Capacity Crowd Witnesses Rodeo Opening

Well...
I Dunno,
But...

Oh my, we're spelling "radio" r o d e o, guiding our Ranger soccer "Ranger rodeo" and going around in circles just like the bulls in the pen out at the rodeo.

We're so rodeo minded that the brides if there are any, might be walking up the arena instead of the aisle and the groom riding a bull instead of waiting at the altar. Such is life but the speed of keeping up with this Jaycee rodeo and all of its trimmings sure has us in a whirl.

Boyer House of Fort Worth out for the opening of the rodeo and the parade Wednesday, told us that the parade was the best he'd seen in Ranger since the 10th anniversary celebration of the discovery of oil held here in 1927.

We agree with him. That parade was all right. Somebody near us remarked that they'd never seen so many horses, and that expressed it for us exactly. And pretty horses, too.

Well, some girl is sure lucky, though she doesn't know it yet. We don't know who she is, the judges don't know who she is and James King who managed the cowgirl sponsor contest for the rodeo doesn't know who she is, but she got $10 coming to her if she can ever be identified.

She's the girl that won the prize in the cowgirl rider division in the parade Wednesday afternoon.

It was the way one of the judges described her to us. She's blond, good looking, good rider, was riding a sorrel horse, and carrying the Oregon banner. Anyone fitting that description please report to James King. Put no fudging, 'cause those judges remember what she looks like.

Nick Crawford is a hard worker and he wants everybody else to do likewise. Consequently when Allen Patterson of Dallas drops in to Nick's Oil City Pharmacy Wednesday on a routine salesman call and announced he'd be here for the opening of the rodeo last night, Nick saw his chance. He takes Allen out to the arena and puts him to work as an usher. And they tell us that he's one of the best that worked for the show last night.

Allen is originally from New York and the only other rodeo that he's ever seen was in Madison Square Garden and he says this one is as good if not better than the other one.

Among the distinguished visitors to the opening of the rodeo was U. A. Hyde, state executive vice-president of the Texas Junior Chamber of Commerce. He had with him a whole delegation of friends from Abilene.

Frank Reeves, livestock editor of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram was out for the show and gave the boys a nice write up in his paper. While visiting with him yesterday, he told us the story of how he got into the newspaper game. All by accident, and not intended at all. He originally worked on big ranches and once while lazing around waiting on stock sales in Kansas City, he decided that just to kill time he'd give some of the Texas papers the dope on what was going on in the livestock world up there. From this, one event after another developed to finally land him on the staff where he has been for 29 years.

Jaycees tell us that Charlie Holt, Milkey to most of his friends, has been one of the most faithful workers at the rodeo arena and has contributed generously of his time and equipment.

Bob Whiteside, the cowboy that was hurt when thrown in the saddle bronc riding contest last night, was not seriously injured. It was stated today that he was given first aid at the West Texas Hospital and released.

Beauty Shop Demolished

Police and volunteer workers remove an injured victim from the basement of a Harrisburg, Virginia, beauty shop which was completely demolished by a gas explosion. Ten women were killed and about 40 were injured. The blast blew out the back wall of the building and so wrecked the front wall that a crane had to be brought to pull it down before rescuers dared venture inside. (NEA Telephoto).

NELSON IS INVOLVED IN HUGHES CASE

WASHINGTON — Former WPP boss Donald Nelson pushed an $18,000,000 Kaiser-Hughes contract to build three flying boats over the objections of the joint chiefs of staff, a Senate war investigation subcommittee disclosed today.

Chairman Homer Ferguson, R., Mich., produced a July 30, 1942, memorandum from then Undersecretary of War Robert P. Patterson to Nelson voicing the joint chiefs' fear that increased production of cargo planes would disrupt the combat plane program.

Ferguson's subcommittee is investigating some $40,000,000 worth of aircraft contracts awarded to millionaire plane-maker, Howard Hughes and industrialist, Henry J. Kaiser.

Ferguson told a reporter meanwhile that he had not yet heard from Hughes regarding his committee appearance. He reiterated the Hollywood film and plane producer was expected her tomorrow. Ferguson advanced the time for Hughes appearance after Hughes charged yesterday that the investigation was a "black-mail" in behalf of Pan American Airways.

But Tom Slack, Hughes attorney, said his client had been officially notified to be present next Wednesday, and that he did not know if Hughes would be available before that time.

"We only found out about this investigation nine days ago," Slack said, adding that government investigators had been given access to Hughes' books months ago and saw "every paper."

Rayburn Says 80th Congress Disappointment

WASHINGTON — House Democratic Leader Sam Rayburn said today the first session of the Republican-controlled 80th Congress had been a big disappointment to the people who voted the GOP into power last November.

In an interview shortly before leaving for his home in Texas, the former House speaker replied to Republican contentions that the 80th Congress had accomplished more than any of its predecessors "for many, many years."

