was purchased by the Garssons Munitions Combine and the Cumberland Lumber Co. was formed. May, elderly former Democratic legislator from Kentucky, was appointed fiscal agent. Through this set-up, the government charged, May was paid for favors to the Garssons.

Ghandi Says War Unlikely

Copyright, 1947, by By United Press BOMBAY—Mohandas K. Ghandi expressed his belief today that war between Russia and the United States was "highly improbable." Ghandi in a telegraphic interview urged settlement of world problems through application of his non-violence principle. He proposed that Jews in Palestine abandon violent underground operations.

Saves His Groceries At Cost of $90

GARY, Ind. (UP)—Willie Taylor had to make a quick decision as he walked down a Gary street with his arms around a heavy bag of groceries. Should he hold on to the groceries or should he drop them and find out whose hand was in his pocket?

Before Taylor could make up his mind, the hand was gone and with it his wallet containing $90. Taylor still clutched the groceries as he watched the thief disappear down the street.

The first completely roller bearing steam locomotive was built in 1925. It is still in passenger service and has traveled more than 1,500,000 miles, and nearly all the original anti-friction bearings are still in use.

DEAN ACHESON TESTIFIES ON OIL ALLIANCE

WASHINGTON — Undersecretary of State Dean Acheson said today the controversial Anglo-American petroleum agreement is not an "oil alliance" between Britain and United States against the world.

Testifying before the Senate foreign relations committee on the long-delayed agreement, Acheson said the proposal was "one which would dispel mutual suspicion and distrust" and establish "rules and regulations" of fair oil dealing between the two nations.

Acheson, who is soon to retire, noted that only the U. S. and Russia produce "significant" quantities of oil within their territories. He said that in outside production "the U. S. and Britain are rivals in most oil areas." He described the agreement as an effort by the two governments to provide "continuing machinery" to settle future oil disputes and establish principles for fair dealing in production.

"It is not an oil alliance between Britain and America to protect their oil interests against the rest of the world," he said. He denied it would require one nation to come to the others to aid with armed forces in event oil concessions were threatened.

Fears that the agreement will lead to an international oil cartel are "completely without foundation," he said.

Swimming Pool Will Not Be Opened Tuesday

It was announced today that the city will not be able to open the swimming pool Tuesday as was hoped and the date for the opening will be announced just as soon as it can be set.

A. L. Stiles, water commissioner, stated that pumping facilities at the station are still not working and some delay will be necessary in opening the pool.

Mrs. Truman Reported Fair

GRANDVIEW — The condition of President Truman's ailing 94 year old mother was "just fair" today.

Brig. Gen. Wallace Graham, White House physician, reported that Mrs. Martha E. Truman did not take as much nourishment yesterday as doctors would have liked. She was awake only 2-3 hours during the day, he said.

The national women's Christian temperance union was founded 73 years ago, and the world's W.C.T.U. 64 years ago.

CAB Authorizes Helicopters For Cargo, Mail Use

WASHINGTON — The Civil Aeronautics Board today issued its first certificate permitting use of helicopters to transport cargo and mail.

The board granted a temporary certificate of convenience and necessity to Los Angeles Airways, Inc., to operate three circular helicopter routes from the Los Angeles area.

It said use of helicopters would speed delivery of mail from the airport to the postoffices. This delivery now is greatly hampered by surface traffic problems, the board said.

REPUBLICANS THREATEN TROUBLE FOR PRESIDENT

WASHINGTON — Republican Senate investigators are summoning close political and personal associates of President Truman to testify in the Kansas City vote fraud inquiry. The Republicans threaten to splinter the administration with trouble.

Chairman Homer Ferguson, R., Mich., of a Senate judiciary subcommittee, said three federal judges and the U. S. district attorney in Kansas City have been invited to testify Friday. Attorney General Tom C. Clark, and FBI director J. Edgar Hoover will appear on Thursday. Clark will resume testimony begun last week.

Ferguson's subcommittee has been authorized to determine whether the full committee shall inquire whether the justice department failed to act despite evidence tending to indicate fraud in a Democratic congressional primary election in which Mr. Truman personally intervened.