"I think the people were very disappointed in this Congress in the light of the promises made during the 1946 election campaign," Rayburn said. "Our Republican friends failed to deliver the goods."

Rayburn took as the basis of his remarks a radio speech made by House Republican Charles A. Halleck of Indiana earlier this week. Halleck said the Republicans accomplished much "despite talking at every step of the way by the hedge-podge Democratic party dominated by its quarrelsome radical masters."

Grand Jury Be Convened Tues. A. M. Aug. 5th

Following is the personnel of the 91st district court grand jury summoned to convene Tuesday, August 5:

P. O. Burns, Okra; Fred Cook, Rising Star; Cheek Smith, Gorman; E. P. Crawford, Cisco; F. J. Stubblefield, Carbon; T. C. Wylie, Ranger; H. A. Lovell, Carbon; L. H. Taylor, Ranger; J. H. Rushing, Eastland; M. L. King, Ranger; W. B. Pickens, Eastland; T. L. Jay, Gorman; Paul McFarland, Eastland; D. L. Kinnaid, Eastland; H. H. Williams, Desdemona; O. W. Hamilton, Cisco.

Cisco Boys Held Pending Posting Of $1000 Bonds

Prady Burditt and Silas Clay, Cisco youths, were picked up by Sheriff J. R. Williams on complaints filed in the Justice of the Peace's office in Cisco and are being held in the county jail pending the posting of $1,000 bond to await the action of the grand jury. The charges against the youths, Sheriff Williams said, involved the taking of a sum of money off a guest in his room in a Cisco hotel, on July 29.

MORE STEAKS PORK CHOPS IN OFFING

WASHINGTON — Housewives were advised today that steaks and pork chops will be more plentiful this fall. But that the family food bill as a whole will probably be just about as steep as it is now.

That big "break" in food prices that was supposed to start about this time is not even around the corner, agriculture department experts said.

Last February the Bureau of Agricultural Economics forecast a probable drop of 15 to 25 percent in food prices during the last six months of 1947. But a lot of things have happened since then.

The same agency now says a decline in food prices is unlikely in the foreseeable future.

Here is its price outlook for the fall:
Meat—not much change, although some slight decline is possible during the period of heavy slaughter in the late fall and early winter.
Eggs—cheese and butter—up seasonally.
Flour—not much change.
Truck crops and fruits—seasonal decline.
Corn—will stay high.

Reed Pushing For More Steel Freight Cars

WASHINGTON — Sen. Clyde M. Reed, R., Kans., said today he was trying to "put a burr under the steel companies' tails" to get steel for railway freight cars.

Reed called railway men, representatives of freight car manufacturers and steel company officials together in closed session in his office to see why more cars are not being built.

Business Men Donate To Air Conditioner Fund

If Ranger business men have their way the Teen Canteen will have a new air conditioner. Wednesday at the joint meeting of the Lions and Rotary Clubs $100 was raised for the conditioner by contributions from Ranger business men. The remainder of the cost of the machine will be raised in Cisco and Eastland.

The other two towns will be called upon to assist through the fact that Father Jim Night at the Teen Canteen includes young people from the towns, in fact, is for Eastland county young people.

Those from Ranger who contributed to the fund are: M. L. King, Jim Morris, Rev. C. P. Jones, Youth Choir of Methodist Church, Dr. Kuykendall, T. J. Anderson, C. B. Pruet, Brann Garner, H. C. Henderson, B. A. Tunnell, Willard Swaney, E. E. Crawford, Nick Crawford, J. O. Graham, Dr. G. C. Boswell, Light Crust Dough Boys, Ft. Worth, Texas, Edwin George, A. J. Raliff, James Raliff, Dr. A. W. Brasils, Dr. Ray Amesen, D. Joseph, Howard Brown, Dublin, Texas, Bob Earnest, Oscar O. Jones, Jackson, Mississippi, H. L. Jones, Richton, Mississippi, H. R. Hicks.

RODEO PARADE PLEASES BIG AUDIENCE

The second annual world championship rodeo sponsored by the Ranger Junior Chamber of Commerce opened with a bang Wednesday with one of the most colorful parades ever staged in Ranger marking the opening. The streets were lined with one of the largest crowds ever gathered in Ranger.

Winners in the float division of the parade were, first place to Hamill's, Inc., and second place to the Western Auto Store float. In the riders division Ed Powers of Breckenridge was winner of first place for the men and the identity of the winner in the women's division is yet to be established.

Preceding the parade, stage shows were given on three stages on Main street with the Light-crust Doughboys performing on the stage in front of the Ghoslon Hotel. Appearing on this stage also was a comedy act by two clowns, with the Rev. James W. McClain at the microphone. Reverend McClain also gave an illustration of the Dr. I. Q. program on the radio on which he formerly appeared as Dr. I. Q.

On a stage in front of the Arcadia theatre, folk dancers from Young school gave a program under the direction of Mrs. Dayton Rutledge and Mrs. Evis Landers with Mrs. Mamie Ruth Hamrick at the piano.

Down the street in front of the J. C. Penney Company store, Miss Elsie Hummel gave miramba numbers accompanied at the piano by James E. Morris of Oklahoma City.

Hundreds of riders appeared in the parade along with colorful floats from various Ranger business houses and entries from out of town. Bands from Ranger, Weatherford and Stephenville were in the parade and added to the occasion with their music.

Ernest Shelton of the Junior Chamber of Commerce was chairman of the committee which arranged the parade and is to be commended for his effort.

Judges for the parade were B. E. Garner, C. B. Pruet, W. F. Creager and W. F. Humphries.

PIONEER TO OBSERVE 2ND ANNIVERSARY

HOUSTON, Texas, July 31 — Pioneer Air Lines will celebrate its second anniversary of operations Friday (Aug. 1) with a birthday party in the sky. All passengers that day will be served birthday cake and punch while in flight by Pioneer's hostesses, according to Harding Lawrence, general traffic manager.

Also in observance of the anniversary, the air line will hold open house at each station on the system, except at Houston, Dallas and Fort Worth, Lawrence said. The public is invited to visit the airfields at any time during the day and to observe Pioneer's facilities for handling passengers, air cargo and the various other local functions of a modern air line.

"We are only two years old," said Col. Robert J. Smith, president of Pioneer, "but we are especially proud of the progress we have made in those two years. We started out by serving only six cities, Houston, Austin, San Angelo, Abilene, Lubbock, and Amarillo; today we are serving 16—the original six plus Bryan, Waco, Dallas, Fort Worth, Mineral Wells, Sweetwater, Big Spring, Midland, Odessa and Lamesa. At first we had only 9-passenger Lockheed Electra planes, while today we are using luxurious 24-passenger Douglas planes.

"When we first started flying, we had only 689 miles of route; today we have almost 1600. In these two years we have made tremendous gains in the number of passengers carried, in the number of air miles flown, in the volume of air mail and express.

"Now, as we celebrate our second anniversary Friday, we are instituting a new service—regularly scheduled air freight. This service will begin Friday, with door-to-door pickup and deliver, to provide a new phase of air transportation to many of the cities we serve.

"We have grown, and we expect to continue growing in the fulfillment of our function as a vital transportation system in the economy of the Southwest."

Misuse of electric fire is responsible for nearly 40 fires a day in the United States, fire authorities estimate.

SHOW GETS OFF TO FAST START WITH BRONC RIDING

A crowd that packed the Jaycees' rodeo arena to capacity was on hand Wednesday night for the opening performance of Ranger's second annual world championship rodeo.

Beginning at 8:15 o'clock with the grand entry, one of the most spectacular events in the rodeo, the show got off to a fast start with the bareback bronc riding contest in which W. N. Rice was judged the best rider.

In the second event, calf roping, low time was made by Earl Teague who roped and tied his calf in 14.4 seconds. In the saddle bronc riding contest Bill Weeks was judged the best rider. In bulldogging Ken Bowen was low with 7.2 seconds, a nod Harold Watson was judged best bull rider.

In bulldogging wrestlers and their time are as follows, Bo Chesson 15 seconds; Shorty McCrory, 10.1 seconds; Bill Her, no time; Smokey Apple, 15.2 seconds; Babe Appling, no time; Ken Bowen, 7.2 seconds; Jack Favors, 19.1 seconds; James Bynum, 39.1; Clifton Kay, 15.2; George Epperson, 25.2; Don Cox, 53; Bob Henson, 25; Royce Sewalk, 24.5; Don McLaughlin, 17.3; Bob Hines, 21.2; and Irby Simmons, no time.

Calf ropers and their time are as follows, P. H. Thrash, 22 seconds; Bill Her, 44.4 seconds; Sig Faircloth, 30 seconds; Nig Right, 23.5; Vernon Miller, 18.3; L. W. Young, 49; L. N. Sikes, 21.2; Bob Mansfield, 36.4; Earl Teague, 14.4; Billy Leach, 26.2; Bill Lowe, no time; Clifton Kay, 19; Bob Henson, 27.1; Royce Sewalk, no time; Dub Phillips, 28.3 and Junior Fuller, 9.

Riders in the cowgirl sponsors contest were Helen Brady, Wilma Whitten, Gwen Dickie, Helen Bradford, Evelyn Bruce, Betty Joe Penn, Willema James with Wilma Whitten of Cisco making the best time.

Tonight's performance will begin promptly at 8:15 o'clock.

Truman Signs Bill For Flood Control Funds

WASHINGTON — President Truman today signed the $502,128,912 war department civil functions appropriation bill carrying funds for flood control and rivers and harbors work.

The measure includes $246,072,825 for general flood control work, $56,000,000 for flood control work on the Mississippi river, $116,788,700 for rivers and harbors work.

It also carries $64,093,000 ceremonial expenses and $20,576,000 for operation and maintenance of the Panama Canal.