Impounded ballot boxes were stolen last week in Kansas City from Missouri election committee vaults. If advance ballyhoo of the situation warrants a full dress Senate investigation and fraud is proven, the administration will suffer a black eye which will show up right through next year's presidential contest.

No Action Due On Military Training Plan

WASHINGTON — House and Senate leaders saw no chance today that Congress would act this year on the $1,750,000,000 a year universal military training program recommended by a special presidential commission.

They said the most that could be done before adjournment late in July would be to hold committee hearings on the proposal and then shelve it to await the second session of the 80th Congress next year.

The White House said President Truman probably will formally send the report to Congress this week.

At Least 37 Killed Sunday In Tornado Path

PINE BLUFF, Ark. Rescue workers dug into tons of splintered timber today for missing victims of a tornado which swept down with devastating force and killed at least 37 persons in the four plantation communities. Coroner Ed Oupree estimated the death toll might run to 50. At least 200 persons were injured, several of them near death.

Police Chief Met Gallagher said that the twister was concentrated mainly in sparsely-populated agricultural areas thus keeping the death toll from being "several times what it is going to be."

Tornado Injures Seven WILLOW SPRINGS, Mo. (UP)—Seven persons were known to have been injured, at least three seriously, today in the wake of a twister which struck late yesterday between Willow Springs and West Plains.

Do You Have Frequent Headaches?
 Persons afflicted with "eye-caused headaches" are often surprised to find out how quickly properly fitted glasses relieve this distress. All headaches are not caused by eyestrain—but a great many of them are, and this is particularly true of headaches which closely follow reading, studying, book-keeping, card-playing or an evening at the movies.

20 Ways Listed To Get Flat Tires

AKRON, O. (UP)—Claude Mason, tire service manager for the B. F. Goodrich Co., listed 20 tips for a "flatless" vacation as the time approaches when more of America's 27,000,000 motorists are expected to take the road than ever before.
 He said some 90 things can cause a tire to fail or wear out prematurely, but listed the following 20 as the worst offenders:
 Improper inflation; "bleeding" of hot tire to release apparent excess pressure built up by road heat; use of oversized or undersized tubes; neglect of cuts, snags and bruises; prolonged use of hants or blow-out patches; fast starts and sudden stops; scraping, bumping and driving over curbs; excessive speed; driving on street car tracks.

 Running over rocks and other sharp objects; parking on oily floors; leaking, loose or uncapped valves; use of inaccurate gauges; infrequent checking of tire pressure; worn, creased or leaking tubes; improperly mounted tires and tubes; failure to lubricate tubes when mounting; failure to cross-switch tires regularly; use of wrong-sized tire flaps and improper alignment of wheels.

Policeman Makes Experiments In Crime Prevention
GARY, Ind. (UP)—Police officer Robert Scott has his own way of handling thieves.
 He encountered two men walking down the street with their arms loaded with loot.
 "If you don't get back there in 45 minutes," said Scott, "it's going to be too bad."
 Scott strolled away. Forty-five minutes later he returned to find the missing loot back in place.

If Everybody Knew—
 ... what some folks know, especially about business matters, there would be less grief and more living satisfaction in our daily lives. For example, everybody doesn't know that they should have an abstract when they buy real estate. Others do, because they have learned some important lessons through experience and observation. Avoid the mistakes of others by making the abstract a requirement in every real estate transaction

Paper Route Shifts Boys But Dog Still On

SEDGWICK, Kan. (UP)—The old story of the close relationship between a boy carrying a newspaper route and his dog has a new twist in this small Kansas town.

Dagwood, an old mongrel, stays on when the route changes boy owners. For 13 years he has helped deliver the papers. He started when he was a pup with Charles and Glenn Kennedy. After six years they outgrew the work, but not the dog. When they sold the route to a cousin, Ardel Race, Dagwood went with the deal. And he was just as happy trotting along with the new carrier.

Now the Lyle Koby children have the route—and Dagwood.