Mr. Truman also signed a supplemental appropriation bill carrying funds for loyalty check of federal employees and for some additional flood control to be done by the interior department and the agricultural department.

WASHINGTON COLUMN

BY PETER EDSON, NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, D. C.—(NEA)—United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration has officially gone out of business in every country except China, but the auditors as well as the memories linger on. The auditors will be around till the end of the year at the latest, trying to balance the books on the world's greatest experiment in international co-operation to relieve human suffering.

Whether that experiment is regarded as success or failure, the final audit should bring out in much clearer focus what was done with the money received from the sale of UNRRA supplies in the 17 war-torn nations. The general impression is that all these supplies were given away in a gigantic soup-kitchen operation. That's far from the truth. One of the original conditions of the UNRRA set-up was that, wherever possible, relief and rehabilitation supplies should be sold in the country that got them. The idea was to start the wheels of normal trade relations and exchange of goods rolling again.

Money received from the sale of UNRRA supplies was not, however, to be returned to the 31 countries that paid for them. Instead it was specified that the receipts should be spent in the country of sale for permanent reconstruction or further relief and rehabilitation. For every dollar put into UNRRA it was hoped that another dollar's worth of good might be done in the reinvestment turnover.

How close UNRRA came to achieving this goal, nobody knows. Of the $3.7 billion UNRRA fund, $2.9 billion went for supplies. The other $800 million covered administration, shipping and distribution costs.

WHAT the $2.9 billion went for is known. Roughly $1250 million went for food, $425 million for clothing, $125 million for medicine, $350 million for rehabilitation, $680 million for industrial rehabilitation and $120 million for special forms of relief. But what portion of each category was sold, and what part given away, UNRRA doesn't know. Reasons given are that UNRRA supplies are not all disposed of yet, and that the manner of distribution and form of reinvestment was left to each country. Their reports vary in completeness and accuracy.

Czechoslovakia's reports are probably in best shape. This country has worked out a complete two-year plan for reinvestment of the $265 million it hopes to receive from sale of UNRRA supplies to its people.

In Italy, money received from resale of UNRRA supplies has been put into a special Lire Fund. It is expected to reach $165 million. This has been budgeted to go 40 per cent for housing, 50 per cent to health and welfare services, 10 per cent to agricultural rehabilitation.

POLAND got approximately $481 million worth of UNRRA aid. Most of it was given away as this country was one of the worst ravaged by war. Only $73 million was received from sales and the proceeds made available for reinvestment.

Most of this went to re-equip looted hospitals and clinics. Over $1 million was transferred to the International Children's Fund, World Health Organization and other voluntary relief organizations which took over when UNRRA pulled out of Warsaw June 30.

These are at best sketchy reports from only three of the 17 countries which UNRRA tried to aid.

The point not to be lost sight of is that by this sale and reinvestment from a part of the supplies, UNRRA did more good than the mere filling of an empty belly. The result was that UNRRA was able to declare a dividend and toss it back into the business of war relief.

SPORTS

BY HARRY GRAYSON, NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK—(NEA)—That second-year jinx business is a lot of hogwash. The holes are only beginning to show.

When young Ralph McPherran Kiner failed to hit much more than his 190 pounds going into Decoration Day, it was whispered that perhaps the pitchers had found a blind spot.

But men who know baseball best knew this was not true. Ralph Kiner simply has to hit that long ball which last year made him the second player since 1900 to lead the National League in home runs in his first year in the majors. The big Pittsburgh outfielder manufactured 23.

So Kiner found the range in June, when he hit 14 home runs, one short of old Cy Williams' National League record for that month. He has hit 380 since June 1, is now in the Big Five, crossing 190 hits, batting .312, hot on Johnny Mize's trail for the home run leadership and pressing Walker Cooper, Mike and Willard Marshall for the top position in runs-batted in.

KINER is one of the mighty few individualistic batters. He holds the bat directly in front of him, straight up and down, swats the ball with a twist of the wrists, adopting a perfect golf swing for baseball.

Kiner is anything but a disciple of the deadly level swing that belonged to such as Shoeless Joe Jackson, Lefty O'Doul, the Wanderers and other remarkable hitters. Yet Kiner rifles the ball into left field stands when he uncorks his wrists.

The young man—he is only 24—furnishes additional evidence that any style is good, as long as coordination and the eye are there and the batter brings the bat into the ball correctly. How about Al Simmons and his foot in the bucket? Seeing the one-time Athletics' luminary for the first time you suspected he was a bit nervous.

Kiner also led the circuit in strikeouts last year with 109, so was the National League's right-hand counterpart of the American League's King Kong Keller. He has cut down his strikeouts considerably, which could be due to Hank Greenberg's advice this spring. Yet, like Joe DiMaggio, the southern California collegian's stride is wider than that of most hitters. Again like J. DiMaggio, Kiner takes a very short step, belting the ball—not more than six inches.

Once more like the great DiMaggio, Kiner runs well for a six-foot, one-and-a-half inch chap coming in at 190 pounds. He has good baseball sense, has also played first and third base. He is an accomplished flycatcher with a fine pair of hands. Ralph Kiner's one flaw is that he is not a superlative thrower. His arm is pretty good, but he apparently has to wind up, which has him getting the ball away too slowly. A loose-jointed kid, he seemingly lacks the flexibility of muscles that enables others to throw instantly from where the ball is caught. But they all can't have everything. If they did, they'd all be Joe DiMazzios.

DEATH of a DOLL

By Hilda Lawrence

THE STORY: Mark East calls on Dr. Kloppe, the Hope House doctor, to find out what he can about Ruth Miller's death. Kloppe tells him to talk to Mrs. Cashman, his neighbor who first discovered Ruth's body in the courtyard. Mrs. Cashman suggests he see Jewel Schwab, first Hope House girl on the scene.

XVI

A FEW doors from Hope House Mark slowed down and watched two women descend the steps and get into a waiting cab. Not the hostel type, he decided. Board members, with fancy New York names, looking for dust and waste in the kitchen. They were fairly young, smartly dressed, and something had happened to make them laugh. He didn't go in until the cab drove off.

A pale girl came from behind the switchboard and asked his business.

"Miss Schwab?"

"She's out. Do you want to leave a message?"

"No, thank you, it isn't that important. I've been talking to Mrs. Cashman and she mentioned—"

"He stopped because he recognized the look she gave him. The good-natured curiosity slipped from her face and emptiness took its place. She was remembering to forget."

"Do you know Mrs. Cashman?" he asked.

"She lives somewhere around here, that's all I know." Her eyes flicked over his shoulder, and he turned to see who was behind him. There was no one. An empty elevator stood open, that was all.

"You'll have to excuse me," she went on. "I'm busy. But if you want to leave your name, I'll see that Jewel gets it."

"No name, I'll call again. That will be all right, won't it?"

"Employees are not permitted to receive callers except at stated hours," she said formally.

"And what are the stated hours?"

"Regular times off. Miss Brady has to make rules about employees or nothing would ever get done. And Miss Brady likes to see the people who call, too. She has to make a rule about that in case of—well, trouble. I mean people come in here and talk, I mean Mrs. Cashman has no business to—"

He saw her dismay when she spoke Mrs. Cashman's name.

"Never mind," he said easily. "I know how you feel."

When he went down the steps to the street he told himself that at least one cliché had a firm foundation in fact. Eyes were boring holes in his back.

"YOU'LL find the personnel department on the 12th floor," Mr. Benz of Blackman's told Mark.

"Miss Libby. And may I be kept informed, or is that too much to ask?"

Mark assured him that nothing was too much, shook hands, and rode up.

Miss Libby's office was designed to put the fear of God in salespeople who had Monday morning hangers and cash registers that didn't tally. It was filled with a cold north light, a highly polished desk, and two chairs. One of the latter was occupied by Miss Libby.

"Sit down, Mr. East," she said promptly. "I've got all the time in the world, but I'm afraid you're wasting yours. Benz had me on the phone and told me what you wanted. What are you trying to do, grab yourself a fee and give us the kind of publicity we don't need? That Miller case is closed. There's nothing for you in it."

"You've said it all," he agreed. "Maybe I'd better see Blackman."

"Don't be childish, he won't know what you're talking about. He doesn't know Ruth Miller existed."

"Do you?"

"Look," Miss Libby flipped the pages of a folder. "I have the dope right here. I don't know what you're looking for, but if it's truth you won't find it. Here's the story, plain facts and no color. She was a good saleswoman, no more than that. Not executive material, not even hard enough for head of stock, which isn't as big a job as it sounds. She bought and stockings, that's all. She had no store sales, was never late or absent, and came to the dispensary only once.

"Why did she come then?"

"Miss Libby read silently. 'Darling she said under her breath. 'But that happens all the time.'"

"DID you say something, Miss Libby?" He liked the way she blushed when she was caught.

"She came because she was hysterical. A customer accused her of giving wrong change and took the place. That like the customer was wrong, and we proved it on the spot, but the girl went to pieces. You can't make anything out of that, it happens all the time."

"I see. . . Where did Miss Miller come from?"

"Come from?" Miss Libby's eyes traveled down a page, and she colored again.

"Sure," Mark pressed. "The job before this one, references—you know what I mean."

"Now Mr. East, you needn't—"

"Come, come," Miss Libby. Where did she work before she came here? Even a dish-washer has references."

Miss Libby ground her nice white teeth. "No record," she moaned. "You've got me. But I can explain! You know what last year was like. Normally sane workers go crazy, acting like customers themselves. We took what we could get. Miller was needed. We took her on. It says here 'never before employed.' I remember now that I didn't believe it after her week's record came up. She knew how to sell, and she didn't make mistakes. So—"

"So?"

"So maybe you've got something after all," Miss Libby said grudgingly.

From where I sit . . . by Joe Marsh

Jane Cupper's "Daring" Bathing Suit

The Cuppers showed me some tin-types of their nineteen-ten vacation—picnicking on the beach with beer and pretzels, in bathing suits that made them look like they were dressed in street-wear.

Dee was smothered in a long-sleeved pull-over with knee length shorts, and looking embarrassed—as if he thought Jane's costume of a heavy blouse, two copious skirts, and long black stockings was a little daring.

as Dee says, we'll probably look just as funny twenty years from now, in what we call our "Modern" clothes. Only thing that won't change in the picture is that mellow, wholesome glass of beer. From where I sit, tolerance that lets us wear sensible, decent clothes—to give us sun and air and freedom—will keep that wholesome glass of beer a part of the American tradition.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

Due to the increased cost of all supplies, equipment and salaries, it has been necessary for the City Commission to increase the charge that has been made in the past for sanitary and trash service.

The Commission has equalized these charges, with consideration being made for the amount of trash handled, the number of trips necessary, and etc.

We sincerely hope that the citizenship will appreciate the necessity of these increases, and realize that the Commission has only raised the charges to what has been determined the actual cost of serving you.

THESE ARE THE DAYS WHEN MY ELECTRIC REFRIGERATOR PROVES ITS WORTH

These are the days when the reserve power that is built into every electric refrigerator really proves its worth. When temperatures stay around a normal figure, your electric refrigerator practically coasts along, maintaining proper box temperatures easily. When hot days like we've been having come along, there is ample reserve power available in your electric refrigerator to cope with the situation automatically. All that happens is that its motor runs more often and a little longer at a time. Your electric refrigerator, by keeping perishable foods fresh and wholesome for long periods of time, has been a money-saver for you from the very first day you owned it. To make sure that you continue to benefit from this saving, take good care of it—it's an investment that pays real dividends.

Midland Becoming Washington West Of The Potomac

MIDLAND, Tex. (UP)—This city may soon look like a "Washington, west of the Potomac."

It's rapidly becoming the happy hunting ground for young women on the lookout for jobs.

Between 2,000 and 2,500 women work for the 100 oil companies here, it is estimated, with more being recruited. Positions include secretarial, clerical and bookkeeping work.

Many have said it resembled the nation's capital as it looked during the war when so many women worked there.

Bacteria? Asks Cowboy How Big Are They

HOUSTON, Tex. (UP)—A worldly-wise waitress in a new Houston cafe thought she had heard everything until a lanky cowboy asked for a drink of water. "I'm sorry, but we can't serve water yet," she said. "The health department says there's bacteria in it."

The cowboy, who was chewing on a plug of Old Mule, found it necessary at this point to head for the door where he showered the outside with tobacco juice.

He ambled back to the cafe counter and asked: "How big are they?"

Filipinos Learn Sailing At Marine Academy

NEW YORK (UP)—Fifty cadet-midshipmen from 33 towns in the Philippine Islands have started a four-year course at the United States Marine Academy near here, preparatory to becoming deck and engineer officers in the new merchant marine of the Philippine republic.

The midshipmen, most of them veterans of the war with Japan, were appointed by President Truman from lists compiled by competitive examinations. At least 70 per cent served with the U. S. Army or as guerilla forces during the Japanese occupation of the islands.

Each Filipino student will be berthed with an American cadet-midshipman during the training

Constable Slays Knifing Husband

Mrs. Ida May Bourbonnais, who suffered a stomach and wrist wounds from her much arrested husband when he attacked her in an Oklahoma City Justice courtroom, consoles Constable Cecil Barker, who shot and killed Bourbonnais to keep him from further harming his wife. Mrs. Bourbonnais assured the Constable that she is glad he is "out of the way." (NEA Telephoto).

It all began one afternoon when Summers was away from his place of business. The man came in, passed himself off to an attendant as an employee of a local carbon factory, and got a check cashed.

Later Summers questioned the veracity of the signature on the check because he knew the man whose name was signed. When "Mr. Stone" returned for more of the same, Summers accepted the check, compared the signatures and went into action.

He took his case to chief of police Sam Bynam. Bynam checked and found he had a parolee and a stolen car on his hands.

Next day the sheriff from Graham, Tex., arrived with a handful of warrants—two for forgery and one for car theft—and asked if he could have "Mr. Stone." He promised to see that "Stone" wouldn't bother anyone else for a spell, and that Winkler county could have him next.

Down On Farm Era Vanishing In Nebraska

LINCOLN, Neb. (UP)—Nebraska's new state song well might be "How Ya Gonna Keep Them Down on the Farm?"

According to statistics, in the last 10 years Nebraska boys and girls not only have left the farms rapidly but also have left the state.

Dr. H. C. Filley, professor of rural economics at the University of Nebraska college of agriculture, said the trend to move away from the farm is "normal," due largely to the fact that Nebraska farms have been getting larger and fewer in number, while farm families have increased in size.

"There are twice as many children born on farms as there are in the cities," Filley said.

The increase in the size of the farm families coupled with the coming of new and better farm machinery has left the farm boy and girl with time on their hands.

New Test Reported For Pork Disease

CLEVELAND (UP) — A Mt. Sinai hospital technologist, Mrs. Hazel Suessenguth, announced that she has developed an improved testing method which promises to give this country its first effective weapon against trichinosis. Trichinosis has been found latent in at least one of every five persons, and the results have sometimes been fatal when disease developed, she said.

The disease is a parasite found in about three of every 200 pigs that are slaughtered. The parasites thrive in the digestive tract of the human body when the meat has not been thoroughly cooked.

Mrs. Suessenguth said one technologist can test many samples in a matter of minutes with the new improved testing method for pork meat.

Funds for the restoration project were approved by U. S. Sen. Edward Martin, former Pennsylvania governor, and Gov. James H. Duff.

VALLEY FORGE HUTS TO BE RE-CREATED

Sufficient logs for the first 80 huts already have been timbered from the park. Seventy-six other winter homes will be built on sites where troops from the 13 colonies represented in Washington's army set up their individual camps.

Huts will be placed at camp sites occupied by detachments from Pennsylvania, New Jersey, New York, Delaware, Connecticut, Rhode Island, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Virginia, Maryland, North Carolina, South Carolina, and Georgia. The historic John Moore Fort also will be restored.

Restoration work has been completed on Fort Mordcael, Star Redoubt and Fort Stirling. G. Edwin Brumbaugh, of Gwynedd Valley, Pa., a fellow of the American Institute of Architects and an authority on colonial architecture, is supervising the building of replicas of the log huts.

Log huts, built just as General George Washington specified them in orders issued at Gulph Mills, Dec. 18, 1777, will be erected on the same sites occupied by the Continental troops 170 years ago.

VALLEY FORGE HUTS TO BE RE-CREATED

VALLEY FORGE, Pa. (UP)—Visitors in the Continental Army's camp grounds at Valley Forge this year will get a picture of how the patriot soldiers lived during their historic winter encampment of 1777-1778.

George B. Simpson of Washington, D. C., was granted a patent in 1839 for the first electric hotplate. Its heating element was a coil of platinum wire.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Poe and Miss Lucile Furr chipped at the county seat Saturday.

George Alford, Henry Reed and Arthur Wright went to Lake Brownwood Monday for a day of fishing.

A. R. Hastings and G. W. Stowe made a business trip to Cisco Monday.

Rev. Lee Fields will begin a revival at Pleasant Hill where he is pastor, on Friday night with Rev. Otis Strickland of Cisco, preaching.

The Long Branch revival will begin on August 15, with the pastor, Rev. Lee Fields, preaching until Monday, August 18, when Rev. Leon Wood of Fort Worth will take over. Everyone is urged to attend these services.

Cartoon Collection To Go On Tour

CLEVELAND (UP)—A Bowling Green University student—Donald Ditesfield—owns what he believes is the world's largest collection of original editorial cartoons.

Ditesfield plans to make a coast-to-coast tour with the cartoons next year. There are about 1,800 of them.

The sketches date from 1865 to ones made during the present war for the French Resistance newspapers.

Small World After All

WACO, Tex. (UP)—More proof that it's a small world—The two gentlemen were riding the boat between Los Angeles and Catalina Island out in California. One noticed a Shrine lapel emblem on the others coat.

"Where are you from, Noble?" he asked.

No. 2 took a good look at the speaker—"I think I'm from the same town you are. I've seen you at Shrine gatherings there."

Clyde Bennett and B. R. Brownsfield, the two men are both from Waco.

HELP BUILD AMERICA'S AIR POWER ON AIR FORCE DAY, AUGUST 1st

No one today questions the fact that the whole future of the United States may rest in the very clouds over your head. The security of this country demands strong, well-trained, well-equipped Air Forces, superior to any in the world.

And the new, reorganized Air Forces give thousands of eligible young men an opportunity to take an active part in building America's Air Power . . . on the ground as well as in the sky.

You may, for example, enlist in the Air Forces for three years. If you have a specialty which will qualify you, you may also be able to enlist in a grade at higher pay.

If you have had Air Forces experience, you may join the Air Reserve and continue your military aviation training outside of business hours.

Or you may join the Air National Guard and perhaps become eligible for advanced technical training at special Air National Guard schools.

Think it over. If there are Air Force Day exhibits in your locality, be sure to visit them on August 1st. If no demonstrations are to be held nearby, get a copy of the new Air Forces pamphlet, "Know Your Air Forces," at your U. S. Army Recruiting Station.

NOW—THE WORLD'S GREATEST OPPORTUNITY FOR A CAREER IN AVIATION

Today the Army Air Forces offer high school graduates an unprecedented opportunity to get the finest aviation schooling on earth—and select your school or course before you enlist.

The AAF Career Plan is unlike anything ever offered before. It permits selected high school graduates to apply and qualify for AAF specialized courses of their own choice. Simply go to your U. S. Army Recruiting Station, explain the kind of aviation training you want and you will receive an application blank and a complete list of available courses.

When you are selected to attend the course of your choice, you enlist in the Army Air Forces for 3, 4 or 5 years. After your basic training period you are guaranteed the education you have selected to make you a specialist in the type of work you have chosen.

Get a list of all the schools and courses open to you under the AAF Aviation Career Plan at your nearest U. S. Army Recruiting Station.

Airport Activities

Speedy says---

Speedy says he's busy advertising the rodeo and just doesn't have time to write his column, even though the airport is busy taking in rodeo traffic. However, we'll have to forgive him because the boy is flying specialties all over the country, taking from the air about the Jaycees big rodeo now going on in Ranger. And they tell us that people every where sure get out and gawk when the boys steam a town with their talk in the clouds. Doing the speaking are Jim Wilkerson, Buford Waggoner, Bill Brown and Howard Oliver.

J. H. Lewis and D. W. Woods of Whiterock Field in Dallas landed at the Ranger field Wednesday. They were flying a T-Craft.

Fred Hill and Leland Covert of the CAA in Fort Worth flew into port Wednesday in a Fairchild 24.

Two of the Lighterist Doughboys flew to Ranger Wednesday for the parade and show, but were too fast for the airport reporter. They got away before they could be contacted.

Same thing happened with two other planes. The minute they hopped out of the planes, they stepped into autos and were whisked away.

You see, this air age is a bit speedy and that's why Speedy, when he has time, is the guy to handle the job. He knows how to knob 'em when they hit the ground collar 'em and make 'em talk before he turns loose of 'em.

Haven't heard of any horses or bulls being flown in for the rodeo. Could be done though. Remember about the racing horse that kicked the side out of an airplane and stranded the plane at El Paso. The horses at the Ranger rodeo may not ever have kicked the side out of an airplane, but we bet they could, at least they've got the kick as witness last night's performance.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Roberson, Jimmy and Mary Ann, of Bowie, Texas are here to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alec Roberson, and to attend the rodeo.

Mitzie Luan Rider of Cisco is spending the week with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Alec Roberson. She is here to attend the rodeo.

Truman Harper has entered TCU for the last five weeks of the course in insurance marketing.

Dorothy Henry has as her guest for the rodeo Janice Pace of Haskell. The two are classmates at Texas Christian University in Fort Worth.

Bob Woods of Crane is here visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs.

Charged With Murder

Charged with the murder of Mrs. Gertrude York, D. Lloyd I. Ross, center left, has been granted a delay of his trial until September 9. Malang Falls To Dutch Marine Force

By United Press

BATAVIA Malang, the fourth largest city of Java, fell today to Dutch Marines and soldiers in the biggest single victory for the Dutch armed forces since the start of the campaign against the Indonesian Army.

Arnold Brackman, United Press correspondent, reported from Malang that the Dutch forces entered the key city of east Java at 9:07 A. M.

Mr. and Mrs. Earle Pittman had as their guests for the opening night of the rodeo, Mrs. Pittman's mother, Mrs. Vera Hamrick of Gorman, and her sister, Mrs. J. M. Martin, Mr. Martin and family of Moran, Mr. and Mrs. Martin will remain for a longer visit.

"I was the only American correspondent to accompany the Dutch troops into the city, and I rode with the first wave of combat troops," Brackman reported in a brief dispatch.

"Aboard a 15-ton amphibious tractor with three machine gun firing, I rode into Malang today with Dutch combat troops including Marines, who received much of their training in North Carolina."

Hanging of Two Sergeants Is Denounced

By United Press

LONDON—Colonial Secretary Arthur Creech Jones today denounced the hanging of two British sergeants in Palestine as "dastardly, cold blooded and calculated murder."

"I can only express the deep feeling of horror and repulsion felt by all here at this barbarous crime," Creech Jones told Commons.

"Such an outrage against the discharging of the sacred obligation of international obligations is not only abhorrent in the eyes of all civilized persons everywhere, but must surely mean the full condemnation of the terrorists in the eyes of all their own people."

Makes Business Of Selling Worms

DALLAS, Tex. (UPI)—The way to keep nice and cool these days is to be a worm—says Mrs. Violet Hettich's California Red wigglers worms on their way to entice some poor Texas fisherman. Mrs. Hettich, assisted by her two sons, raises the worms by the tens of thousands in a shed behind her home. She started six years ago "to keep myself busy during the summer months and to give my boys something to do."

Now she ships the slippery wigglers, packed in an airy bed of sphagnum moss over a layer of crushed ice, to many parts of the country.

"Dream like them best, trout, bass, crappie and white perch don't let them hit the bottom long," says Mrs. Metcalf, a fisherman herself.

"Many people use them for flower propagation, and others tell her they make lawns grow thicker."

"Worms are good business," Mrs. Hettich says.
